Orozco Expects Federals to Attack Today in a Decisive Fight.

Capital of Republic Kept in Doubt by the Insurrecto Censorship.

Wealth of Chihuahua Being Transferred to Juarez for Safe Keeping.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHIHUAHUA (Mex.) March 23.—Gen. Pascual Orozco, commander-in-chief of the rebel forces, regards it as highly probable that the first decisive engagement of the insurrection against the Madero government will be fought at Escalon tomorrow.

Escalon is an adobe village situated on a sandy plain, midway between Juarez and Torreon.

All available troops have been sent there, leaving only the garrison at Chihuahua, and a mere corporal's guard at Jiminez, which has been the base of recent operations.

Escalon is now occupied by 2500 rebels, while the Federal force, which it is expected will make the attack tomorrow, numbers about 2000, having been reinforced by a regiment and a platoon of artillery today.

Gen. Antonio Rojas of the revolutionary forces was placed under arrest today by Gen. Pascual Orozco, the commander-in-chief and 20 of Rojas's men were disarmed and their rifles given to men whose loyalty is not questioned. The remaining 500 men of the Rojas detachment were sent south to reinforce Gens. Campa and Salazar, who are in momentary expectation of attack at Escalon.

Rojas is the man who, when in command of the rebel garrison at Juarez looted the branch of the Mexican National Bank of 17,200 pesos, all that remained in the vaults. This action was condemned by his brother officers, and Rojas was ordered with his command to Chihuahua.

He soon returned to Juarez, but Thursday again took his men to Chihuahua.

It is said his arrest was due to insubordination.

Two emissaries from Ojinaga arrived today and informed Orozco that Jose de la Cruz Sanchez, commanding 200 Federals at Ojinaga, had decided to cast his fortunes with the revolution.

Light skirmishing marked the day at the front, between outposts of the opposing forces in the neighborhood of Caballos, twenty miles south of the insurrecto main force at Escalon.

Reports from Gen. Salazar to Orozco make no mention of rebel losses as reported in the City of Mexico, but such omissions are common in such reports. The dispatches do state, however, that "the enemy's loss far outnumbers our own."

If the report that Ojinaga is a rebel town is correct, the insurrectos are in control of the entire State of Chihuahua from East to West and from the north to the southern army front at Escalon.

THE CENSORSHIP OF THE INSURRECTOS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—Strict censorship of news regarding the battle near Escalon, midway between Chihuahua, and Torreon, yesterday, left the result in doubt tonight. Federal officials reiterated the story of a government victory, but from no source were details obtainable.

A dispatch from Torreon over the censored wires purported to confirm the rou of the rebels, through their number was estimated at from two hundred to three hundred instead of 1500 as stated in government advices.

According to these reports, the rebels attacked a repair train commanded by Lieut.-Col. Murcado. A batallion of infantry came to the rescue and stood off the rebels for an Taft Is Assured of Empire State.

Bitter Contest Is Waging to Increase Size of His Delegation.

Band-wagon Effect of Accessions Spurs Efforts of His Friends.

Thirteen Delegates All His Managers Will Concede to Roosevelt.

BY SUMNER CURTIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] New York now focuses the attention of the politicians who are agitated over the Taft-Roosevelt fight for the Presidential nomination. The Empire State will have ninety delegates in the Republican national convention, and all except the four delegates-at-large are to be chosen at primaries to be held next Tuesday. The four delegates-at-large will be chosen at a State convention, to be held at Rochester, April 9. The Roosevelt forces do not expect to elect anywhere near a majority of the delegates. Taft will achieve the practical triumph of adding greatly to his numerical strength in the national convention by carrying most of the districts in the former President's home State. The band-wagon effect of these accessions also is likely to be important. It is conceded that the four delegates-at-large to be selected at Rochester next month will be for Taft.

TWO WAYS OPEN.

Under the recently enacted New York primary law, district delegates to the national convention may be elected in either of two ways. One way is to choose them by direct vote. Under the alternative method delegates to the State convention are elected by direct popular vote, and these delegates separate into district delegations and choose, respectively, the eighty-six district delegates to the national convention. The whole matter of determining between the alternative methods rests with the party organization. The Republican organization elected to choose the district delegates to the national convention by a direct vote. The Democratic organization has adopted the other method.

An important point to bear in mind is that the "organization" in every district, under the method adopted by the Republicans, has the power of naming the candidates for delegates to be voted for by the members of the party. There are strict provisions designed to prevent members of one party voting for the ticket of the opposition, as it is contended was done in the case of the North Dakota primaries this week. But—and here is where the organization is held to have an overwhelming advantage—contesting candidates must be listed on the ballot as independents.

BITTER FIGHT AHEAD.

In New York county, which includes the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx, the Roosevelt Committee has nominated delegate tickets in opposition to those of the regular organization, in all the fourteen Congressional Districts. It is here the bitterest fight will be waged. On Monday night, the eve of the primaries, Col. Roosevelt will make a whirlwind tour of the upper section of the city, where lie the greatest possibilities of winning closely drawn battles. In other sections of the State candidates, in opposition to the regular candidates, have been nominated in only a few instances.

Col. Roosevelt will never be opposed in his home district, which embraces the counties of Nassau and Suffolk. The second district, embracing a part of Queens county, also is likely to be carried by Roosevelt. National Committeeman William L. Ward, manager of the Roosevelt campaign in New York State, controls the organization in West Chester county. His domain embraces two Congressional Districts. He played a clever game in getting matters fixed as solidly for Roosevelt in his territory as other political leaders did in fixing things another way in some other organization.

PLAYS WAITING GAME.

At the time the organization in his districts put their tickets in the field, it was a matter of doubt whether Mr. Ward would oppose the State organization, which is believed to be for Taft, despite the equivocal attitude assumed by State Chairman William Barnes, Jr. It was not until it was too late to file nomination papers with the election commissioners that Mr. Ward let it be known definitely that he was going to stick to Roosevelt. The result is that the Taft forces were unable to get independent tickets in the field. Roosevelt will carry both the Ward districts. Other up-State districts in which the Roosevelt forces will make

Germany Gives Out Warlike Plans.

Immense Augmentation of Land and Sea Forces Is on Schedule.

Third Naval Squadron to Be Formed While Dreadnoughts Are Built.

European Rulers Watch the Kaiser; Three Monarchs in Meeting.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Germany has made public at last what it intends to do toward strengthening its fighting resources during the coming critical years.

Its plans look to an immense augmentation of its land power and the adoption of a navy bill which increases the effective striking forces at sea by nearly 50 per cent.

The main feature of the navy bill is a provision for a third squadron of the high seas fleet, to be kept permanently in commission while dreadnoughts are to be built at the rate of two and one-half annually.

The modification of the government's original intention to build three of these vessels a year is due, it is understood, to a wish to avoid the appearance of taking a provocative attitude in rivalry with other powers.

Advocates of a strong foreign policy are hailing these measures with satisfaction.

CHURCHILL'S CANDOR AROUSES THE GERMANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Uneasiness as to the trend of international events, which for a fortnight has been unmistakable in all the principal capitals, is greater rather than less since Mr. Churchill's statement that Berlin and not London will dictate the British navy's new construction programme.

While the candor of the young Admiralty chief reassures his countrymen, Berlin looks askance at him and asks if he aspires to the role of Pitt and some day to dictate to Europe.

In the opinion of the Neue Freie Press of Vienna, the most significant feature of Mr. Churchill's declaration was "its undertone of suspicion as to the naval schemes of the strongest personality in the German navy world, Admiral Von Tirpitz, who is the real architect of Emperor William's fleets."

British naval experts have awakened to the fact that Tirpitz has secured imperial acceptance of the "principle" of a third active squadron, which would render absolutely certain the increase by one-half of the active high sea fleet.

THREE MONARCHS MEET ANXIOUS FOR PEACE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Will Turko-Italian peace be promoted at the meeting today and tomorrow of the three monarchs in the Triple Alliance? The question is uppermost in Viennese minds, official and popular. The coming of Emperor William always excites interest and conjecture in Vienna, a fact due in considerable measure to the personality of the Kaiser, but more prominently to the fast growing strength and ambition of the German people.

It is authoritatively admitted that the sovereigns mean to discuss the Turko-Italian war and the admission is regarded as equivalent to a declaration of their purpose to try to find a way of bringing about peace. William and Francis Joseph will talk at Schoenbrunn and William and Victor Emmanuel at Venice. The German and Austrian Emperors, it is understood, not only earnestly want peace but vigorously advocate steps to get it.

ITALY DETERMINED TO KEEP TO THE FRONT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Public interest in the meeting of the heads of the Triple Alliance at Schoenbrunn and in Venice is keen, yet tranquil. The people regard the Italian case as safe in the hands of Victor Emmanuel.

Patriotism here is entering upon a new phase. Italians want no cramping of Italy. If Europe must have hegemony the Italians insist that it shall not impinge upon Italy's proper domain and legitimate interests.

Up to the moment of the seizure of Tripoli, circumstances were steadily forcing Italy into a back seat. Germany and Austria were playing their own game against England and France, taking it for granted that Italy would continue in its passive or shrinking role. This delusion was shot to pieces in North Africa.

The old situation never can be reproduced and Italy will hold all it has taken. This may be accepted as the unalterable point of view of Vic-

Kansas City Widow Declines to Enlighten Whether or Not She Will Wed in Oregon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Blanche Eckles, 17 and pretty, daughter of Mrs. Sarah S. Eckles, No. 2334 Bellevue avenue, wrote a letter to Mayor Rushlight of Portland, Or., stating her mother was on the matrimonial market. A few days after Mayor Rushlight received it, letters began to come to Mrs. Eckles from all parts of the Northwest, and all sorts and conditions of men applied for the job of husband.

Mrs. Eckles is young and pretty and would like to live on a ranch, but she could not understand why hundreds of letters were bringing proposals to her until one day she read a few of the many letters her daughter was getting, and then she understood. They had been proposing to her daughter, too, and mentioned the letter which Miss Eckles had sent to the Mayor of Portland.

Mrs. Eckles got a switch and whittled a "hand hold" on it. Then she called her daughter in. Putting on her sternest frown, the mother demanded an explanation before she meted out the punishment. Then the daughter laughed. She laughed so hard that it became contagious and the mother forgot about the light artillery.

When Mrs. Eckles was asked if she would accept if a real good proposal came, she replied, "that's my business."

More Flour, Wheat and Potatoes Offered at Portland for California Than Steamers Can Carry.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] More wheat, flour and potatoes are being offered for shipment from Portland to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, than can be handled by the big fleets of steamers in the coastwise service. On every trip recently, the agents of the lines have been obliged to turn away freight on account of lack of steamer space.

According to officials of the North Pacific Steamship Company, the volume of tonnage going down the Coast is greater than ever known before at this season of the year. Agents of the Harriman and the Pacific Coast lines voice similar views.

There are no suitable steamers on the Coast available for placing on the route to assist the regular vessels in taking care of the business, or they would be chartered. Farm products make up the principal bulk of freight going south. The grain shipments to the south have been unusually heavy. Of late big quantities of flour and spuds have been sent down there.

LATIN PROFESSOR'S CASE.

NEW YORK, March 23.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] The $50,000 breach of promise suit against Dr. Harry Thurston Peck, late professor of Latin at Columbia University, was dismissed in the Supreme Court here yesterday because of a faulty complaint. The plaintiff was Miss Esther Quinn, formerly employed as a stenographer by George Graham Rice, who recently pleaded guilty of misuse of the mails in the case of B. H. Scheftels & Co.

Mme. Steinheil Writes Her Reminiscences and Pen Fails to Set Fire to the Pages as the Author of "The Raven" Said It Should—Woman of Beauty Who Figured in a "Cause Celebre" Again to the Fore.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sensation as thrilling as that of her arrest, trial and acquittal of the charge of having murdered her husband is brewing to greet the "Reminiscences" of Mme. Marguerite Steinheil, famed as the "Tragic Widow." The book is about to be published here and in London and in the "Story of My Life" Mme. Steinheil is expected to deal with her relations with some of the most notable men and women of France. A confidante of rulers, statesmen and diplomats, she had entree into circles barred to others less beautiful and suave than she. At one time the name of Mme. Steinheil was linked with that of President Faure of France.

Mme. Steinheil was acquitted of the charge of murdering her husband and her step-mother. She still is a most striking figure.

Some years ago, when a girl, she was known all over France as the avowed principal in love affairs with a score of men highest in the councils of the French government. Later it became known she was an agent for the Dreyfusards, and when President Faure was found dead in her apartments gossip whispered Faure was the one obstacle in the way of a rehearing of the famous Dreyfus case. In 1908 she was arrested for the alleged murder of her husband and her stepmother. The magistrate who was to prosecute her resigned because he had been her lover, avowing that he was still her slave. Her trial stirred all the world because of the cruel questioning of the judge in the case.

Adolphe Steinheil was an artist of moderate talent who apparently loved his wife devotedly. They lived in Paris and soon after their marriage those who knew the pair became aware Mme. Steinheil was forming intrigues with men of the highest standing in the government. The husband never uttered a word of complaint and through his wife's friends rose step by step to a high place in the world of Parisian art and society. The wife's gifts from her lovers kept the pair in comfortable circumstances. Her friendship with Faure brought her husband the cross of the Legion of Honor. Faure died on February 16, 1899.

It was announced that he died from an attack of apoplexy at the Elysee Palace. Soon afterward, however, a gruesome story made its appearance and it never has been denied.

SENDS ANOTHER BOMB TO JUDGE ROSALSKY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A second infernal machine similar in almost every respect to the one he received through the mail a week ago last night, was mailed to Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the general sessions, last Wednesday, it became known tonight.

Like the first bomb, which exploded in the library of the judge's parament, in the Hendrik Hudson apartment-house, at 110th street and Riverside Drive, this second bomb was mailed in a postoffice district somewhat remote from that in which Judge Rosalsky lives. From this district it came to postal station H, in 102nd street, near Amsterdam avenue.

The details of the construction of the second infernal machine and the composition of the explosive with which it was loaded, are withheld by the police and postal authorities. The latter, under direction of Inspectors Jacobs and James, are working hand in hand with Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, who is in charge of the police end of the investigation.

That the sender of the second bomb is the man who sent the infernal machine, which exploded and seriously injured Inspector Owen Eagan of the Bureau of Explosives, is said, however, to be almost certain. Furthermore there is reason to believe that with the information he has been able to obtain as a result of having in his possession the second bomb intact, Commissioner Dougherty has clues which he considers so valuable as to make him reasonably certain of the unraveling of the mystery.

HAS MESSAGE FOR MR. TAFT.

Oakland Woman Assures Him of Support.

Tells of Admiration for Him in California.

President Gratified at Reports from Coast.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republican women voters of California are for Taft. They admire him as an able, clean man. They like his record as President and they are grateful for what he has done for San Francisco and California in behalf of the Panama-Pacific Exposition and otherwise.

This was the declaration of Mrs. W. E. Dargie of Oakland at the White House today. She had previously made the same statement to Senator Perkins. Mrs. Dargie is here en route to Cuba.

It is not often the executive offices are visited by a woman eligible to vote. The President has found much to be delighted with in the frequent reports reaching him that he has the sympathy of the great majority of Republican women voters in California and elsewhere in the West.

Mrs. Dargie, who was presented to the President by Representative Knowland, confirmed the general reports that the President is certain of the vote of several hundred thousand California women who go to the polls in primaries and general elections and often exercise the balance of power.

Andrea Sarboro, a San Francisco business man, who met the President with W. R. Wheeler as escort, stated that San Francisco Republicans appeared to be almost overwhelmingly for the President.

The sentiment in California is most gratifying to the Taft managers because there is to be a Presidential primary in that State, and the Taft people are not the least afraid to present their case to the people as a jury. The prospective Taft victory in California will have great influence in the Pacific Coast region, both in the Chicago convention and in the November election.

Roosevelt Delivers an Address in Portland, Me. and Says Some Things That Have Been Said Many Times Before.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Me.) March 23.—Theodore Roosevelt in an address here tonight at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the Roosevelt State Committee, took issue with statements in recent speeches made by President Taft. He quoted Abraham Lincoln to prove that the President's theory of government meant government by a "combination of political and financial privilege."

"The president of the United States has in a number of recent speeches, big and correctly stated the issue between him and us," said Mr. Roosevelt. "We stand for the right of the people to rule, and we stand for this as a real and living fact, and not as a juggling formula ingeniously devised so as not to find expression in fact. In a recent speech the President paraphrased Lincoln's great statement that 'this is a government of the people, for the people, and by the people,' proposing as a substitute that we should hereafter act on the theory that this is a government of the people, for the people by a representative part (or class) of the people. "It is dangerous work for any man to try to improve on Lincoln's doctrines of popular sovereignty."

FORMER ADJ.-GEN. ALLEN DIES AFTER USEFUL CAREER.

Active in Politics in Missouri and California, He Won Distinction as Official in Each State—Served With Honor in Civil War—Business Man Here.

Gen. Charles Carroll Allen, adjutant-general of California under Gov. Markham in the '90s, died yesterday morning at his late home, No. 317 Mallard street, aged 79 years. He leaves a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Carl C. Crippen, and two sons, Benjamin B. Allen and Carroll Allen, all of this city.

The funeral is to be held at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, services to be conducted in the Orr & Boothe undertaking chapel and interment to be made in Rosedale Cemetery.

Gen. Allen was a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of Missouri in the Hayes campaign and in a Democratic State was defeated, but President Hayes appointed him United States marshal for the western district of Missouri. He also served as State Senator.

The general came to California in 1885 and became associated with The Times as manager of the business department. Later he served in a similar capacity on another newspaper. Then he was appointed adjutant-general.

After serving his four-year term in Sacramento Gen. Allen entered business here and became additionally prosperous. During his late years he led a retired life.

Gen. Allen was born in Orleans county, New York, and accompanied his parents to Illinois early in life. After completing his education at the Mt. Morris Seminary he established a paper in that town and others in nearby towns.

When the Civil War broke out he enlisted in the Third Missouri regiment and was appointed a lieutenant. Later he became a captain in the Thirty-fifth Missouri. He was mustered out in 1864 because of disability, but served as provost marshal of St. Louis and later of Batesville, Ark.

The general was married in 1854 to Miss Harriet Bates of Asbury, Ill., and four children were born, Charles having died hour until reinforcements from the command of Gen. Tellez arrived. The reinforcements were a mixed force of cavalry, infantry and artillery commanded jointly by Gen. Blanquet, the hero of Morelos, and Gen. Tellez.

The rebels were said to have resisted stubbornly the aggressive movements of the combined forces for two hours and then fled northward, leaving eighteen dead on the field and a number of wounded. From one of the prisoners it was learned that Gen. Orozco was at Santa Rosalia, with 1400 men. He had two machine guns. The rebel force engaged in the battle was commanded by Jose Inez Salazar. The command came by train from Santa Rosalia to meet the advance of the rebels. Later Emilio Campa, with a small force, joined the rebels.

TO SEND NEW MAN TO WASHINGTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—Manuel Calero y Sierra, Minister of Foreign Relations, soon will be transferred to the post of Ambassador at Washington. The portfolio of Foreign Relations will be assumed by Pedro Lascaurrain. The change will be effective immediately and it is expected Dr. Calero will leave for Washington next week.

Ambassador Gilberto Crespo y Martinez, now at Washington, will be transferred to Vienna as Minister to Austria-Hungary.

A clear superiority in the strength of the administration party in the Mexican Chamber of Deputies was demonstrated yesterday when that body elected Guillermo Obregon president to serve through the present extraordinary session, and the regular session, which is to begin April 2. Jose de Jesus Anaya, independent, was the opposing candidate. The vote was 106 to seventy-four.

REMOVING MONEY FROM CHIHUAHUA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, March 23.—Five hundred thousand dollars in canceled Mexican bank notes has been brought to El Paso from Chihuahua within the last few days by four clerks in the employ of the Banco Nacional of Mexico City, the money being concealed in suit cases.

Fearing that the bank would be attacked by the revolutionary forces, the officials of the institution determined to save all the money possible and before starting to El Paso every one of the notes was canceled through the use of a rubber stamp, which renders them useless for currency again, but they will be redeemed at their face value upon presentation at the Federal Treasury, in Mexico City.

In the vaults of the Bank of the city of Chihuahua there yet remains $200,000 in silver, which was too bulky to move. When the clerks left the city, the doors were still open for business, they say, but much uneasiness was felt by the officials.

FOREIGN MISSIONARIES FLEE CHIHUAHUA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, March 23.—Conditions in Chihuahua have become so disturbed that all of the missionaries of the American Board of Commissioners for foreign missions stationed there have been obliged to seek refuge at El Paso, Tex.

The news of the closing of the Chihuahua mission was received at the board's headquarters here today in a telegram from the Rev. Dr. James D. Eaton of Mont Clair, N. J., in charge of the work at Chihuahua.

The board has been trying to get into communication with Miss Ellen C. Prescott, missionary at Parral, State of Chihuahua, who refused to leave her post. Lines of communication have since been interrupted.

Without a Struggle.

EL PASO, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A special to the Herald from Chihuahua says that Ojinaga was taken without a struggle by the rebel forces. Jose de la Cruz Sanchez, who was in charge of the Federal command there, went over to the rebels.

THE CAMORRIST TRIAL.

Lawyer for the Defense Asks for the Acquittal of the Informer Because He Turned on the Outlaws.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VITERBO, March 23.—Signor Denichilo, the lawyer representing the informer, Abbatemaggio, at the trial of the alleged Camorrists, began his speech for the defense today, but had not proceeded far when he became ill. The sitting then was adjourned until Tuesday.

Denichilo asked for a verdict of acquittal in behalf of his client, who, he said, though a thief and a Camorrist, had repented and was ready to suffer anything in order to rehabilitate himself. The fact that he had the courage to rebel against the state of slavery in which the Camorra kept its members, and his sincerity in following the right path now, the lawyer argued, should go far in the minds of the jury to remove the early stigma.

Sixty-nine Bodies Recovered at Scene of Oklahoma Disaster—Fifty-five Escaped Alive.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

M'CURTIN (Okla.) March 23.—official list of dead in Wednesday's coal mine disaster totals seventy-one.

Fifty-five escaped alive.

Sixty-nine bodies have been recovered. The work of relief is well in hand today.

Gloomy.

BRITONS UNABLE TO END STRIKE; STARVATION NEAR.

Many Families Absolutely Without Food, Hundreds of Trains Cancelled, Navy Affected, More Mills Are Closed, Unions' Funds Depleted—The Only Hope of Peace Is in Monday's Meeting.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 23.—The government minimum wage bill, as it stands, will not settle the coal strike. That is now admitted on all sides.

Therefore, with gravest anxiety the country awaits the results of the joint conference of coal owners and miners on Monday.

The miners' leaders have consented to waive their district schedule, which, heretofore, they have maintained as the only basis of a settlement which they would accept, but they will insist upon their demand for the 5 and 2 shilling minimum.

The government adheres to its refusal to embody those rates in the bill. If the owners agree to concede this demand, it is the general opinion that the strike speedily will be settled; if they do not it will make little difference whether the bill in its present shape be passed or withdrawn.

England is spending one of the gloomiest week-ends in her history. In every town, village and hamlet throughout the country where skilled workmen usually are engaged in the great industries, unemployment is on the increase and the families of the workers, who have been rendered idle by the strike of a million coal miners are, in many cases facing starvation.

Residents of the city who usually spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday in the country are unable today to leave the town as the railways, pleading a shortage of coal, have annulled trains by the hundreds. The railroads also have decided not to run special trains for the opening of the flat racing season next week.

The cotton mills at Nelson, Bolton and other centers in Lancashire are closing rapidly while most of the factories in Leeds have either stopped entirely or are running on half time. Foundries everywhere have drawn their fires and this week-end a large number of factories and workshops in the southern counties of England heretofore not affected have paid off their men.

The navy, too, is beginning to feel the effects of the strike. Winston Spencer Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty, in answer to a question in the House of Commons, announced that the strike unquestionably would retard the progress of the work on new ships building for the navy and on the naval bases under construction.

The steam trawlers at Hull, like those of Grimsby and other fishing ports, remain in harbor and their skippers are distributing their stores among the hungry women and children whose husbands and fathers are no longer able to provide them with food.

Throughout the country well-to-do women are taking charge of relief work. In Northern Nottinghamshire the Duchess of Portland has undertaken the work in the districts where the duke is the principal owner of the mineral rights. She motors, accompanied by her daughter, from cottage to cottage, leaving supplies for the impoverished families.

In Hanley, one of the most prosperous towns of the country, 4000 families, representating one-third of the population, are receiving assistance from public funds.

All this unemployment means a tremendous drag on the funds of the trades unions. Thus far the miners alone have received $2,900,000 in strike pay and today it was estimated that $600,000 was paid out as out-of-work benefits by other unions. The secretary of one of the largest unions said today that the treasuries would be drained to the last penny before the trouble was over, a condition of affairs which is causing much resentment against the leaders of the miners, who are accused of stubbornness.

A curious feature of the coal crisis is found in the fact that American theatrical managers in London are besieged by prominent English stage people including actormanagers, anxious to obtain American engagements imediately to escape the depression incidental to the strike.

The continued curtailment of the suburban train service has hit the theaters severely. The managers fear that the future holds out a worse prosepct.

Charles Hawley has accepted an American engagement and will sail next week. Seymour Hicks has taken a similar step to escape the hard times.

LINES WILL TIE UP.

UNABLE TO GET COAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOUTHAMPTON, March 23.—The American line steamship St. Louis, due here tomorrow from New York, by way of Plymouth and Cherbourg, will be laid up, as coal for her return voyage to New York cannot be obtained. It is the fourth vessel of the American line to be laid up because of the coal strike.

From the Orient.

MAID FROM LOS ANGELES PROTECTED BY BRITISH FLAG

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Doris Marlow, a pretty young woman of the brunette type, a passenger on the Pacific Mail liner Nile, which arrived today from the Orient, while declaring she is thoroughly American, said she had reason to appreciate the protection of the British flag under which the ship sailed.

Miss Marlow, who is pleased to say that she was born and reared in Los Angeles, and has friends and relatives in San Francisco and other parts of California, declares she was wrongfully accused of the theft of two diamonds from the Countess de Visone in the fashionable Astor House in Shanghai.

Half an hour after the accusation by the Countess Miss Marlow sailed on the steamer Nile. When the vessel arrived in Japanese waters a request for the arrest of Miss Marlow was cabled from Shanghai, but the Japanese officials refused to act on account of extradition formalities, and the further fact that she was aboard ship under the protection of the British flag.

Miss Marlow was accused by the Countess of having stolen two diamond rings in the hotel, where they were casually laid by their owner. When questioned by the hotel management, Miss Marlow said she would submit to a search, as her steamer was about to leave and she was anxious that the matter be cleared before she sailed. Two matrons searched the young woman, but the missing diamonds were not found on her person.

Miss Marlow has spent the past two years in the Orient, and it is said that she has a large collection of sparkling gems. She declares she took them with her to the Orient and is returning minus $4000 worth of diamonds, which were stolen from her in Hongkong.

The same day that Miss Marlow sailed on the liner Nile the Count and Countess J. S. M. de Visone departed from Shanghai on the steamer Yorck.

Officers and passengers on board the liner Nile are strong in the defense of Miss Marlow in what they assert was a wrongful accusation against the young woman.

hot fights, and which they are likely to win, are the thirtieth, embracing the counties of Hamilton, Fulton, Montgomery and Schenectady, and the thirty-second, known as the Oswego District. Former Representative L. N. Littauer, a glove manufacturer, and a very rich man, controls the thirtieth district. Another stiff fight will be made in the district embracing the counties of Oneida and Herkimer, which is Vice-President Sherman's home district.

Thirteen delegates all told are all that the Taft managers will concede to Roosevelt, the odd number being due to the fact that in one of the Brookklyn districts one of the regular candidates is a Roosevelt man. The Taft forces claim the entire New York county delegation. But as previously stated, it is here that Roosevelt will personally make a tremendous fight. He is likely to win something here.

The bitterness of the fight in New York county is made clear by allegations emanating from the Roosevelt side today relative to the removal of election inspectors who are friendly to the former President. It is declared that many inspectors are being removed by President Koenig of the Republican County Committee, and it is charged the purpose is to make the way clear in the east districts to vote dead men and repeaters in accordance with genuine Tammany methods. There undoubtedly will be conflicts at the primary polls on Tuesday that will be full of excitement.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER RISING.

But the Danger of Serious Flood in and About St. Louis Seems to Have Been Lessened.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 23.—The Mississippi River at St. Louis rose slightly today and tonight stood at 23.8 feet, a half-foot rise in twelve hours. The danger of a flood here at the present time has been lessened by a fall in temperature throughout this section which materialy decreased the flow from tributary streams.

MOROCCAN SITUATION IS AGAIN CRITICAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GIBRALTAR, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Disturbances continue in Morocco City. During a clash of Moorish troops under French officers, a soldier shot down Lieut. Guillase. The man was immediately court-martialled and shot.

The Spanish-French negotiations about zones of influence in Morocco are causing uneasiness and only tact can save a situation that is becoming critical.

If Morocco is to be a protectorate even the French colony in Tangier believes that it is impossible for France to succeed without the aid of Spain and hence it is absolutely necessary that they should act together.

It is said that M. Jonnart, Governor of Algieria, will be appointed French Resident General of Morocco.

SEVENTEEN PERSONS INJURED

Nearly All the Victims of an Accident on a Branch of the Burlington Railway Are Women.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) March 23.—At least seventeen persons were injured, five of them seriously, late today when a passenger train on the Chillicothe branch of the Burlington railroad left the tracks and turned over at Cosby, Mo., ten miles north of St. Joseph. Most of the injured were women. According to railroad officials a rail was loosened owing to the soft roadbed and was thrown under the train as it prepared to take a siding. The baggage car and two coaches turned over.

BILL CREATES PRISON BOARD.

Arizona Governor Said to Favor Measure.

Substitute Bill Is Offered for Recall Amendment.

Senate Bill Smacks of Government Ownership.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 23.—Under the provisions of a bill introduced in the House by Representative Hartwell Johnson of Phoenix this afternoon, understood to have the indorsement of the administration, a Board of Prison Supervisors consisting of the Governor, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and an appointed prison inspector, would be created to have supervision over all offenders sentenced to more than ninety days' imprisonment anywhere in the State, and over all sanitation and construction of county and city jails and State prisons. It is provided also that the same board should pass on applications for pardons, paroles and commutations, provided the Governor's pardoning power be not interfered with, and that a prison inspector, on a salary of $1600 annually, should devote all his time to the inspection of penal institutions.

The recall amendment to the Constitution was reported on by the Committee on Amendments, which offered a substitute bill differing from the original by the exclusion of the part providing for a special election July 4. Action on the amendment was deferred until Monday, when it is expected the Senate will be read to act upon it also.

Senator Worsley's bill authorizing the State government and cities of Arizona to engage in industrial pursuits was introduced in the House by Representative Lewis of Globe. A bill to require the examination and licensing of engineers operating stationary engines was presented to the House by Representative Irvine of Phoenix. A bill introduced by Representative Whipple proposed to make municipal corporation and all city or State government employees subject to garnishments for debt. Two bills introduced in the House by Representative Graham contemplate subjecting mining, railroad and irrigation properties in time for the recovery of wages for labor performed in the service of lessees or contractors operating under the authorization of owners.

The leading bills introduced in the Senate this afternoon were Senator Lovin's requiring only six months' residence in the State and four months in county previous to action for divorce; Senator Kinney's bill, making it imperative that miners and others in hazardous occupations shall read and speak English, an indeterminate sentence bill, a bill limiting ante-election campaign expenses of candidates, and another prescribing an official ballot with the names in rotation, all of the latter three Senator Hughes being sponsor for.

Senator Worsley submitted a bill giving the State and city governments the right to engage in industries for profit, which embraces the tenets of government ownership in toto.

Both Houses of the Legislature will convene Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Boston Heiress's Trousers Are Called "Unseemly Display" in Resolution, and She Is Asked to Be More Conventional When She Goes Out for Her Canter.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—The social habits of Miss Eleanor Sears, the Boston athlete-heiress who is visiting on the Coast, have become the subject of resolutions adopted today by the Burlingame Mothers' Club. Burlingame is a suburb of San Francisco in which many rich persons live, and Miss Sears is a guest there. The resolutions dub the riding habits "unseemly display," and request Miss Sears to wear skirts. A copy of the resolutions was mailed to Miss Sears, inclosed in a letter from Mrs. H. S. Harris, president of the club. Miss Sears's secretary said today that no answer would be made until after a conference with her employer.

Miss Doris Williamson of Bisbee, Ariz., has written Miss Sears, challenging her to a race for the woman's championship of America.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 23.—Under the provisions of a bill introduced in the House by Representative Harris of Phoenix this afternoon, destined to have the indorsement of the administration, a Board of Prison Supervisors consisting of the Governor, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and an appointed prison inspector, would be created to have supervision over all offenders sentenced to more than ninety days' confinement anywhere in the State, and over all sanitation and construction of county and city jails and State prisons. It is provided also that the new board should pass on applications for pardons, paroles and commutations, provided the Governor's pardoning power be not interfered with, and that a prison inspector, on a salary of $1400 annually, should devote all his time to the inspection of State institutions.

The recall amendment to the Constitution was reported on by the Committee on Amendments, which offered a substitute bill differing from the original by the exclusion of the part providing for a special election July 11 unless on the amendment was decided until Monday, when it is expected the Senate will be read to act on it also.

WILD FIGHT FISHERMEN.

Fish and Game Commission Organizing State Protective League to Combat Wholesale Dealers.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—The Fish and Game Commission is organizing a protective league throughout the State to combat the fishermen who now control the output of the rivers and seaports.

This fact was given out by President Newbert when G. H. Catania appeared at an executive meeting with a protest against the wholesalers. Catania said his own firm had been driven out of business by fighting the other wholesalers, who, he charged, not only used artificial means to keep up prices but destroyed millions of undersized fish in their nets in violation of the law. Penalties are now ineffective even when enforced, according to Catania.

Newbert stated in reply that he had already secured about 7000 names for his fish and game protective association and hoped to have 100,000 by next January, the purpose of the league being to urge the passage of more effective laws on the subject.

CHARTER DAY OBSERVED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, March 23.—A throng filled the Hearst Greek Theater this morning when "charter day exercises," marking the forty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the University of California, were held. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler presided and was one of the speakers. The address of the day was delivered by Dr. Herbert Putnam, librarian of Congress. The Rev. Albert W. Palmer of Oakland, was chaplain of the day. Music was furnished by the new university chorus of 300 voices. The charter day procession, which preceded the exercises afterwards reformed and marched to the new Doe University library, where dedicatorial exercises were held.

PHONE MERGER MAY BE KILLED.

San Francisco Man Sues for Fifty Thousand.

Asks Injunction Against Removal of Instruments.

Violation of Cartwright Law Alleged in Complaint.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—A suit was filed here today which, it is believed, will become a test case upon which the final adjudication of the recent merger of the Home and Pacific States Telephone companies will depend. O. L. Scott, the plaintiff, asks a restraining order preventing the removal of Home Company telephones from his residence and place of business and $50,000 damages. The telephone companies mentioned in the complaint are the Bay Cities Telephone Company, the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, the Home Long Distance Telephone Company, and the Home Telephone Company of San Francisco. Violation of the Cartwright law against restrictive combinations is charged.

The Home Telephone Company petitioned the San Francisco Board of Supervisors about two months ago for permission to merge with the Bell company. The taking over of the telephone system by the city previously had been considered and an offer was made to the Home company for the purchase of its property. The price asked by the company was regarded by the Supervisors as exorbitant, and plans were discussed by the Mayors of San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley for the municipalization of all the Bay City lines.

The Home and the Pacific States company forestalled further proceedings in this direction when the former company sold its assets, with the exception of its franchise, to the Pacific States company, late last week.

M'KEE RANKIN WINS.

INDICTMENT DISMISSED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—McKee Rankin, an actor, indicted several years ago for an alleged infringement of copyright privileges on the play "The Fires of St. John," was cleared today in the United States Court, where the indictment was dismissed at the suggestion of Atty.-Gen. Wickersham. The indictment was brought by Charles Swickard. In asking for a dismissal, the prosecution stated that there was not sufficient evidence at hand to convict.

VICTIM OF MURDER.

Alameda Authorities Believe Oakland Tailor Was Killed by Man Bent on Robbery.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALAMEDA, March 23.—Investigation late last night into the circumstances surrounding the death of A. Katzenberger, the Oakland tailor whose body was found in the bay off Alameda pier yesterday afternoon, indicates that Katzenberger was murdered. A $500 diamond ring is missing and his watch chain is broken in an apparent effort of his murderer to seize Katzenberger's solid gold watch and chain. A bruise over the right eye was declared by Dr. Arthur Hieronymus this morning to have been sustained before death, the eye being black and blue. Had the bruise been sustained after death it would have been red.

TEN THOUSAND AT FESTIVAL.

Saratoga Holds Thirteenth Annual Flower Fete in Foothills of Santa Clara Valley.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, March 23.—More than 10,000 people from the cities of Central California participated today in the thirteenth annual blossom festival at Saratoga, in the western foothills of Santa Clara Valley. Hundreds of carriages and automobiles were contributed by orchardists to carry visitors to points in the hills above the town where advantageous views were obtained of a panorama of 8,000,000 fruit trees in bloom. The history of California was summarized in an allegorical pageant which wound through the streets of Saratoga in the afternoon.

Wife Divorces Stockton Man Who Tells Her She Is Well Able to Support Herself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After having lived together nearly thirty years, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bouche, the former an attendant in the State Hospital, today terminated their marriage in the divorce court, where the wife obtained a decree on the grounds of failure to provide. The husband did not contest.

Mrs. Bouche, who has grown old beside her spouse, testified her husband had refused to provide her with necessaries, although well able. According to her testimony, when she remonstrated he declared she was able to earn her own living.

MORE PETITIONS.

FROM LOS ANGELES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—Three large packages containing referendum petitions were received today in the office of the Secretary of State from Los Angeles. These are additions to the petition filed yesterday by County Clerk Cook of Alamenda and which are directed against the three registrars of voters. The Los Angeles petitions are unnecessary so far as the required total is concerned, sufficient signatures having been obtained in Alameda county alone to insure the submission of the three acts to the people for approval.

OBITUARY.

Adrian C. Ellis.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 23.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Col. Adrian C. Ellis, prominent attorney and Democrat of the far West, died here yesterday. Col. Ellis went to Carson City, Nev., in 1863, after escaping from a Federal prison where he was held as a Confederate prisoner of war. In Nevada he was Democratic candidate for Governor at one time and again a candidate for Congress. He practiced law in San Francisco from 1887 until 1893, when he came to Salt Lake. Col. Ellis was born near Richmond, Mo., in 1840. Four children survive him.

VITAL PROBLEM STILL IN AIR.

Question of Closing Mines Worries the Miners.

Bituminous Case Supersedes Anthracite Claims.

President White Hopeful of an Adjustment.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) March 23.—Whether the 450,000 union coal miners of the United States will quit work and cause the mines to be shut down probably will not be decided earlier than a few days before April 1, when the present wage agreements expire.

Officials of the Miners' Union decided today to take no action on the wage dispute of the anthracite miners until there was a settlement of differences with the bituminous coal miners, or a disagreement. This means that the coal situation will remain unsettled until after Tuesday, when there will be another conference.

The bituminous miners are asking for a 10 per cent. increase in pay, with a reduction of working hours. The anthracite miners are making similar demands but in addition want material changes in their working conditions, including a complete recognition of the union and the abolition of all intermediaries between miners and employers.

The union is endeavoring to negotiate the demands of each class of miners separately. The operators assert that the increased pay asked for would augment the mine pay rolls more than $600,000 a week at the minimum.

John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said he was still hopeful that a suspension of work in the coal mines might be avoided. The desire of the operators to continue negotiations next week, he said, indicated the possibility of a settlement. He knew of no present plan to resume negotiations with operators for an adjustment of the differences of the anthracite miners, he said.

Although the conference of operators and miners has adjourned until next Tuesday, officials of the union held sessions here today.

The union's Policy Committee, which has the power to make recommendations for a referendum vote by the union, will meet here Monday to consider the demands of the miners in the anthracite fields recently denied by the operators.

TELL HOW THEY LOST MONEY.

Victims of Lewis Enterprises, Including Imperial County (Cal.) Men, Invested in Hope of Profit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 23.—Four investors in the Lewis enterprises testified today in the trial of E. G. Lewis, charged with using the mails to defraud, that they were induced to place their money in Lewis's hands through advertisements Lewis signed in his publications.

Mrs. Lucy O. Biller of Fayetteville, Ark., testified she sold her home to raise $500 to purchase a $500 note. The only return she had received, she said, was $15, representing interest in advance on one of the several stocks given free with the notes. When she did not receive further return, she said she wrote personal letters to Lewis but got no reply.

Thomas E. Griffin, of Imperial county, (Cal.) who invested $1000 in 6 per cent. notes, testified he thought the notes were secured by deeds of trust.

LOCAL OPTION BEATEN.

Democratic Majority in House of Representatives in Maine Fails to Muster Two-thirds.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AUGUSTA (Me.) March 23.—The Legislature defeated today the proposed amendment to the Maine Constitution to allow local option on the question of permitting the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors in all the cities and in such towns as accept the amendment's provision.

The Democratic majority in the House failed to muster the necessary two-thirds affirmative vote on final passage.

THE TABLES TURNED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE, March 23.—Mrs Emil Schoeloeber found her husband locked in his room tonight and a smell of gas issuing therefrom. Neighbors were called and Patrolman Rudolph Rohran, carrying a lantern, broke open the door. There was an explosion, injuring the officer, the wife and three neighbors. The house was wrecked. The would-be suicide escaped injury from the explosion and the falling timbers, but is dying from inhaling gas. The others are seriously hurt.

WIRE TAPPING ALLEGED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—How Evans A. Pinkard of Clanton, Ala., came to Chicago a week ago to get rich and subsequently lost $5000, was disclosed today when a Federal grand jury indicted Charles A. Howard, James Stacsmider, H. S. Morris, D. S. Davis and J. R. Ross. They are accused of fleecing Pinkard by the old "wire-tapping" swindle.

SURE OF HIS QUARRY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARYVILLE (Mo.) March 23.—Hez Rasco, who will be hanged here next Tuesday morning, was baptized today into the faith of the Baptist church. Fearing that the prisoner might attempt to drown himself if permitted to get into deep water, the Sheriff refused to allow a large steel tank to be brought into the jail for the immersion. As a result, Rasco was baptized in the jail bath tub.

PENNANT OF THE MAINE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—The pennant of the battleship Maine is to have a permanent home in Chicago. It has been informally presented to the Spanish War Veterans of Chicago by George C. Magis, present owner of the emblem and will be received with appropriate ceremonies on Decoration Day.

WHY AND WHEREFORE?

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—A chanfie in the Constitution of the United States whereby a person to become a naturalized citizen of the United States would not be required to forswear entirely his allegiance to his native land, was suggested by Miss Jane Addams here last night in a speech before the Sons of the American Revolution. Miss Addams's subject was: "Possibilities of the American immigrant."

TO CHALK THE SIDEWALK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—As a part of their campaign to win the votes of the men for a favorable expression on equal suffrage at the primaries, April 9, suffragist leaders have obtained permission to chalk the sidewalks in the downtown districts, calling for "Votes for Women."

ROBBERS ARE DEFEATED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY, March 23.—Three men made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up Dionyses Yrokaris, a wealthy Greek, in broad daylight in the postoffice building here today while scores of persons were in the lobby. As Yrokaris started through the turnstile door, two men stepped into the same section and attacked him, while a confederate held the door fast. The robbers were forced to release their intended victim when his cries brought assistance. The three men ran but two of them giving the names of Chas. Hamilton of Omaha and Thomas E. Kelly of Joplin, Mo., were captured.

HIT BY PURITY WAVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) March 23.—A purity wave has struck the University of Wisconsin senior class and the members are just now divided into "hell" and "anti-hell" factions. One group led by the new president, Harold G. Eckhard, and joined by most of the co-eds, is for eliminating "hell" from the class yell. The others, fond of originality and color, protest against a change. One of these, Stewart O. Blythe, son of Samuel G. Blythe, the journalist, thinks the tendency at Wisconsin is too much in the direction of change and that this is one example. The yell is not exactly euphonious. It goes this way: "We are hell, we are hell, "Varsity Varsity, Nineteen twelve."

"FIND YOUR CINDERELLA."

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAWRENCE (Kan.) March 23.—A Cinderella dance, said to be the bizarre invention of a certain Kansas University sorority, was given a try-out at a fraternity ball here last night. The problem, so far as the young men were concerned, was: "Given a slipper, find the foot it fits, for it belongs to your partner." The young men withdrew from the ballroom after the twelfth number and the lights turned low. When the music started again the men returned to find a pile of dainty slippers in the middle of the floor while each co-ed had hidden an unshod foot in the folds of her gown. The lights were bright again. Accounts vary as to how long it took for each young man to find his Cinderella. It also leaked out that two or three of the slippers, plainly the largest in the pile, were not placed until the others had found their mates and were gliding over the floor to the strains of "Hearts and Flowers."

THE ACADEMIC LIFE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—The kidnaping of a sophomore by three freshmen from Northwestern University and their subsequent invasion of the residence of Ralph Horn, who is in no way connected with student affairs led to the arrest of the four boys tonight. They were released on cash bond supplied by an official of the university. The students are J. A. Cromer, sophomore, and W. P. Hart, A. J. Jindra and G. W. Scott, freshmen. Cromer was to have been the principal speaker at the sophomore banquet last night, and the freshmen determined he should not be present.

COLLISION KILLS MOTORMAN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) March 23.—Fear that more than one had been killed in the head-on collision between two Indiana Union Traction cars near Fortville last night proved unfounded today when the track was cleared and only the seared body of a motorman, Bert Minzer of Muncie was uncovered. Of the twelve passengers injured, W. C. Robbins of Detroit is in the most serious condition. He is not expected to recover.

WOMAN SHOOTS HIM.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) March 23.—While attending the funeral of a friend in Calvary cemetery here today, Mrs. Mary McCarthy shot and probably fatally wounded John G. Gallagher. Gallagher fell at the edge of the grave with a bullet in his left breast. Mrs. McCarthy was arrested. Police say she told them that Gallagher had made remarks about her.

So Tired of Tired Feet! Use Tiz

Gets the "Tired" Out in a Few Minutes—Makes Your Feet Sore-Proof.

"O fudge! It's awful how tired feet make you feel tired all over—so dead tired. Then, when you've got a corn besides, and a bunion, and a few blisters, and your feet are terribly swollen, you don't care if you've got a million dollars—you're tired, that's all. A million dollars can't help you any more than 25 cents will."

"Pull, Johnny, Pull!"

A quarter buys a box of TIZ—a wonder for tired, sore, tender, chafed, blistered, swollen, sweaty, smelly feet, corns, callouses and bunions, chilblains and frost-bite. The moment you use it, you give a sigh of relief, and then you smile. There's nothing as good as TIZ, so don't accept any attempted imitation. TIZ draws out all the poisonous exudations that make foot troubles.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, or sent direct, on receipt of price by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all Drug Stores, department and general stores.

SELLING HOE LIBRARY.

Third Part of Magnificent Collection to Be Disposed of Beginning the Middle of April.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—The sale of the third part of the Robert Hoe library will begin here on April 15, and twenty afternoon and evening sessions will be necessary to dispose of the books and manuscripts in this section of the collection.

Part 1 of the library was sold in April and May, 1911, for $997,366, and the second part brought $471,619 in January of this year. The third part is numerically equal to each of the other parts, but is of somewhat smaller value. It includes thirty-eight manuscripts, mostly dating from the fifteenth century. Mr Hoe's partiality for fine bindings is shown by more than 100 samples of the work of great binders. A binding by Derome was made for Marie Antoinette; another volume bears the arms of Mme. Pompadour, and a third those of Henry III of France.

A DOUBLE TRACK.

DENVER, March 23.—Railroad men in Denver have received advices that the New York Supreme Court had granted the prayer of the Colorado and Southern Railroad Company that it be permitted to dispose of its holdings in the Colorado Midland property which is at present owned jointly by the Colorado and Southern and the Denver and Rio Grande railroad companies, but operated by the latter company. This means, it is said, that the New York bankers, Speyer & Co., who represent the financiers backing the Rio Grande, are to buy in the Colorado Midland stocks and bonds now outstanding, at a nominal figure and that the Rio Grande will have a double track from Grand Junction, Colo., to Salt Lake City, Utah. According to information said to be authenticated by local railroad men, the double track will be completed this year.

HOUSEWARMING SURPRISE FOR GENERAL SHERMAN.

Driven to His Mountain Home on the Lankershim-Van Nuys Ranch, to Find It Had Been Completely Furnished by His Loving Friends—Every Room Is Ready to Live In—A Brilliant Gathering.

ONE of the most original and notable functions ever known in Los Angeles, in the way of a housewarming, was the glorious greeting given to Gen. Moses H. Sherman yesterday at his new foothill home in a beautiful canyon on the border of the Lankershim-Van Nuys ranch, not far from the new town of Van Nuys.

Here, in a green and leafy glen, looking down into the San Fernando Valley, Gen. Sherman has built a commodious and attractive house, with a wide porch and every conceivable accommodation. He built it as a mountain retreat, in which he might pass many restful hours, far from the cares of business life, surrounded by his friends. The house was designed and executed by Mendel Meyer, architect of the Milwaukee Building Company, and is a gem of its kind, while from its commands one of the most interesting landscapes imaginable.

Some of the general's friends conceived the idea of giving him the surprise of his life by welcoming him to a completely furnished establishment when he should become ready to "move in;" and this idea was brilliantly carried out yesterday afternoon.

It was an enterprise of love. Gen. Sherman has done so many beautiful and helpful things for so many of his friends that they were rejoiced at the opportunity to tender him such a demonstration of affection.

The home was furnished as if by magic. One party of friends equipped the acorn scrolls, with a sentiment for this room and that:

THE LIVING-ROOM.

Here dwells the Man! This is the Living-room!
Here Welcome stands within the open door;
A kiss waits for the Bride; joy for the Groom;
For every Friend a hand-clasp; gifts galore!
For laughing Children, joy; for the old Comrade, cheer;
Sunday all week, and Christmas all the year;
Every one's friend—French, English, Russian, German,
Yankee and Mexican—all the same to Sherman!

THE MUSIC ROOM.

When the welcomes are said and the pilgrims are fed,
When the gossip is done and the dinner is over,
When the poem is read, and the heart and the head,
Have gathered their sweets like bees in the clover;
Busy bees in the sweet-scented clover;
Here music will lull us to linger awhile.

With love in the soul and the lips in a smile,
And the cares of the day by her charm will beguile,
Till—"God bless you, Dear Sherman!" it's over.

THE DINING-ROOM.

O Room of rooms! Room where we pray for room
Inside and out! Dispeller of all gloom!
Thankful are we for all provision rare,
More thankful still for appetite to spare,
Gratefullest yet for this good thing we be—
Rounded, expanded, wide capacity!
Hail, Sherman Bountiful! What joy to see
The hungry Prodigal return to thee,
Passing his plate up for a little more—
Rare, with brown gravy—yet again—encore!

THE KITCHEN.

Only the Women could guess, only the Women could plan,
Only the women can know the way to the heart of a man,
The Women alone have intuitive taste and the rare domestic sense
To furnish the Kitchen palace-wise, at only the Kitchen expense;
Coffee like that which your Mother made—this the kind they brew;
Bread like her own, and doughnuts—holey and twisted too;
Rare is the cheer of the Kitchen; fair as the stars the hands
That wrought the charm of its cleanliness, spotlessly as it stands;
Tinware and copper like silver and gold, spoons that the Pope might bless:

These are the gifts you're to have and to hold—lucky old M. H. S.!

THE SCENE.

One hundred guests drove to the canyon in their automobiles yesterday afternoon to look upon a delightful picture. There stood the charming bungalow, its red roof flashing in the sun and a stunning awning with broad red stripes sheltering the porch. Every room within was livable and inviting with furniture that appealed and decorations that made the heart glad. The kitchen range was not only ready to light, but in operation; the living-room beckoned with cosy chairs and sweet draperies; in the music room a company of musicians were playing; the bed chamber was "a dream;" on the table in the dining-room viands were spread; a maid stood at a great silver bowl filled with punch, on the porch. It was just as homey and adequate a home as one might long for.

Imagine the surprise! Imagine being taken out for an automobile spin and without the slightest hint that anything existed in the canyon but an empty house, being taken to so lovely an abode, so completely furnished! Would it not seem like a vision spread before you by some conjurer?

The gathering was distinguished, including men and women eminent in many walks of life, as a persual of the above lists will indicate. Gen. and Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee were among the first arrivals and received the thronging guests.

GEN. SHERMAN'S ARRIVAL.

Gen. Sherman was neatly led into the trap so pleasantly spread for him. His old freind, George W. Scott of San Francisco, has been visiting the city and lured the general on an automobile ride. Of course, it was the most natural thing to visit the mountain bungalow.

When they drove up the grade—tableau!

A hundred waving hands and a hundred cheering throats!

The look of amazement on Gen. Sherman's face could not be photographed. He was showered with confetti and overwhelmed with emotion.

It fell to the lot of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis to unbind the prisoner and hand him over to the mob. He proposed three cheers for Gen. Sherman, and they were given with a gusto.

Rev. Robert J. Burdette spoke from the porch. Said he:

BURDETTE'S SPEECH.

"It is a most unusual and unique experience which confronts Gen. Sherman, to be welcomed into his own home as a guest, by a happy multitude of friends who have not only burglarized it, but finding in it nothing to reward the industry of the robbers, have furnished it with things which the most fastidious of burglars would delight to carry away. His friends have installed Gen. Sherman into his own home as their guest, on the occasion of his first entering it, because having once been guessed, he can never be given up. We have

CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS, COATED TONGUE, HEADACHE OR BAD STOMACH

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a ten-cent box will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too, occasionally.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking In Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

London, 9th Aug., 1905.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., 86 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intedded.

(Signed)

John R. Brooke, F.I.C., F.C.S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

MAINE VICTIMS LAID TO REST.

Funeral Services Conducted in Arlington Cemetery.

Eulogy by the President of the Sea Fighters.

Says Havana Tragedy Was Cause of the War.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 23.—With all the pomp and solemnity that a mighty nation can pay its heroes of war, the last of the dead of the Maine were laid away today in Arlington Cemetery.

Side by side the bodies of those brought back from Havana harbor after the war with Spain, they were consigned to the earth of the old dominion, while a nation paid its last measure of honor to the "unidentified" of that great catastrophe that brought on a war, changed the map of the world and extended the empire of the United States into the corners of the earth.

President Taft, in his eulogy, at the Maine funeral ceremonies, said:

"We meet to pay appropriate honor to the memory of the first of the country's sons who gave up their lives in our war with Spain. I do not mean by this to charge responsibility to the Spanish government for the explosion of the Maine, but that the tragedy was part of the causes that led up to the Spanish War no one familiar with the circumstances, now can doubt.

"That war every American can feel proud of, because it was fought without a single selfish instinct and was prompted by the truest motives. Beginning with a self-denying ordinance with respect to Cuba, we are forced into the attitude of taking over the Philippines, and our course in those islands has reflected the highest credit on our purposes and civilization.

"These, our honored dead, were buried into eternity without the inspiration of anticipated battle or hoped-for victory. But they were on duty when they went down; they wore the uniforms of their beloved country; and they are to be classed well to the fore in that long list of naval heroes whose steadfastness and courage have given the American navy the high position it occupies in history among the navies of the world. It is well that we should halt the wheels of government and stay the hum of industry to take time to note, by appropriate ceremony, the debt we owe to those who gave up their lives for the nation. We raised the ship from the mud bottom of Havana harbor and gave her remains honorable burial in the blue waters of the ocean. We now consign to the sacred soil of Arlington the recovered bones of those who gave the Maine her personality and made her a living weapon for the protection of national honor and vital interest. We have given to those ceremonies all possible solemnity that are included in the honors of war, and we shall fail if they do not express in unmistakable tone and sign the deep and lasting gratitude of a nation to her martyred defenders."

THE HIGHEST TRIBUTE.

Seldom in the history of this country has there been planned a higher tribute to the memory of any man or men than that for the sixty-four dead on the Maine. Government business in Washington practically was suspended by executive order. President Taft, most of the members of the Cabinet, the highest officers of the army, the navy and the marine corps, officials of the departments, and the representatives of many foreign powers participated in the exercises. Over the government buildings flags hung at half mast, while Congress adjourned for the day. The booming of minute guns and the tramp of soldiery added the touch of military pomp and circumstance.

Elaborate preparations had been made for the ceremonies of burial. Beginning with the removal of the dead from the U.S.S. Birmingham, which brought them up from Havana, and ending with the firing of three volleys of musketry over the new-made graves across the Potomac, the ceremony was designed to show all honor and respect to the dead. The escort for the slow march through the streets of the capital from the Birmingham to the State, War and Navy building, was picked from the Birmingham and other vessels now in Washington. The speakers who faced the crowd in the plaza behind the Navy building were only three—President Taft and Father Chidwick, chaplain of the Maine when the explosion of February 15, 1898, sent her to the bottom, and Chaplain Bayard, U.S.N.

The Marine Band, the show band of Washington, was chosen to give the solemn music for the dead and the battery stationed near the Washington monument was selected to fire the twenty-one-gun salute as the ceremonies at the Navy buildig ended and the quiet march to Arlington was begun.

Conspicuous among the officials for whom reservations had been made just behind President Taft on the steps of the big granite building were Rear-Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, who commanded the Maine at the time of the explosion; Rear-Admiral Richard Wainwright, Lieut. Boyd and Medical Director L. G. Heneberger, officers under him at the time. For Admiral Dewey and Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, the ranking officers of the navy and the army, special places had been set aside.

During the memorial exercises arrangements had been made for the tolling of the "Paul Revere" bell of All Souls Unitarian Church, which has been tolled at the funerals of presidents, admirals, generals and other prominent men.

Winding slowly out from behind the navy building into Pennsylvania avenue, the funeral procession found its way through the older part of Washington, across the aqueduct bridge over the Potomac River and up the gray road to Arlington.

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fisk had been assigned command of the parade and behind him were placed first an escort of police; a detachment of troops from Ft. Myer, the marine band, a squadron of cavalry and the first battalion of engineers.

The naval escort comprised a battalion of marines, two battalions of seamen, the naval band and the District of Columbia naval militia. Just ahead of the Thirty-fourth Artillery caissons bearing the leaden caskets were placed Chaplain Bayard and Father Chidwick and just behind the flag draped coffins the pallbearers from the navy, the honorary pallbearers from the United Spanish War Veterans and forty-eight body bearers.

The place at the head of the mourners was given to President Taft. In the White House automobile, his secretary, Chas. D. Hilles, and his naval aide, Lieut. Timmons, also had seats. The President's personal escort was a troop of cavalry and the line behind his automobile included the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, officers of the Maine; aides to the secretary of the navy, chiefs of bureaus of the navy department, and the major general commandant of the marine corps. Just behind these officials places had been left for the distinguished persons, the United Spanish War Veterans, Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans, societies and citizens.

Over the graves in Arlington the simple exercises included burial services by Chaplain Bayard and Father Chidwick. With the firing of three volleys of musketry by a company of marines, a national salute of twenty-one guns from an army battery in the cemetery and the sounding of the plaintive call of taps, the dead were given to the earth.

HITCHCOCK AFTER BRYAN.

Senator Says the "Commoner" Always Flies Off on a Tangent When Discussing a Man He Opposes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska issued a statement today replying to the declaration of William J. Bryan that if Gov. Harmon were endorsed by the Nebraska primaries he would not go to the convention as a delegate.

Senator Hitchcock characterized the Bryan statement as an attempt at dictatorship "which Nebraska voters would not tolerate."

He added that while Harmon was his personal choice, he would vote for any candidate endorsed by Nebraska Democrats.

Commenting on Mr. Bryan's opposition to Gov. Harmon, Mr. Hitchcock said:

"The assertion made by Mr. Bryan that Harmon has the support of Wall street is utterly without proof or foundation so far as I know.

"When Mr. Bryan is opposed to a man, he first assumes and then asserts that Wall street is for that man. Certainly Wall Street has no reason to be for Harmon. As Governor of Ohio, Harmon has shifted three million dollars of taxes a year off the people onto the railroads which are largely owned by Wall street interests."

One-Sixth of Panama Canal Remains to Be Excavated and Twenty-one Months Allowed for Work.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Only one-sixth of the excavation necessary to open the Panama Canal to navigation remained to be done on March 1, and this must be completed in twenty-one months, if Col. Goethals is to redeem his promise to have an American battleship, probably the famous old Oregon, pass through the waterway on January 1, 1915.

Big figures are required to tell what the canal workers have been doing and what they have to do. Last February they took 2,643,410 cubic yards of earth and rock out of the canal prism, making the total excavation up to March 1, 163,183,086 yards, leaving 32,141,293 yards still to be removed.

Federal District Attorney Asks for Extra Guards to Prevent Outlaws From Assassinating the Authorities.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.) March 23.—Fear of a possible repetition of the Hillsville massacre coupled with the receipt of a letter threatening him if he persists in prosecution of a moonshine case, has impelled Gen. J. B. Cox, Federal District Attorney for eastern Tennessee, to ask that a deputy marshal be posted at his bench when the case is called in Greenville next week.

MISS MERCY TALKS BACK TO LAWYER AND ACCUSER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Esther Mercy, who testified in her $100,000 slander suit against the Dean of Women at the University of Chicago that the university authorities had killed her soul by expelling her, sat in the office of her attorney, Everett Jennings, today, and outlined her future life. She said she would marry Warren E. Reynolds, who presented her with the $250 hat which started her troubles.

Instead of the broken young woman who sobbed out that her life had been ruined by expulsion from the university, she became buoyed to high spirits by the apparent victories she had won in a ten days' battle with one of the shrewdest and most uncompromising cross-examiners at the Chicago bar.

"Oh, I shall defy them to persecute me further," declared the young woman, who, according to the counsel for Dean Marion Talbot, defendant in the scandal suit, is too "temperamental" to remain in the university. "I shall not let them ruin my life.

"Within less than a month after I have won my case I shall marry Warren E. Reynolds, the man whom Attorney Francis Walker sarcastically called my 'married fiance.'

"One of the reasons that the university people said they wanted to get rid of me was that I was in debt. Is that a crime? If so, they had better expel about 90 per cent. of the students on the Midway, for nearly all of them owe something. And if I was in debt why didn't some of the men friends that Dean Talbot said I had, come to my rescue?"

The hearing will be resumed Monday, court being taken up with other matters today.

Danderine

Grows hair and we can prove it

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful Immediately After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair—No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Try as you will after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it, if you will just try a little Danderine. Real surprise awaits you.

ALICE LLOYD CONTRIBUTOR.

SENDS "TIMES" CHECK FOR TODAY'S GOLDEN BENEFIT.

Kindly Star of "Little Miss Fix-It" Heard from—Now Playing in Bakersfield—Details of the Programme to Be Offered at Hamburger's Majestic Theater Today.

The interest in the George Fuller Golden benefit seems to be unsually widespread.

Last night The Times Dramatic Editor received a letter from Alice Lloyd, who is the star of "Little Miss Fix-It," enclosing a check for $25.

Miss Lloyd wrote: "I am sending in your care, my check for $25, to be added to the George Fuller Golden fund. I should have wished to offer my services, but as I am appearing in Santa Barbara on Sunday, it is impossible. But I trust that the benefit will be a big financial success." The letter was written in Bakersfield.

Althought the first arrangements for this benefit were made only a little over a week ago, the programme now contains twenty-seven acts, while many others offered their services, which the committee in charge was unable to accept, owing to the already lengthy programme.

The curtain will rise promptly at 1:30 and with the arrangement made for the quick transportation of the acts from the various theaters, there should be no unnecessary delays.

George Fuller Golden was the founder and leader, for many years, of the White Rats of America, the largest organization of vaudeville actors in the world. He was possibly the most brilliant monologist the vaudeville stage has ever known, and unquestionably one of the best-liked and most popular men in the theatrical profession.

The programme will be opened with a short speech by Ferris Hartman, followed by twenty-five acts in the order, given: Harry Van Fossen, from the Empress Theater; May Boley and Herbert Cawthorn from the Lyceum; Ethel Davis and the Armstrong "Baby dolls;" Walter De Leon and "Muggins" Davies, from the Grand; Burnham and Greenwood of the Orpheum; Walter Hampden in "Blackmail," from the Orpheum; Ferris Hartman and Josie Hart, from the Grand; Five Acrobatic Merkels from Pantages; the Thomas Taylor Drill Chorus of 400 voices, from the Land Show; the Four Baseball Players, from the Empress; Fred Wyckhoff, from Pantages; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cummings; Helen Drew and the Forty Whistling Girls; Elmore & Raymond, from Pantages; "Happy," and his mule, "Dynamite," from the Adolphus; Haverly and Wells, Thurber and Madison, from the Orpheum; Julius Tannen of the Orpheum; Henry Stockbridge, from the Burbank; Monte Carter; the Two Joers; Russell and Carmen of the White Rats, London, Eng.; Francis White; Edo, the juggler and Boyce and Derrill, comedy acrobats.

BROKER HELD BY CORONER.

Accused of Homicide After Fatal Shooting.

Witnesses Testify that Shot Was in Self-defense.

Fight Occurred Over Victim's Sister.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—Benjamin Jackson, the wealthy real estate broker, who was arrested last night after an altercation in the vestibule of his home, with J. Henry Lavelle, over the latter's sister, during which Lavelle was shot fatally, was held by the Coroner's jury in $10,000 bail today, on the charge of homicide.

Jackson furnished bail and was released.

Jackson, on the advice of counsel, refused to testify at the Coroner's hearing, but other witnesses gave testimony tending to show that the shooting was in self-defense.

Among the witnesses was Mrs. Margaret Lehany, Lavelle's sister, who was employed as a housekeeper in Jackson's home.

Mrs. Lehany said she had heard Jackson and her brother quarreling in the vestibule and that her brother said, "I am going to take your skull away with me."

Another sister of Lavelle's, Mrs. Minnie Caryll, testified that she heard her brother make similar threats several days ago.

OUTGROWTH OF OLD FEUD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MUSKOGEE (Okla.) March 23.—After the destruction by flames of the home of Charles Brooks today, county authorities began an investigation of Brooks's declaration that a faction of cattlemen with whom he was at enmity, was responsible for the fire. Brooks's 12-year-old son was killed and Brooks was seriously hurt. Several men have been killed and a dozen other houses have been burned since the two cattlemen's factions had their clash last autumn.

Pimples? No They've All Gone!

No More Humiliation; the Wonderful Stuart's Calcium Wafers "Get Right After" Those Pimples, Boils and Skin Eruptions.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

No need for anyone to go about any longer with a face covered with pimples, blotches, eruptions, blackheads and liverspots. These are all due to impurities in the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly and the blemishes will disappear.

That's what Stuart's Calcium Wafers are intended to accomplish and do accomplish. Their principal ingredient is Calcium Sulphide, the quickest and most thorough blood cleanser known.

These wonderful little wafers get right into the blood, and destroy eruptive substances present in it. In some cases a few days is sufficient to make a marked improvement. And when the blood is pure the whole system is a hundred per cent. better.

Don't fret any longer about those blackheads, pimples, boils, tetter, eczema, spots or skin eruptions; they all go and "go quick" if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

You can have a trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, simply by sending your name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich. Then, when you have proved their value, you can get the regular-size package for 50 cents, at any drug store.

FESTIVAL IN KNOX'S HONOR.

Is Given Enthusiastic Reception at Caracas.

Business Suspended by Government Decree.

Fireworks Rival Fourth of July Celebration.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CARACAS, March 23.—A sprinkling of rain today, the forerunner of the rainy season, did not interfere with the lavish entertainment in honor of Secretary of State Knox and the other American visitors to which the whole capital was given over.

Shops were closed and business practically was suspended by government decree. The programme carried out was so arranged that at every place visited one of the ministers received the American secretary. An escort of cavalry preceded with the party but no guard attended the secretary.

From the time of the arrival of the secretary until last midnight the festivities continued without interruption. The Plaza Bolivar was literally roofed with electric lights. The explosion of fireworks was deafening and rivalled the old-fashioned American celebration of the Fourth of July.

Dense crowds surged in the streets following the Knox party everywhere. The demonstrations were unprecedented. Every member of the party was attended by an official.

Secretary Knox, accompanied by President Gomez, paid a visit to the military academy.

The papers appear enthusiastic over the secretary's visit and most of them publish pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Knox, Gomez and Bolivar.

Secretary Know placed a wreath today on the statue of Simon Bolivar, the great liberator, in the National Pantheon.

Hamburg-American Director-General Proposes Plan to Operate Vessels Daily Each Way.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 23.—A daily steamship service each way between New York and Europe is being discussed in shipping circles as a possible outcome of the efforts of Albert Ballin, director-general of the Hamburg-American line, to establish a community of interests between that line and the White Star, Cunard, North German-Lloyd and French lines.

Mr. Ballin was recently in England and it is said that he proposed to the British lines a scheme involving the extension of the pooling system to saloon and second-class passengers as well as the adoption of a sailing programme providing for the departure of a big modern trans-Atlantic liner daily from both America and Europe, and the withdrawal of older vessels. The latter, it is pointed out, are able to obtain passengers only at cheap fares and consequently greatly damage the modern ships.

READY TO GO TO COURT.

Glassell Park and Elliott Place People Preparing to Sue Railway Company.

The residents of Glassell Park and Elliott place, who, Friday night, resisted with force, the attempts of the Los Angeles Railway Company to put passengers off cars for refusing to pay the extra fare demanded by the company beyond the 5-cent limit, will take their fight to the courts, is indicated by circulars sent to many patrons of the Eagle Rock Valley line, yesterday.

The services of an attorney to bring damage actions were offered the residents of the district by the Home Builders of Los Angeles, owners of the Elliott Place tract.

Vene Bloomer has been retained as counsel. All persons who have been ejected from the cars by force or have paid the extra fare under protest, are requested by th circular to immediately put all information in the hands of the attorney.

The circular is headed "Fight for a Fair Fare," and is addressed to all patrons of the line living within the present city of Los Angeles. It gives instructions to all on what grounds they may bring suit against the company and pleads for instant action.

"To establish your right to sue it is not necessary that you should be ejected from the car," recites the circular, "only that you protest against the second fare and pay the same, saying, "I protest against paying this extra fare." When the second fare is collected, take numbers of car and conductor, and get the names of witnesses, if possible."

The people of Eagle Rock and Eagle Rock Valley proper, which is farther out, are taking no part in the controversy. A number of these state that, while they would welcome a 5-cent fare clear through, they do not approve of the methods employed by the Glassell Park and Elliott Place people.

OREGON CONGRESSMAN DEVOTES PAGE EXPLAINING.

Says Report of Arrest for Insulting Woman in Portland Is a "Lie" and Declares "Other Rot" Reflecting on Him Is Equally False. Girl's Father Never Complained.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative A. Walter Lafferty devotes nearly one-fourth of the four pages he has purchased in the voters' campaign pamphlet, which will soon be issued by the Secretary of State, to denying, defending and explaining his exploits with various girls and women. He justifies his act in sending an invitation to a young Washington girl, whom he had never met, in the following words:

"Every man of marriageable age has the right to communicate the fact to a young woman similarly situated that he would like the honor of her acquaintance, provided he does so in a respectful manner, and would not be much of a man if he did not have the nerve to do so.

"They called me a 'dirty masher' and said I had been arrested for insulting a married woman on the streets of Portland. They knew that was a lie.

"The rest of the rot printed about me was equally false as far as facts in any way reflecting upon me were concerned. The young lady to whom I sent a gallery card in Washington is 20 years of age and her father has never uttered one word of complaint about it in my presence and he never will."

When Lafferty was asked to account for his advances to Miss Kubel, a Washington High School girl, he blamed one of his clerks and said the letter had been sent without his knowledge. Later he admitted authorship of the missive.

THREE MORE OF ALLENS IN DANGER OF CAPTURE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MOUNT AIRY, (N. C.) March 23.—Three more members of the Allen clan, Claude Swanson, Allen Floyd, Friell Allen, son of Sidna, and Wesley Edwards were located by the detectives in the mountains north of Mount Airy and their capture tonight or early Sunday morning is practically certain. It is predicted they will not be taken without a fight.

The outlaws were located late today. Word was sent here and reinforcements asked by the posse. Immediately the sheriff of Surry county with his deputies, a dozen detectives and several citizen volunteers, started up into the hills. They will work their way to the south of the place where the outlaws are hiding. On the north the outlaws are confronted by a hundred men, detectives, deputy sheriffs and volunteers working from the south end. When the Mount Airy forces arrive on the south the officers will surround the hiding place and try to cut off escape of the outlaws.

Sidna Allen, leader of the clan, is believed to be hiding in Sugar Loaf Mountain, five miles away from where the Edwards boy and the other two Allens are said to have been located. It is believed here that Jasper Allen, brother of Friell, will lead the posse which goes to capture Sidna Allen. The reason assigned by the people here for Jasper taking up arms against his brother, if he should follow this course, is his endeavor to save his son Friell from the electric chair or to secure revenge on those whom he may believe responsible for inducing his 17-year-old son to participate in the tragedy at Hillsville Courthouse.

Drinking to Excess and Use of Narcotic Drugs

Shatters the Nervous System and Drives the Drinker and Drug Addict Insane.

Every day men and women are being adjudged insane and sent to asylums who could have been saved by appropriate treatment.

Dr. Neal demonstrated at the Chicago Hospital that purely alcoholic insanity could be perfectly relieved, and that it could always be prevented if patients were brought for treatment before organic changes had taken place in the brain tissues.

Every drinker of alcoholic liquors is subjected to the danger of insanity and should at once take treatment—the Neal Treatment—which will eliminate all alcohol from the system and neutralize its functional effect. The Neal Treatment is a harmless, vegetable remedy, administered internally—no hypodermic injections. For full information call at Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, Los Angeles, or write or phone G. U. Neal, manager, for Dr. Neal's free book. Phone—Broadway 4602, A4672.

"I suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child.

"I would sit up in bed with pillows propped up behind me, but still the cough would not let me sleep. I thought and everybody else that I had consumption.

"So reading the papers about Peruna I decided to try, without the least bit of hope, that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never discouraged. Finally I seemed not to cough so much, and the pains in my chest got better and I could rest at night.

"I am well now and cured of a chronic cough and sore throat. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough. It has cured where doctors have failed, and I talk Peruna wherever I go, recommend it to everybody. People who think they have consumption better give it a trial."

Talks On Teeth

New Teeth For Old People

We put new teeth in old mouths every day in the week.

Good, strong, serviceable Alveolar teeth, without plates, that enable the old people to chew food and keep the stomach in good shape.

Why should any man or woman spend the best years of their lives, the declining years, with a disfiguring partial plate or "bridge," that is there for looks only, when, with no trouble, no pain, they can get a perfect set of teeth that will be as solid as a rock in the mouth?

That's the question.

And the answer is, that we can't compel them to come and let us prescribe for them.

Many don't believe we can do anything for them, and the others are afraid they will have to undergo an operation to have the new teeth put in.

As a matter of fact, there is no pain or discomfort of any sort whatsoever in connection with

OUR REX METHOD OF ALVEOLAR TEETH, AS PERFECTED BY DR. RANKINE

In Restoring Missing Teeth

Indeed, it is so simple a plan that it is a wonder it was not discovered years before we patented it.

No cutting, no boring into the gums, nothing about the work that need be dreaded, and when the new teeth are in place, what a source of satisfaction the wearer experiences at meal time.

We don't say, "Now, be careful when you eat," but, "Use these teeth just as you would if they grew in your jaws."

There is one condition that we must have, and that is, that two or more teeth are left in either jaw.

Will you do us a favor?

Will you let us look your mouth over? You won't obligate yourself to spend a penny just because you grant this favor.

We must see the condition of the mouth before we can promise anything, and we say we can do the work after this examination, you can safely allow us to go ahead.

Our Charges Are Reasonable.

We do not ask fancy prices for our work. Just a fair fee—a reasonable sum—just what anyone will gladly and willingly pay for high-grade work such as we invariably execute. Remember that you can always consult us free of charge regarding your teeth troubles, and there is no obligation incurred on your part in so doing.

LABOR BRIEFS.

Make Wage Advance.

FALL RIVER (Mass.) March 23.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Notices of 10 per cent. advance in wages was posted today in the Kerr thread mills of the American Thread Company. Several yarn and dry goods companies in Massachusetts are preparing to make wage advances. Some Rhode Island manufacturers have ordered a 10 per cent. advance.

Engine Men's Demands.

CINCINNATI, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A committee representing members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, employed by the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific (Queen and Crescent) railroad, presented demands for a new scale of wages and certain changes in working rules to General Manager Horace Baker today. Mr. Baker took the matter under advisement. He will confer with the committee next week.

Long Strike Ended.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) March 23.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] The three-year strike of the Seamen's Union, involving 15,000 men on the Great Lakes, has come to an end as the result of a referendum. The strike was marked by much violence and bloodshed.

Pease Bros. Catalogue Advertising Series

Begins Next Sunday

WE feel sure that almost everybody interested in home furnishings will be glad to read in next Sunday's "Times," and each week thereafter, Pease Brothers' "Price Current."

We are going to catalogue this house. We are going to let you know what we've got on our floors. In the past we have said a lot about reliability, business policy, low prices, guarantee, and dependable goods. Now we are going to sort of back up all of these statements by showing and pricing our furniture. Each article will be given a simple illustration, short description and price. There will be no unnecessary adjectives used or any additional matter to enlarge upon the values.

We appreciate fully that these cuts will not do justice to the goods themselves, but we feel, nevertheless, that a very fair idea can be had of our stock.

For one reason or another you cannot all visit our store, so we are going to attempt, in the next few months, to take our store to you. We are going to make it possible for you to examine our lines at your leisure—see just what class of merchandise we carry and how low its price. If you are an out-of-town customer you can order by mail by merely mentioning number and price, with that perfect feeling of safety that comes from dealing with a dependable store.

We Will Say More About This Next Week

By the way, you don't have to wait until next week to become a Pease customer. The prices are just the same this week as they will be next—the assortment may be better.

ATKINSONS ARE GOLF WINNERS.

Make Lowest Score in San Gabriel Foursomes.

Contest Draws an Immense List of Players.

Events Attract Large Number of Social Elect.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The Mixed Foursomes at San Gabriel on Saturday afternoon attracted all the star players and the links presented a crowded scene of animated golfers until well after sundown.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson proved the winners with a net score of 82. Mrs. R. G. Field, the well known northern player, and her partner Mr. J. W. Smith, tied for second place with Mrs. Michael McLaughlin and Armine Brand with a net 84, which necessitates a play-off on Tuesday morning.

Miss Constance Clark, who is acting-captain of the women golfers during Miss Alice Tobey's absence, was congratulated upon all sides at the great success of the meeting, the smooth working, the satisfactory handicapping, and above all the very tactful pairings of partners and play by which everyone was happy and satisfied.

MANY ENTRANTS.

Nearly 160 players took part and amongst the many star golfers to be seen were Miss Katherine Harley, Miss Katherine Mellus, Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mrs. Henry Van Dyke, Miss Margaret James, Mrs. J. V. Eliot, E. S. Armstrong, Michael McLaughlin, Hugo Johnstone, Edward Tufts, Armine Brand, E. N. Wright, H. Woodcock and so on—such a galaxy of names as can only be attracted by a championship event in the usual way.

It was a leap year affair, so that the ladies had to invite their partners to play. Miss Clark found a perfect agony of suspense amongst the men lest no one should ask them and they came to her surreptitiously to provide them with partners. Fancy a man having to play wall flower! It was unthinkable.

And curiously enough it was the best players who found the ladies coy. Few women have the courage to ask a scratch or plus man to play with a 20-handicap. The women did things properly however even to purchasing their masculine partners a nice new ball—with the paper cover kept on to prove that it was not a re-paint!

Miss Katherine Harley, the clever and popular player from Redlands, played with Hugo Johnstone again, as at Annandale, and their joint score going out was a splendid 39, but they took a 47 coming back, so that, playing from scratch, they stood no chance.

Miss Mellus was partnered with E. S. Armstrong, and Mrs. Van Dyke with E. N. Wright, who all played from scratch and could do no better than 92 and 90 respectively. Mrs. J. V. Eliot and McLaughlin did better with a gross 88 less 3; Mrs. Frank Griffith and Ed Tufts also achieving a net 85 on a 6 handicap. Mr. Tufts was resplendent in a very fetching tussore suit that attracted all sorts of envy, hatred and malice.

Mrs. Harry Kearne of Riverside played with H. N. H. Woodcock, and they bragged shockingly of a three they accomplished on the ninth green. Mrs. Kearne's pink dress very naturally ensured her being dubbed "The Pink Lady" throughout the tournament.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Cochrane played together, going round with Miss Harley and Hugo Johnstone, but a 91 net was the best showing they could make. Miss Marsaret James, the heroine of the woman's association match Friday played with J. B. Elliott, and Mrs. R. G. Field elected to play with J. W. Smith. Miss Tobey and Mr. A. E. Bell played together, and dainty little Mrs. Perley honored Geoffrey Purcell. In this foursome, which included Mrs. Kearne and Woodcock, there were heavy stakes in the balance—a pot of marmalade, tea, and toast. Imagine, therefore, the lovers' chagrin to discover that tea and toast were provided by the club who played host on this occasion.

NOTHING SERIOUS.

One of the great charms about mixed foursomes is that no one takes anything seriously, and any amount of witty repartee runs loose all over the links. And as for encouraging sympathy, it is absolutely rampant. There were one or two little contretemps as when A. C. Scales, who played with Mrs. Gabrielle Elliott, drove his ball with a mighty swipe into Mr. Smith's head. The repartee simply scintillated.

Mrs. J. W. Smith played with R. G. Field, and Mrs. Hewitt of Redlands played with Mr. Bricker. Other players included Mrs. C. O. Alkire and F. O. Wood, Miss Halsted and W. E. Orr, Mrs. Jefferson and Lee Stephens, Miss Constance Clark and Hugh Purcell, Miss Kathleen Pierce and Thompson, Mrs. Wood and Edmund Parker and Mrs. Bowen of Redlands and Mr. Jefferson.

Miss Shirley Burns played with Victor Kleinberger, and Mr. and Mrs. Simpkins played together. Mrs. Leburn and Mr. Perley, Miss Lulu Roberts and Mr. Waller and Mrs. Gifford and Dr. Waller completed the list of those who handed in scores.

It was a gay and joyous afternoon, which met a charming conclusion in tea served on the porch, over which Mrs. Stanley Wood and Mrs. S. Bootes presided. They were assisted by Miss Imogen Wood, who was looking remarkably pretty in a large picture hat, and Miss Gwendoline Lawton, in a ravishing red chapeau.

Society was represented by a delightful crowd which included Mrs. Phelps Reed and her beautiful sister, Miss Colwill, who both grow more distractingly pretty as the days go on. Mrs. Reed's beauty patch was a forerunner of the revived mode and lent a distinctly roguish twinkle to her blue eyes. Mrs. W. E. Orr of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Crenshaw, Mrs. Lee Stephens, Miss Fanny Shoemaker, Mrs. W. W. Burton, Mrs. Marcus Woods, Mrs. Eckardt, Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Moffat, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Pauline Bowen, and hosts of others were to be seen, and good looking men were as plentiful as pop-corn.

LONG BEACH IN FRONT.

High School Baseball Team Has No Difficulty in Beating Club from Glendale High.

Touching Pitcher Farner of Glendale for twelve hits, the Long Beach High School baseball team easily defeated the Glendale nine at Long Beach, yesterday afternoon, by the score of 11 to 4.

It was a slugfest from start to finish. Long Beach scored several times on infield errors of the visitors. Day, Wilcox and Reagan of Long Beach, distinguished themselves by securing three hits each.

Long Beach secured one run in the first inning, three tallies in the fouth, three in the fifth and four in the eighth. Glendale scored one in the first and two in the fourth.

MORE EASY MONEY.

CLEVELAND, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Johnny Kilbane, champion featherweight boxer, received today an offer of $5000, or 40 per cent. of the receipts from the Madison Athletic Club of New York for a ten-round match with either George O'Keefe or Johnny Dundee, the Scotch champion, Kilbane to name the date. Jimmy Dunn, Kilbane's manager, said he was impressed favorably with the offer and would leave next week to close the arrangements.

CURLEY WAKES UP.

KANSAS CITY, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Jack Curley, promoter of the championship fight between Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn left here tonight for the West, to take a final view of all the cities that want to stage the big fight. Curley must announce the scene by May 1.

SAN PEDRO.

SAN PEDRO, March 23.—Henry W. Schleuter, a prominent engineer of Chicago, and an authority on drydocks, made an inspection of proposed sites for a dry dock in the outer harbor this afternoon in company with representatives of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce and of the Commercial Club.

Capt. J. L. Crowell, whose application for a permit to construct a dry dock on the Huntington Pill was denied yesterday by the Harbor Commission, accompanied the party and stated that he would make application to the city at once for a permit to construct a dock on the 146-acre tract owned by the city in the outer harbor just south of the government reservation.

PERRIS.

PERRIS, March 23.—Extensive improvements are being made on the Emil Firth tract northeast of town. It is reported that a million-gallon reservoir will be constructed, and six miles of steel pipe will be laid to supply water for the various landowners, who have bought small farms on the tract.

Francis Cuttle, candidate for Congress, arrived Saturday afternoon from Hemet and addressed a large crowd of citizens in front of Ming's store on Main street. Mr. Cuttle spoke from his automobile and was given a respectful hearing.

The Perris Gun Club gave a turkey dinner Friday afternoon at Lung Sings restaurant. At 2 o'clock the members of the club with a number of invited guests, sat down to the tables and enjoyed one of the best dinners ever prepared in this restaurant.

Cowles' barber shop was broken into Monday night and the cash drawer was robbed of small change. A number of razors were also taken and the thief helped himself to cigars. The burglar entered the shop by cutting a pane of glass in the side window, and made his escape at the rear door.

The Miriam chapter of the Eastern Star held its regular meeting Wednesday evening at the Masonic Hall. The business session was followed by a banquet and a pleasant social time was enjoyed. District Deputy Grand Matron, Christina Hartell, was present.

COMING TO AMERICA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHANGHAI, March 23.—W. Cameron Forbes, Governor-General of the Philippines who is proceeding to the United States by way of Siberia on leave, was the guest today of Rufus Thayer, Judge of the United States Court here. A reception and dinner were given in his honor by American residents. Premier Tang Shao Yi conferred today with leading Chinese merchants and officials and it is believed he is endeavoring to arrange a domestic loan of $70,000,000.

U.S.C. TAKES TWO EVENTS.

Berkeley Is Beaten in Ball Game and Track Meet.

Haskell Shows His Class by Fine Pitching.

Local Athletes Have Easy Time in Field Events.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Trojan athletes of U.S.C. cast two distinct clouds of gloom over the University of California this afternoon and there was no chance for a "cheep" from the Bears. At 1:30 o'clock the southern baseball team started mauling the northern baseball team all over the lot and at 3 p.m. the track team went after the freshmen cinder-diggers and came home with the bacon. The baseball score was U.S.C., 5; Berkeley, 3; while the track meet went to the South by the score of 64 2-3 to 57 1-3.

U.S.C. won the meet without the relay, as Throop was not running in the event, so this is the main reason for the narrow margin. There were no records broken in any of the events as the men found the going hard on the Berkeley oval, while the baseball aggregation did not hit its real pace till after the fifth inning, and then they opened the flood gates and the butcher was on.

In view of the fact that the baseball game was served up first, we will go into the details of the diamond stuff.

Don Haskell was on the hill for the South and heaved a nice game, allowing but four hits, and had he been accorded the proper support in the only pinch of the game, would have come home with a shut-out on his list. The California men were helpless against him in the matter of safe hits and all their runs were more or less gifts, due to the seedy fielding of the men behind. Abbott started to heave for the North but was lifted out of the box in the eighth inning when the Trojans were just about to start another slug fest. Sweet was trotted out and held things for a while, but the boys soon got to his speed and rocked the park with long wallops. The one trouble with the U.S.C. men this afternoon lay in the fact that every man who got up to the plate was trying to knock the pill out of the lot and for that reason swung their heads off in several instances.

Berkeley was first to break into the run column with a trio of aces and it nearly set the fans wild to see the boys come into the stretch in front as they thought it all happened in the fourth spasm. With one out Holden gave Tod Wright a chance to boot, which he did with much gusto, then Sherrard singled to left putting men on the first two angles. They pulled off a double steal here and scored when Schon walloped a long one to center, the latter party taking second on the heave to the platter. Glenny popped out to O'Conner but Spencer allowed one of Hap's heaves to get away and Schon was safe at third. Abbott hit one to Wright and Tod booted and then heaved wild to first, allowing Schon to score.

TROJANS WAKE UP.

Here the Trojans came to life and started whanging the pill. Nothing doing in the fifth but the sixth found the score tied into a knot. Wright hit a hot one to Young at third and he kicked the ball all over the field. Bridwell was put in to bat for Lynch Mr. Abbott hit Bridwell and put two men on the cushions. Tod took third when Abbott made a bad heave to catch him. Bridwell then stole second. Both scored when Millikan walloped a hard single to right center and Milly took second on the heave to the plate which was meant to catch Bridwell but went wild. O'Connor singled infield, fooling the entire bunch, as he had been hitting the pill far in the outfield all through the game. Bridwell scored on the play with the run that evened up the score.

Don Haskell took another brace and there was nothing doing for the Berkeleyites for the rest of the game but the Trojans were still to be heard from before the day was over.

Tod Wright got a walk in the eighth inning and stole second but was thrown out at the plate by Hunt when Bridwell singled to center, Brid taking second on the throw. Millikan dumped a single infield sending Bridwell to third and Hap O'Connor drove in the winning run with a terrible slam to left which nearly tore the hands of Johnny Young at third.

The game was iced by U.S.C. in the last spasm, when Rives came across with a three-sacker and scored on Tubby Foss's neat sacrifice to first base.

The Bears got a little dangerous in the last inning and it looked for a time as though they were going to spill a few of the beans, when, with two men out, Hunt doubled to right, and then Rice walked. The stands rose up and cheered for husky Young, the freshman from Long Beach High School and an old rival of Don Haskell, but Don put something on the seams and Mr. Young fanned out, ending the game with a wild swing.

FINE TRACK MEET.

The track meet was called at 3 o'clock p.m. and the bleachers were soon filled as soon as the fans from the ball game had raced over the hills and dales of the Berkeley campus.

The dope went wrong for the South and the North in several of the events, and for a time it looked as though the outcome of the meet was going to depend on the relay, but Fred Kelly and Freeman came romping home with eight points for the South in the low hurdles and cinched the meet. Knapp was pressing Freeman for second at the last hurdle, but was too anxious to clear the last barrier and must have forgotten that it was there, for he tried to run right over it and the hurdle spilled him in the dirt, but here was the place the meet was cinched for the South.

Freeman had the lead at the time of Knapp's fall by about one and a half yards and it is doubtful if he would have made up this distance in the last twenty-yard sprint. Anyway, the fact that a double quartette of points were added to the U.S.C. total made it unnecessary for any further wins, so Throop was not run in the relay and, of course, it went to California, bringing the two scores to a close margin.

The mile, which was the first event of the day, was a surprise to all on the field, when Torrance and Smith of U.S.C. came over the line forty-five yards in front of the nearest northern foe. The aggregation was fairly well bunched for the first part of the race, but in the last 300 yards Smith led out and Torrance caught up and they went over the string six inches apart with the first eight points of the meet.

The results of the shot and the hammer were then announced and it was found that Kelly had taken a second in the shot and a third in the hammer which is good for the big fellow.

THROOP SHINES AGAIN.

Waldo Throop ran to form in the 100-ward dash and came home an easy winner over Stanton and Bradway in 10 1-5s. Throop got his advantage in the drst twenty-five yards and held it to the tape. It was not so seay for him in the 220. Here he went bad on the pole of the curve and Stanton was in front when they came on the stretch, but Waldo came from the rear and won by a yard and a half, coasting the last forty yards easily but he did have to work during the first 175 yards.

The high hurdles went to Fred Kelly by a city block in 16s. He was far in the lead and was not at all forced to his limit. He scored fourteen points for his team and entered four events. His race in the low hurdlas has been described before.

The 440 was a terrible thing. Here two freshmen fought it out to the death and Todd of Berkeley was the best man by about half a yard. The California oval is a funny thing. The first straight away on the 440 is 120 yards long and down this Todd and Hodge came at a ten-two clip, Todd taking the pole just before the bend. He got a five yard lead around the curve but Hodge picked up on the next warp and was almost even on the last 100-yard stretch. Here the fight was awful to watch. First Hodge would let out a kink of speed and forge up abreast then Todd would let out another notch. It went this way about five times in the last 100 yards. Finally Todd took the tape with a desperate spring.

The two-mile was easy for Swiget, the little fellow taking the lead at the first lap and holding it till the finish when he came in fifty yards in front. Gregory and Miller made a game fight but were not in Swig's class at all. He won the race in the slow time of 10min. 16 3-5s.

The half-mile was another hard fight between Tipton and Heisen of California. Heisen led out with a terrible sprint and Tipton did not come up till the last lap, then he fought it out down the finish. It looked as though Tip won and the best that could have been given was a dead heat but the judges saw it the other way and gave the race to Heisen by the margin of eye winker.

Watkins won the pole vault, with Cookman tieing with Gower and Muege of California.

The results were as follows:

The 100-yard dash—Won by Throop, U.S.C. Stanton (C.) second; Bradway, (C.), third. Time, 10 -5s.

Mile run—Won by Torrance (U.S. (C.), Smith (U.S.C.), second; Cooper (C.), third. Time, 4m. 36 2-5s.

Close Contest.

REDLANDS BEATS POMONA IN CLASSY TRACK MEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With an ideal track and day, Redlands High School won from Pomona High School by the score of 47 to 39, in the Citrus Belt League meet here today. The scores for the other schools were San Bernardino, 13; Riverside, 11; Chaffee Union, Ontario, 6; Claremont, 1 and Chino none.

Not until the shot put and low hurdles were finished did the result seem certain. In the former event Hentschke of Redlands won from Clarke of Pomona by two inches. Laird of Redlands won the low hurdles with ease. A fatality almost resulted when the pole snapped with Wood of San Bernardino. The fall jarred him so much that he could not finish the event, but he was not seriously hurt.

Nichols of Pomona covered himself with glory by winning the pole vault at 11 feet 2 inches, and high jumping 6 feet, 11⅛ inches. These are both citrus belt league records. The other records broken were the mile low hurdles and the 220. The feature of the day was the speed with which the meet was run off. With more than seventy men entered the time consumed was only three hours.

The summary:

Mile run—Won by King, (San Bernardino); Youndt, (Redlands), second; Sturges (Claremont), third. Time 4m. 46 4-5s.

The 100-yard dash, first heat—Won by Maurer (Pomona); Laird, (Redlands), second. Time 10 1-5s. Second heat won by Stone (Pomona); Watson (Redlands), second. Time 10 1-5s.

Final—Won by Stone (Pomona); Maurer (Pomona), second; Laird, (Redlands), third. Time 10 1-5s.

The 120-yard high hurdles—Won by Harris, (Redlands); Leonard, (Redlands), second; Morse, (Pomona), third. Time 17s.

The 220-yard dash, first heat—Won by Laird, (Redlands); Parker, (Pomona), second. Time 23s. Second heat won by Woodruff, (Redlands); Maurer, (Pomona), second. Time 24 1-5s.

Final—Won by Laird (Redlands,) Woodruff (Redlands,) second; Maurer (Pomona,) third. Time, 23 1-5s.

The 440-yard dash—Won by Woodruff (Redlands,) Carey (San Bernardino,) second; Guthrie (Chaffee Union,) third. Time, 53s.

The 220-yard low hurdles, first heat—Won by Laird (Redlands,) Murray (Chaffee Union,) second; Harris (Redlands,) third. Time, 26 1-5s.

Second heat—Won by Halsted (Riverside,) Hume (Pomona,) second; Perkins (Pomona,) third. Time, 27s.

Final—Won by Laird (Redlands,) Halsted (Riverside,) second; Murray, (Chaffee Union,) third. Time, 26 2-5s.

The 880-yard run—Won by Stone (San Bernardino,) Christian (Riverside,) second; Kinchaid (Redlands,) third. Time, 2m., 7 3-5s.

Relay—Won by Pomona, Graf, Maurer, Stone, Walker; Redlands, second, Deuell, Hentschke, Woodruff, Watson; Riverside, third. Time, 1m., 35 1-5s.

Hammer throw—Won by Hentschke (Redlands,) Ogden (Chaffee Union,) second; Bachus (Riverside,) third. Distance, 147ft., 5in.

Pole vault—Won by Nichols (Pomona,) Deuell (Redlands,) second; Smith (Pomona,) third. Distance, 20ft., 7in.

High jump—Won by Nichols (Pomona,) Halsted (Riverside,) second; Lewis (Pomona,) third. Height, 6ft., 1 1-2in.

Shot-put—Won by Hentschke (Redlands,) Clarke (Pomona,) second; Ogden (Chaffee Union,) third. Distance, 44ft., 3 1-2in.

Solid Gold Bridge Work....

Gold Fillings, $1 up. $100 for any tooth we cannot fill or extract without pain.

Care of the Teeth

It is not unusual for people to call on the YALE DENTISTS with the intention of having all their teeth extracted just because a few are giving trouble, not knowing these may be saved, by treating, or, when too bad, extracted and replaced without a plate by bridge work, or by a very small plate; besides, they can have this work all at once, while, if all the teeth are extracted and a full set required, it is not practical to get them so soon. Remember, a few good natural teeth are better than none at all, so don't delay longer.

Trainload of Pianos

Caught in Eastern blizzard, arrives in Los Angeles after many weeks' delay, with cases scratched, marred and checked to be sold at the railroad company's expense

A few days ago, when our men started to unload several cars of pianos that had arrived here at Los Angeles, they discovered that the cars showed evidence of a collision or extreme rough handling—further examination revealed that almost every one of the pianos had been more or less damaged. Mind you, the damage consisted only of mars or scratches only on the cases. The actions, strings, etc., were unharmed. Several of the pianos were completely ruined, yet on many of them only the cases were slightly bruised or marred. We could not afford to accept them as absolutely perfect instruments, therefore, we refused to unload these pianos and telegraphed the manufacturers. Copy of their answer is reproduced here:

"Provided the railroad company will give you the freight bill properly indorsed, showing that pianos were damaged in transit, and that they had been properly loaded, it will be satisfactory for you to unload and set at whatever discount necessary, invoicing us for difference between damaged and regular price. We will assume claim against the railroad company."

(Signed) PIANO MANUFACTURERS' ADJUSTMENT BUREAU.

Because of this bureau's willingness to assume the claim against the railroad company for the total loss entailed, by selling these damaged pianos at a discount we can afford to dispose of them at less than actual manufacturer's cost.

These pianos will be displayed upon our salesroom floor, beginning Monday in accordance with the adjustment bureau's instructions, we shall sell all of them at once. You can look over the entire lot, and make your own selection at prices your own price, and pay according to your own terms. What more liberal could be extended? This lot includes many of the famous Bungalow Player pianos, those aristocratic, stylish and compact little instruments that have won favor in many thousand of California's Bungalow Homes in the past year.

Bear in mind that these pianos, even though sold at a discount, entitle you to regular Eilers service, that has been enjoyed by so many hundreds of our Los Angeles customers, and by so many thousands of our California customers. The name EILERS is the best guarantee that your new piano will be satisfactory and serviceable. Our forty stores on the Pacific Coast and our well-known and established policy for giving every customer EILERS value and EILERS service is a point well worth your careful consideration when buying things musical.

Accused Legislator Denies Bribery Charges.

New Mexico Ballots on Senators Fail to Elect.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) March 23.—"You can send me to jail, the penitentiary, put me out of the House, but you cannot make me tell what did not happen. No one paid me money."

That was the answer of Julian Trujillo, member of the New Mexican Legislature, accused of having solicited a bribe, when Republican State Chairman Vencesla Baramillo confronted him on the evening of March 18, at the Palace Hotel, after the four accused House members had been arrested. The answer was in reply to the question, "How much money did you get from Andrews?" which was a portion of the dramatic testimony given by the first witness for the defense tonight, before the House Bribery Investigation Committee.

Trujillo declared that when the defendants had entered the room at the Palace Hotel, in which they were arrested, Eifego Baca, the prosecuting witness, said:

"Boys, I have a good deal of money and I don't know what to do with it."

Baca then took the money out of his pocket, he testified, counted it out into four piles of $500 each, and said:

"I have brought this money here to learn if you are going to vote for Mr. Fall and for me."

Candava, one of the accused men, replied, according to Trujillo, "I am not going to vote for you, for any money, because I have promised to vote for one Spanish-American from the country. I expected to vote for Albert Fall."

Trujillo said he signed his resignation because the mounted policeman who arrested him had a revolver in his hand. He also testified that two days previously to the arrest, Prosecuting Witness Baca had invited the defendants to take a drink with him and go to his room to meet Albert Fall. Baca, said, according to witness:

"Friends, you know the trick that was played upon me at the last election, and now that I have a chance to go to the Senate, where I will be an honor to you, if you vote for me, I shall certainly go there, as all Americans will vote for me."

Albert Fall then entered, according to the witness, and was introduced, after which Monterey, one of the defendants, said:

"I speak for myself. I am going to help him who helps me." Judge Fall then is declared to have said: "If you Spanish-Americans can get together on an able Spanish-American ticket, no doubt many votes would be given me."

Albert Fall then left the room, money was not mentioned, nor was any agreement of any kind made. Trujillo categorically denied that he had solicited or accepted a bribe.

Before Trujillo testified, National Committeeman Solomon Luna, State Senator H. B. Holt and former State Senator H. O. Bursum were on the stand for the prosecution and corroborated previous testimony.

At the conference last night of Republican members of the Assembly and of the Republican State Executive Committee, W. H. H. Llewellyn was named as House floor leader. It was said today that the Senatorial fight was not considered.

The fifth ballot taken today for United States Senators resulted in no choice. The ballot resulted: Democrats, Laughlin 22, Martinez 22; Republicans, Fall 23, Mills 19, Andrews 1, scattering 33.

Mrs. Stetson Gives Out an Interview in New York in Which She Says the Advent of the Christian Science Leader Is Imminent and a New Epoch Will Be Begun.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, for years the leading Christian Science exponent of New York and who was mentioned as the probable successor of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, announces her belief in the resurrection of the founder of the cult.

In an interview today she said:

"To us Mary Baker Eddy, the God-crowned woman, the emancipator of spirits, comes forth triumphant from death, and this fact is significant of imminent, consciousness will be lifted and a new epoch will have begun.

"Christ Jesus represented the Son-hood of God. He was both human and Divine. His Divine nature, his Christ consciousness, triumphed over the human Jesus and He ascended before definite view.

"Mrs. Eddy represents the Motherhood of God and will demonstrate her power as Christ Jesus demonstrated in the words."

It has been received in Los Angeles that the Union Steamship Company of Australia, with twenty-eight ships in its fleet, is equipping them to burn oil as fast as possible. One of the vessels has a tonnage of 13,000. These ships ply between ports of the Pacific from Australia to San Francisco, and also touch African ports. Experiments have shown that oil is the economical fuel, and another big market has been made for California product.

HOUSEWARMING SURPRISE.

been told that the general builded this country home as a retreat. But to what retreat, famous in history, may we compare it? I cannot liken it to the "retreat from Moscow" because that was a disaster to a beaten man. This home is a triumph for a conqueror. Nor can I compare it to the retreat from Waterloo, because that was desolation and the destruction of an empire. This is a beautiful kingdom of home, founded in love, which is deathless. But it reminds us all, rather, of the glorious "Retreat of the Ten Thousand"—the Anabasis of Xenophon who, when he retreated, earned immortality by bringing every one of his friends home in safety and glory with him. We who know Gen. Sherman's social temperament, his love of his fellow men, know that he would never be content with any seclusion or isolation that shut out any of his ten thousand friends. We wish to assure him that we will see to it that he shall never be more alone in this home in San Fernando Canyon than he is at this overcrowded moment. I take pleasure in introducing as the man best qualified to greet the general on his home coming, one of his truest friends—George W. Scott of San Francisco."

GEORGE W. SCOTT.

Mr. Scott made a happy little speech of felicitation and appreciation and read the following verses:

We who are gathered here today,
With others who are far away,
Would fain express to you, our friend,
That fealty that knows no end.
We do not come for pomp, or show,
But we are here to let you know
That friendship's ties are strong and true.
And those ties bind us all to you.
We would not chide, much less berate,
Because you have arrived so late.
'Twas not your fault the auto drive
Was planned so you would not arrive
Until your friends had gathered here
To greet your coming with good cheer.
We hope this party you'll enjoy
With all the pleasure of a boy,
And afterwards find much content
In playing on this instrument,
Which, every time it sounds a note,
Will cause through memory to float
The thought of all the loving hearts
Enclosed in its harmonious parts.
But all our thought has not been spent
On music's charms,—but with intent
We've gone still further with our plan
And catered to the inward man;
Each meal you eat within these walls
The thought of loving friends recalls
The kitchen furnishing's complete,
There's naught to do but cook and eat
Artistic work you'll also find
Upon these curtains, if you'll mind;
The ladies' handiwork, you'll note,—
Reward them well, for now they vote.
But on these gifts we lay no stress,
They only help us to express
In some small way the love we bear
To General Sherman, and we share
That feeling with a large array
Of other friends not here today.
This valley spread out to our view,
The arching dome of heavenly blue,
The mountains pointing to the sky,
The trees and flowers, the birds that fly,—
These represent our wish for you.
The valley; peace,—calm, deep and true;
The sky; above the storms of life;
The mountains; strong mid fiercest strife;
The trees and flowers are pleasures rare;
The birds are freedom from all care.
May all these gifts be yours we say,
And last forever and a day.

GEN. SHERMAN'S REPLY.

Gen. Sherman was taken completely by surprise, but recovered sufficiently to respond happily.

"It is no less a pleasure than it is a surprise to find my home-coming anticipated by my friends. It is a joy to find my passage across the threshold blocked by those whom I love; to be welcomed home, not only by the loyal hands of hired servants, but by the affectionate greetings of dear friends who make the firelight brighter and the rooms more beautiful by their presence. Nothing could make me happier than to have my friends take possession of my home, as already they have occupied the strongholds of my heart. You double the value of what is mine, by sharing my possessions. You have unlocked the doors of my home, and thrown away the keys. Henceforward they shall stand open to the touch of your hands. Again and again, I thank you."

All joined in singing, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," led by the general's old friend, William McBean. The orchestra played "Auld Lang Syne" and the company proceeded to the dining-room, where a fine luncheon was served.

POST-PRANDIAL EXERCISES.

Dr. Burdette presided over the post-prandial exercises. Gen. Otis presented his compliments and read the sentiments for the various rooms as printed upon the pages of the acorn souvenir. Gen. Chaffee made a cordial speech. William McBean read letters and telegrams from many friends.

LUMMIS.

With bandaged eyes blinding him to the lovely landscape which lay about them in a shimmer of verdure and light, Charles F. Lummis arose with the gentle dignity of the blind and in behalf of the happy assembly addressed Gen. Sherman with gallantry upon his unique welcome to his own home.

He spoke glowingly of this rare token of friendship as something to be treasured through all the sunset years which life may hold for the rugged and intrepid pioneer in the Western Empire's development. Such expressions, he said, warm the heart of one who has long blazed the trail through a wilderness of great and unconquered forces and whose rest has been earned by splendid achievements. In the hurly-burly of material progress, Lummis said, men rarely stop to appreciate those finer values of friendship which are being developed as surely as the chains of success are being forged, but in the mellower hours, when the long day's work is crowned with many conquests, the realization of one's life-long friends becomes the most sacred asset of all the wealth acquired. Such occasions as the one then celebrated, Lummis said, was the gold without alloy and represented a value which no man could better appreciate than Gen. M. H. Sherman. After such a testament of loyalty no man, Lummis declared, could ever experience a moment of loneliness for the event would cast an afterglow which would not fade as the sunset but, like the light of the morning star, would melt into the increasing brilliance of dawn.

AN ANTIDOTE FOR FAILURE.

Safeguard the interests of your employer or employees, and those dependent upon you, keep your heart pure, your body clean, your brain active, your hands busy and be cheerful and you will enjoy a degree of peace and happiness that money and power are incapable of bestowing.

Men who whine, complain and rail at existing conditions are candidates for the toboggan.

Relegate the grouch, the grump, the kick, to the limbo of things forgot, banish the corroding canker of fear and be helpful, and distinction and prosperity will loom large out of the impenetrable future.

Disgruntled men never do their work well, and defeat marks them for its own.

Success is the reward of efficiency, and only those who make good survive.

If you are inclined to be cynical, read and use Times "Liners" and optimism will become a habit.

These busy little ads are the advance couriers of progress, and the enemies of poverty. They put you in touch with people who have what you want, and want what you have, and, at small cost and practically no trouble, they enable you to buy, sell and exchange every thinkable thing, procure help, employment, or tenants, and engage in various money-making activities. The result-getting power of Times "Liners" is indicated by the fact that for the week ending Saturday, March 23rd, The Times printed 17,725 separate "Liner" advertisements, or 7345 more than its nearest local contemporary.

The persistent use of Times "Want Ads" will expand your business and increase your commercial importance.

Long Beach.

WILL RECOVER FROM WOUNDS.

Negro Gives Promise of Recuperation.

Cupid a Factor in the Revolver Controversy.

Perverse Fate Follows Family of Man Killed.

LONG BEACH, March 23.—Sam Thomas, the negro shot last night by Patrolman Powell, after he had run away from the officer and refused to halt, will recover, though he may have a stiff shoulder. An X-ray of the injury was made this morning and the bullet located.

An investigation this morning showed that Thomas was the victim of his own imagination, and the fears which now agitate the women of the city since the murder of last Sunday night. Thomas was calling on Miss Maude Gibson, kitchen girl of C. F. Vandewater, and had been told by her to wait outside until her work was done. He spent his time pacing up and down the sidewalk, and aroused the fears of Miss Maude Giles, a neighbor, who, after she saw him enter the side door of the Vandewater residence, telephoned the police. Powell, answering the call, saw the Gibson girl on the back porch, and, asking her if there was a man in the house with her, asked him to come outside. Thomas did so, but with remembrance of a previous arrest for drunkenness, feared he was to be locked up again and tried to run away from the officer, and was shot.

His employers give him an excellent character, except his inclination to drink too much at times. There is no charge against him, and had he not attempted to escape would probably have been released as soon as the explanation now forthcoming had been given the officer.

STATE OF ALARM.

There is no question that a wild state of alarm exists throughout the city because of the recent burglaries, hold-ups and murder. Hardware stores say that their sale of firearms the past week has more than trebled, and electric companies report business rushing in burglar alarms. Nothing new developed today, except that Mrs. H. S. Callahan reported to the police that a week ago she gave a hobo a suit of clothing resembling that described as worn by Borden's murderer, and she also gave additional particulars relative to a description of the fellow.

H. S. Collins, for whom the officers have been searching because he looked like the murderer, was arrested in Los Angeles today and brought to the city on a charge of defrauding an inn-keeper. His resemblance to the man wanted, however, is only general.

MISFORTUNE FOLLOWS.

A letter written by the sister of Charles Kauffman, the man run over at San Pedro last week by a Southern Pacific train, has been received here from Germany and reveals a strange run of tragedies and misfortunes in the family. The letter brings the news of the death of Kauffman's mother and of his sister's husband, sorrow which was spared the dead man. The sister, who, from her letter, is in straitened circumstances, is the sole heir to the property left by her brother, which will amount to about $7000.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Jessie Munos, the boy so badly burned Thursday morning while preparing breakfast, by the explosion of the oil he was feeding the fire, died last night at the hospital in horrible agony.

Members of the grand jury yesterday inspected the City Jail. They complimented the jail portion, but criticised the office quarters of the department as unfit for the use to which it is put.

Patrolman Winters, recently appointed to the police force, is nursing a bandaged hand, due to a wound of an unusual nature. Standing on the Pike yesterday, an ant-eater belonging to one of the concessions tried to crawl up his leg. He put down his hand to brush it away, when the animal fastened its teeth in the hand and bit him severely. Winters had the wound cauterized and is trying to believe the doctor's assurance that he is in no danger.

C. J. E. Taylor has been appointed a verification deputy by County Clerk Lelande to take the oath of any signers of nomination papers for Robert M. La Follette.

The Dr. Ives property on Cedar avenue, facing the city park, was sold today to H. A. Zeck for $20,000 cash. The property is 75x100 feet and will be the site of a modern apartment-house.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

RAILROAD IS HELD AT FAULT.

Coroner's Jury Places Blame on Company.

Failure to Operate Gates Is Given as Reason.

Paul Shoup Promises an Improved Service.

[Office of The Times, No. 37 S. Fair Oaks Ave.]

PASADENA, March 24.—The Santa Fe Railway Company yesterday was held to blame for the automobile accident at the Los Robles-avenue crossing last Friday, in which Edward A. Rusac lost his life. At the inquest, held in the afternoon at the undertaking rooms of Ives, Warren & Salisbury, the jury returned a verdict censuring the railroad for failure to operate the gates at this crossing.

The jury was made up of well-known business men. The jurors were George Brenner, H. C. Hotaling, S. I. Wallace, Edward Pyle, John Spradling and A. Price.

Four witnesses were examined. They were Patrolman Griffin of the city police force, I. A. Walt (the engineer who was at the throttle of the locomotive that struck the motor car,) A. J. Mair and Wesley Miller.

Walt testified that the train was running at a speed not to exceed sixteen miles an hour.

The incident comes at a time when the City Council has before it the draft of a proposed ordinance compelling railroad companies to put in additional gates and take additional precautions to prevent accidents at crossings. When it was last considered there were some objections that the ordinance was too drastic, and it was referred back to a committee for further consideration.

IMPROVEMENTS PROMISED.

Announcement was made yesterday that Vice-President Paul Shoup of the Pacific Electric Railway Company has promised the Transportation Committee of the Board of Trade that material improvements in the service between Pasadena and Los Angeles will be made within sixty days.

Four extra flyers are to be put on, morning and evening, to accommodate those who are employed in Los Angeles and ride regularly back and forth each day.

The work of electrizing the Southern Pacific line has been branch. Attention is now being given to the electrization of the Shorb branch, so that Pacific Electric cars may be run into the Southern Pacific Depot at the corner of Colorado street and Broadway.

At a recent conference between Vice-President Shoup and the members of the Board of Trade Transportation Committee attention was called to the steady growth of this city, and the fact that there is constantly a greater stream of travel between here and Los Angeles. The members of the committee declared that they would not desist in their determination to see a better service brought about.

CANDIDATE IS NAMED.

Following the statement of Dr. F. C. E. Mattison that he would be unable to attend the National Republican Convention if named as delegate, announcement was made yesterday that the new Pasadena Taft Club will lend its support to John Murray Marshall, who has been chosen as candidate for the one delegate to the convention that Pasadena will have. Marshall is a well-known Los Angeles attorney, and lives at No. 286 West Bellevue drive this city.

"If I am sent to the convention I shall go as a Taft man," he said last night.

Marshall has lived in Pasadena for ten years. He is president of the Harvard Club of Southern California.

A HOTEL CHINATOWN.

If guests of the Hotel Maryland endeavored last night to transform the grill into a place more Chinese than China, they succeeded in making it at least as Chinese as China, so far as appearances go. The opium was imitation, but the punk burned was real; the mandarin costumes of silk and gold were real, and the scheme carried out was entertaining and magnificent.

The affair was a dance and Chinese supper in which the guests and many local society people participated. The dishes served were Chinese and too difficult either to describe or to spell.

MAY-DAY EVENT PLANNED.

Plans are being made for the second annual May Day celebration to be held at Carmelita Playgrounds, May 4.

The celebration is to be carried out on a larger scale than last year and will be interesting both to the children and their parents. There will be exhibitions of the work of the various classes and a programme of interesting events. A feature of the affair will be the dances.

CITY BRIEFS.

In a telegram received last night, Chief of Police Wood is asked to locate Mrs. Herman Joochimstake and Miss Sarah Cohn of Denver, who are thought to be in the city, and whose relative, Mrs. Rube Levyn of Denver, is seriously ill.

Thomas Joyce, a Pasadena boy, broke his right arm in a fall on Mt. Wilson yesterday.

Dr. Solon Briggs of No. 139 South Euclid avenue, while driving an automobile west on Colorado street yesterday collided with Earl Clerist of No. 292 North Euclid avenue, who was riding a motorcycle. Neither was injured.

Mrs. Frank Pixley, wife of the author of the lyrics of several popular comic operas, who is at the Hotel Maryland, expects to sail from San Francisco on the 27th inst. for the Panama Canal.

J. E. Pearson yesterday was awarded the prize for the best display of chickens at the show of the Pasadena Poultry Association.

A "current events" session of the Shakespeare Club will be held at the clubhouse next Tuesday.

The funeral of Edward A. Rusac of No. 938 North Michigan avenue will take place tomorrow morning. Services will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Masonic Hall. Pasadena commandary, Knights Templars, will escort the casket to the cemetery.

An organization of pigeon fanciers, to be known as the Pasadena Columbarian Society, was formed yesterday. James H. Gaut was elected president; E. R. Crosher and G. H. Binney, vice-presidents; F. J. Moore, treasurer, and J. H. Walton, secretary.

Howard C. Kegley, a well-known local newspaper man, leaves tomorrow for Ogden, where he expects to make his home.

Word was received here yesterday of the death in Sioux City, Ia., of Edward Nestor, brother of Thomas D. Nestor, of No. 1629 South Fremont avenue.

All members of Pasadena Lodge No. 272 F. & A. M. are requested to assemble at Masonic Temple at 1:45 p.m. Monday, March 25, for purpose of conducting the funeral of our late Brother E. A. Rusac.

WOULD EFFECT CONSOLIDATION.

Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce Appoints a Committee to Merge Two Telephone Companies.

SANTA MONICA, March 23.—The question of accomplishing the consolidation of the two telephone companies operating here, and thus abolishing the inconvenient dual system has been passed by the Chamber of Commerce along to a committee consisting of C. W. McLeod and James A. Bernard, who have been instructed by resolution to labor with the Santa Monica City Council and the Venice City Trustees in an effort to accomplish the desired result.

The resolution, under which this committee was named, recites the fact that the civic organization believes it is for the best interests of both Santa Monica and Venice that there be but one telephone system. It suggests that the same method be adopted here in doing away with the dual system as was successfully tried at Pasadena. The municipal managers of both seaside cities are to be asked to take some action at their next meetings.

The recent fatal accident on the narrow Speedway alley has again served to call public attention to the menace afforded by that congested highway to human life. The Chamber of Commerce seeks to reach a solution of the problem through the co-operation of the two cities in the opening of a new boulevard that shall connect the nothern and southern sections of the beach district. Resolutions have been adopted requesting the City Councils to confer with a committee representing the commercial body for the purpose of devising a plan to accomplish the relief of the traffic congestion. This committee consists of C. F. Schader, P. D. Howse and J. A. Morton. The resolution addressed to Venice calls for the condemnation of private property and opening a new street from Windward avenue to the city limits between Trolleyway and Lake street. The request to Santa Monica is for the extension of Ocean avenue paralleling the Pacific Electric trolley tracks from Fremont avenue to the city limits at Venice on the south. The boulevard scheme embraces the grading, paving and curbing of the street proposed to be opened for the entire distance. These projected highways would meet at the imaginary line that separates Venice from Santa Monica, and in all would have a length of approximately three miles.

TOO MANY PUPILS.

At the Sisters' Academy of Holy Names additional room is required in which to provide accommodations for the pupils and to build on the present site would mean the occupation of the entire campus, and the purchase of adjoining lots would prove expensive. Just what will be done has not been decided, beyond the fact that the capacity of the academy will be doubled. The church owns a fine piece of property at the corner of Sixth and California, and it may be that this will be utilized. Funds are available for building purposes, and it is probable that during the coming season the improvement will be made. The school is now crowded, and the enrollment is constantly growing.

The Chamber of Commerce has elected the following named to serve as members of the board of directors during the new year, beginning with April 1: P. J. Dudley, A. M. Montgomery, Frank Stewart, F. E. Bundy, W. C. Jones, E. Lillingston, R. W. Armstrong, M. Bunker, P. D. Howse, W. J. Stadelman, Charles E. Hile.

The Chamber of Commerce asks that one of the seven members of the commission of fifteen to be named for the purpose of preparing a commission form of government charter for Los Angeles county be selected from the Santa Monica Bay district. A resolution was adopted embodying this request and suggesting the appointment of C. F. Schader as a member of the commission.

The work of reconstructing the Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company's factory at Colorado and Twenty-fourth street has been commenced. The foundations are now being laid for a three-story structure that will be fireproof and of much larger capacity than the former building, which was destroyed by fire early in the summer season. The demand for brick is such that it has been found necessary to provide for the employment of a greatly increased force of brick-makers.

GLENDORA.

GLENDORA, March 23.—The rush of home-seekers and investors to Glendora because of the superiority of its citrus fruit products and evident immunity from frost or wind damage is pretty well established in the large number of sales and transfers reported the past week. In part they are as follows:

Mrs. Thos. McNair to Mr. G. Hawks of Pasadena: A 20-acre tract close in, improved with a fine two-story 12-room residence set solid to bearing Washington navel oranges and lemons, mostly the latter. Stated price $60,000. The purchase was made for a home and the new owner will take possession about the middle of April. H. C. Baker to Mr. L. H. Brown of Pomona, a five-acre tract within the city limits set solid to 6-year-old orange trees. Price given $7000. The new owner will improve the premises with a $5000 residence.

A. B. Embree to W. J. Bowman of Minneapolis, a ten-acre tract within the city limits set solid to bearing Washington navel and valencia orange trees, half and half. Stated price $22,000. Mr. Bowman is a wealthy manufacturer of Minneapolis and buys for a home. He will build a palatial residence and make other extensive improvements on the premises.

Mr. J. J. Samuels to E. W. Foss a five-acre tract in the city limits, improved with a modern six-room residence set solid to 8-year-old orange trees. Price stated $12,000. Samuel Scow to H. C. Baker an 18-acre tract two miles east of the city, improved with a small house. Price understood to be $10,000. Mr. C. Rogers to J. J. Samuels a five-acre tract two miles south of town, improved with a small house set solid to bearing orange trees. Price given $10,000. Mrs. S. Snyder to G. Riekers of Los Angeles, a five-acre tract in the city limits fronting Alosta avenue and extending back into the San Jose hills. Stated consideration $3000. The tract is admirably situated for a home and it was for this purpose that the purchase was made by Mr. Riekers. A handsome residence will be erected as soon as plans can be perfected and he will otherwise improve the premises with a view of making it the ideal home so forcibly suggested by the location, not surpassed by any along the foothills.

Chino.

NEW BUILDINGS ARE FORMALLY DEDICATED.

POMONA, March 23.—The three new buildings of the George Junior Republic, at Chino, which were completed recently, and which are to be the nucleus of an institution that it is hoped in time will gain the perfection of the older George Junior Republic, at Freville, N. Y., were formally opened and dedicated today.

William R. George, for whom the organization is named, and who is now in California lecturing in the interest of this work, was present and made the principal address. Mrs. M. B. Fowler, chairman of the board of trustees, and others also spoke.

A general invitation had been extended to every organization in Southern California whose interest runs at all in the same direction, to send representatives, and a large attendance was the result. Special busses were arranged for, so that all guests were met at the station and conducted at once to the grounds. Lunch was taken by those who attended and the event was something in the nature of a picnic.

Although the three new buildings have been occupied for a short time they were only built last fall. With them the sixty boys and one girl who make up the personnel of this unique home for youths between the ages of 14 and 21 years are comfortably housed. The lone girl is Lillian Huff of Los Angeles, and she holds the enviable office of secretary of state.

At today's meeting George told something of the work that has been accomplished at the Freville institution, and outlined some of the ideas that have been undertaken here.

The board of trustees of the Chino republic consists of Mrs. M. B. Fowler, Miss Kate Fowler, Rev. A. R. Tillinghast, Dr. J. W. Baer, David Blankenhorn, Harvey S. Bissell and Miss Virginia Peace of Pasadena and Albert Dole of Pomona.

Health Is Your Greatest Asset. If You Are Sick Why Experiment With Doctors Who Are Not Specialists

We Are Doctors of Proven Ability

Drs. Shores have successfully practiced in California as Specialists in Catarrh and all other Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases for many years, and have treated more than 100,000 Cases. Their offices are strictly modern and equipped with up-to-date appliances, electricity, etc.

Spring Is the Time for Quick and Lasting Cures

One month's treatment now equal to three at any other season of the year. Get busy and get well. Don't give up hope of being cured because you have been unsuccessfully treated by some other doctors. Even your family doctor may not know just what your trouble is, for he is a general practitioner for the most part in acute cases, and has not had the experience to become a specialist in the diagnosis or treatment of chronic diseases. Drs. Shores have the learning, the ability and the experience to make a cure a certainty, if your disease is curable. They don't patch up or give only temporary relief, but THEY CURE PERMANENTLY. Don't be skeptical, but give us the chance to prove our claim. A consultation or examination will cost you nothing. We will tell you honestly if and how you may be cured. The ravages of disease do not wait, and all delays in getting proper treatment only make it much harder for the most skilled doctors to effect a cure. Drs. Shores are not exorbitant in their charges. While they are entitled to the usually high fees of specialists, and knowing that the sick could not get more skilled treatment at any price, yet they are satisfied to make their fees so low as not to be a burden on anyone, and you can arrange to pay in installments as your case progresses. Make up your mind to be treated now. CONSULTATION IN PERSON OR BY LETTER FREE, CONFIDENTIAL AND INVITED. Call or write.

Catarrh, Deafness; Ear Noises

Why not try the treatment that cures? We have published many testimonials from well known and reliable people who have been cured of Catarrh, Asthma, Deafness and Ear Noises. If you suffer from any Chronic Ailments, why not come and see the Doctors who cure?

LIVER

Troubles, Constipation, Sallow Complexion, Nausea, Lassitude, Sick Headaches, etc., quickly and cheaply cured.

KIDNEY

Troubles, Pain in Back, Burning or Smarting, when urinating, Puffiness under the Eyes. Heed these warnings. Bring a sample of urine and have it tested free.

Drs. A. J. and G. W. Shores are each regular graduates and are duly licensed by the California Medical Board to practice medicine and surgery, and are strictly reliable. Make no mistake.

DRS. SHORES, Specialists

Drs. Shores & Shores have spent many years in the study and treatment of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases of Men, Women and Children. They have treated over 100,000 in the past twenty years, an experience rarely ever granted any specialists, and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price, not because they don't know how but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and, in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to studying CATARRH, CONSUMPTION, CHRONIC, NERVOUS and PRIVATE DISEASES. That is where they excel; that is where they can serve you better than most anyone else. Don't be a permanent invalid. They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to cure it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat, the Lungs, and Private Diseases, and they know what to do for these troubles.

We Treat All Chronic Diseases

Drs. WOMAN DIES IN A BATHTUB.

Santa Ana Girl Succumbs to Unusual Heat.

High School Defeats San Diego on Track.

Girl Is Victim of a Designing Scoundrel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After fainting in her bathtub Miss Julia Dietrich lay for two hours slowly suffocating because the blazing of a water heater exhausted the oxygen of the air in the small close room. Miss Dietrich was found unconscious at 1:15 o'clock and in spite of the work of physicians she died an hour later. A sad feature of the young woman's death is that she was engaged to be married soon to Dr. J. J. Jacoba, a Santa Ana dentist.

Miss Dietrich's parents live near Garden Grove. For four years she had clerked in Gobert's dry goods store. Recently she has lived in apartments at the Parsons apartments on West Fourth street where she died.

Miss Dietrich's dying condition was discovered when a plumber seeking a leak climbed into the bathroom through the transoms. The heater was so hot that the boiler was broken and water ran out on the floor.

Miss Dietrich lay in the tub, her head resting on the edge just as she fell, when she fainted, probably two hours before she was found. The room was frightfully hot and the air foul from the blaze. The woman's pulse was hardly perceptible.

Miss Dietrich, aged 21, was a strong woman, vivacious and beautiful. She was not ill, but it is thought the warm bath and the heat of the room caused her to faint. Dr. Jacobs, her fiance, and the woman's parents are heartbroken.

Doctors Burlew, Ball and Gordon worked over the lifeless body long after they had given up hope.

When opening a vein failed to produce a flow of blood they ended their efforts.

DEFEATS SAN DIEGO.

Santa Ana High School revenged itself on the track team from San Diego High School today by defeating it 72 to 18. In the first meet between the two schools San Diego won by twenty points. Waite, San Diego's speed marvel, was the star of the meeting, taking first in the three shortest dashes. With an even break on the last lap of the relay, the most exciting event of the day, Waite was beaten out a yard by Youngman of Santa Ana. Adkison, a promising distance runner took easy first for Santa Ana in the half and the mile.

Summary:

The 50-yard dash—Waite, San Diego, first; Devendorf, San Diego, second; Lacy, Santa Ana, third. Time, 5-1-5.

The 220-yard hurdles—Weldon, San Diego, first; West, Santa Ana, second; Davis, San Diego, third. Time, 28-1-5.

The 100-yard dash—Waite, San Diego, first; Jenson, San Diego, second; Lacy, Santa Ana, third. Time, 10-1-5.

RESTORATION S ORDERE

EL CENTRO, March 23.—Fred Bennett, commissioner of the General Land Office, has notified Edmund H. Statterwhitte, special agent here of the Land Office, that it is the purpose to make a restoration survey of townships 13, 14, 15, south, range 11, east, and the north half of township 13 south, range 11, east, as soon as funds therefor are available.

Statterwhitte is instructed to confer with W. J. Lightfoot, a United States surveyor here, in making an exhaustive examination for evidence of original surveys, in said territory, alleged to exist, with the possibility in view of executing a restoration survey of the original survey of 1854. This is for the purpose of avoiding harassing complaints to settlers and entrymen, and to identify the General Land Office

HIGH LINE SURVEY.

R. E. Kincade, an employee of the Imperial County Surveyor's office, has been employed by directors of Water District No. 11, to make a survey of the proposed high line canal in this district, to be located on the north side of Imperial Valley. It is estimated that this canal would irrigate approximately 50,000 acres of land, which up to this time, has been dormant for the lack of necessary irrigation facilities. It is one of the most important of recent moves in the matter of new irrigation projects for Imperial Valley, and will bring tributary to Holtville a large area of fine farming lands.

WILL CIRCUS SHOW?

The prospect is that the city officials of El Centro and the management of the Sells-Floto shows will have a mix-up that will get into court. The circus management has billed El Centro for an engagement Easter Sunday. Largely signed petitions were presented to the Trustees asking that an ordinance be passed prohibiting Sunday performances, and such an ordinance was passed as an emergency measure.

Advance agents of the circus, who has given an order on the Trustees for $50 to pay for a license, declare the circus management declares it will show in El Centro as per contract. The city officials say that the circus will be arrested if a show is undertaken here on Sunday.

VICTIM OF SCOUNDREL.

That Miss Reba Robbins was the victim of a scoundrel is the conclusion of Sheriff Ruddock and Deputy Squires who last night arrested Miss Robbins and Melvin Tyler at Ocean Park. Tyler was brought back to answer to a charge of forgery, while the girl was arrested on a charge of defrauding a rooming-house kept by Mrs. R. S. Cullom.

The couple came here three months ago, and just before leaving for Ocean Park Tyler forged the name of J. F. Richards, a merchant, to a $23.50 check. The couple lived here as man and wife, and not until after the arrests at Ocean Park shortly before midnight last night did the officers know otherwise.

The girl, who is aged 17, said that her home is in Indianapolis, Ind. While visiting at Griffithsville, Ark., she became acquainted with Tyler, Tyler persuaded her to come to California with him, promising to marry her on their arrival here. He never carried out his promise. In Los Angeles he pawned the girl's watch.

The officers have every sympathy for the girl. She not only will not be prosecuted, but she will be given employment. Tyler is 23 years old. He admits the forgery.

NEWS BRIEFS.

This morning an abandoned auto-Marshal Wilson. It was found on Wright street near East First street, where it was left during the night, probably because of engine trouble. The machine is numbered 47,091, which in the records is the number of a machine belonging to Dr. J. F. T. Jenkins of No. 1050 West Twenty-fourth street, Los Angeles. Articles found in the automobile indicate it belonged to a physician.

Registration figures show voters put on the books since January 1 in the incorporated cities that have elections in this county on April 8, are as follows: Orange, 1347; Anaheim, 1319; Fullerton, 853; Newport Beach, 283; Huntington Beach, 498; Stanton, 280.

RESTORATION SURVEY ORDERED IN VALLEY.

EL CENTRO, March 23.—Fred [illegible], commissioner of the General Land Office, has notified [illegible] H. Statterwhite, special [illegible] of the Land Office, that [illegible] purpose to make a restoration [illegible] of townships 13, 14, 15, [illegible] range 11, east, and the [illegible] of township 12 south, range [illegible] as soon as funds therefor [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] is instructed to co-operate with W. J. Lightfoot, a [illegible] surveyor here, in making [illegible] examination for [illegible] of original surveys, in said [illegible] alleged to exist, with the [illegible] in view of executing a [illegible] survey of the original [illegible] 1854. This is for the purpose of settling harassing complications between settlers and entrymen, and [illegible] the General Land Office.

LINE SURVEY.

[illegible] Rhoads, an employee of the [illegible] County Surveyor's office, has been employed by directors of Water District No. 11, to make a survey [illegible] the high line canal in order [illegible] to be located on the [illegible] of Imperial Valley. It is [illegible] that this canal would [illegible] approximately 50,000 acres [illegible] up to this time, has [illegible] for the lack of necessary [illegible] facilities. It is one [illegible] important of recent [illegible] matter of new irrigation [illegible] for Imperial Valley, and [illegible] tributary to Holtville a [illegible] of fine farming lands.

CIRCUS SHOW?

[illegible] is that the city officials [illegible] and the manager [illegible] Bells-Floto shows will [illegible] that will get into [illegible] the circus management [illegible] Centre for an engagement [illegible] Sunday. Largely [illegible] were presented to [illegible] asking that an ordinance [illegible] prohibiting Sunday performances, and such [illegible] was passed as an [illegible] measure.

[illegible] agent of the circus, [illegible] has given an order on the [illegible] to pay for a license, [illegible] management declares [illegible] in El Centro as per [illegible] the city officials say that [illegible] will be arrested if a [illegible] here on Sunday.

TO BREAK CAMP.

[illegible] prisoners who have [illegible] on the public road in Devil's Canyon, have been brought back to the jail at El Centro, and it is probable that there will be no more work done at the road camp until next fall. All of the long-term prisoners have served their time, and there were so few short-time prisoners that it was found the cost of maintenance at the camp was too great for the benefits received from operating a small gang.

The county, on the general proposition, however, has benefited, as some of the worst stretches of road through the canyon have been put in fine condition and this has largely increased travel over this route, between Imperial Valley and San Diego.

VALLEY BRIEFS.

Judge George Hutton of the Los Angeles Superior Court held a session in El Centro yesterday for Judge Franklin J. Cole, who is sitting in an extra session of the Los Angeles court.

A. B. Bland of Holtville has brought in a carload of bees from the vicinity of Venice.

Fiencio Gonzales has been appointed sub-prefecto at Mexicali, vice, Rudolfo Gallego, resigned.

County Clerk Cook has issued a marriage license to Alfonso Vilasenor and Sara de la Cruz, both residents of Calexico.

A concrete block office building, work sheds and cement storage are to be erected by the Cement Products Company on its property at Holtville.

Will H. Nuck, first under-sheriff of Imperial county, has re-entered the printing business, in which he was formerly engaged. He has become a member of the Cutler-Buck Printing Company, of San Diego.

A decree has been issued, ordering the distribution of the estate of the late J. C. McCartney, who was City Marshal of Brawley, when he died. Lots in Brawley and ranch property go to John McCartney.

Ranchers in Water District No. 8 are raising about 200 acres of early Irish potatoes this season. These potatoes will go on the market about the middle of May. A large amount of green peas are being shipped daily from Brawley to the Los Angeles and other Coast markets.

Calexico is to hold a mass meeting under the auspices of the Farmers' and Merchants' Club, to select five or six names from which citizens may elect three trustees at the coming municipal election. No regular nominations were made at the proper time.

Trainload of Pianos

Lost in Eastern Blizzard

Arrive in Los Angeles after many weeks' delay, with packing boxes broken and with cases marred and scratched. Railroad pays the loss. Pianos will be sold for whatever they will bring.

Try to realize what this means. An entire train, loaded with the very best pianos made in America today, purchased by Mr. Eilers himself, on his recent trip East, was caught in a blizzard and the pianos were jarred, marred, scratched and checked to such an extent that we could not accept them from the Railroad Company.

Scores of the finest pianos made in America today, reached us with their mechanism uninjured, but with their packing boxes broken and with scratches or cracks on their highly polished cases, which made it impossible for us to distribute them among our Southern California stores, as we had originally intended.

We immediately wired the Piano Manufacturers' Adjustment Bureau of Steinway Hall, Chicago, and received the telegram from them, which we reproduce below. Note what this wire says:

SOME PIANOS Only Slightly Scratched

Several of the pianos were broken almost beyond repair. Most of them, however, were only scratched or scarred.

Repairs will be immediate in cases of that sort, and yet the damage gives you an opportunity to obtain a magnificent new piano for almost half price.

Western Union Telegraph Company

Eilers Music House, Los Angeles, Cal.

Sell all damaged pianos referred to in your night letter for whatever prices they will bring, and charge loss to us. Will take up adjustment of claim with R. R. Co. and will assume all responsibility for its prompt settlement.

Slightly Damaged Also in the Sale

3/4 The Size

Beautiful instruments so slightly scratched in the cases that it is hardly noticeable except to an expert. Yet they'll be sold for one-fourth or one-third less than their usual prices.

Other famous slightly used pianos in the sale are Kimballs, Deckers, Steinways, Chickerings, Knabes, Lesters, Voses, Mason-Hamlins, Emersons and scores of others.

1/2 The Cost

Here Is Your Chance to Get a Beautiful Piano at Cost

We want to place a beautiful piano in every single Southern California home where music is wanted. We want to save you nearly half what you'd ordinarily pay, and we want to have a chance to show you dozens of the pianos whose names have made piano history, side by side, all at radically reduced prices.

All These Pianos Will Be Guaranteed by Eilers

We will guarantee them against all defect of tone or workmanship for 25 years. Those that are damaged we will repair in such a manner that they will be absolutely satisfactory. You take no chances on any one of these pianos.

HORSE SERIOUSLY INJURES MAN.

Oceanside Man Is Trampled and Injured by Maddened Animal When He Enters Its Stall.

OCEANSIDE, March 23.—Francis Lefever of Moosa, a son of Charles A. Lefever, was brought here this morning for surgical treatment due to an accident at the ranch of Judge O. S. Howard in the Gopher Canyon district, in which he had a miraculous escape from death in an encounter with a horse. Lefever says that when he went into the stall to harness the horse for the day's plowing the animal suddenly became frightened and commenced threshing about in an effort to break away. In one of its wild plunges he was knocked down and trampled underfoot, rendered unconscious, his right knee dislocated, his head cut near the right temple, and his right breast torn open.

The horse, which by that time had become frantic, was doing its best to rid the stall of Lefever by stamping upon him with its feet. At the critical moment Judge Howard arrived. As he approached the stall the horse directed its attention to him, kicking at him with both hind feet. Judge Howard, at the risk of his own life, quickly reached in and succeeded in pulling the insensible man out of reach of the flying hoofs. The man was entirely at the mercy of the fighting horse and in another moment it would seem as though the horse would have triumphed. Drs. Nichols and Reid, the surgeons, state that Lefever will probably recover. He will be kept in Oceanside several weeks for treatment.

DEMENTED GIRL IS FOUND.

Riverside Woman Escapes from Her Home and Wanders Around All Night Thinly Clad.

RIVERSIDE, March 23.—Kate Smith, the girl who wandered from her home at No. 1176 Orange street early yesterday morning, was found about noon today wandering about the road in the Box Springs section, about four and a half miles from Riverside, by Mr. Copley, a Riverside plumber, who was riding along on his motorcycle and noticed her strange actions. He telephoned to town and an automobile was sent out and the unfortunate girl was brought back to town, and she now lies at her home in such an exhausted condition that the physicians are not allowing her to be questioned.

Miss Smith, who is 23 years of age, thin and somewhat undersize, has been a sufferer from periodical insanity for some time, and at these times she is very closely watched by her relatives. She resents this vigilance on their part, and, it is supposed, it was for this reason that she crept out of bed before daylight yesterday, stole out the window clad only in a white waist and thin skirt and started to tramp out into the country. When discovered, although faint and weak from exhaustion, loss of sleep and lack of food, she protested against being brought back to her home. Her escape was made public, and the entire country hereabouts was combed yesterday and last night in an effort to locate her.

RIVERSIDE BRIEFS.

After deliberating for three hours on the question of the guilt or innocence of Troy A. Robinson, accused of accepting stolen goods from the famous Primrose family, the jury failed to agree. The defense attempted to prove that Robinson, who is a young lad of good family connection, but did not know the goods were stolen, while the prosecution asserted that he knew they were stolen.

Father P. J. McGrath, for three years chaplain of the Sherman Indian Institute and pastor of the Arlington Catholic parish, has been appointed by Bishop Conaty to take charge of the Catholic parish of San Pedro, a parish of 1500 members, one of the largest in this diocese. Father McGrath will leave for his new pastorate early in the week. His successor has not yet been chosen. Before coming to Riverside Father McGrath was a priest at St. Vibiana's Cathedral in Los Angeles.

In view of the attempt to close the poolrooms on Sunday, the movement having been started by the men's brotherhoods of the various churches, another movement is on for the keeping of the Public Library open all day Sunday and allowing for the exchange of books the same as on week days. This is suggested as one of the ways to solve the poolroom problem, giving the men and boys another and better place to go.

Coronado is full of life now.

ORANGE.

ORANGE, March 23.—Horace Cole and three other boys walked home from Santa Ana last night after an officer had taken an automobile that belonged to Cole's father. The father learned that the boys had the machine without his permission, and, on his request, Officer Gilbert put the machine in a garage at Santa Ana. Young Cole tried to convince his father that he ought to let him have the machine to ride home in, but the parent told him to walk. The boys took the machine when it had no oil supply.

COLTON, March 23.—Mrs. Seth Hartley and Mrs. Ada Pettijohn are in the race for school trustee for Colton. One trustee is to be elected in April to fill the place which will at that time be vacated by H. B. Smith. More interest is being shown in this election than has ever been manifested before at a Colton school trustee election. Both women are prominent and popular and the race will likely prove a close one.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS

The close of the week found an increased demand for vegetables, and a splendid outside demand for all varieties of produce. The market maintained the firmness which was shown earlier in the week. Asparagus was in liberal receipt, but the demand was such that dealers moved out their stock at good prices, some dealers made concession where sales were large. Extra fancy stock was held at 15 cents per pound.

Celery was firm, with extra choice Sacramento river stock selling at $5.75 per large crate. Tomatoes were in over supply and the top price on Mexican lots was $1.75 per box. Eggplant was light in supply and firm at 35 cents per pound.

Lettuce was weak and green peppers sold lower. There was a scarcity of both green and wax beans and the prevailing price of 20 cents per pound was firmly held.

There was a better demand for oranges of the standard size. Lemons continued to sell rather slowly despite the clear weather. Limes were dull, though the market was but lightly supplied with Mexican stock.

Apples moved slowly, with large sizes preferred by the retailers. Newton, pippins and bellfleurs were best in call at quoted prices.

Receipts of eggs were moderate, totaling 645 cases. The market showed no quotable change. There was only a fair demand.

The butter market was unchanged, with creamery extras and firsts alike quoted at 32½ cents per pound. The market was about steady. It would not be surprising if the market eased off within the next week. Weather conditions are becoming more favorable to an increase in receipts. Creamery grades were in fair demand. Arrivals were 38,947 pounds.

The cheese market maintained the firm tone which has characterized it for several weeks. The recent advance in different varieties was due to the scarcity along these lines. Higher prices may come during the week, owing to the scarcity of practically all popular grades. Northern fresh was in best call at 21 cents per pound. Arrivals were 3560 pounds.

The potato market was firm under the recent advances. There was a good demand for Highlands at quoted figures. Receipts were 1683 sacks.

No onions, beans or sweet potatoes were reported in. The market was firm. The first consignment of Imperial onions came to hand and were placed on the market at $3.50 per crate. The stock was of excellent quality and attracted attention from retailers.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

Mexican Petroleum Common Stock Dividend has Good Effect on Issue —Lively Trading.

The voting of a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock of the Mexican Petroleum Company of Delaware by the directors yesterday morning had an appreciable effect on the bidding on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The stockholders will receive a total of $380,000, and this is the first of quarterly dividend payments. The common closed at 53.75 and was strong.

Associated was also active and strong, closing at $47. The activity included trades in Palmer, United, Traders', Rice Ranch, National Pacific, California Midway and the Union issues. Home Telephone preferred, Pacific Light and Power bonds, Union Transportation Company bonds, Edison Electric preferred and other shares were moving. The market had a good tone throughout.

Announcement has been made that the California Midway Oil Company of Arizona has been re-incorporated as the California Midway of California, and the old stock will not be a good delivery after March 25. The exchange of stock is now being made share for share at the offices in the H. W. Hellman Building. The company is capitalized for $1,500,000, with 940,440 shares issued and 559,553 in the treasury. There are $90,000 worth of 6 per cent. bonds outstanding. The average production of the property for 1911 was 11,000 barrels a month.

SHORTS JOIN IN A STAMPEDE.

PRONOUNCED TIGHTNESS IN MAY WHEAT.

Dealers in Other Futures Are Involved in the Rush to Cover, but the News on Chicago Board of Trade of Export Sales Has a Strengthening Effect.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—Tightness became so pronounced today in May wheat that shorts in other futures joined a stampede to cover, but news of export sales had a strengthening effect. The close in wheat showed a net advance of 3 1-8@½. Latest raiding left corn 1-4 to 1-4@3-8c up, oats with a gain of 1-4 to 3-8@½ and hog products varying from 2½ decline to a 5-cent rise. May wheat ranged from 1.01 7-8 to 1.03 3-8, closing steady at 1.03 1-8@1-4c, just 1 1-8c over 24 hours before. May corn fluctuated from 71 5-8 to 72 1-8 and closed steady, 1 4@3-8c up at 72c even. Cash grades were in fair demand. No. 2 yellow was not quoted. May oats swung between 53 3-8@53 7-8c with last sales 53 5-8@3-4c, a net advance of 1-4@3-8c. It was an off day in provisions. When the pit was cleared quotations averaged almost identical with what had been current the previous night.

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 115 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—There was active buying by sellers of earlier in the week as a result of unfavorable weather which was expected to continue over Sunday. Aside from this feature what seemed to attract most attention was the absence of any buying by the leading bull and spot brokers, who were most prominent in supporting the market a week or two ago. This was taken to mean that the best friends of the market are fairly satisfied to hold market around present levels for a few weeks as the best to accumulate a larger short interest and induce what outside trailing longs there may be in the market to liquidate. As this theory is in line with our own views, we are inclined to look for a continuation of traders' market and we recommend our friends to take advantage of a depression by buying May and July and the winter months to hold for a long pull.

Logan & Bryan's letter says:

"Mill owners in New England offering ten per cent. increase in wages, getting remunerative prices for goods and big demand. New York is now the lowest market in the world. Better not get short."

THE COPPER INDUSTRY.

Electrolytic copper quoted 15 1-4 cents Saturday in New York.

We understand that the Green-Cananea has recently acquired control of a property containing a large supply of oxide ores, which are very much needed by the Greene-Cananea Company. One of the leading interests of the company says: "With Greene-Cananea operations, it is not a question of ore but of treatment. There is too much sulphur in Cananea ores, but this matter is being gradually corrected. I have never seen the mines looking better from any viewpoint, and I have no fear of any interruptions to our operations by reason of revolutionary troubles."

As against a generally-accepted theory that Wolverine has a ten-year life and the report of J. R. Finlay in 1911 giving it but nine years of life, President J. R. Stanton has recently informed a stockholder who made definite inquiries along this line that—"Wolverine has a fifteen-year life at the present rate of production that we know of, all reports to the contrary."

We understand that the company's new lead smelter, which was blown in February 25, has been working without interruption, and that the results have been entirely satisfactory. One furnace only has been placed in commission up to the present time, but the second should be operating now, although advices to this effect have not yet been received. The lead plant, as now under construction, consists of two 250-ton furnaces, the third furnace is not completed, the foundation only having been finished. At the smelter there is a large quantity of higa-grade ore and lead concentrates on hand.

Recently a contract was made with the Prince Consolidated Company of Ploche; for the handling of their ores. The International Company has been very successful as regards lead contracts. Among the ores which will come to the new plant are those from Bingham Canyon Mines, Park City, Tintic, Clarke's Ophir Mine, Ploche, Montana properties, Coeur d'Alene district, Idaho, and many others. The outlook for lead ores is steadily improving, and we understand that new contracts are continually coming in. Last fall when it was decided to add a third furnace to the equipment it was then stated that contracts had been made for the entire capacity of the plant.

The Boston News Bureau says:

"Phelps, Dodge & Co. during 1911 received an average price of 12.26 cents a pound net cash, f.o.b. New York, for all copper sold as compared with 12.838 cents in the preceding year. Sales totaled 221,361,963 pounds, against 194,138,498 pounds in 1910 and 185,023,415 pounds in 1909.

"The parent company's receipts totaled $7,282,629, as compared with $9,089,910 in the preceding year. Miscellaneous earnings amounted to $290,589. The bulk of income came from dividends on stocks of subsidiary companies and totaled $6,934,000 against $8,757,515 in 1910. There were paid on the Phelps, Dodge & Co. stock four dividends of 2½ per cent. each and an extra 2 per cent., making 12 per cent. for the year.

"Sales were apportioned: 69,383,872 pounds to domestic and 130,518,183 pounds to foreign buyers. Of the total 121,327,002 pounds were from the Phelps-Dodge mines and 48,974,953 pounds were sold on commission basis. Ore extracted totaled 1,541,220 tons and there were treated 1,770,960 tons, of which 1,017,352 were milled, producing 179,234 tons of concentrates; 530,331 tons of new copper-bearing material were smelted. Of the ores and concentrates smelted 522,647 tons were from the company's own properties and 107,684 tons from custom business.

"Stag Canon Fuel Company produced 1,148,470 tons of coal, of which 573,299 tons were used for coke.

"Copper Queen production increased 27,000 tons, but the copper content was 3 per cent. less than in preceding year. Mining costs were also slightly lower per pound. Reserves were greater than in 1910. Queen smelter operating costs were satisfactorily reduced and, although construction charge to copper account of new roasting and reverberatory plant was abnormally heavy, the cost per pound was practically the same as in preceding year. Montezuma cost of reducing to bullion was lowered through cleaner concentrates and lower freight rates as well as by improved cost of mining and milling. Reserves were practically the same as in previous year. Detroit produced less, although the tonnage of ore mined exceeded that of 1910 by 12,000 tons. Lower operating costs more than compensated for reduced copper content of the ore. Stag Canon yielded 222,986 tons less coal, but the price realized was enough higher to maintain gross and net at the previous year's level. The Phelps-Dodge Mercantile Company took over mercantile business of each of the subsidiaries as of January 1, 1912. Mercantile sales during 1911 totaled $5,217,894, a profit of 7.51 per cent. Copper Queen production was: 74,499,778 pounds copper, 1,227,633 ounces silver, 16,235 ounces gold and 5,458,920 pounds of lead. The output came from the Bisbee mines and precipitates.

"Average number of employees was 3055. Miners' wages were raised from $3.50 to $3.75 a day. The first six months the extraction of ore was far in excess of furnace requirements; during the last six months' period a drop in the grade involved a larger tonnage necessary to maintain average output. More exploratory work than ever before was accomplished, amounting to 43,150 feet. In the Queen the Lowell shaft was sunk to 1800 level and connected with the Sacramento. A most important discovery was made in the Spray division where a series of layers of sulphide ores were found. Another source of future production was found in a porphyry bed in the Sacramento Mountain. Near the Uncle Sam shaft rich silver and gold ore with lead was found by leasors.

"Montezuma mined 124,538 tons and increased ore broken in reserve by 181,000 tons, making reserves of broken ore 202,000 tons. Two important discoveries were made in east side of the mine. To comply with government requirements, values of mines were written up, so book value equalled total estimated value at time of sale to Phelps, Dodge & Co. on December 21, 1908.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Market Quiets Down All Along the Line and Some of the Stocks Reach a Lower Level.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Taylor, 113 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—The Goldfields were a little quieter than yesterday, prices were practically unchanged. The Manhattans were unchanged to two points better. Comstocks showed no changes worthy of comment.

Tonopahs were active and held their own throughout the list. Prices were unchanged from the opening and practically unchanged from last night. In the outlying camps, Peaks was up 2½ and Nevada Hills 5. The week just closed has been the best one that the exchange has seen for years, with a large and growing public interest. Every broker full of orders.

Following are the closing bid and asked prices:

Financial.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ASSOCIATED.

Its Near Approach Cause of Various Rumors.

Official Family Personnel May Be Changed.

Frank G. Drum Mentioned as a New Director.

The annual meeting of the Associated Oil Company will be held at Oil Center on April 2. As is usually the case prior to the annual meetings of this corporation, the air is filled with rumors. The question of dividends to be paid by the Associated is one that comes to the front periodically, and again it has been revived. Also there are persistent rumors of changes in the personnel of the Associated's official family.

One rumor has it that when the clouds roll away from the next annual meeting of the stockholders, the only one of the present officials to be left will be W. F. Herrin. From San Francisco comes the report that Frank G. Drum, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and director of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been asked to take a place upon the board of directors of the Associated. It was said the late flurry in the price of the stock could be traced to the Drum rumor.

Persons in the know say that Drum is in a receptive mood, and that he is alike acceptable to the minority stockholders and to the Southern Pacific control. He has a large following which has profited through his administration of various big concerns. The latest financial report issued by the Associated Oil Company, which was given publicity shortly after the last annual meeting, showed that the company has approximately $4,000,000 of a cash surplus in the treasury. While this large sum could be used in the payment of dividends, for which the minority stockholders have long been looking, it has been the management to dole out the surplus earnings in betterments and in the purchase of producing properties.

BIG CORPORATION.

The Associated is a $50,000,000 corporation; it has a number of producing properties; it owns its own pipe lines and tank ships, and is a large purchaser of oil in the open market. For many months there have been rumors that the Associated planned to erect on the bay a $1,000,000 refinery, and when Chairman Robert S. Lovett of the Harriman system executive committee lately visited San Francisco it was announced that he had given his approval to the refinery plan. It was further announced that the money for the refinery would come from the treasury surplus.

There is no doubt that the interests back of the Associated Oil Company sense the great opportunities ahead of the California oil industry, and have been using every means to erect an impregnable fortress. Anent the rumored changes in the official family, it is said that W. S. Porter "views with alarm" all such talk because of the report that he is one upon whom the ax will fall.

Minority stockholders in the company have long pointed to the alleged fact that several men who entered the employ of the Associated as clerks are now able to write checks in big figures, and while there is not the slightest hint at irregularity, it is felt that the time has come to grade efficiency above emolument.

BANK STATEMENT.

ACTUAL CONDITIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $13,341,900 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $2,297,900 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last year.

The statement follows:

Daily average: Loans, $2,043,106,000; decrease, $4,838,000.

Specie, $357,820,000; decrease, $3,931,000.

Legal tenders, $35,348,000; decrease, $497,000.

Net deposits, $1,895,310,000; decrease, $7,274,000.

Circulation, $50,633,000; decrease, $431,000.

Banks cash reserve in vault, $375,952,000.

Trust companies cash reserve in vault, $67,216,000.

Aggregate cash reserve, $443,168,000.

Excess lawful reserve, $13,341,900; decrease, $2,297,900.

Trust companies reserve, with clearing house members, carrying 25 per cent. cash reserve, $56,616,000.

Actual condition: Loans, $2,042,756,000; decrease, $1,020,000.

Specie, $356,724,000; decrease, $4,414,000.

Legal tenders, $34,902,000; decrease, $835,000.

Net deposits, $1,894,578,000; decrease, $1,372,000.

Circulation, $50,522,000; decrease, $423,000.

Bank's cash reserve in vaults, $370,316,000.

Trust companies cash reserve in vault, $71,010,000.

Aggregate cash reserve, $441,426,000.

Excess lawful reserve, $12,235,000; decrease, $4,750,800.

Trust companies reserve with clearing house members carrying 25 per cent. cash reserve, $58,248,000.

Summary of State banks and trust companies in greater New York not reporting to the clearing house:

Loans, $606,023,800; increase, $31,172,200.

Specie $64,224,400; increase, $524,200.

Legal tenders, $10,864,500; decrease $4,800.

Total deposits, $705,968,700; decrease, $4,117,500.

DECREASE OF CASH.

VIEW OF THE FINANCIER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—The Financier will say:

The clearing house banks of New York, despite large shipments of funds to this center from the interior reported in their weekly exhibit a continued decrease in cash owing to operations with the sub-treasury, gold exports, etc.

The striking feature of the present situation is found in the low rates prevailing for money in the face of a surplus reserve, which is shrinking to small proportions.

The most plausible explanation is that the banks have a reservoir of funds in the shape of credits abroad and it is certain that a sharp rise in loan quotations would reverse the tides of gold exports to one of imports. Such imports at this time are neither necessary nor desirable, as the supply of domestic money is sufficiently ample to take care of domestic business.

The banks made no important changes in the leading items for the week, the statement of actual conditions showing a loss of something over one million dollars in loans and of about $1,250,000 in deposits. The decrease of $5,249,000 in cash reflected directly in a decrease of $4,750,800 in excess reserve, the surplus above the 25 per cent. requirement now standing at $12,235,000. Figured on the basis of daily averages, excess reserves stand at $13,341,900.

The April settlement period due in a little more than a week, probably will cause some unusual changes in the bank statement over the next fortnight.

For Sound Banking.

Riverside and San Bernardino yesterday joined forces with Los Angeles in the interest of a sound banking system. The meeting held at Riverside was represented by thirty prominent financiers and business men and an organization was formed. Charles L. Reynolds was elected president and W. T. Thompson, secretary. At San Bernardino the new organization has twenty-six members with J. B. Gill, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Illinois as president and M. C. McKinney, president of the Chamber of Commerce, as secretary.

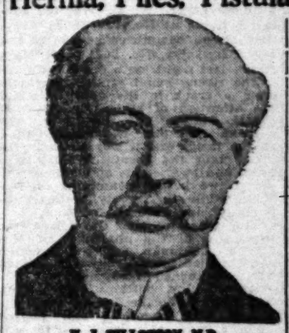
CURED IN FIVE DAYS

Hernia, Piles, Fistula and Varicose Veins



H. J. TILLOTSON, M.D.
[Established 21 Years. Copyrighted.]

I publish my true photograph, correct name and personally conduct my office. I am a long-established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. Imitation of my copyrighted announcement is an evidence that I am a bona-fide specialist. I make this statement that you will know you consult a Specialist who sees and treats patients personally. I possess skill and experience acquired in such a way that no other can share. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment may be valued and results obtained.

A thorough investigation should be made by every ailing person as to the specialist he consults. Duty and destiny to self and those who depend upon you demand the best medical attention. I have the ability and can give you this service. I have always charged a very reasonable fee, so that my services may be obtained by any man who sincerely desires to be cured. I make no misleading statements or unbusinesslike propositions; neither do I desire to be particularly independent, and I would like to have you for a patient, if you will come to me on a strictly professional basis, and the inducements that I offer, which are my ability and thirty-one years' successful experience. Time-saving treatment and guarantee of cure of certain diseases.

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their ability because the demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable. Health is capital at interest. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE.

Dr. Tillotson's written guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund exery dollar you have paid me for my services. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Fistula or any disease I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay.

READ MY BOOK — It contains information every young man, husband and father should have regarding himself. Book Sent Free to those who, in my opinion, will be benefited by it. Call or write before treating for disease or disorders.

Many Cases Cured Permanently in FIVE DAYS. Most Time-Saving, Most Natural, Most Safe. No Detention from Occupation, Family or Home. A Radical and Permanent Cure. I Will Give $500 to Any Charity as a Guarantee That Every Statement In This Announcement is True.

I cure rapidly, painlessly and at small expense. Cured patients are my testimonials; however, I do not make patients' names merchandise by publishing them. I will give conclusive evidence of my merit, which is obtained and maintained by ability.—I invite you to come to my office. I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases. I will give you free a physical examination; if necessary a microscopical and chemical analysis of secretions to determine existing pathological and bactariological conditions. Every person should take advantage of this opportunity to learn their true condition. Certainty of cure is what you want.

VARICOSE VEINS.

In the cure of Varicose Veins, Rupture and Associate Diseases of the Pelvic Region, I am successful in bringing to bear the curative power of Nature's forces in such a manner as to supplant the old-time, wide-open surgical operation. Once it required several weeks to cure these conditions and the method which some still use is such as to endanger the life of the patient and require a long period of convalescence. Now an absolute cure can be accomplished in a few days and with perfect safety.

TRUSSES SELDOM CURE RUPTURE.

Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced on the public in connection with the alleged cure of rupture, and when I say positively that I cure Rupture, to stay cured, I do not expect any one to accept my statement without investigation of my professional work. My claim to your confidence is based on absolute facts, accomplished results. A personal consultation. I will make a free examination and can explain every detail of your Hernia and demonstrate to you the curative value of the method I have discovered. I invite the careful investigation of any person who sincerely desires to be cured. I cure Rupture, in selected cases, with perfect safety, and entail no suffering, and do not detain you from occupation under Written Guarantee. Many cases cured to stay cured by a few treatments.

PILES, FISTULA, RECTAL DISEASES.

These diseases are very common; most frequently found in persons of middle or advanced age

DIVIDEND IS VOTED.

The directors of the Mexican Petroleum Company of Delaware met yesterday morning in the offices in the Security building and declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock. There are outstanding 250,000 shares of this stock, of a par value of $38,000,000, and the dividend distribution will therefore amount to $250,000.

These dividends are to be paid quarterly, so that the rate of payment to the stockholders will be 4 per cent. There are rumors, however, that the dividend rate will later be increased. The securities of the Mexican Petroleum Company will shortly be listed on the New York Stock Exchange, it is understood. All of the rules of the exchange have been complied with, and the matter is now in the hands of the listing committee. This committee will meet next on March 27, when it is fully believed the Mexican issues will be listed.

The property of the Mexican Petroleum Company, which is controlled by E. L. Doheny, C. A. Canfield and associates of this city, has been appraised at over $73,000,000 in value. The preferred stock has carried a dividend for some time, but the common has so far only paid one dividend and that was nearly two years ago. E. L. Doheny is now in Mexico.

HANDICAPPED IN LIFE.

Man Who Lost Leg Commits Suicide by Taking Chloroform in His Room at a Hotel.

Unable to overcome the handicap of a lost leg, and apparently disappointed over the outcome of some business affair, W. G. Waldby, formerly living at No. 735 South Alvarado street, committed suicide at the Hotel Berkeley, No. 908 South Main street, last night, with chloroform.

The strong smell of the anesthetic from a crack in the door attracted the attention of several guests, and F. E. Platten, the proprietor, was notified. The door was firmly bolted on the inside and it was necessary to break into the room. Waldby was dead, and by the side of his bed were found two bottles containing chloroform, while two empty bottles similarly labeled were on the floor.

The police say that the poison was purchased at the pharmacy of McKay & Monkman, and a bill which accompanied the delivery was marked "To be returned if not used."

As the first bottle of the poison had failed to do the desired work, the second was uncorked and poured upon a wad of cotton, which was then held over the nostrils until the muscles of the heart became paralyzed and death followed.

A notebook containing his name and former address was found in his pocket, together with the name of Miss Alice M. Conway, No. 933 Menlo avenue, a professional nurse who had been with him at Catalina Island when an accident deprived him of his right leg.

Since that time Waldby had been obliged to rely on crutches and frequently complained that fate had treated him with undeserved severity, and that his ambitions in life had been forever blasted by his misfortune.

Waldby went to the Hotel Berkeley at noon yesterday and asked for a room. As he was neatly dressed, no questions were asked, and he was assigned to an apartment on the second floor, to which he retired immediately. Only 5 cents in money was found in his possession after his death, which gave credit to the belief that his funds had been exhausted. The body was removed to the Bresee morgue.

"AD" MEN'S UNIQUE LUNCH.

Invitation Is in Form of Supoena in Which Speakers are Made Defendants in Uncivil Suit.

The Mayor and Judge McCormick are made defendants in an uncivil suit at Levy's, to be tried Tuesday noon, when the Los Angeles Ad Club is to gather at a unique luncheon.

In the form of a subpoena, the invitation states that Judge McCormick would speak on the subject of "Advertising versus the Law," and the Mayor on "Municipal Advertising."

After giving the title of the case in the usual legal form, the "subpoena" says:

We command you, that all and singular, business and excuses, advertising pencils and order books being laid aside, you appear and attend this superior session of the Los Angeles Ad Club (Court) of the city of Los Angeles, in and for the B.B. B.'s, at a term of said court, to be held at Sunset Room, Levy's Cafe, second floor, on the 26th day of March, 1912, at 12:05 o'clock, noon, then and there to testify in the cause entitled action, now pending in the city of Los Angeles:

"Advertising versus the Law," or "How Shall We Eliminate Spurious Advertising?" Also listen to the case presented by the Hon. Mayor Alexander on municipal advertising.

And for failure to attend, you will be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and liable to pay all loses and damages sustained hereby, by the parties agreed, and forfeit 89 cents marked down from $1 or thereafter, forever be deprived of the use of an advertising pen or pencil in addition thereto.

H. S. Carroll is to be chairman of the day.

OPENS SECRET BOX.

Someone Who Seems to Know It Takes Three Hundred and Forty Dollars from Cafe Man.

Someone seemingly acquainted with the habits of the family entered the apartments of P. P. Paulson at the Hotel Portsmouth, No. 516½ South Hill street, late yesterday afternoon and abstracted $140 from a secret money box. The fact that the alleged thief left $61 behind led the police to believe that a general alarm would not be necessary to discover the culprit, who certainly had the interests of his victim at heart.

At the time the money disappeared Paulson was engaged at his cafe, No. 522 South Hill street, and the loss was not discovered until he returned to his rooms last night.

The fact that the money box had been opened by a key hidden from sight by the owner added to the mystery and gives color to the deduction that it was an "inside" job.

DENTIST'S HOME PLUNDERED.

Raising a rear window which had been left unlocked, a ell-dressed burglar entered the home of Dr. H. C. Haughasaut, a dentist living at No. 115 South Flower street, and, after gathering up everything of value in sight, was seen leaving about 7 o'clock last night. L. F. Labarere, living next door, saw the thief as he emerged through the window and notified the police. Dr. Haughawout and his family have been out of town more than a week and are not expected back until the first of the month. In the meantime it will be impossible to approximate the loss, but it is known that a number of valuable guns were taken from a case in the dentist's den, together with a large amount of household valuables.

STANFORD GATHERINGS.

Stanford University alumni, of Los Angeles, are preparing to entertain Dr. Jordan, who will be here April 6, accompanied by Benjamin Bledsoe, president of the State alumni, J. McDowell, secretary-treasurer, and Dennis Searles, president of the Stanford Club of San Francisco. Their purpose is to get in touch with Stanford graduates all over California. The alumni association of Los Angeles is the largest anywhere in the country. The party will be at San Bernardino on April 2, Redlands, April 3, and San Diego, April 5.

DON'T WANT TO TRADE.

PASADENA, March 23.—Grace A. Hilborn of Pasadena filed suit against Wilson H. Soale yesterday, charging fraud in connection with the exchange of her property for 4000 shares of stock of the Automatic Car Coupler Company. She alleges that she was persuaded to make the exchange by Soale and ascertained that the stock is worthless while her property was worth $8000. A return of her property is demanded or its value. Soale is said to have been formerly District Attorney of San Francisco.

TAKES OUT ALL THE POISONS

Relieving Rheumatism Every Time — Buy the Ingredients From Any Good Pharmacy and Mix It Yourself at Home—Full Directions Given, Also the Dose. — Anyone Can Easily Prepare the Mixture.

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of stomach or rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the stomach or kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at any good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid Extract Juniper Berries, one ounce; Compound Fluid Balmwort, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, four ounces. Take a teaspoonful before each meal and at bed time. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of stomach or bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain between the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism because of its direct and positive action upon digestion and the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, relieving the worst forms of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The treatment acts upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving dyspepsia and indigestion. Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites cleans and enriches the blood. There is nothing better than Balmwort and Juniper Berries for the kidneys.

The prescription is safe and can be used at any time.

WE TEACH BY MAIL

Our method of teaching by correspondence is very complete. We have a systematic course containing movements, and letter exercises, with complete instructions, to enable the pupil to intelligently pursue the course at home, thereby saving a great expense of railroad fare and board bills.
We furnish the student with our pen written copies, with complete directions. The student returns their practice work to us; we correct work in red ink, pointing out faults; thus the student can pursue the course as rapidly and with the same precision as if the teacher were at his side. A postal card will bring you full particulars.

WOMEN IN NATIONAL POLITICS

the women would come to their support. The La Follette people, it appears, were willing to give the presidency of a local Woman's League to the Woman's Progressive League if it would support their candidate.

To support any one candidate would be impossible to the Woman's Progressive League for many reasons. The members of its executive board favor different candidates, but individually and collectively they have refused from the incipiency of the Presidential fight to take any part in the campaign.

EXPRESSING NO PREFERENCE.

In executive session yesterday the league reiterated its position by adopting the following significant resolutions:

"Realizing that the demand of the newly enfranchised women of California is for political education along absolutely non-partisan lines in order that they may use the ballot to advance the best interests of their municipalities and of the State, regardless of the claims of political parties or factions, and,

"Believing that by such non-partisan participation only can the women of California accomplish the purposes for which they primarily demanded the ballot,

"Therefore be it resolved that the Woman's Progressive League, as an organization, decline to ally itself with any individual preference or to take a partisan stand in the coming Presidential campaign, but that it urges the women of the State to register before April 14 in order that they may take advantage of the opportunity offered them at the primary to express their choice for President of the United States at the ballot box on May 14, 1912."

Emma Chase Bishop has been made secretary of the La Follette Progressive Club of Los Angeles city and county, and secretary of the Woman's La Follette Progressive League of California, of which Ella Giles Ruddy is the president. They propose to organize branches throughout the State, but have effected none of these organizations as yet. Their work among the women of the city has been in the nature of personal canvasses as far as it has gone. They pass out their literature to the women who call for it and those women give it to such of their neighbors as they think will be interested in doing something for the cause.

SENDING OUT A "FEELER."

Mrs. Porter has sent out a circular letter to different women among progressive suspects, as a sort of "feeler" in which she adroitly suggests that in the work of organization the Roosevelt people are now forming some important committees and that, while she does not know how the recipient stands in the matter, she will be glad to hear from her, provided she is sympathetic.

As between Roosevelt and La Follette, it does not take much of a prophet to see that La Follette has the best of it with women progressives in California. When Roosevelt last spoke in Los Angeles the suffrage campaign was at fever heat and Roosevelt ignored the request of the Political Equality League, that he say at least one word in their behalf. La Follette has always stood for suffrage and his wife has been his law partner since the two graduated together in the same class. The women of the State can probably be counted on as individuals to split the strength of the progressives by dividing their vote, and this will be their chief contribution to the struggle in the primaries.

FIND DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

Accidental death was the verdict of a Coroner's jury in the inquest yesterday over the remains of Roy Dahlen, messenger boy who was almost instantly killed Thursday afternoon at Sixth and Flower streets, by colliding with an auto owned by Dr. A. S. Lobingier, No. 611 West Moreland avenue, and driven by M. J. Kirby, the physician's chauffeur. The jurors declared that the boy, who was on a wheel, and the doctor, were both riding at an excessive rate of speed. The boy was employed by the Martin Pharmacy, in the Auditorium building. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon from the Swedish Tabernacle, with interment in Englewood.

MUSIC AT THE AUDITORIUM.

To be added to the fine musical programmes at the Auditorium this morning and this evening, will be numbers at each service by the male quartette of the Williams Jubilee Singers, one of the most notable colored combinations in the country. In the evening, Ray Hastings will give an organ recital and play the chimes, and Mr. Gregg, Miss Christin, Mrs. Smith, of the Temple choir, and George H. Bemus will sing, the whole forming a concert of rare excellence.

A Spring Tonic Not Necessary If You Drink Plenty of Pure Water

Until recent years it was an almost universal custom to take a "Spring Tonic"—to "tone up the System after the winter." In fact, the custom still prevails, but it is fast going out of favor. Few persons nowadays are willing to burden their Systems with "Dope."

The Tonic Theory was correct in a way. The System DOES need toning up after the winter's inclemencies and rich foods. But the modern way to clear the System of winter's impurities is simply to drink liberally of Pure Water. The injurious after-effects of tonics and drugs are thus avoided.

Now, many people drink "pure water" which, in reality, is NOT pure. This applies to filtered water and all the mineral waters. In the first place, filtered water cannot be absolutely pure because the water is actually filtered through the sediment which collects at the bottom of the vessel. The water passes through the very substance which the process aims to remove.

Secondly, mineral waters, by their very names, are filled with substances which may or may not cleanse the System. Some minerals undoubtedly are beneficial to some Systems. But it is a well known fact that most minerals disagree with the majority of people, often bringing an excessive amount of Uric Acid into the blood, as well as causing Dysentery.

Distilled water is the ony safe water—and the purest and most widely used in the Southwest is PURITAS. PURITAS DISTILLED WATER is aerated with pure Ozone, by our own process of introducing electricity to filtered air. When you drink PURITAS you know that nothing but pure, wholesome water is entering your system. This is surely Nature's substitute for Spring Tonics.

Five gallons of PURITAS DISTILLED WATER cost but 40 cents, delivered to you in a sealed demijohn. The price is a trifle more if you live beyond the old city boundary lines, because of the longer delivery. Just call our office by telephone — Home 10053, Sunset Main 8191. Delivery will be made promptly.

Families in the many towns surrounding Los Angeles always get their PURITAS from our regular dealers. If you are unable to find a dealer in your vicinity, telephone or drop a postal to us. We will supply you from our main plant. We believe a trial demijohn of PURITAS will convince you that no table water quite equals it. Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company.

THE GOSPEL OF A GOLF BALL.

Eloquent Preacher Finds It Great Rest Cure.

Exile on Santa Catalina Is Himself Again.

Dr. Locke Will Return to Pulpit on Easter.

BY A. M. ROW.

I went over to Santa Catalina Island, the other day, to have a visit with Rev. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, the eloquent pastor of the First Methodist Church, who is now in the third month of his residence on the island. I think the collar is chafing him a little, for he is completely rested and ready to return to his work, but in the desire to give him time to clinch the rest-cure his official board insisted upon his taking another month. While he is not neglecting the golf links, he is now spending fixed hours each day in his study at the hotel. He is not a good sailor, so doesn't fish; he is not a good loafer, and therefore finds it hard to "kill time" when he feels he ought to be at his active work.

Twitted about taking "absent treatment," he declared that absence from work is the best cure he ever tried, and that hereafter he intends to take it in allopathic doses. It has been many years since he had a real vacation. While he has had the allotted time from his pulpit each summer, he has remained within call and has gotten little rest out of it. This is the programme he proposes to change hereafter.

"Back to the soil" has been the rejuvenation of the popular preacher. He is as red as an Indian, fat and happy as a rollicking schoolboy, and weighs more than ever before in his life. The same smiling, cordial, optimistic, unaffected gentleman: the same polished, deferential, warm-hearted preacher.

ANXIOUS TO GET BACK.

"Somebody has told me," he said, "that I am being made the victim of 'malicious animal magnetism,' and that I am receiving 'absent treatment,' for my continued indisposition. But the 'absent treatment' of the official board of my church has been more powerful than any of the black arts and I am anxious to get back to my pulpit. I never felt better in my life and was never so strong or had so much muscle as I have now. I have not preached since I came over here, except to the rocks and trees and the great works of Nature, when I go out into one of the beautiful canyons every Sunday morning. I came here to rest and I think that is what my people expect me to do, and I will not preach again until I go into my own pulpit on Easter Sunday."

The canyons of the island are now brilliant in the glow of the holly and soft in the fresh green carpet that has come into life with the recent rains. Dr. Locke divides his time between giving attention to the golf ball that is hidden somewhere in the direction of the "green," and in singing poetic praises of the incomparable beauties of nature that surround him.

"Was ever anything so beautiful?" he asks. "I wonder how many people come to Catalina and know of all the wild charm of this magic island. When I get up here I simply want to stay. Isn't it perfectly marvelous?"

Then he plays another hole, picks up his sweater jacket and starts to walk after the ball and sing of the joys around him.

EATS, RUNS AND JUMPS.

That he can run faster, jump farther and eat more than at any time since he was a boy chasing cottontails over the Pennsylvania hills there is not a doubt. Every day for over two months he has chased the elusive white ball around the Catalina golf links once and sometimes twice, so that he is muscled like a champion and weighs heavier than he ever did in his life.

"Feel that arm," he said to me. "What do you think of that for a Methodist preacher?"

He has explored all the nearby hills and canyons and is as familiar with "Chicken" Johnnie as with the guests at the Metropole. Johnnie, by the way, is a character. He has lived in one of the canyons, a mile or two back of the hotel, for twenty-three years and during that period has never left the island. The exiled parson has found no little interest in studying the character of a man who can spend that much time growing figs and squabs for the hotel, and yet never have curiosity enough to cross the channel.

"I think I'm doing pretty well to stand it for three months, Johnnie, and I guess I'll let you have the record by a margin of twenty-two years and nine months. I wonder how you could stay here alone all this time, when you might have had a nice little wife to keep you company," said the parson.

"I once knowed a man," retorted Johnnie, "who said he could ha' eat his wife when he was married only three weeks, an' he was allus sorry he didn't do it."

Laughing at the joke, the doctor turned to seek pretended information about the superior cultivation of figs and squabs—and thus he finds diversion that will probably crop out in sermonettes and table-talk.

A MOUNTAIN SHEEP.

He recently stood on one of the little promontories overlooking the ocean, talking quietly to his son. They were wishing they might get sight of a mountain-sheep, when, to their astonishment, one stepped into full view and stood but a few rods from them, entirely unconscious of their presence. The wind being in their favor, they stood for some minutes before clapping their hands to see it leap from rock to rock and disappear over the top of the peak. Many persons, when they hear tales of these most alert and daring of rock-scaling little animals, are not willing to believe that they inhabit the wild haunts of the island, but Dr. Locke will, no doubt, be glad to recount in eloquent sentences, his experience with the mountain sheep.

On rainy days—rare, you will say—and at an hour early in the morning or late in the evening, he goes to the Tuna Club and fellowships with Capt. Manning, talking of the big fish and swapping tales of the land for those of the sea. About the lobby of the Metropole he is a choice spirit, and may generally be found entertaining a circle of interested people with choice anecdotes that are interesting and amusing for their pith and point, or talking entertainingly of the affairs of the day.

If any person should have the mistaken idea that Dr. Locke is a "dead one," because he was forced into a rest by overwork, a brief visit with him on the golf links or tramping over the hills, or walking along the pebbly beach, will quickly dispel any such notion. He was never more active, alert or enthusiastic than he is today.

There are few ministers who carry so heavy a load. Dr. Locke presides over one of the greatest churches in Methodism—in fact, he is not slow to eliminate the qualifying phrase. His congregation numbers more than 2300 members, and it has become well known throughout the length and breadth of the land as the church that boasts the second largest Methodist Sunday-school in the world, under the leadership of Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, a phenomenal Sunday-school man. Dr. Locke's assistant is a competent and efficient woman, but she can neither officiate at weddings nor at funerals, and the burden of all these fall upon the pastor. Taken in connection with his pulpit work, his calls to deliver addresses at dinners and functions of various kinds, it is not strange that the burden proved heavy and that finally Dr. Locke was compelled to get out of reach and rest completely. He will come back with a definite plan for making his labors lighter in the future.

Mrs. Locke is with him at Catalina, and at times other members of his family, so that he has rested under the very best conditions and when he steps into his pulpit on Easter his prime condition will be apparent to all.

Dr. Locke Ready for Action.

Pastor of the First Methodist Church as he appeared on the Catalina golf links yesterday, and as he will appear in his pulpit on Easter.

Big Land Opening

La Puente Acres

Now Offered for Sale for First Time

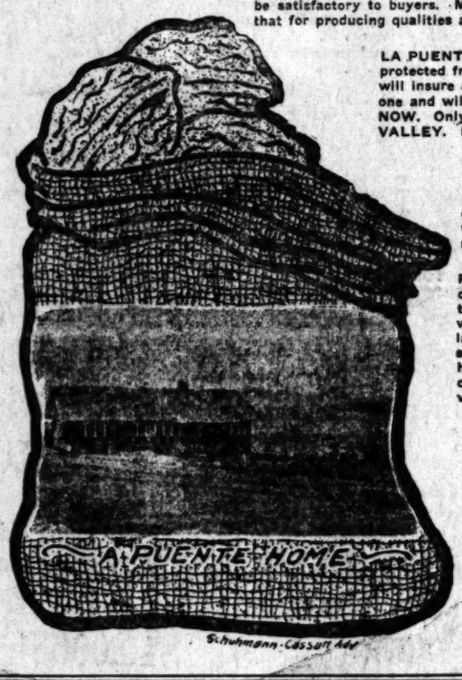
This is the most extraordinary acreage offering of the year. It is the one best opportunity to get a small farm at a moderate price. When you realize that PUENTE is the same distance from Los Angeles as Santa Monica, it will be evident to you that acreage at PUENTE is really worth more than the prices we are asking. LA PUENTE ACRES present to you the opportunity to make a good living, as well as a large amount of net profit each year.

LA PUENTE VALLEY is the coming center of great intensive agricultural activity. The homeseeker, the colonist, the city man, the farmer—in fact, any one who wants the choicest acreage now offered in Southern California today, at the most reasonable price, should investigate LA PUENTE ACRES first.

$550 Per Acre—On Easy Terms

The Land is Divided Into 2½ and 5-Acre Farms

Our extensive knowledge of conditions existing in LA PUENTE VALLEY qualifies us to know what we are recommending. We have been dealing in farm land in this valley for many years, and in every instance buyers have been pleased and have made good profit on their investments. Land like this cannot help but be satisfactory to buyers. Many, many acres of land are being sold elsewhere for $800 to $1000 per acre that for producing qualities and ideal location cannot come up to the standard of LA PUENTE ACRES!



LA PUENTE ACRES are genuine high-class citrus, walnut and agricultural lands, well protected from frost. Deep rich loamy soil. The land is sold with water rights which will insure an ample supply for domestic and irrigating purposes. This tract is a small one and will be disposed of in a very short time. Take advantage of the opportunity NOW. Only five minutes' walk from PUENTE, the coming metropolis of LA PUENTE VALLEY. Puente is only 35 minutes from Los Angeles. Commutation rates very low. Good railroad service. Two railroads and good roads boulevard. This land overlooks the entire San Gabriel Valley.

LA PUENTE ACRES will double in value in a short time. The real earnest opportunity-seeker need not worry, because the profit is there. Early investors will make the greatest profits. Therefore, if you want a genuine farm opportunity at a price that will fit your pocketbook, see us now for further details.

PUENTE and LA PUENTE VALLEY are on the threshold of the greatest period of development activity in their history. Puente Improvement Association has been formed, which has for its goal "25,000 in 1920." Thousands of dollars will be spent advertising the community. Hundreds of settlers will come in. This great upward movement will have but one result—the producing of big profits for land owners in LA PUENTE VALLEY. Don't you see the advisability of investing now?

HE WALKS RIGHT IN AGAIN.

Alleged Embezzler, Who Escaped Officers Two Weeks Ago Is Re-Arrested.

R. J. Mulroney, arrested two weks ago on two warrants, sworn out by A. O. Krite of Arcadia, who charged him with embezzlement, who escaped from Deputy Constable Thomas at the Hollenbeck, has been re-arrested by Detective Fox and again turned over to Thomas. This time the latter landed his charge in the County Jail.

After his escape, Mulroney went to his room, packed his grips and engaged quarters at a rooming-house at Fifth and Main street. He remained there Tuesday, when he went to San Bernardino and Pomona. He traveled under the names of J. L. Johnson and James McEwing. Tuesday Mulroney returned to Los Angeles. Fox was given the tip that he was here and watched for him. Mulroney was registered at the Huntington Hotel, Eighth and Main streets as J. Downey. Fox found him in a small cigar shop, on Main, between Seventh and Eighth streets.

Krite accuses Mulroney of embezzling a $200 watch, $75 chain and $1090 in money.

HONEST PATROLMAN.

Finds Pocketbook Full of Money, Returns It to the Owner, and Gets Reward.

Diogenes need look no further for "an honest man" if he will come to Los Angeles and call at the residence of Patrolman "Billy" E. O'Brien, No 563 North Avenue 23. Once there he can extinguish his lantern and call his work done, for he will have found a man who picked up $330 and caused it to be returned to its owner.

W. L. Wolfskill, No. 1427 Santee street, foreman for B. F. Yarnell, a contractor, was seated at his desk when his wife asked him over the telephone, if he had lost any money. He replied, no.

"Well," she continued, "you had better go up to the police station and get your pocketbook. They've got it."

When Wolfskill walked into Capt. Murray's office, the latter was talking with O'Brien, who found the pocketbook on the counter in a store where he and Wolkskill had been shopping.

O'Brien's face wore a funny little smile when Wolfskill's hand released his for a negotiable bit of green and white paper remained in his palm.

TRUTH ABOUT SOCIALISM.

Speaker Tells Members of City Club Where the New Political Fad Has Its Failings.

Socialists are divided among themselves into three irreconcilable groups, declared R. H. Norton, at the City Club, yesterday. One group is composed of men and women who are discontented with conditions and follow socialism because they have no definite idea of a remedy. Another group, wholly antagonistic to the first, desires the gratification of its passions and if aroused would precipitate a revolution of rapine, fire and bloodshed.

"My one arraignment of the speakers in the last campaign," he said, "is that they missed a glorious opportunity for the inculcation of right living and right thinking, and, apparently, deliberately couched their appeals to the baser and altogether material elements."

The simon-pure, dyed-in-the-wool, Carl Marx brand of Socialist, who he called the third group, are all wrong and their claims that the world is worse off now than fifty years ago is proved to be false. It his theme "The Economic Condition From an Anti-Socialist Condition From an Anti-Socialist Standpoint."

Socialism is erroneous in that it is based on the assumption that labor is the source of all wealth, and is the voice of a class ready to approve the destruction of everybody's property and of the person violating sacraments. As a matter of fact it is not labor that produces wealth, said Norton, but it is the application of labor that produces wealth.

He proceeded to show the great mistake of the socialists in assuming that all evils of society and he opposed government ownership and declared that the management would be better under private management.

LOS ANGELES WOMEN TAKE NO DICTATION.

They Have Firm Hold on Politics and Will See It Through in Their Own Way, Talking by Ballot at the Presidential Primaries—Large Taft Organization Voluntarily Proposed and Meeting Called.

A MEETING OF LOS ANGELES women interested in the nomination of President Taft is called for Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Red Room of the Angelus Hotel. Every woman who would be glad to see the President renominated and re-elected is cordially invited to be present. Such an organization has been under consideration for several weeks but the leaders of the movement have favored a short campaign.

Los Angeles Women in National Politics.

The upper group shows Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, sitting, and Miss Helen Wisler, stand-patters, checking up a list of Taft women for work in the campaign before the Presidential primaries May 14. The lower group is of women at work at local La Follette headquarters. From left to right, they are: Emma Case Bishop, secretary; Miss Lorraine Durrow and Miss Stella Gragg.

What part the women of California generally will take in the Presidential primaries depends entirely upon what part they want to take. Politics present a series of conditions which never admit of precedent or theories, and the politicians among California men were never more in doubt about any condition than they are now about what the women will do in the primaries. The question is the despair of them all.

The leaders of every camp have learned one thing well within the last thirty days. They have learned that whatever the women do or leave undone will be entirely of their own choosing. They have learned, too, that the woman who has made up her mind one way cannot be brought over to another way by the promise of a place on a committee or on a delegation. Astute politicians have measured lances with some of the city's clever women in a rather evasive fashion during the last month with the result that the men have been compelled to retreat in such order as they might. These subtle victories have left the women in a position to retain their political independence.

From the outset the Taft organization has wisely left the women to form their own league and develop their own method of campaign. The Roosevelt people have decided to take the women into the men's league and they have one organization in which there is no sex division. La Follette's followers in the local field have decided to do both. They have a man for president and a woman for secretary of their city and county league and this same secretary also serves a State Woman's League in the same capacity. In this way they hope to exert a State-wide influence over women voters from local headquarters.

TAFT WOMEN ORGANIZING.

The Taft women will organize this week. They have smooth sailing because nobody is attempting to dictate to them in any way and because they are all stand-pat Republicans without strife among themselves to tear down faster than they build up. Their plan seems to be to make Miss Helen Wisler executive secretary of the Taft Woman's League and there is hardly any doubt that Clara Shortridge Foltz will be its president.

Neither woman requires any explanation of her politics. Miss Wisler is the young lady who took charge of the speakers for the Political Equality League during the last weeks of the woman's suffrage campaign, and made as many as a hundred engagements for speakers in a week without a single confusion in dates or places. She reduced a difficult situation to flawless system within twenty-four hours after taking the reins and later distinguished herself by her exceedingly clever work in securing registrations for the election of Mayor Alexander. She is the daughter of H. M. Wisler, a life-long Republican who attended every national convention from 1868 until eight years ago, when he was in China. She has joined Mrs. Foltz during the last month in conference with many important women of the city who are Taft enthusiasts and there can be no doubt that they will come to the aid of the President with an organization powerful in number and influence.

STRONG LEAGUE.

Mrs. Foltz has never been anything other than a stand-pat Republican all her life, and she is delighted to see the issues clearly drawn between the greater politics, which is what it claims to be, and the sort that is one thing in name and something entirely different in quality. As one of the busiest attorneys in the city, Mrs. Foltz can ill afford to devote much of her time to politics, but the call of her party will be law to her and scores of women have asked her to take the place at the head of their Taft league.

This league will have such names to conjure with as Mrs. Seward A. Simons, president of the late and valiant Political Equality League; Mrs. Philo J. Beveridge and Mrs. M. J. Monnette. Phil Stanton heartily approves of their independent organization and the work it can accomplish.

"Taft," said Miss Wisler, "ought to the candidate of a majority of American women, if for no other reason than his authorship of a peace treaty which is both sincere and feasible. Women want an end of war and with women taking a hand in world politics, the world must come to peace. Taft is a supreme advocate of arbitration in a form that is both dignified and just."

The local Roosevelt League evidently had quite a time deciding what to do about the women in the primaries. It elected Mrs. Florence Collins Porter as secretary and made a strong bid for the patronage of the Woman's Progressive League, which has insisted that it will have nothing to do with partisanship in the primaries.

OFFERING INDUCEMENTS.

It is telling a tale out of school, perhaps, but it is understood that the Roosevelt clique offered the executive board of the Woman's Progressive League a place on the Roosevelt Executive Committee and one delegate to the Chicago convention if

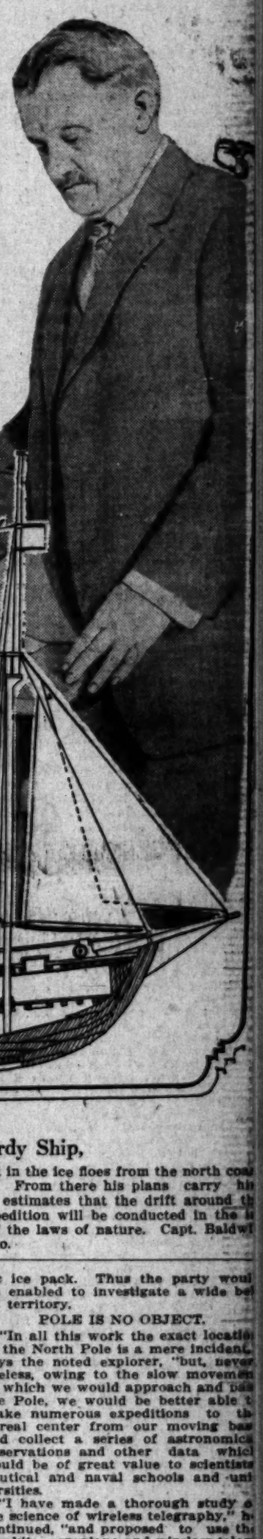
TO SAIL ARCTIC SEA IN THE POLAR FLOES

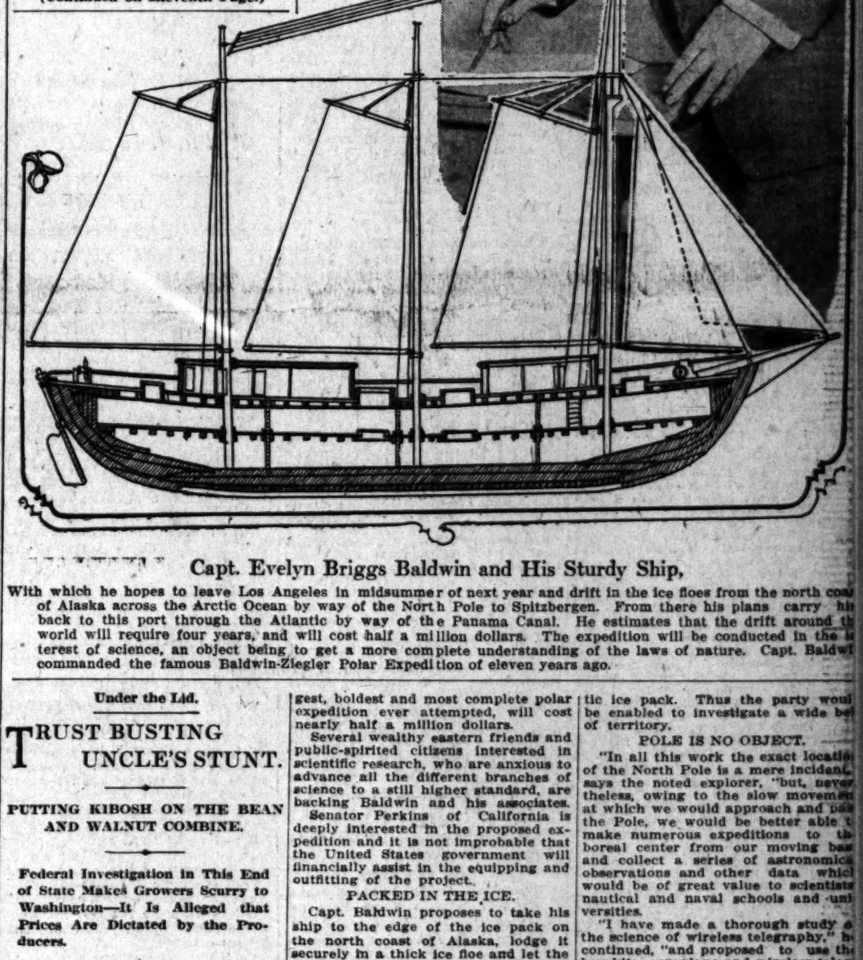
Four-year Cruise Proposed in Vicinity of the Pole to Collect Scientific Data—Capt. Baldwin Is Organizing Another Expedition to Start in Midsummer of Next Year for Frozen North—Extensive Plans.

CAPT. EVELYN BRIGGS BALDWIN, polar explorer and scientist of world note, is organizing a trans-Arctic expedition to start from Los Angeles June 1, 1913, in a sturdy and thoroughly-equipped ship for a four-year drifting tour across the Arctic Ocean by way of the North Pole, thence into the Atlantic to the Panama Canal, and back to this port.

Capt. Baldwin has devoted twenty years of his life to exploration work and knows the perils of the North, but is undaunted and eager again to invade the polar regions in an effort to discover new lands and to aid scientists to obtain a more thorough understanding of the laws of nature.

Capt. Baldwin has been in Los Angeles three weeks and is living with his aunt at No. 547 Crocker street where he is busily engaged in planning and outlining his proposed trip across the Arctic Circle. He stated yesterday that he has practically completed all plans for the great expedition. He estimates that the expedition, which he says will be the biggest, boldest and most complete polar expedition ever attempted, will cost nearly half a million dollars.





Capt. Evelyn Briggs Baldwin and His Sturdy Ship,

With which he hopes to leave Los Angeles in midsummer of next year and drift in the ice floes from the north coast of Alaska across the Arctic Ocean by way of the North Pole to Spitzbergen. From there his plans carry him back to this port through the Atlantic by way of the Panama Canal. He estimates that the drift around the world will require four years, and will cost half a million dollars. The expedition will be conducted in the interest of science, an object being to get a more complete understanding of the laws of nature. Capt. Baldwin commanded the famous Baldwin-Ziegler Polar Expedition of eleven years ago.

Several wealthy eastern friends and public-spirited citizens interested in scientific research, who are anxious to advance all the different branches of science to a still higher standard, are backing Baldwin and his associates.

Senator Perkins of California is deeply interested in the proposed expedition and it is not improbable that the United States government will financially assist in the equipping and outfitting of the project.

PACKED IN THE ICE.

Capt. Baldwin proposes to take his ship to the edge of the ice pack on the north coast of Alaska, lodge it securely in a thick ice floe and let the moving floe carry his vessel over the deep basin which contains the waters of the Arctic along a parallel course taken by the Jeannette and Fram and later arrive in the vicinity of Spitzbergen, where the Fram emerged from her three-years' drift in 1896.

Capt. Baldwin said that when the Jeanette began her drift in 1879, a storehouse which had been erected on an ice floe near the ship was blown away during a heavy storm and was not seen until two years later, when it was discovered on the ice floe less than three miles from the ship. This proves, according to the explorer, that the adjoining floes had been carried along in courses nearly parallel with the course of the vessel.

The ship, which is to be constructed on lines similar to the Fram and Gauss, will be provided with every appliance for scientific research and especially with captive and dirigible balloons and aeroplanes, so that a belt of territory practically covering the unknown expanse of the Arctic Ocean may be charted along the course of the vessel, from Behring Strait over the Pole and thence southward into the North Atlantic.

CONSORT OF FLAGSHIP.

Capt. Baldwin is seriously considering the advisability of building another ship to accompany the flagship as consort to carry emergency supplies.

In lieu of this, a flotilla of heavy casks partially filled with supplies, fuel, boat sledges and portable houses for the purposes of scientific research, will be placed upon the ice floes surrounding the ship. Healthful exercise for the men, horses and dogs would be provided by means of the sledges. With cable and windlass this work would be minimized. During the first two years' drift it is doubtful if much of this exercise would be necessary.

In this manner the expedition would constitute a moving base of supplies from which excursions might be conducted through the great Arctic ice pack. Thus the party would be enabled to investigate a wide belt of territory.

POLE IS NO OBJECT.

"In all this work the exact location of the North Pole is a mere incident," says the noted explorer, "but, nevertheless, owing to the slow movement at which we would approach and pass the Pole, we would be better able to make numerous expeditions to the boreal center from our moving base and collect a series of astronomical observations and other data which would be of great value to scientists, nautical and naval schools and universities.

"I have made a thorough study of the science of wireless telegraphy," he continued, "and proposed to use the box-kite, aeroplane and wireless telegraphy in gathering scientific data and information in the Arctic country.

"It is of particular importance to hold in mind that the value of the work will be greatly increased since the observations and collections will continue for four years, thus affording means of comparing the collections of one year and locality with those of the next year, and so on.

"The absolute necessity of maintaining supply posts at frequent intervals during sledging excursions is obvious. Owing to the impossibility of doing this on the pack ice, especially when its known course is contrary to the line of march, no expedition could succeed in making this tour of the circle and take scientific observations of much real value except that it be much larger and better equipped than any that has ever yet gone forth, or unless almost miraculously favorable conditions should prevail.

"I sincerely believe that my plan of placing the ship in the ice, say a hundred miles east of the point at which the Jeanette was first beset, would result in our being carried right over the pole, or so near to it that we could easily reach it from the ship.

"Land or no land, the first crossing of the Arctic would be affected and a museum of collections and scientific observations gathered for the learned institutions of the world.

"The most important contribution would doubtless be the result of study of the magnetic forces during three consecutive years, all of which might lead to the discovery that the earth is not only a magnet but a dynamo.

"The prime objects in the crossing of the Atlantic will consist in the exploration and charting of the archipelago which undoubtedly exists to the starboard of the proposed line of drift in the completion of the magnetic survey of the earth, and in making meteorological observations,

TRUST BUSTING UNCLE'S STUNT.

PUTTING KIBOSH ON THE BEAN AND WALNUT COMBINE.

Federal Investigation in This End of State Makes Growers Scurry to Washington—It Is Alleged that Prices Are Dictated by the Producers.

Nearly 300 pages of evidence, alleged to cover the operations of the Lima Bean Growers' Association, is at the disposal of U. S. Dist.-Atty. McCormick.

It has been collected by the government, and will be used in the proposed prosecution of the "trust," unless in the meantime the officers of the organization agree to follow the steps of the Plumbers' Supply Association, that voluntarily came into court by stipulation, confessed that there was an organization in restraint of trade, and agreed to dissolve the trust.

Some time ago the attention of Atty.-Gen. Wickersham was called to the organization of the lima bean growers in Ventura, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties, and inquiries were dispatched from the Department of Justice as to the scope of their operations. Whatever the result of that investigation was is not known, but it is understood that one of the officers of the Lima Bean Growers' Association went to Washington, and through an attorney had it made known to the Department of Justice that if the lima bean growers were violating the Sherman act, a dissolution of the organization would follow.

The investigation now about concluded, is in line with that arrangement. The government through the Attorney-General and U. S. Dist.-Atty. McCormick is trying to find out if there has been a violation of the anti-trust law.

J. M. Waterman, president of the Lima Bean Growers' Association, with headquarters at Oxnard, called on McCormick yesterday and the whole situation was canvassed. It is under-

MEN OF PHOENIX VISIT RAY MINE.

Ten Million Dollars Already Expended There.

One of the Greatest Copper Camps of World.

Efficiency Is Watchword of the Management.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 22.—Last Thursday 150 business men of Phoenix mense reduction plant with all the ore it is capable of assimilat- went by special train to Hayden and Ray, to make a necessarily superficial inspection of the immense work that has been done at these camps during the last year by the Ray Consolidated Copper Company and its associate, the American Smelting and Refining Company. The immensity of the work was brought to the understanding of the visitors by the statement that the Ray company alone will soon be handling more ore than is now produced by all other mines within the State of Arizona, and that the corporation thus far has spent $10,000,000, equivalent to the total cost of the widely known Salt River reclamation project, while at least $2,000,000 more will be spent at Hayden by the smelter corporation before its plans shall have been fully executed.

Production at the concentrator is limited by the supply of ore sent down from Ray, for the mines are not yet in condition to furnish the ining. Only three of the eight units are in operation, handling about 3500 tons of ore a day, though the other sections are to be put into operation as soon as possible, six of them already being in place. Since the starting of the plant, alterations have been found advisable in order to secure a greater degree of efficiency, these alterations being made to each unit successively. Though each unit is rated at 1250 tons, one of them was run upon a test a short time ago and handled 1800 tons in twenty-four hours, the tailings being no richer than at the normal speed. It is thus evident that the plant will have a minimum capacity of 10,000 tons a day and that even this enormous consumption might be increased 50 per cent. at need.

Classification is accomplished in 125 Richards-Janney classifiers and concentration by 128 Garfield roughing tables, fifty-two Wilfley tables and 768 Isbell vanners. The concentrates are settled in large concrete reservoirs, from which they are loaded by a crane dredge into cars to be sent to the smelter.

IMMENSE POWER PLANT.

Near-by is the power plant, in which are four immense Corliss engines, each connected to a 1750-kilowatt electric generator. There are fourteen 500-horse-power water-tube boilers, in which California oil is used as fuel, though equipment is on hand for coal stoking. About a half-mile away are rising the buildings of the new smelter of the American Smelting and Refining Company, which for about a year will handle only Ray concentrates and which thereafter is expected to be available for custom work from the immense deposits of smelting ore in the near vicinity. The great steel buildings for the roaster plant and for the reverberatories are now nearly complete and the foundations for the furnaces are being put in place. Between these buildings is a long flue-dust chamber, leading up to a 300-foot brick stack on a near-by hill.

Practically all of the ground around Hayden, abutting upon Winkelman townsite, has been acquired by the Ray company, which now holds title to 4000 acres, much of it designed for use as dumping ground for the mill tailings. A handsome town is being built, with all sanitary precautions and conveniences and the comfort of the employees generally has been studied by Vice-President Jackling and General Manager Cole. There is an abundant water supply for both the mill and the town, pumped from the wells in the valley by a station with capacity for handling 10,000 gallons a minute.

Ray, where the ore comes from, is about twenty miles distant connected by the Arizona Eastern Railroad as far as Kelvin and thence seven miles up Mineral Creek by the company's own standard-gauge railroad. The company's railroad equipment is well worthy of special note, including three locomotives, one of which is of 190 tons, and 120 sixty-five-ton steel ore cars. The ore trains are handled in units of thirty-two cars each.

The mineral lands of the corporation embrace nearly 3000 acres. The mines have been worked for many years and first were seen by a detachment of United States dragoons, which explored the region immediately after it was acquired from Mexico, the officer in command then giving its name to Mineral Creek. For a number of years the property was worked by an English company, which built a shaky narrow-gauge railroad down to Kelvin, where reduction works were established and where the personnel of the operating staff represented British society rather than mining ability and where the ground best suited for buildings and material yards was turned into a polo field.

Conditions now, however, are run on a strictly business basis, outlined by Col. D. C. Jackling, operating head of the corporation, who has had the broadest experience along similar lines in Utah and Nevada. Under Mine Superintendent Cates, the work has been brought upon an almost automatic basis. There are two immense shafts, each equipped with a pair of twelve and a half ton skips, which dump into automatic crushing and conveying machinery, no workman being visible at the head of the shaft save the engineer. Each hoist has capacity for at least 5000 tons a day.

UNDERGROUND WORKINGS.

Underground workings are of no great depth, yet pass beneath ore deposits which have been systematically developed to the extent of thirty-four miles of workings, added to at the rate of two miles a month. For several years thirteen drills were kept at work and 340 six-inch drill holes were made on 200-foot squares. In all there were driven twenty-seven miles of holes, developing 580 acres of ore ground, proving the presence of 75,000,000 tons of commercial ore averaging 2.17 per cent. copper, which now realizes a net product of about thirty-five pounds of copper to the ton at the concentrator. The ore is handled by the caving system, in alternate blocks, no timbering being necessary, and is hauled to the shafts by eight twenty-five ton electric locomotives. Eighty drifting machines and 150 stoping drills are being used The drill sharpening is done by machinery. The ore in general is classed as a permeated schist. Kidneys of richer ore are occasionally encountered, but the grade appears fairly constant. As a number of visitors remarked, the ore as it comes from the crushers looked like very good road material, showing few evidences of its value. Extraction and crushing costs total about 75 cents a ton. Power is wholly electric, transmitted from the Hayden plant.

At Ray, as at Hayden, the company has made extensive arrangements for the housing and comfort of its employees. A separate town has been established, locally called Sonora, for the Mexicans, who are in the majority among the miners.

Yet Ray by no means is a one-company camp. A half dozen other important copper properties have been developed in the same locality and their value has been increased by the success that has been made by the Ray corporation. From Mammoth, through Christmas, Ray, Superior and Miami, stretches an immense copper field, declared to be the greatest thus far outlined in the world and those who know the field best are most enthusiastic in their predictions for the future.

IMPROVED
ALVEOLAR METHOD EXPLAINED

Every day I am asked: What IS your IMPROVED ALVEOLAR METHOD? Why is it better than plate or bridgework?

Here is the answer:

It is placing the new or false teeth upon the Alveolar Ridge and the gums. This places the strain of mastication on the alveolar ridge and gums, where nature intended it to be.

In bridge work the replaced teeth are connected with teeth remaining in the jaw. The latter not only have their own work to do, but also that of the new teeth. The strain must tell sooner or later.

Then, too, food gets under the bridge, causing inflammation of the tissues, with sad results.

In my IMPROVED ALVEOLAR METHOD all the shortcomings, defects and failures of plates and bridgework are avoided. You get teeth that will do perfectly the work of natural teeth.

See me personally. I can then give you a much better idea of the inestimable advantages of my improved alveolar method. It will cost you nothing but a little of your time.

LABOR MARKET SUPPLY.

There Are More Men Than Can Secure Employment in the Bisbee Mining District.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) March 22.—There is very much of an oversupply in the labor market of Bisbee. Somehow the impression has gone forth that the Copper Queen is not only putting on a large number of new men but that a policy had been adopted of employing a large percentage of Americans. The fact of the matter is that Americans always have had the preference in the mines, but have not always been available. It is also a fact that an Italian or Slavonian miner will work steadily in damp or hot ground which an American miner would shun. An excellent class of workmen now is coming in, possibly driven southward by the severe weather conditions of Colorado and Montana but only a small percentage can be put to work.

The high-grade sulphide strike reported last week in the Briggs shaft of the Calumet & Arizona has proven constant to the extent of development thus far and to it has been added, in a cross-cut, a fine body of high-grade oxide.

A number of stockholders of the Royal Gorge Mining Company arrived in Tombstone last week, to make a thorough inspection of the property of the corporation in that camp. It is stated that the company intends to resume operations on the well-known Royal Guard mine and to erect upon the property a concentrating mill.

NOT ALWAYS SEDATE.

Judges of the Superior Court Ride Hobbies Out of Office Hours and Keep in Trim by Playing.

The sedate judges of the Superior Court ride hobbies when they are off the bench.

That young, amiable, black-haired man, yelling like an Indian at the ball park bears a resemblance to Judge McCormick. He is a baseball fan and doesn't deny it. Phychology also interests him.

At aviation meets and wherever there is a balloon you may see a stout-looking party with twinkling eyes. That is Judge Willis, and next to automobiling, going up in a balloon or skimming the ether in an airship is his chief delight.

Out at Burbank a genial-looking gentleman, who dresses like a farmer, but can't conceal his legal aspect, potters among nursery stock. That is Judge Hutton, the presiding judge, who, some day, may outdo Burbank in plant wizardery.

Wherever there is good music or when an artist comes to town, a robust gentleman whose seraphic smile indicates his intense enjoyment of rhythm fugue and counterpoint, may be seen. The austerity is gone from his brow and legal problems are laid away. That's Judge Bordwell. He also knows the fine points about thoroughbred horses and cows.

Very often a spare, scholarly-looking man is observed trudging back trails or sturdily climbing mountains, keenly alive to the beauties of nature and filling his lungs with fresh air. That's Judge Conrey, who knows the country in these parts better than any other man.

A tall, slender gentleman, whose hair stands up like one of Dickens's most lovable characters, affects flannels and tennis racquet. That is Judge Craig. He admits he likes tennis but confesses he is neither a champion nor a near-champion. He also can climb mountains.

A mighty nimrod need not be large in stature, but some of the tales that Judge Wood tells or is accredited with telling, of his prowess with the gun, are mighty tall.

And there is another nimrod who knows more about quail shooting than a professional gunner. That's Judge Rives. A day after the birds is his idea of Paradise.

You mightn't suspect it after seeing him on the bench, but Judge Monroe is a scientific whist player and some "punkins" at golf. He is a fresh-air man and sleeps out-of-doors.

Judge Houser also likes golf, and if he is coaxed he may tackle Judge Monroe for the championship of the bench.

Judge Finlayson, by all means ought to be referee in this golf match, as he knows nothing about it. Like the busy lawyer who sought diversion by reading Herbert Spencer, Judge Finlayson passes his spare time digging into ancient tongues.

As youthful in spirits as he is in looks, Judge Wilbur's hobby is camping. The troubles of the Juvenile Court fade when he is along the San Gabriel surrounded by his Sunday-school bc

A Physician's Report on Tuberculosis Medicine

"Have used Eckman's Alterative in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50, for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a short time an operation was not needed. I suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in it."

Eckman's Alterative is effective in other forms. Read what Mrs. Garvin says:

Idaho Falls, Idaho.

"Gentlemen: I have gained twenty-two pounds since last February, and my baby is in perfect health. She is now four months old. I have been waiting since she was born to see how I would get along. I am now doing all my work, have been ever since she was four weeks old, and I am steadily gaining. I do not cough or raise anything at all. I believe my lung trouble is cured."

(Signed Affidavit) MRS. M. H. GARVIN.

Note.—Mrs. Garvin is the mother of seven children.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co.'s stores, and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

ATTRACTIVE.

A seed store on Main street placed a fine white horse in one of its show windows last week to demonstrate some article of commerce. A barnyard without poultry or a hillside without cattle or sheep never suggests the peace and beauty imaged by those that are quick with life. A show window with a horse or a baby chicken wins the crowd.

TAKING A HAND.

In the conference at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon on the subject of a county charter board several women took an active part. On the committee to revise the city charter three women are sitting and they have never missed a session since its organization. Daily the women of Los Angeles are proving that the bestowal of the franchise meant more to them than sentiment. They are demonstrating their gratitude by hard work and the city is vastly profiting for their admission into government.

ANOTHER GRIEVANCE GONE.

Poor old Ireland has been deprived of another of her long-standing grievances. The estates of Lord Clanricarde, the absentee landlord of unenviable fame, popularly known as "Lord Clanrackrent," have been taken away from him by process of law and under the provisions of the Land Purchase Act been divided among his Irish tenants.

Really, if this sort of thing continues, by the time the first Parliament sits in College Green Erin will have no grievance left to redress. Pat will be singing in a doleful voice the comic opera chorus:

"Oh! don't the days seem lank and long,
When all goes right and nothing goes wrong;
And isn't this life extremely flat
When you've nothing whatever to grumble at?"

In the proceedings under way in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts against Haywood, Ettor and the other Lawrence strike-leaders for misuse of the strike relief funds it was testified that on March 12 only 49 cents remained in the bank of the $45,000 collected for relief.

Where all the money went Treasurer Joseph Bedard of the fund was unable (as in the McNamara defense fund here) to tell. He testified that he had vouchers for some of the expenditures, but not for others. The case was adjourned for disentanglement of the strike committee's books. Doubtless the accounting (as in the McNamara case) will be interesting when made, if, indeed, it is ever made. The money may be traced into the strike leaders' pockets and the tracing end there, just as Gompers reported, "Sent Clarence Darrow $170,000."

NEXT IN LINE.

The fact that a rodeo would attract a great multitude for a week of performances is proof enough that the old order is passing everywhere in the West and is perhaps entirely ancient of days for California. Even Denver and Wyoming have for a long time looked to similar attractions each year as the one way of returning a touch of the old life which was once the making of the West and which is now only tradition. Next in line for California will be the grand array of splendid vessels in the magnificent harbor at San Pedro. With a steady stream of great ships of commerce and with many visits of mighty marines from all the navies of the world, Californians will have an opportunity to feast the vision upon a throbbing and wonderful spectacle holding so much of present power and future promise that no one will mourn the lost activities of generations that have fallen upon the tomb of time.

THE USE.

Of all the persons in the world men wish to shun it is the one who is continually asking, "What's the use?" Some people seem to go about the world seeking opportunities to be overwhelmed. The only time they are ever cheerful is when they are threatened with adversity. They set a trap for disaster and are unhappy until it overtakes them. Their trouble is that they are sick and don't know it. Their disease is hopelessness. They require a cold tub, a sun bath and a cheerful outlook upon life before they are fit for human society. Instead, they wear the corners of their mouths turned down and go about sustaining the sort of prayer-meeting look which makes the healthy-minded individual want to shout, "Damn the glooms," when they approach. In all this boundless, beautiful universe of thought and feeling which humanity touches in its life upon the green old earth there is only one person who cannot succeed and that is the man without hope. To every other man the full measure of his dreams will come true. To every other man the wish for success and happiness is like a command. Aspiration itself is an order upon life and the bank of the universe is there to honor it. All natural law is threading the multiple fibers of being with order to sustain and illumine the man who has hope. Men rest in those large natures whose hope remains in them. They see endless possibilities in the life of a man who hopes while an able man is condemned because his hope is dimmed. The greatest thing that can be said for a man is that the star of his hope never descends. No power in the world can sweep a man to ruin while hope remains his anchor.

Gen. Baden-Powell is coming Los Angeles-ward, and we desire to state that B. P. does not stand for bread pudding.

THE DEMISE OF THE "APPEAL TO REASON."

The announced suspension of the lying and poisonous "Appeal to Reason" is a noteworthy abandonment of the cause of socialistic anarchy. The confessions of the McNamaras, followed by the action of the Federal grand juries on the basis of evidence obtained by the clews which such confessions afforded, are largely responsible for this result. There will be debris of the great conspiracy to be cleaned up by the punishment of the grasping and cowardly scoundrels, who, in control of the organizations of union labor, have fanned and kept alive the spirit of discontent, unrest and violation of law among the laboring men of the United States. There is no event in our history since the surrender of Gen. Lee at Appomattox more important than the surrender of the McNamaras; important, not merely to the security of property, the safety of homes, and the peace and order of the land; it is doubly important and beneficial to honest union labor. The bright-brained, strong-armed, family-loving, law-abiding workers of this republic should now shake off the blood-sucking vermin, the Tveitmoes and Gomperses and Debses, and Harrimans, and Darrows and allow their manhood and their loyal devotion to their country to assert its rightful supremacy. Before the foreign scum and their nihilistic, anarchistic captains introduced the doctrine of the closed shop, with its accompaniments of boycotting, picketing, assaulting, murdering men and dynamiting buildings, into organizations of labor, such organizations were favored, or at least were not opposed, by employers. The poisonous fungus which was developed from union labor by anarchists has never proved of the slightest advantage to anybody but the bosses who have fattened upon their victims. No participant in a strike that was carried on by illegitimate and law-defying tactics has ever benefited by it financially, while it has always undermined his manhood and lessened him in his own estimation as well as in that of his fellowmen and women. The suspension of the publication of the Appeal to Reason, unimportant, perhaps, in itself, is an event of great consequence in that it may herald the dawn of a better day for the laborers whom it aided to deceive and misguide.

The members of this community, of whatever politics and whatever creed, rightfully credit The Times as being largely instrumental in maintaining the principles of industrial freedom in our prosperous and growing city. For twenty years and more The Times has never wavered. Neither the brutal lies of such contemporaries as the Appeal to Reason nor the opposition of organizations which failed in attempts to crush it, nor threats of violence, nor dynamiting of its property, nor murder of its faithful workers have availed to deter it from its advocacy of the principles of industrial freedom. The indorsement of its course by the community in which it is published and by the larger community of the State and nation is evidenced by its immense patronage. With its friends it rejoices in the setback of anarchic socialism, both here and throughout the nation, which the suspension of the pestilential organ of assassination, the Appeal to Reason, surely evidences.

The Appeal was not only a journalistic firebrand and dynamite bomb, but one of the worst grafting institutions in the land, its hypocritical proprietor waxing rich from the subscriptions of his dupes—posing as a champion of the "poor and downcast," merely to fill his own pockets, regardless of the misery and wreckage he caused; and finally being brought to his marrowbones by the fear of the law he had outraged and the government he had defied and spat upon.

LEST WE FORGET.

Whoever may be the national candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties, and whatever may be the issues elsewhere, political discussion will be had in California mainly upon the question as to whether we shall maintain a tariff for the protection of American industries or declare in favor of a tariff for revenue only.

California is as vitally and immediately interested in a protective tariff as any State in the Union. No other State except Florida produces citrus fruits or olives, and no other State is more interested in the production of beet sugar, or wool. If we hold the present duty on these articles it will be with the help of the Senate, for the Democratic House has voted to place sugar and citrus fruit on the free list, and to materially reduce the present duty on olive oil and on wool.

The Republican majority in the Senate is small, and unless Senator Works abandons his academic hostility to "swaps," our orchardists may be compelled to relinquish to Italy and Spain our market for citrus fruit and olive oil. A New England Senator will not feel bound to vote for a tariff on lemons when a California Senator refuses to vote for a tariff on manufactures of woolen and cotton goods.

A tariff has always been a system of legislative concessions and exchanges. Pennsylvania Congressmen voted for a tariff on citrus fruit, which she did not produce, in order to obtain the votes of California Congressmen for a tariff on iron and steel goods which the Golden State does not produce. It is proposed to substitute for this system of legislative bargaining duties based upon the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, to be ascertained by a scientific tariff commission.

This plan the Democrats oppose. They plant themselves once more upon the doctrine of a tariff for revenue only, and avow their purpose to make a contest for control of the country on that issue alone.

It will not be wise for Republicans to ignore the issue which Democrats tender, and go slumming after Roosevelt-Pinchot-Johnsonian fallacies and fancies and fads, with which national politics have, logically, nothing to do. It will not be wise to forget what a Democratic victory cost the people of this country twenty years ago.

In 1892 the Democrats expected to win the Presidency and obtain the offices. They expected to win the House of Representatives and gain control of the appropriations. But they had no hope of securing, and their leaders did not really wish to secure, a majority of the Senate. They expected to be in a position to say to the country: "We could not adopt a tariff for revenue only, because the Republican Senate would not let us."

To the surprise of everybody the landslide of 1892 included the Senate as well, and for the first time in thirty-seven years the Democrats found themselves able to enact or repeal an act of Congress.

The people of the country believed that the Democrats would keep their promises, and they promptly adjusted themselves to the changed conditions which the keeping of those promises would bring about. Consumers deferred purchasing manufactured goods, and waited for the lower prices which would result from "a tariff for revenue only." Merchants refrained from replenishing their stocks, wholesalers withheld their usual orders to manufacturers, for the same reason. The owners of the factories, and forges, and furnaces, and mills declined, in the absence of orders, to make goods with high-priced American labor that would come into competition with goods made by low-priced European labor, and so they discharged their workmen and closed their establishments or ran them on half-time.

As a direct consequence of the Democratic victory of 1892 more than a million men were thrown out of employment, the prisons and poorhouses were crowded with inmates, the highways swarmed with tramps, and there was hunger in the homes of the land.

These conditions were to a certain extent alleviated when Congress met. The Democrats were better or at least wiser than their platform promises. The Wilson bill, which Cleveland denounced as "a partisan perfidy," although he signed it, was at last a change of schedules rather than "a tariff for revenue only." The manufacturing industries of the country gradually climbed out of the gulf of ruin into which the Democratic victory of 1892 had precipitated them, and after McKinley's election in 1896 the country went forward on the road to prosperity with leaps and bounds.

The lesson of 1892 cost us in money as much as the Civil War. It is well now to recall that lesson—

Lest we forget.

BACK TO THE CAVE MEN.

When the cave men lived on earth they made gods of things they did not understand. Today, when the discontented and disgruntled want something in a hurry, they rush at impossible changes in the conditions of living whose ultimate effect they none of them take the trouble to inquire into. They, too, make gods of what they cannot understand.

The cave men could see no order in anything, couldn't understand why day and night were of varied length, why it was sometimes hot and sometimes cold, why megatheriums were big and locusts little. The unreasoning change-at-any-price men of today cannot see—or pretend they cannot see—why untrained intelligence should be subservient to trained intelligence, why some enjoy the sunshine of success and some sit in the cold shade of adversity, why the able grow big and the unable remain small.

The cave men, it is true, knew how to satisfy their temporary and immediately pressing wants. In doing so no thought of the future troubled them. They used the primitive methods. If they lacked food or lusted for larger possessions, the stone ax was brought into play and a head was crushed. Justice or injustice did not enter into their scheme. Their prototypes in America today would have us disregard the constitutional safeguards imposed on us by the framers of the republic and allow the people, unchecked, to gratify any passing whim with a reckless disregard of the consequences. To put the recall of judicial decisions as a weapon into the hands of the legally untrained is simply to go back to the stone ax of the cave men as the court of last resort.

But through long upward centuries we have made many discoveries and put behind us the methods of a world in swaddling cloths. Fire has a habit of burning up a good man's house quite as quickly as that of a bad man. Lightning strikes the wise man and the fool with provoking indifference. The cave men never dreamt of providing any protection against fire nor knew the principle of the lightning rod. Man only found slowly, and after many irreparable losses, the necessity of inventing safety devices against the irresponsible forces of nature. Against the equally irresponsible forces of human nature civilization also provided safeguards, in the shape of laws and courts of justice.

Our modern cave men would have us do away with all this and so allow a fire started by some heedless hand—possibly at first to consume some insignificant brush pile—to sweep across the land till it eventually destroyed the temple itself. They would take away the lightning conductor, grounded against a sudden storm of unreasoning fury. For the calm, judicial control exercised by heads picked out by the people themselves for that purpose (if not directly, then indirectly) is the national lightning rod for the protection of the temple of liberty. And the insignificant brush pile can be better consumed by properly-appointed fire-tenders than be left to the torch of any careless passer-by, who will probably pay no attention to the force or the direction of the wind.

Do the American people wish to go back to methods of the paleozoic age? Do they wish to destroy the greatest safeguard of their liberties, to remove the stoutest obstacle to the ambitions of a dictator? Do they wish to stultify our courts of justice with the judicial recall? To take away the people's protections under the guise of giving the people greater liberty has always been a favorite device with despots? We do not think that the majority of our citizens will be hoodwinked by so stale a ruse, or cajoled into indorsing the ambitions of any one American greedy for inordinate, if not for absolute, power.

DROPPING THE BONE.

Esop, among his many instructive fables, relates how an avaricious dog, which was possessed of a satisfactory bone, saw, when crossing a bridge over a stream, his own reflection in the water. Dropping his bone which fell into the stream he sprang after the shadowy bone, with intent to wrest it from the shadowy dog. The net result was that the shadow disappeared and the grasping canine emerged dripping and shivering from the water a wetter and a wiser dog.

Let insurgent Republicans derive a lesson from the fable. Let them discontinue their foolishness, join the old guard, stand by the protective principles of Lincoln, and Grant, and McKinley, and suffer Roosevelt, with his new-fangled doctrine of popular reversal of Supreme Court decisions, his egotism and his brawling, to dwell in the garbage can of politics where he has taken up his residence.

None of the insurgent Republican doctrines have a legitimate place in a national platform. They are questions which the people of each State must determine for themselves. The Republicans of Wisconsin have a right to add advocacy of the initiative, the referendum and the recall to the national platform. The Republicans of Illinois have a right to add opposition to the initiative, the referendum and the recall to the national platform. Yet the voters of both States would cast their ballots for the same candidates for President and Vice-President. If State issues should be welded to national issues spellbinders would be compelled to confine their oratory to their own States, or else carry two different speeches in their gripsacks, one for and one against the fads of Populism.

We have the initiative, the referendum and the recall in this State, and there will be no occasion to attack them, to defend them, or to discuss them at all. It is hardly possible that even the most radical and unthinking of the Rooseveltians will run the risk in the preliminary canvass for the Presidential nomination of fastening the doctrine of popular reversal of State Supreme Court decisions around the neck of their candidate and drowning him with it in a sea of public obloquy, even as a blind puppy is drowned in a millpond.

California Republicans will not risk the bone they have by jumping into the water of defeat after a shadowy bone.

The Seventh Day Adventists now in session in this city declare that the prevalence of wars presages the end of the world. The constant receptive candidacy of Col. Bryan may also have something to do with it. However, this is but a guess.

The relations between Greece and Turkey are reported strained. A bit early for that. It usually appears about Thanksgiving and Christmas time

IDIOSYNCRACIES OF MEN.

Down With the Toothbrush!

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] Representative Cyrus Sulloway of New Hampshire, the tallest man in Congress, who is known as "the Uncombed New Hampshire Hayrack," at a public hearing before the House District of Columbia Committee, denounced the use of toothbrushes and urged a return to the good old insanitary days, when every man chewed tobacco and a good many women smoked and dipped snuff. The committee was considering a bill to regulate the practice of dentistry in the district.

"I can remember when I was a boy a great many years ago," said Mr. Sulloway, "when our fathers all chewed tobacco and many a good mother smoked and dipped snuff, but by heavens, it has been a long time since I can remember any of them sending for a dentist and seeking relief from toothache."

"But hygiene does not say that," mildly remarked Dr. C. W. Cuthertson, a local dentist who was on the stand and who appeared somewhat dazed at Mr. Sulloway's statements.

"I'm not talking about hygiene, but facts," yelled Mr. Sulloway, in reply. "I know that the use of the toothbrush makes work for the dentists. The dentists know it too. Will you declare to this committee that the toothbrush is not the worst thing in the world for the teeth?"

Dr. Cuthbertson gasped a couple of times and ventured the opinion that he did not think so.

"I know better," growled Mr. Sulloway. "If I had my way I would make it a penal offense for any mother to put a brush inside the mouth of a child."

A Congressional Poet.

[Brooklyn Eagle:] Representative Norris of Nebraska, one of the leading insurgents, now and then drops into poetry. A day or two ago he was taunting the Democrats about the Money Trust investigation and the manner in which they run affairs on their side through party caucuses. Mr. Norris is an inveterate enemy of the caucus, even on his side of the House.

"Offering my apologies to James Whitcomb Riley," he said, "I want to dedicate to the loyal subjects of King Caucus, the following little stanza:

There was a little Democrat who wouldn't say his prayers,
And so the caucus gobbled him and spanked him unawares.
They threatened him, they pounded him, they rolled him thin and sleek,
And when the job was finished he was humble, sore, but meek.
And the caucus'll get you if you don't watch out.

There were some stalwart Democrats, who swore they saw a trust;
With bulls and bears it gamboled there in Wall street's dirty dust;
But when the caucus finished them they saw 'twas just a dream.
They laid their heads in Wall street's lap and slumbered on again.
And the caucus'll get you if you don't watch out.

Also a Senator.

[Brooklyn Eagle:] Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi was standing on the second floor of the Senate office building waiting for the elevator. Although he rang twice, the car passed the floor both times without stopping. Senator Williams finally lost patience and held his finger against the button until the car finally paused at his door.

"What's the matter with you?" said the Senator as he stepped into the elevator. "Didn't you hear me ringing?"

"Yes," said the elevator boy. "But I had a Senator aboard both times I passed you and we have to look out for them first."

"Well, I'm a Senator myself," said Williams.

The boy looked at him somewhat doubtfully.

"I'm Williams of Missippi," added the Senator.

"Oh, yes," said the boy, his face brightening. "Seems to me I did hear of you."

Sang a Song in Court.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] Charles Holtenbeck, a street car conductor, song writer and singer, caroled a lay in court today, and thereby earned for himself $5. It was one of his own ballads, too, and his remuneration was fixed by Municipal Judge Uhlir. Here is what he sang:

Out on a farm,
Under a big, round moon,
It ain't no harm to snuggle and spoon, spoon, spoon.

"Enough," said Judge Uhlir, in evident distress.

Frank L. Gardner, a shipping clerk, had drawn a sketch for the cover for the song. Holtenbeck asserted that the sketch did not do justice either to the melody or the verses of his song, and he had refused to pay.

"In view of the evidence," said Judge Uhlir, "I must give a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. But I think that his claim should be reduced by $5, as compensation to the defendant for his vocal exhibition."

INFORMATION

For Newcomers, Inquirers, Subscribers and Advertisers, Agents and the Public About the Los Angeles Times

SCOPE AND AIMS:

PUBLISHES REGULARLY more pages of news and other reading matter and a larger volume of advertising than any other paper extant.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES: Independent, unoompromised, unshackled, unpurchasable, unafraid, and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom, and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the State of California and the great Southwest.

AS TO LABOR: The Times is the unwearying friend of all honest toilers—of all unshackled law-abiding workers everywhere; and while never denying the right of workmen to organize lawfully, it is the unyielding foe of lawless, coercive, monopolistic and exclusive labor organizations, because they are the selfish enemies of their own class and of the common industrial weal. Our position is unassailable and will be maintained. The long record of The Times as a just, liberal, reliable paymaster is unassailable. During the period between August 4, 1890, and September 30, 1911, there was paid to our loyal and well-satisfied non-union workmen, in salaries and wages, the telling aggregate cash sum of $4,248,519.17—mainly to skilled labor.

SWORN CIRCULATION: Daily net average seven days, Sunday included—for 1896, 11,801; for 1897, 19,258; for 1898, 26,124; for 1899, 25,771; for 1900, 24,733; for 1901, 24,446; for 1902, 30,830; for 1903, 36,346; for 1904, 37,702; for 1905, 43,130; for 1906, 50,881 copies; for 1907, 52,311 copies; for 1908, 48,196 copies; for 1909, 54,894 copies. Sunday average for 1910, 85,132 copies. Daily and Sunday average for 1910, 57,358 copies.

AGENTS: Eastern Agents, Williams, Lawrence & Cresmer Co., Brunswick Building, 5th Ave. and 26th St., New York; 324-25 Harris Trust Bldg., 111 West Monroe St., Chicago. Washington Bureau, 44 Frost Building (THE TIMES on file.) San Francisco Office, Room 1208 Call Building; R. J. Bidwell, Representative.

THE LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES as well as the Illustrated Weekly will hereafter be on file for the use of TIMES readers in the offices of the American Express Company, as follows: Berlin, 15 Charlotten strasse, N. 9. Paris, 11 Rue Scribe. London, 6 Haymarket. THE TIMES will also be on public file at the agencies for Wells Fargo Express Co. in Europe at the following addresses: London, 29 Cannon St.; Liverpool, 16 Brunswick St.; Paris, 19 Rue Scribe; Hamburg, 12 Ferdinand Strasse; Rome, 49 Piazzi di Spagna.

THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY: Published on Saturdays; 40 pages; distinct and complete in itself. "The Unique Magazine of the Prosperous Southwest." Mailed to subscribers separately from the Daily Times for $2.50 per year, postpaid. Single copies 10 cents, postpaid.

TELEPHONES: Counting-room, Subscription Department, Editorial Rooms, City Editor and Local News Rooms—Sunset, Main 8200; Home 10251.

TERMS: Daily and Sunday, 75 cents a month, or $9.00 a year. Daily without Sunday, $7.50 a year. Sunday alone, $1.50; without the Illustrated Weekly, $2.50. When the Sunday issue is mailed, the Illustrated Weekly is mailed separately, a day in advance.

POSTAGE: On the regular week-day issue (7 or 8 parts,) 1 cents; on the Sunday issue (8 parts,) 7 cents.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Three Governors of three States are here to select fair sites and more are to follow. Things appertaining to the World's International Exposition are beginning to look up. A $200,000 contract to fill in the Fair property has been let and the actual work on the big job is almost ready to begin. It is getting past the eating and drinking stage and the people are well satisfied to have it so.

There seems to be no open opposition to the civic center plan. The election to vote $8,000,000 in bonds will be held next week and nobody has publicly raised his voice against the project. Enthusiastic meetings have been held in favor of it all over the city. The danger lies in the fact that it requires a two-thirds vote to carry and there may be just enough silent pessimists to defeat it.

The Supervisors are hot foot after certain employees in the Health Department. They propose to have them dismissed at once. In the useless class are included the daughter and son-in-law of Health Commissioner Murray. Of course, he denies that they are not needed, but official opinion is against him and his relatives will be sacrificed on the altar of reform.

It was a gallant struggle Mayor Ralph made to save the city's dogs from being muzzled but it did not avail. The Supervisors were unanimously in favor of restraining the canines. It was some consolation to the Mayor to have his cocker spaniel "Mission" get all the prizes in that class at the dog show.

The students at Stanford have overwhelmingly voted for self-government in college affairs. Hereafter matters of discipline will be in their control. The faculty, however, stipulates that there must be no drinking of intoxicating beverages. If there is drinking, the faculty rule will obtain again.

It is going to cost the city $35,000 to find out whether it ought to buy the Home Telephone Company. That will be the expense of the special election, and there seems to be no way of avoiding it. The two companies have merged already and it will take more than an initiative crowbar to pry them apart. It is a pity that the $35,000 cannot be saddled on the patriots who called the election.

A man who was once a lion-tamer got the position of head dog catcher in this city. The other day he fell in the pound wagon and broke his arm. The news was probably well received in dogdom but accompanying it was the sad information that several more wagons and an automobile have been put in commission to round up the dogs. It is said that the authorities have heard that there is rabies in Hawaii and they are determined to prevent its coming here.

The song says that a policeman's life is not a happy one, but there is nothing said about the lot of a policewoman. Mrs. Alice S. Wells, a peace officer of Los Angeles, told the W.C.T.U. that this city needs policewomen. She said: "The woman police officer is a perfectly natural and logical step for our advancement in civilization." Now that women can vote they stand a better show of getting on the force.

Rather than lose their saloon license the McDonough brothers promised the police that they would quit the bail bond business. For years they have conducted a profitable trade in this industry. Their charges for getting people out of jail were usually on the traffic would bear. Hereafter bonded persons wishing to be released from the City Prison must apply elsewhere for relief.

Mrs. Blanch B. Westover has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, Clyde. The ground alleged was cruelty but she also said that he would not stay home at night. Once she locked him in his room but he jumped out of the window to keep an appointment with another woman. The husband made no cross-complaint of cruelty.

POLITICAL TIPS.

Ex-Senator Foraker of Ohio, has warned the members of the Constitutional convention, now in session, against making the initiative and referendum a part of the organic law of the State. In place of a judicial recall, Mr. Foraker suggested a plan making it the duty of the Attorney-General to receive and examine charges against officials, subject to impeachment, and then report to the Governor, who might summon a court of three to fifteen members to hear the charges.

"The initiative and referendum would increase the burden of election," said Mr. Foraker. "Another objection is that it has a tendency to induce the legislators to evade their responsibility as to troublesome questions of legislation, a vote on which, either for or against, they desire to avoid."

The New York Times says the lawyers of the country are considering a general organization to defend the independence of the judiciary against the advocates of the recall of judges and their decisions. They know better than any other class in the country the value of upright and impartial judges and the difficulties and temptations to which the courts are subjected.

The friends of Senator Cullom are said to be seriously worried by the campaign ex-Lieut.-Gov. Sherman is making for the seat of the venerable Senator from Illinois. Mr. Sherman has just announced his platform, and it embodies a number of planks which are especially popular in Illinois, including the ratification of the peace treaties, which are certain again to come before the Senate in some form, the maintenance of the navy, the preservation of the army with its present proportion of cavalry; the continuance of the Tariff Board as a guide to Congress in tariff legislation, and the election of Senators by direct vote of the people.

Representative William G Brantley of Georgia, one of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, and of the Judiciary Committee, has announced that he will seek a re-election.

He is discouraged by his party's policy, and declares that "the entire commercial world must stand aghast at the arraignment of American business by the American government. Mr. Brantley is a conservative on the tariff. He has never stood with the Bryan element of his party in advocating free trade or low duties. He is serving his sixteenth year in Congress.

"What Kansas City needs in the office of Mayor is a man, and Henry Jost is a man," is the way W. S. Cowherd presented the name of the successful candidate to the Democratic city convention. Mr. Jost is one of the young lawyers of the city, and has a clean record as a lawyer and public official.

Mr. Jost was picked up on the streets of New York as a waif, seven years old, and sent to a foundling asylum in Missouri, with twenty other children to make his way. He is proving very successful in doing so.

Wholesale accusations of fraudulent registration are being made in Chicago and are under investigation by the election board. One charge is that in a livery stable, where there is no one to vote "except the horses," dozens of names have been registered as voters from the livery barn.

The Maine Legislature met in special session last week for the first time since the outbreak of the Civil War. Gov. Plaisted announced in his proclamation, three purposes for the unusual session—the redistricting of the State for Representatives in Congress; the admendment of the laws governing elections, and to propose an amendment to the organic law, which will permit of local option with regard to licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors. At the last election the repeal of constitutional prohibition was so barely prevented.

John J. Brown, candidate for Governor of Illinois, told a Springfield audience that he has been offered a United States Senatorship to withdraw from the race. There ought to be enough of the spirit of investigation among the Democrats of Illinois to have this statement proved true or false.

Something original in the way of party emblems will appear on the ballots at the coming primary election in New York.

"A Picture of a Cabbage" is the official title of the emblem adopted by David Greenblatt, independent candidate for leadership in a downtown election district. A duly certified representation of the emblem has been filed with the board of elections and approved.

Greenblatt says the cabbage was selected as an emblem for him by one of his Irish constituents.

The Kentucky Legislature has just closed a session, having made a large number of appropriations without providing ways and means of getting the money for them. The State is already behind $1,500,000, and according to the Louisville Post another $1,500,000 was appropriated without providing any way of meeting what will be a grand deficit of $3,000,000.

Prosecuting Attorney Fead of Luce county is one Upper Michigan public official who is looking to election time next fall with complacency. This is because he has a mortgage on his job. Mr. Fead is the only attorney in the county and before he can be pried loose from his post another lawyer must be imported, and even then he doubtless would hang onto the office for he stands well with the people. A similar condition exists in Keweenaw county. Prosecuting Attorney Hamilton is the only lawyer in that upper peninsula county, and, like Mr. Fead, he is doing no worrying about the election to take place next November.

Gov. Wilson has an embarrassment of riches in the matter of a Secretary of State. Last week seventeen of the twenty-one Senators, Republicans and Democrats alike, marched in upon him to urge the selection of Senator George S. Silzer for the place. A day or two later a large delegation of citizen Democrats urged him to appoint Surrogate David S. Carter of Monmouth county to the position.

"I do not want to see any more of this Taft rule. It costs the people too much," said Mr. Pinchot in an address at Devil's Lake, N. D. To which the Des Moines Capital replies that of course Pinchot does not want to see any more of "Taft rule." When he says it is "costing the people too much" he really means it has "cost Pinchot too much." It cost Pinchot his job

NATURE STORIES.

Cat Tests all Coins.

[New York Herald:] A cat which bites coins and rings them on a counter to test them, is the property of Steven Oliver and his wife, Mary, who keep a fruit stand at the intersection of Newark avenue and Montgomery street, Jersey City. The cat was studied today by a theosophist who holds that Tabby may possibly represent the reincarnation of a miser.

For a time after Tabby came to take up her abode with the Olivers, it was noticed that frequently when a customer left a coin on the counter for a few seconds that it mysteriously disappeared. The Olivers finally saw the cat stealing to a corner with a dime and depositing the coin in a hole. Mrs. Oliver discovered thirty-eight pieces of money—dimes, nickels and pennies—where Tabby had placed them.

The Olivers at once set about to develop her remarkable traits, finally placing her in charge of the cashier's desk.

When a customer enters the shop now the cat pounces forward and the moment that he lays a piece of money on the counter she eagerly picks it up in her mouth and tests its worth by the old fashioned method of biting. She will then drop it on the counter to see if it rings true.

If anyone doubts her ability to test a coin, let him give her a bad piece. She will throw it on the counter and back away, refusing to touch it. But if the ring of the piece of money satisfies her she takes it in her mouth, leaps over to her little box in the corner, where she drops it, and sits on guard until another customer appears.

Of late she has taken to receiving paper money when it is offered, although at first she paid no attention to this form of exchange. It is not thought that Tabby can yet discriminate between a bad and a good bill. Neither has she learned to make change.

Human Look Kills Birds.

U. S. Surya, Prakas Rao, writing in the "Hindoo Spiritual Magazine," says that the impossible becomes possible to the man who has practiced steady gaze. A French peasant, he asserts, was able to kill small birds by steadily looking at them. But the most striking story is that of an opera singer named Massol, who, under the Second Empire, was a great favorite with the public. Although he was a man of small intellect, he had a wonderful voice and an eye which slew. One of greatest successes was his rendering of the "Curse" aria in an opera called "King Charles VI."

During the singing of this aria, if his eye fell accidentally upon any one in the audience or on the stage, that person died. After he had killed a scene shifter, the leader of the orchestra and an unfortunate merchant from Marseilles, the opera was excluded from the repertoire. The writer of the article says the science and practice of "the gaze" is known among the Hindus as "Trataka Yoga." The practice of the gaze gives you whatever you can desire, it is claimed by devotees.

Another Wonderful Hen.

[Philadelphia Press:] Samuel Mitchell of Colmar is one of the few persons who does not have to worry over the high cost of living, because he owns what he declares to be the greatest hen in captivity. She lays eggs three times as large as the ordinary hen product, and not content with that she lays two at a time on occasions.

Mitchell has on exhibition an egg 8½ inches in length and 7⅝ inches in circumference. When the egg was broken open the usual white and yolk of an ordinary egg were disclosed and in the same shell, a full-sized hard-shell egg.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses and unnatural drains, that has cured so many worn out and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicines—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home, quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3750 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3 to $5 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

BABY HAD ECZEMA WHEN 2 WEEKS OLD

Burned and Itched. Had to Keep Hands Covered So Could Not Scratch Face to Pieces. Started with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 8 Days Not a Sign of Trouble.

2729 La Salle St., St. Louis, Mo.—"Our baby's trouble began when he was two weeks old. It started with little red pimples on his cheek and ear lobe and on his forehead. When the pimples were about twenty-four hours old they would fill with clear liquid like water. Baby would not sleep because it would burn and itch. He would scratch in his sleep. Our family doctor said the child had got eczema. When the baby was two months old, we had to keep his hands covered so that he could not scratch his face to pieces. I was giving up hope that there was any cure for our child.

"One evening my wife saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. When we started with Cuticura Soap and Ointment the sores were one hard crust. We followed the directions and in three days the crusts came off, and in eight days you could not see a sign of any trouble. Now his skin is as soft as velvet and as healthy as can be. We always give him his bath with Cuticura Soap." (Signed) H. W. Bundstein, July 7, 1911.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap, assisted when necessary by Cuticura Ointment, not only preserves, purifies and beautifies the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but tends to prevent clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, inflammation, irritation, redness and roughness, and other unwholesome conditions. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

A WOMAN KNOWS.

A woman knows so many ways to love;
Her passion is a harp of countless strings
To sound and sound with eager fingers
She hath told all melodies thereof,
The chant of triumph, now; a wistful song
Of sweet surrender, or a throbbing wail
Of here and there beneath the moon
Stirred
The tender chord that is a lullaby.

Ah he were a little boy, tonight,
And I his mother, by some miracle
Hiding from the deep'ning dark'ness
A croon of quiet song; his head held
In the good place God fashioned
For it—
This hollow 'twixt the shoulder
And arm.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The right of the city to impose a license tax on banks was sustained by a Superior Court judge yesterday and the application of a number of banks for a temporary injunction to restrain the city from collecting the tax was denied.

At the City Hall.

NO OPEN CONDUIT IN ANY PROJECT.

WASTE WATER WILL REMAIN IN OWENS VALLEY.

Aqueduct Engineer Explains City Will Not Take More Than Needed From River—Report as to Ditch Plan for San Fernando Valley Is Shown to be Without Foundation.

There is not an open conduit anywhere in any one of the five projects, with their variations, submitted by Chief Engineer Mulholland to the Aqueduct Board and by that board sent to the City Council. The Council appears to have thought that there was something secret about the report—something that was held back—and members have been at the water board's offices to find out whether there was anything to add to the report, but they have now learned that the document given to the press by the Board of Public Service last Tuesday, after it had been approved by the board, contained everything without reservation from the chief engineer about the distribution of the surplus waters of the aqueduct.

One of the Councilmen stated Friday evening that if the surplus water from the aqueduct were not run to waste, it would be run from the Chatsworth dam through an open conduit through the San Fernando Vally as a main.

"If there is any waste," said Chief Engineer Mulholland yesterday, "it will be left up in the Owens River Valley, of course. What we cannot use will not be taken away from that valley. As to this talk of an open conduit through the San Fernando Valley, or anywhere else, there is not an open conduit anywhere in the whole project."

OIL LINE PROFITS.
NICE SUM FOR CITY.

Piping oil at the harbor is likely to produce a large income to the city if the quantity to be used shall reach the figures promised by the agent of the General Pipe Line Company to the City Council. The city will receive not less than $5000 for the franchise for two pipes to begin with. Then for each of the pipes, whether they are used or not, it is to get $200 a month, assuring the city of $4800 a year in any event. But it is also to receive 2 per cent. of the gross earnings on all the oil piped through the lines, and this may run up into a heavy figure.

The difficulty of drawing a franchise to be sold with these conditions attached was not realized when the City Council passed the job over to Chief Deputy City Attorney Howard Robertson. He was realizing it yesterday all right, though. It is full of complications, for, under the law, the franchise must be offered for sale. Of course there is to be only one bidder, but the ordinance has to be framed as if there were to be a dozen. Robertson said he would have the ordinance prepared by Tuesday.

HARBOR WORK BEGINS.
LEASES BEFORE COMMISSION.

Work began yesterday morning at the harbor on the contract for filling the Huntington concession, as was expected. It was merely the preliminary step towards the big undertaking, but it was taken under the personal directions of Vice-President C. C. Cummins of San Francisco, representing the Standard American Dredging Company, the contracting corporation.

The precedent set for leasing property to corporations that are willing to give a bond to pay the rent on ground in litigation is likely to be followed in other cases by the Harbor Commission. The commission will meet tomorrow morning to consider the final draft of the lease with the California Tunny Canning Company, which will be signed. The company will pay $850 a year to the Southern Pacific Company but, as already announced, agrees to furnish a bond to pay the same money to the city if the city shall win its action against the railway for possession of the land. Several other companies regard this as a good way out of their own difficulties and will appear before the board.

Special Counsel Hewitt has prepared several other matters for submission to the board, including the canning company's affairs. The company is very anxious to begin business and is not willing even to wait until the regular Wednesday meeting of the board.

Councilman Sees a Bug.

There is likely to be dissension in the City Council over the arrangement for paving Alhambra avenue, although everything seemed to be serene when the Council went out there with the Board of Public Works and General Superintendent Platt of the Southern Pacific. Councilman McKenzie now insists that the Southern Pacific's offer is not so good as it looks and that if accepted it would bar the possible entry of any other railway line through Alhambra avenue into the city.

Bond Resolutions Here.

The resolutions forwarded by Speyer Company from New York for adoption by the City Council with reference to the delivery of the remainder of all the bond issues on April 5, arrived yesterday morning at the office of the firm's local representative, Lynn Helm, and were forwarded by him to Chief Deputy City Attorney Robertson. Robertson is not sure whether a special meeting will be called of the City Council tomorrow afternoon or whether the resolutions will go over until Tuesday. They are merely to perfect the record.

CITY SUSTAINED, INJUNCTION IS NOT GRANTED.

Court Holds It Is Well Established That License Taxes Are Not Levies on Property—Constitution Amendment Still Imposes License Tax on Banking.

Judge Conrey upheld the right of the city to impose a license tax on banks yesterday, sustaining the demurrers of the city to the complaints of the German-American Savings Bank, the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, the Southern Trust Company, the Security Savings Bank and others in a suit against the city to restrain it from collecting the license tax, and denying their application for a temporary injunction.

The banks asserted that the city is without authority to impose a license tax since the adoption of amendments to the State Constitution. The court held that as it is well established by authority in this State as well as elsewhere that license taxes or fees of the kind involved in this case are not taxes on property, he had resolved the doubt in this case in favor of the city, "notwithstanding the constitutional amendment still retains authority to impose a license tax on the occupation of banking, the same as on other occupations and businesses within the city.

"I do not doubt that the principal object of the new plan of taxation," Judge Conrey held, "was to separate the subject of general taxation from that of local taxation in such manner that the revenues of the State should be derived from business enterprises which would not be subjected to local taxation. This fact has become a part of the history of the State so well known that courts may take judicial notice of it as an item of political history.

"Guided by these principles, I do not think it is the duty of the court in these cases to attempt to apply a rule of strict construction to the exemptions. The court is free to look at the Constitution as thus amended and take into consideration its general scope and purpose, and then so construe the Constitution as to put into effect the purposes of the amendment so far as permitted by the words in which it is written. But we have no right to disregard words of limitation in the Constitution merely because we may think that those words of limitation prevent the enactment from accomplishing all that was included in the more general intention."

The section of the Constitution referred to says that taxes levied, assessed and collected upon banks and trust companies shall be entirely and exclusively for State purposes and shall be levied, assessed and collected in the manner hereinafter provided. A subdivision of the same section, after providing for the levying and assessing of an annual tax payable to the State on the shares of capital stock of banks, says that this tax shall be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, State, county and municipal, upon such shares of stock and upon the property of such banks, except county and municipal taxes on real estate and except as otherwise in this section provided.

The city asserted that the exemptions provided for in the language quoted above do not include license taxes upon the occupations of the banks because the words of exemption are limited.

FIGHTS JAIL SENTENCE.
WEALTHY RANCHMAN APPEALS.

A strenuous fight is being made by Attorney Rogers to prevent G. C. Fetterman, a wealthy ranchman of El Monte, from serving the ten-day jail sentence imposed upon by Police Judge Chambers for violation of the speed ordinance.

Rogers argued before Judge McCormick yesterday on the point raised on appeal that Fetterman ought to have been informed by the police judge that there was no alternative but a jail sentence when Fetterman appeared before him, in which case a jury trial would have been demanded.

Fetterman was arrested last December for running his automobile on North Broadway at the rate of forty-one miles an hour. It was his second offense. At the first trial he pleaded guilty and was fined. When he was trapped the second time and thrust into jail, he was released on habeas corpus proceedings.

The Governor was appealed to for executive clemency, but as Lieut.-Gov. Wallace was acting in the absence of the Governor, he declined to take action. Fetterman then appealed to the Superior Court. Judge McCormick took the matter under submission.

NOT PARTY TO SUIT.
OIL COMPANY IS DROPPED.

On the ground that it is a foreign corporation and is not doing business in this city, the suit brought by Maj. John Q. A. Walker against the California Consolidated Securities Oil Company was dismissed by Judge Conrey yesterday. The other defendants named, Henry Wellington Whack and Charles E. Greenamyer, remain parties to the suit. They are charged with conspiracy by Maj. Walker, who asks $100,000.

Greenamyer is president and director of the California Consolidated Securities Oil Company which was organized in New York to float the stock of the California Consolidated Oil Company, organized by the late Admiral Evans. Walker was assistant secretary of Admiral Evans' Company, and alleges that Greenamyer and Whack conspired to have him removed from office and gain control of the company.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

COMPANY WILL APPEAL. The Pacific Electric is preparing to take an appeal from the $8000 verdict awarded against it by a jury in Judge Norton's court in the suit of Miss Nettie B. Rice for $76,550 damages for injuries received in a collision. The company admitted liability and made its fight on the ground that Miss Rice is not permanently injured and therefore not entitled to such heavy damages.

FACES THIRD TRIAL. Ira H. Stubbs, who has been tried twice on the charge of having forged the name of Olga Keck to a deed for property in Elsinore, the jury in each case disagreeing, will face a jury for the third time May 6. Judge McCormick intimated yesterday he was loth to have the county undergo the expense of a third trial unless the District Attorney could produce new evidence. The second trial, concluded Friday, lasted seven days.

WANT CLOUD REMOVED. William H. and Lottie R. Taylor are seeking through the court to remove the cloud from property which they allege in a complaint filed yesterday was obtained from them by fraud. The Taylors say they bought 1667 vacuum clothes washers, giving as security a mortgage on their property. They are now threatened with foreclosure proceedings and ask the court to cancel the mortgage. The defendants named are Edgar W. Barrett and C. F. Moore.

INCORPORATIONS. Great Western Milling Company, incorporators M. N. Newmark, R. E. Newmark, H. E. Woolner, Edward W. Thompson, William Thompson; capital stock, $200,000; subscribed, $500. Imperial Grain and Warehouse Company, incorporators, M. N. Newmark, Joseph Simons, H. E. Woolner, E. O. Simmons; capital stock, $100,000; subscribed, $400. The Patents Holding Company; incorporators, Lawrence L. Stevens, E. R. Stevens, Albert Lee Stephens; capital stock, $20,000; subscribed $3.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Photographer Is Held for Trial on Wife's Charge That He Made Three Attempts to Chloroform Her.

In order to give the District Attorney's office time in which to investigate the charges made against him by his wife, W. H. Kay, a West Pico-street photographer, was yesterday, held for trial on Monday by Police Judge Frederickson, on a battery complaint, sworn to by Patrolman Moulton.

Mrs. Kay told Assistant City Prosecutor Stafford, yesterday, that Friday night her husband made three attempts to kill her by the administration of chloroform, while she was sleeping with her children. It is said the partially empty bottle was found in a yard next door.

The wife declared that, while she slept, Kay, who occupied another room, poured some of the drug on her pillow. She was awakened by a burning sensation on her cheek, where one of the drops fell.

Twice after that, the wife declared, Kay came into the room, holding something behind his back, expecting to find her asleep. The last time she summoned the police and Kay was taken to the Central Police Station.

Stafford sent the woman to the District Attorney's office. The latter asked the police to detain Kay until the wife's story could be thoroughly investigated.

Kay was recently fined $100 for having indecent pictures in his possession.

He Calls It Fits.

Harry Sitton will be arraigned for sentence tomorrow, before Police Judge Frederickson, on a charge of intoxication.

"I don't know whether I was drunk or not," said Sitton, when arraigned. "I have fits and perhaps I had one of them and the patrolman thought I was drunk."

"This man has been arrested before," said Lieut. Adams. "His excuse is always that he had a fit."

Good Record Saves Lad.

Joe Maliff was making between thirty-five and forty miles an hour on Sixth street, between Lucas and Westlake avenues, when timed by motorcycle officers. Under the traffic ordinance Police Judge Frederickson had to send the boy to jail or impose a suspended sentence.

The latter was done on the showing that Maliff, not used to handling a large car, did not realize how fast he was going. It was also shown that he had never been arrested before and gives his salary every week to his mother. He is employed in a garage.

IN NEW FIELD.

Women Displacing Men as Attendants in Hospital for the Insane, and Apparently Proving Successful.

Male attendants at the Southern California State Hospital for the Insane, at Patton, are gradually being displaced and women put in the wards, according to the statement, yesterday, of Presiding Judge Hutton, who recently returned from an inspection of the asylum.

In a short time, Judge Hutton says, all the wards will be in charge of women. It has been found, where the experiment has been tried elsewhere, he stated, that women are capable of handling the most violent male cases. These women are selected from among those who show courage, judgment and mental poise, and the results so far, it appears, are satisfactory.

The animating reason for the substitution of women for men in the wards is to have the insane handled by tact instead of brute force, charges of which have been made in the past, and to accustom the patients to softer methods of dealing with their mental ills.

Judge Hutton thinks the experiment is well worth while, and from his inspection sees no reason why the results should not be beneficial. He is interested in the insane, and is doing his utmost to provide for released patients by finding them employment. Six patients, who had been cured of drunkenness were found work on farms last week.

THE LAW OF JUSTICE.

Lucy Long of this city has copyrighted a handsome chart, richly printed in illuminated colors, which she has given the title of "Law of Justice." She yesterday presented a copy to the law library, and her hope is to sell it to attorneys and law libraries everywhere. The figure of Justice on the chart has her eyes wide open and carries a wand in lieu of the scales.

ON MANUAL ARTS CAMPUS.

The cornerstone of the magnificent new Administration building, at the Manual Arts High School, will be laid with appropriate ceremonies at 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon. Special invitations have been issued by the principal of the school and the president of the student body, and a large assemblage of citizens is expected to attend.

HE'S FULL OF REJOICING.

And Father of New Heir to Vast Fortune Is Jailed on Charge of Speeding on Broadway.

A bright-eyed little baby boy, one of the heirs to his grandfather's reputed $30,000,000, was the innocent cause yesterday of his father being arrested and charged with having driven one of his five automobiles up South Broadway while in an intoxicated condition. In default of $100 ready cash, although his check for hundreds of times that amount would be honored by banks either here or in Cincinnati, where his family lives, the father was placed in a cell to sober up. He is Benjamin W. Kittredge, No. 459 South Manhattan place. Yesterday afternoon he shot up South Broadway in his new automobile, a bright red, high-powered machine. Beside him sat Barney Bristol, one of his three machinists, whose sole duty is to keep the five autos in perfect running condition.

At Seventh and Broadway Kittredge flew by Traffic Officer Krug at high speed—forty miles an hour, the police say. The officer called at him to stop. The speeder did not hear him; if he did, he did not heed. Jumping into another car, Krug gave chase. The race lasted two blocks, the officer overtaking Kittredge at Fifth and Broadway. He was arrested and taken to the Central Police Station, where Krug charged him with operating an auto while in an intoxicated condition.

Bristol begged earnestly for the release of his employer, but the officers were obdurate.

"He was just going to the baths when you got him," said the mechanic. "He had been celebrating over a wee bit of a baby out to his house. This is the first time he has left his wife's side for a month. Can he give $100 bail? Well, I guess. His father is worth $30,000,000. He lives in Cincinnati and is one of the biggest attorneys in the East. Mr. Ben owns five machines and has three of us fellows who don't do anything but keep those machines running. It's not up to me to say anything about his driving the car this afternoon. It was the baby's fault; that's all."

THE FORTY CLOWNS.

Sells-Floto Circus Carries Two-Score of Fun-Producers—Military Band a Feature.

The Forty Thieves have won no greater renown than the Forty Clowns of the Sells-Floto circus, which is to visit this city April 15-16-17. The management takes the position that what the people want these days to drive away business cares and household worries is a good laugh, and to their minds nothing can do this so well as the circus clown. And they have provided enough to go 'round, so that every minute of the performance all the people will have something to laugh at.

In the list are such noted joy-producers as Frank Stout, Shorty Maynard, Jim Rutherford, George Brown, Jack Harris, Ab Johnson, Jerry Clayton, Billy Jameson, the Kelly brothers and many other celebrated jesters.

A new feature, bound to help out the clowns is a horse which goes through a complete act as though its senses were nearly human. The animal is driven into the ring hitched to a landau carrying two passengers and the driver. In the ring it stops and all the urging of the driver will not make it go on. As the jehu rises in his seat to belabor the animal with his whip the horse suddenly comes to life and kicks the driver into the laps of the passengers. Then it "runs away," and after circling the big tent kicks itself loose from the harness and jumps over the landau and its occupants.

The concert of the big military band is a free feature which the management considers a strong card. An hour before every performance the band gives a concert and plays popular and classical music.

STEAL TIME AND TRINKETS.

Automobile Also Is Taken by Thieves—Three Young Women Lose Watches—Activity of Crooks.

Four watches, three of them belonging to young women, were stolen Friday afternoon and evening, according to reports made yesterday to detectives at the Central Police Station.

Miss Amy L. Perry, No. 1157 West Twenty-eighth street, says her timepiece was stolen from her desk at the Manual Arts High School.

Miss Carrie Fitzackley, No. 1619 Champion terrace, reports the theft of her watch either in Echo Park or on Sunset boulevard.

A watch and a silver-mesh purse containing $8.50 belonging to Miss L. Block, room 406 Story building, was stolen by a sneakthief.

The fourth watch belonged to L. J. Bailey. It was stolen from his room at No. 411½ North Main street.

Among the other thefts reported is a Pope-Hartford auto belonging to Charles Link, No. 833 South Grand avenue.

Three Mexicans entered E. F. Dresser's store, No. 709 Central avenue, but didn't buy anything. After they had gone he discovered he was minus eight pairs of trousers.

CHARGED WITH SMUGGLING.

C. W. Lung, a Chinese potato merchant, who is facing charges in the United States District Court alleging the smuggling of opium and Chinese laborers into this country from Mexico, gave bond yesterday under the first charge in the sum of $1000. He was already under bond on the last complaint.

Plumpness Makes Health THIN PEOPLE NEED THIS.

If you are too thin; if you are pale and sallow; if what you eat seems not to strengthen you; if your lips and cheeks are colorless, it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles, and disease can easily overcome you, as you have no reserve strength or nourishment to uphold you.

A pharmaceutical product, called Sargol hypo-nuclane tablets, is much prescribed for these conditions, and if taken for several months, rapidly increases weight and improves the color. Buy in sealed package of any well stocked apothecary shop.

LARGE EVENTS OF PAST WEEK.

Oil Industry Moves Forward With Giant Strides.

Storage Burden to Be Lifted First of April.

February Production Falls Off Materially.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 22.—The storage burden that has been breaking the backs of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency for so many months is scheduled to be lifted April 1; the production during the month of February was about 5000 barrels per day less than in January; the oil in storage in the State increased during the month nearly half a million barrels; the new price schedule announced by the Standard Oil Company is giving the producers who sell to that concern a comfortable increase in their margin of profit; gratifying progress is being made in the movement to protect the oil fields of the west side against the infiltrating waters; the Independent Agency will hold its annual meeting on April 10; work on the new oil and gas pipe line from Buena Vista hills to Los Angeles has been started; Lost Hills, McKittrick and Belridge are the only fields in the State that show an increase in production or development. These are the chief points of general interest in the State's oil news of the present date.

The final step in the ratification of the Union Oil Company's plan for the disposal of the Independent Agency's storage oil, that of securing the signatures of the individual agency members, is going forward rapidly. More than two-thirds of the companies have signed, and if any of the remainder fail to come in their oil probably will be carried in storage under the old plan, which will mean that they will be charged storage as heretofore.

Less speed is being made in answering the question of which companies will accept the offer of the Union to purchase storage certificates at 35 cents. In a general way it is reported that the larger and stronger companies will hold their oil, while the smaller concerns and those most in need of money will cash in. It is the expectation that the storage certificates will be ready for distribution to the agency members by April 10. They will bear date of March 31, and the old storage arrangement will end with the present month.

On April 10 the annual stockholders' meeting of the agency will be held in this city, and in view of the fact that the storage certificates are to be distributed on that date and because of the interest in the question of the sale of certificates and other features of the new arrangement it is probable that an unusually large number of the 150 companies composing the organization will be represented.

OIL IN STORAGE.

The figures for February show that the amount of oil in storage increased in all of the valley fields during that month, but the runs have been heavy in March so far, and it is not probable that the storage gain continues to the present date. Drilling operations increased slightly in February in all the San Joaquin Valley fields, but remained almost stationary elsewhere. The big Midway field led in new rigs with eighteen to its credit, against eleven for the Kern River, which was second. Seven rigs were put up in McKittrick, four in Sunset and five each in Coalinga and Lost Hills.

The advance in price of oil announced by the Standard has been met by other purchasers, and an active demand for the product of the fields apparently has followed the long period during which the man who brought in a new oil well was looked upon as a foe to society. Not a few of the producers of the west side who had contracts with the Standard under the old price schedule accumulated oil in excess of their contract deliveries, and are able to turn in the excess at the advanced prices. In other cases the new price list, which is based on a rearrangement of gravity requirements, gives a greater advance than appears at first glance. Under the old schedule oil between 21 and 22 gravity brought 30 cents. It now brings 50 cents, and there is a considerable amount of oil of this character.

A committee of the Oil Men's Protective Association, which has been at work for a couple of weeks past compiling data as to the extent of the menace of infiltrating waters has estimated the area affected at 110,000 acres. The committee's first work has been to fix the size and boundaries of this area as it is planned to assess the companies interested both on an acreage and a production basis. With the figures soon to be available the committee proposes to figure each company's share of the cost of the water warfare, and to send a request for a remittance with the first letter on the subject of the campaign. Meantime, many of the larger operators have been interviewed and have expressed their willingness to contribute any reasonable sum and to agree to any reasonable programme for the protection of the field.

JEWISH LECTURER.

Local Societies Associate in the Interest of Technical School in Palestine—Elaborate Programme.

The Jewish Societies of this city have associated themselves together in the interest of a lecture, to be given on Wednesday evening in Hamburger's Arrow Theater, by Mme. Bella Pevsner, on "Palestine, Past and Present." The lecture will be preceded by the following programme: Address Rev. S. Hecht; address, H. W. Frank; piano solo, Miss Lena Shapiro; vocal solo, Marquis Ellis; vocal solo, Howard Manteil; vocal solo, Rev. J. Weinstock. The lecturer is traveling in the interest of the B'Zalel Technical Institute of Palestine, which is for the training of Jewish boys and girls in the various arts and industries. The lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures.

CHEAPER TO TREAT.

An ugly knife thrust in the right arm between the wrist and elbow is what Magnalano Santrano received yesterday, while drinking in a Plaza bar, because he would not treat Juan Herandez. Santrano was taken to the Receiving Hospital where Dr. Carter closed the wound and Herandez was booked at the Central Police Station for assault with a deadly weapon.

STEAK MAKES HIGH JUMP AND ALL MEATS GO UP.

CROWDING the festive potato out of first place in the high-cost-of living line-up, meat seems to be the chief offender now. Following an advance the past week of nearly 1 cent per pound on all beef cuts by the packing-houses and provision dealers, steak is now higher than ever before in California. Choice cuts of beef, wholesale, are 5 cents higher than they were a year ago.

Prime porterhouse steaks reached the top-notch price of 36 cents a pound yesterday. The housewife journeying to the butcher's for the piece de resistance of the evening meal finds that French lamb chops now cost 10 cents apiece—small bits of lamb's flesh these are, too. Almost every restaurant in the city has raised its meat-order prices from 5 to 15 cents within the past few days.

"The worst of the situation," said Manager Scott of the Cudahy Packing Company, yesterday, "is that from present appearances, beef will never be cheap again in California. The range steer is fast disappearing. The grazing grounds are being cut up into small farms, and there are less cattle on the ranges now than for many years.

"The winter dry spell also contributed to the shortage and high price of beef and mutton. The feed came late, consequently the cattle will be late in getting to market. Hundreds died on the ranges from lack of feed. The price of steers is now 7½ cents at the feeding-grounds. This is over a cent a pound more than the price a year ago at this time."

With an impassioned declaration that they are losing money on all meat orders, local restaurant keepers tell why they now charge 30 cents for a small steak, when a few days ago 25 cents would buy a choice slice of round steak with the trimmings.

"I have been actually losing money on every bit of steak furnished my patrons for the last year," said a Spring-street restaurateur yesterday. "I have been forced to raise from 5 to 10 cents on all meat orders. The provision dealers and the packing-houses have raised on us, bit by bit, until we are forced to put our prices up. Carcasses now cost 11 cents per pound, dressed. The choice cuts cost from 4 to 6 cents more than at this time last year. We are obliged to ask more."

Consumers of beef are confronted with the necessity of taking less choice cuts if they wish to keep their meat bill within the usual bounds, or do with less beef. Those who formerly bought loin lamb chops for 4 or 5 cents apiece, 20 to 25 cents a pound, are now asked 10 cents apiece for the choicest loin chops. The downtown meat markets refuse to place a price on the best lamb chops by the pound, selling them by the piece.

Yesterday's market quotations on beef were as follows: Steers, per pound, net, 11 cents; hindquarters, 13 cents; forequarters, 9 cents; short loins, 22 cents; ribs, 14 cents; plates, 7½ cents; rumps, 10 cents; tenderloins, 25 cents; lambs, 14 cents; yearlings, 11 cents; ewes, 9½ cents.

Beef quotations a year ago yesterday were: Steers, 10 cents; hindquarters, 10 cents; forequarters, 8½ cents; short loins, 17 cents; ribs, 12 cents; plates, 7½ cents.

A Valuable Hen.

[New York Tribune:] The goose that laid the golden eggs is the only kind of an egg layer which D. K. Hubbard, a farmer of Abington, Mass. will admit has anything on a Barred Plymouth Rock hen which he asserts has made a world's record in the last forty-eight hours.

Hubbard always thought well of the Barred Plymouth Rock hen, anyway. She has been laying eggs right along during the cold weather, while the other hens have been doing nothing except laying back. As a result he has been harboring the Barred Plymouth Rock.

"The pesky creature appreciated it," declares Hubbard. And in proof of his claim he exhibits three perfect eggs which he swears the hen laid in twenty-eight hours.

"It's a world's record, and I'll match her against the world," he says.

GREATER THAN CROESUS'.

claims of every kind presented, and makes an order approving or disallowing them. Hundreds of ex-parte and chamber orders are made, such as fixing fees, commissions and allowances for support, all of which are of the greatest importance and require time and attention.

SOME SIDE ISSUES.

This does not comprise all the work that Judge Rives does, as there are many interviews with attorneys, executors and administrators on matters concerning the interest of estates.

The investment of children's money often occupies Judge Rives's attention, and frequently he takes it upon himself to inspect the property which is the subject of consideration.

Two able judges in the city and county of San Francisco devote their time almost wholly to a smaller volume of probate work. Judge Rives, however, says he can do still more.

"There is no fairer bar in the world than ours," he declared yesterday. "The lawyers believe in me, and I trust them. In five years nearly all of the lawyers in this county have appeared before me many times, and in the thousands of court proceedings I recall but a single instance when I believed the attorney tried to deceive me.

"The integrity of our bar, efficient clerks and an approved plan of disposing of matters enable me to do the work with great satisfaction to myself, and, I hope, to the public."

What Judge Rives is too modest to say, but which all the lawyers assert is the real reason why the Probate Court has a record unexcelled in the country, is that he has "horse sense," patience, good humor and a sound knowledge of the law. He inspires confidence and commands respect. His good nature is so well known that lawyers, executors and administrators have no hesitancy in seeking him in chambers to attend to matters which should be done in court, and are cordially greeted. This is a daily occurrence, and one of the jokes of the court is that Judge Rives has threatened to tack a notice on the door notifying these poachers on his time to present them when he is on the bench.

Interview.

MITCHELL AND "PINK LADY."

BEING AHEAD OF A GREAT METROPOLITAN SUCCESS.

What Constitutes News and What Composes "Dope"—Facts and Figures on Remarkable Production Dragged Out or Sneaked in During This Story Telling.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

It was a case of becoming interested either in a Pink Lady or a brunette press agent.

There are so many Pink Ladies nowadays that one can scarcely fall in love sight unseen, so—to speak honestly—I was more interested in the exploits of the dark publicist.

To tell the truth, I don't know whether Theodore Mitchell is a blonde or a brunette. I do remember that he looked brown; but then, I have seen blondes all to the chocolate on account of the sun, on account of long rides in the wind, or just because they didn't wash their faces. However, I will say that I think Mitchell washes his face, so that if he is really brown, as my sometimes erratic memory prompts at the present moment, it is because he is not afraid of the sun and shuns not the afternoon breezes. I fear he knows the morning breeze only by reputation.

"Mitch" has been coming to the Coast for years. He was last here as the evangelist of Lillian Russell.

He comes now as the promulgator of the "Pink Lady" gospel, in advance of one of the very biggest shows of the year.

Out of deference to Mitchell I will now give him a little dope of the kind he desires, and say that his show will occupy the Mason Operahouse during the coming two weeks, and that it promises to be an attraction of merit and unusual interest.

Mitchell is not pretty. Therefore I run a sort of paregorical "Pink Lady" thing by Sal, instead of any photograph of Mitchell. Really, I wouldn't hurt his business for worlds.

Considerable interest attaches to him, now, in the person of his lovely wife, known professionally as Saidee Williams. Mrs. Williams-Mitchell was at the time of her husband's last visit a member of Miss Russell's company. She has dropped her lines for the chafing-dish thing now, and the Mitchell family comfortably sets up its household Lares and Penates wherever it goes. They are strong for the apartment stuff. Nix on your trapped hotels, with hot and cold bell-boys and the eternal dining-room.

"The Pink Lady" is an entertainment, but that is all.

Whereas the Show-Scout, battling with Gen. Mooch, Lieut. Change and Capt. Uncertainty, is a novel and sometimes highly-exciting personality.

You'll know what the show is when you pay $2 to go and see it, but have you any idea how the darned thing got here, how it is taken care of, who smooths its path with loving care, who finds the hay for the elephant, the peanuts for the monkeys and the motor cars for the chickens—all safely and thriftily in advance?

Of course not, and you couldn't find out for a lot more than $2.

That, and a good deal more than that, is Mitch.

Nowadays, the big troupe makes Los Angeles its southwestern headquarters. Just as San Francisco is the central western home town, with Portland as the metropolis up in its corner of Uncleasamdom.

Mitchell will have been here, in all, about two weeks. He will not leave until after the show has been here one day.

"The Pink Lady" is coming from Salt Lake.

And what has he done?

He has greased the pan so that the cake of success won't stick in any spot.

He has completed the arrangements for twenty-eight one-night stands.

He has been in communication with 140 newspapers.

He has written and dictated 234 newspaper columns of "Pink Lady" con.

He has attended to the bill-board advertising.

He has adjusted the sharing scale on newspaper advertising with all the house managers.

He has arranged with the transfer companies for the hauling of the scenery and baggage, and has ironclad contracts for the same.

He has contracted with the best hotels for their best rooms for his principals.

He has made even firmer arrangements with the proprietors of good but perhaps not fashionable taverns for the accommodation of his chorus.

He has visited personally every newspaper office several times—sometimes many times.

He has adjusted the sharing scale on the big orchestra which his attraction needs.

He has watched all the advance sales.

He knows the capacity of every theater.

He has made it his business to find out if anyone had a grouch against the manager, and if so, whether it was well grounded or foolish.

He has attended to the first whisperings of publicity in the San Francisco newspapers.

He has kept in daily touch with the New York office.

And apart from these few trifles of light exercise he has done no work, but has been comfortably enjoying himself, after the fashion of all advance agents, who travel westward and receive high salaries for doing nothing.

Mitchell made four or five attempts to tell me about the wonders of his glorious galaxy of talent, but I stalled on each occasion.

Last Thursday night he showed up in the office loaded for objections.

"Mitchell," I said, "I know you have a fine show, but can't we pass that? Let's talk about something unprofessional—honeymooning in the West, for instance?"

"Who staged this thing?" I asked, presently.

"Julian Mitchell, the dancing numbers, with Herbert Gresham as general stage director."

"Is that so?" I exclaimed. "Then me for it, for there never was and may never be again such another chicken trainer as this same Julian Mitchell, who made the Ziegfeld shows all that they are."

"Think so?" asked Theodore Mitchell—'no relative'—with a casual smile.

"I know so," I said. "What do you suppose—by the way—does a men like Julian Mitchell average a year?"

"I should say," said Theodore Mitchell, "that he averages $30,000 a year. But don't quote me."

"I won't," I promised, not meaning to keep my word.

A Black-and-White Fantasy

On a Pink Lady, apparently destined to be prominent in our amusement midst during the coming two weeks. The waltz remains the king of themes, even in this new work.

There was a silence.

Mitchell broke it by laughing.

"Tell me," I exclaimed, somewhat petulantly. "I want to feel funny too."

Mitchell lit a cigar, and eyed me steadily.

"Did you know that the author is C. M. S. McClellan, who wrote 'Leah Kleschna,' but before that, 'The Belle of New York?'"

"I did," I answered, "and now you've sprung your one interesting item. That is really of great interest to the public at large, for nothing could be farther apart than the book of a modern musical comedy and the intense philosophy of that first great woman-thief play."

Mitchell was writing, using a covered typewriter as a desk.

"If you won't let me tell you about this darned thing I'll write it and leave it on your desk, where it will fly up in your face everytime you glance down."

One man, for the honor and glory of the newspaper game, writes a legible hand, and that one man is Mitchell. I was so surprised that I was taken off my guard and read the stuff. He had set down this:

"'The Pink Lady' is a musical comedy in three acts, freely adapted from the French farce 'Le Satyre,' by Georges Berr and Marcel Guillemand. It ran for 200 nights at the Palais Royal in Paris. The music is by Ivan Caryll of the Gayety Theater, London.

"It was originally produced in America at the Apollo Theater, Atlantic City, in February, 1911. After four weeks at the Forest Theater in Philadelphia it went to the New Amsterdam Theater in New York and remained for forty consecutive weeks, the run closing December 10, 1911.

"The combined receipts were $567,828, including three months of the hottest summer weather in New York. The biggest week—on account of two special matinees—was $34,720.

"After fourteen weeks in Boston it is now at the Colonial in Chicago, where—"

I interrupted.

"Don't write any more, Mitch," I protested. "I'm not running a statistical index."

"This is a famous show," returned the evangelist, hotly. "Don't you think people are interested in figures when the piece is as noticable as this?"

"People are always interested in figures when the figures are good, especially gentlemen-people, but not necessarily in mere arithmetic."

"Well, to get away from arithmetic, isn't it an item of any news flavor that just now the original New York company is on the ocean, bound for London?"

"Certainly, that's good stuff."

"And that indefinite time is being held for them at the Globe Theater."

"There you go again on the ultra-professional. I know that there is an Atlantic Ocean, I know that there is a London, I take your word for it that there was a New York 'Pink Lady' company, but I don't give a darn about the Globe Theater. I don't even know whether it is on the Strand or South Main street. Out here in Los Angeles we don't call the London theaters by their first names."

"Owing to the kindness of the court, your objection will be sustained," admitted Mr. Mitchell, sarcastically.

"I was laughing over you, you inconsistent boob?" said the frank Mr. Mitchell.

"Well—explain."

"Easy enough. As a business agent, I was invited up here, and, in the midst of trying to give you a lot of really interesting—mark that word, interesting—facts about my show, you choked me off with a protest about baldly profession statistics that would charm no one but myself. And then you do the same thing."

"Meaning—?"

"That people are just as liable to be interested in the Globe Theater of London as they are in Julian Mitchell of New York."

"But Mitchell is the greatest director of his type who has ever lived!"

"What the Hades? Do the inhabitants of Figueroa street know that? No, and they don't want to know it. They ask: 'Will the thing I see tonight be good? If not, let's beat it for the pictures.'"

"Yet your Globe Theater is farther away than Mitchell, a whole lot."

"I don't think so. The Globe Theater will probably be in notable and profitable existence long after Mitchell has passed on to stage an angelic pantomime at the gold bar of Heaven. To know where it is, and what it is, and why it is, is a part of a liberal education to the theatrically inclined."

I reflected a minute, but he volunteered no further information.

"Tell me about the Globe Theater," I whispered, weakly; "I don't know a blamed thing about it, and I want to be educated."

"Nix," said Mitchell. "Get it out of a cook's guide-book, if you must know. I never repeat."

"Have you any other dope I ought to have?"

"The entire peformance was given in New York, under the personal supervision of A. L. Erlanger."

"Oh, rotten," I protested. "I suppose you'll tell me next that Mr. Klaw attended wearing a white flower on his coat."

"He wouldn't be so out of keeping. He wore a pink one."

"Any more Spanish athlete stuff that you'd care to throw?"

"Three companies are now playing it—the original, going to London, numbering seventy-one persons; the Chicago company, numbering eighty-two, and the Los Angeles company, due tomorrow morning, which will number ninety-one—the largest company, which has ever played the piece."

"Numbers never won any battle," I said.

"But numbers have won many a dice game," suggested Mitchell, "and the theatrical business is just about that much of a chance."

"Indeed."

"The book is exceptional. The humor is all situation-humor. There are no less than eighteen song hits, and each song is an integral part of the story."

"Marvellous."

Mitchell looked at me in silence for twenty seconds.

"What are you planning to do?" he asked. "Going to pan the tar out of this troupe? Do you hate the show in advance?"

"Not at all," I said, "and I can prove it to you."

"How?"

"By telling you, honestly and frankly, as man to man, that I had rather be the author of the 'Beautiful Lady' waltz than the real, only and world-awaited White Hope."

The Week.

CAPTAIN LAFITTE AT THE BURBANK.

DAZEY'S NEW PLAY PUT ON VIEW THIS AFTERNOON.

"Pink Lady" Promises to Be One of Year's Big Events at the Mason Operahouse—Continuances at Belasco, Grand and Fischer's Vaudeville.

One of the season's most important theatrical events is scheduled for the Burbank this afternoon, when the Burbank Stock Company will give for the first time on any stave, "Captain Lafitte," a new romantic melodrama by Chas. T. Dazey, author of "In Old Kentucky," "The Stranger," and a score of other successful plays.

Mr. Dazey has selected for his hero, Capt. Lafitte, who, in the early history of Louisiana, figured as a pirate, although historians of the period, aver that at times he sailed under letters of marque.

Lafitte, with his three thousand devoted and valiant followers, offered his services to Gen. Andrew Jackson for the protection of New Orleans against the British, after the English had made overtures to him for his support.

The story of Lafitte's redemption, through the love of a fasinating young woman, and his subsequent efforts in the assistance of Gen. Jackson, culminating with the battle of New Orleans, is a romantic recital that is vitally interesting and wholly unusual in dramatic literature. The last act, depicting the battle of New Orleans, promises to be one of the most effective scenes the local stage has ever known. This single scene will enlist the services of over a hundred auxiliary players, in addition to the regular Burbank stock company.

Scenically, "Captain Lafitte" will offer a series of sumptuous stage pictures, while in the matter of costuming and properties, the Burbank production will be historically correct in every detail.

The production of "Captain Lafitte" has been made under the personal supervision of Mr. Dazy. The part of Capt. Lafitte should fit leading-man Forrest Stanley very much after the manner of the proverbial glove, while the role of Gen. Andrew Jackson will be in the competent hands of David M. Hartford. Franklyn Munnel, a newcomer to the Burbank forces, will make his first appearance in "Captain Lafitte" in the part of Casa Calvo, formerly Governor of Louisiana, who hopes for the return of Spanish supremacy, that he might regain his former office. Mr. Munnell comes to Los Angeles with a fine eastern reputation, and in the part of Casa Calvo, will have ample opportunities to prove his worth. Donald Bowles will be seen in the role of Antoine Archard, a Spanish gentleman, and Clifford Robertson, another new Burbank player, will have the important role of Capt. Neill Shannahan, of the Governor's Guards.

Mason.

Klaw & Erlanger will present the musical comedy de luxe, "The Pink Lady," at the Mason Operahouse for two weeks beginning tomorrow night, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, during this engagement extraordinary.

acts with music and as many scenes. The book and lyrics are by C. M. S. McClellan, adapted from the French of "Le Satyre" by Georges Berr and Marcel Guillemaud, which ran for 250 nights at the Palais Royal in Paris.

The score is by Ivan Caryll of the Gayety Theater, London, who is the composer of a dozen successes such as "The Runaway Girl," "The Toreador," "The Shop Girl," "The Duchess of Dantzig," "The Girls of Gottenberg" and others of like popularity that have been seen in this country.

This combination of two of the best-known writers for the musical-comedy stage has made a reputation that is well known. It ran for over 400 consecutive performances at the New Amsterdam Theater in New York City, where it created a furore.

There is a well-defined and cleverly-constructed plot which supplies the action for "The Pink Lady," and its score is made an integral part of the plot's developments. Being French, it is necessarily dependent upon its complications and situations for its humors, and these are worked out with all the expected ingenuity.

The production is notable for its color effects, tone harmony and clever handling of the big scenes. Klaw & Erlanger have made their presentation a notable one. Herbert Gresham staged the piece, and Julian Mitchell put in the big chorus effects.

It requires a company of ninety people to give the piece its proper dash and go. An orchestra of thirty selected musicians is carried to insure the correct handling of the score. These players were in the pit of the New Amsterdam Theater during the New York run and are familiar with every detail of the score. There is also a "pink-of-perfection" chorus.

In the cast of principals will be found John E. Young, Olga de Baugh, Ruth Thorpe, Octavia Broske, Josie Intropidi, Minnie Jarbeau, Raymond Bottomly, Georgia Majeroni, Harry Depp, George Reed, John J. Scannell, Alfred Fisher, Louise Kay, Jack Ryan and others.

Belasco.

Austin Adams's new comedy of day-after-tomorrow, "The Landslide," has attracted such widespread attention during the first week of its presentation at the Belasco Theater, and the demand for seats has kept constantly increasing until capacity audiences are now the rule, making it necessary for a second week of this brilliant comedy, commencing with the performance tomorrow night.

With brilliant speeches and flashes of epigrammatic wit, Mr. Adams has written a most compelling and convincing argument, almost brutal at times in its frankness, and containing many pointed truths, the bitterness of which is melted away with light, clever comedy and delightful humorous situations.

The Belasco company is giving a splendid presentation of the new play and with the constantly increasing interest being shown in the piece, the second week will undoubtedly attract series of crowded houses.

Following "The Landslide" the Belasco company will give Lottie Blair Parker's famous play, "Under Southern Skies."

Fischer's Lyceum.

Of course Fischer's Follies Company is to present "The Neverhomes," and "The Snow Birds," another week at Fischer's Lyceum. No one ever thought otherwise, after the tremendous success of the initial period of this very excellent organization, and the constant turnaway houses that have greeted every show so far.

The people who didn't get in are just as much entitled to see the re-just as much entitled to see the performance as are those who did get behind the portals, and their chance comes with the second week, which is slated for a start this afternoon. And they will be repaid for a short wait; the organization is now thoroughly in smooth working order; each individual is acquainted with every other; team work is manifest in every action, and the ensembles are marked by a comprehensiveness and a thorough accord that assures that "every move is a picture" and every minute detail, and a consequent and constant delight to eye and ear.

The principals are at their best; May Boley, unctious and funny; Texas Guinan, pretty and chic; Jane Urban, Vanity, Laura Oakley, Ann Montgomery, all doing fine work; Madison Smith with voice in perfect condition; Herbert Cawthorne and Will J. Lett adding to the laughs nightly. But Duncan, Lon Chaney Harley Dudley, all teaming together like old timers—it is a perfect whole.

The chorus is amalgamated into a unit of action, voice and stepping ability, and the scenery, lights and effects leave no possible hint of hitch or lack. As a result, this week will really be a better one than was last, so far as perfection of performance is concerned, and even the orchestra will be found to have improved for its week of familiarity with the elaborate score.

Grand.

The sixth week of "The Girl and the Boy," Walter de Leon's newest and best musical comedy, in which Ferris Hartman and his clever associates have scored such a pronounced hit, will begin at the Grand operahouse on next Sunday afternoon, and the tremendous interest already aroused and the wonderful business which this record play is doing will no doubt be increased.

The fiftieth performance was celebrated yesterday at the matinee, which is in itself a remarkable record. It begins to look now as though "The Girl and the Boy" will run merrily on its way until the century mark is reached as regards the number of performances. The public seems unable to get enough of Mr. de Leon's amusement efforts. First it was "The Campus," which, by running for 212 performances, broke every known stock record. Now it is "The Girl and the Boy," which has caught the public favor and bids fair to break even the run of "The Campus."

Majestic.

The first exhibition of the highest development of motion photography as exemplified in the posing of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and Mme. Gabrielle Rejane, the two great glories of the French stage, and two of the world's most famous actresses, the former in her greatest success, "Camille," and the latter in her most notable comedy creation, "Mme. Sans-Gene," will be the interesting attraction at the Hamburger Majestic Theater for one week commencing tonight.

Just as the talking machine has brought within the reach of everybody the art of Caruso, Tetrazzini and other world-famous artists, so has the motion-picture cameras recorded the art of the two most famous actresses the world has known and whose wonderful art has delighted theater-goers in every part of the globe.

It is not the smallest tribute to the genius of Sarah Bernhardt to say that her art loses nothing in its transmission to the little strips of celluloid. "Camille" is admirably adapted to the requirements of the motion-picture play, and to see these films is to realize to the fullest extent the art and power of the greatest of living actresses.

Mme. Rejane is a good foil for Bernhardt, as "Madam Sans-Gene," in "Camille." It shows this distinguished actress in her greatest comedy creation. Among Parisian favorites Mme. Rejane is the most celebrated for the free play of the body as a medium of expression, and the story unfolds on the films with sharp emphasis and unmistakable distinction.

Orpheum.

One of those remarkably fine, strong bills for which the Orpheum has become noted will be that theater's offering, the week beginning Monday matinee, headed as it is by Louise Dresser, one of the most popular comediannes who ever trod the stage. Miss Dresser made her start in vaudeville, but like so many others in the days when musical comedy needed their services, she deserted her chosen field for the other. She has, however, now returned to her first love, and is making an exclusive Orpheum tour, between seasons, as it were.

Filled to the brim with magnetism, devoted to the art of perfectly putting over a clever song, and a woman of charming personal appearance and gowning, Miss Dresser will delight her audiences with a large repertoire of her famed successes in the musical comedy field, songs not hitherto known in vaudeville, perhaps, but none the less lively and welcome for that.

Another notable act for the coming week is the big Molasso pantomime, "La Somnambule," with Nina Payne, R. St. Elia and a company of ten. This is a dancing pantomime of unusual quality, with a number of sensational features, including the solo and duet dancing of the two principals in particular. There is a complete little story told during the pantomime, most of it in dance. It requires an unusually big and fine setting, and the costuming naturally is something unusual.

"Long live the Irish—here's two real Ooes," is the way Donovan and McDonald introduce themselves, in "My Good Friend." Two "tads," they are, in verity, and their kindly exchange of wit, their songs, including "My Ould Plaid Shawl," and "Mrs. O'Flaherty" are excellent examples of real Limerick action and music.

Claude M. Roode promises some new features on the slack wire—a thing many deemed impossible till Mr. Roode demonstrated it for their benefit, and they found it true. In addition, the bill will contain Pouchot's lovely flying ballet, Harry Beresford & Co. in "In Old New York," Julius Tannen, the chatterbox, and Ida O'Day & Co. in "Betty's Best," with the

Of Bloomington, Ill., who left Friday in this city wit

MRS. WILLIAM GRANT FITC again demonstrated herself charming hostess when she e tertained Friday with the second lar function of the week.

Mrs. Fitch is domiciled at Hot Darby, and the party was in t nature of a luncheon. The table w adorned with a handsome bouquet Killarney roses and monogram car marked covers for Mrs. Adna Chaffee, Mrs. Thomas Chalmers M Lean, Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, Mr William Ambrose Mason, Mrs. Dav B. van Slyck, Mrs. Robert Roe Black et, Mrs. Montgomery Ward, Mr Frank Herman Gilcrist, Mrs. Geor D. Gregory, Mrs. Eli Lilly, Mrs. Sus Markham Hamilton, Mrs. Ross Buri hardt, Mrs. Dray, Miss Charlott Thomas, Miss Blacker and Miss War

Following the luncheon Mrs. Cha fee poured coffee in Mrs. Fitch apartments above stairs, where, b request, the hostess read an origina poem entitled: "The Ragged Robi Rose," as follows:

Happy, happy, sunshine flower,
You can cover tree or bower,
You can clamber anywhere,
Filled with blossoms rich and rar

You can ne'er your presence hide, of Bloomington, Ill., who left Friday for Coronado, after a visit of six weeks in this city with Miss Ruth Larned.

MRS. WILLIAM GRANT FITCH again demonstrated herself a charming hostess when she entertained Friday with the second large function of the week.

Mrs. Fitch is domiciled at Hotel Darby, and the party was in the nature of a luncheon. The table was adorned with a handsome bouquet of Killarney roses and monogram cards marked covers for Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Mrs. Thomas Chalmers McLean, Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, Mrs. William Ambrose Mason, Mrs. David B. van Slyck, Mrs. Robert Roe Blackburn, Mrs. Montgomery Ward, Mrs. Frank Harman Gilcrist, Mrs. George D. Gregory, Mrs. Eli Lilly, Mrs. Susie Northam Hamilton, Mrs. Rosa Burkhardt, Mrs. Dray, Miss Charlotte Thomas, Miss Blacker and Miss Ward.

Following the luncheon Mrs. Chaffee poured coffee in Mrs. Fitch's apartments above stairs, where, by request, the hostess read an original poem entitled: "The Ragged Robin Rose," as follows:

Happy, happy, sunshine flower,
You can cover tree or bower.
You can clamber anywhere,

She Cox to Wed.

Miss Charlotte Marie Cox, daughter of Mrs. Harvey Cox, of No. 1740 Westmoreland place, will be married April 3 to James Joseph Donahue, son of James A. Donahue of Alhambra. The service will be one of interest to many friends, and will be solemnized in St. Vincent's Church. Miss Cox was graduated from St. Mary's School, while Mr. Donahue is a St. Vincent's man.

Mrs. Wright Hostess.

Mrs. C. C. Wright of the Rampart Apartments entertained last week with a large luncheon in compliment to Mrs. J. S. Chapman. Purple and gold was the color scheme, violets and jonquils being combined.

Visit to Stanford.

Mrs. C. C. Wright, Mrs. A. B. Cass and Mrs. John K. Wilson will leave soon for Stanford, where they will attend the junior opera. They will be guests at the Zeta Frat House.

Charming Visitor.

Perhaps the most interesting visitor of recent date was Miss Frances Metz of Bloomington, Ill., who for six weeks has been sojourning with Miss Ruth Larned on South Alvarado street. Friday Miss Metz left for Coronado, where she will pass a few days. She will then return to Miss Larned's home, where she will remain several days before leaving for her eastern home. Miss Larned and Miss Metz were students together at the National Park Seminary in Washington, D. C.

In Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Isaman, the latter a sister of Mrs. William Henry Akin, a charming young matron of this city, have concluded a pleasant visit in the North, and are settled in their country place at Altadena. Mrs. Isaman, as her sister, is a clever writer, and has had several popular books printed.

For Miss Rouse.

Mrs. Bernard Schulman of No. 225 West Twenty-first street will give a musicale, March 30, in compliment to Miss Gladys Rouse, who is the house guest of her cousin, Miss Berenice Marcher. Invitations were extended to Miss Lillian Krauss, Miss Gertrude Sherwood, Miss Ula Hamers, Miss Beulah Jongquist, Miss Ida Webber, Miss Josephine Nell, Miss Florence Howard, Miss Martha Levy, Miss Mabel Post, Miss Cora Boettcher, Mrs. H. Gordon Bayless, Mrs. Walter V. Pomeroy, Mrs. S. Marcher, Mrs. H. C. Henrich, Mrs. M. S. Henrich, Mrs. A. Hemming, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Fred Alles, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Wise, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. A. Winters, Mrs. H. Saries, Mrs. I. Schulman, Mrs. Niel and Miss Blanche Caldwell.

Home From Europe.

Miss Marie Rose Mullen has returned from a seven and a half months' sojourn in Europe. Miss Mullen visited Holland, Germany and Italy. She is at present the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Allan Hancock, in their beautiful new home at No. 626 Vermont avenue.

Dancing Party.

Among the most interesting affairs of the past week was a St. Patrick's Day dance, given by Miss Maude Binz, No. 811 West Thirty-second street. The guests met at the home of the hostess and later betook themselves to a neighboring dance hall, which was elaborately decorated with green shamrocks. The hostess was assisted by two charming young ladies, Miss Nettie Koernor and Miss Ruth Sehn. Mrs. Samuel McCreery and Mrs. Edward G. Binz acted as patronesses for the evening.

Those enjoying the evening, besides the hostess, were Misses Esther Brown, Roina Deats, Blythe Webb, Charlotte Culp, Dagmar Nielson, Gladys Moore, Ruth Kilpatrick, Mary Kilpatrick, Ellen Bent, Evelyn Bowers, Mable Swenson, Anna Russell, Helen Henry, Sarah Patton, Masters Alfred E. Dennis, H. O. Wackerbarth, T. Beryle, Fletcher Bowron, George Bush, Allan Patton, Will Sherwin, Perry Ling, A. H. Foster, Thomas McDonnell, David Ling, W. Widenham, Melville Tipton, Trabue Van Culin, Eugene Hill, Wallace Stanford and Ben Weston.

World-Tourer Honored.

Mrs. T. S. Southwick, of No. 173 East Thirty-sixth place, entertained on Monday evening with a dinner, complimentary to P. O. Amenabar of Santiago, Chile, who is touring the world. This occasion was a reunion of South American friends and co-travelers in that territory. The home was tastefully decorated with jonquils and ferns. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Amenabar, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. de Avila, Miss Eva Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard and R. C. Tomkinson. The Amenabar party will leave San Francisco for Honolulu and the Orient.

Wedding Announcement.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Margaret Crawford of Compton to George H. Wiebon of this city, which was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Wednesday. After April 3 the young people will be at home to friends at No. 2611 Vallejo street.

New Chapter.

At the residence of Miss Wauneta Brown, of No. 665 Westmoreland avenue, Tuesday afternoon, was organized the tenth chapter of the P. E.O. Sisterhood in Los Angeles. The home was decked with marguerites, jonquils and ferns.

The officers elected were Miss Brown, President; Mrs. Helen Fishburn, Vice-President; Miss Catherine Potter, Recording Secretary; Miss Corinne Bullard, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Dora Halleth, Treasurer; Mrs. Edna Adams, Chaplain; Miss Harriett Green, Guard; Miss Lila O'Connell, Pianist; Miss Grace Hasemeier, Journalist.

Bide-a-wee Club.

Mrs. C. M. Richmond recently entertained the members of the Bide-a-wee Club at her home, No. 472 East Thirty-seventh street. A 1 o'clock luncheon was served. Hand-painted favors suggestive of St. Patrick's Day were given as souvenirs to Mrs. W. Conklin, Mrs. J. Hogg, Mrs. J. F. Graves, Mrs. L. E. Spohr, Mrs. F. A. Hendershott, Mrs. J. A. Pendleton, Mrs. C. M. Marleau and Mrs. E. L. Burgoin.

At Shoreham.

Mrs. Henrietta H. Farquhar is at home to friends at the Shoreham.

Mrs. Devitt Honored.

Mrs. A. Herbert of New York, who has been domiciled at Hotel Alexandria and Coronado, entertained during her stay at the beach resort with a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Thomas Devitt. Pink carnations decorated the table. Mrs. Herbert left for her eastern home Thursday last.

Second of Series.

The second of a series of Lenten readings by Miss Bessie Bartlett Frankel will be given Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at her home in Hollywood. The subject will be Van Dyke's story of "The Other Wise Man."

Into New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Harker are settled in their new home, at No. 1187 Crenshaw boulevard.

Princess Mary Chapter.

The regular meeting of the Princess Mary Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughter of the Empire, was held Saturday week at the home of Mrs. Lionel Van Deerlin of No. 1550 West Fiftieth street. Officers elected were Mrs. Hugh L. Wallace, Regent; Mrs. A. Harcourt Wilson, First Vice-Regent; Mrs. Lawrence Morgan, Second Vice-Regent; Miss Mabel E. Tarr, Secretary; Mrs. Aubrey Allen, Treasurer; Mrs. Lionel Van Deerlin, Standard Bearer, and Mrs. C. J. Fox, Mrs. Max Wieczorek, Miss M. Palmer, Miss Dorothy Faage and Miss May Walters, Directors.

A handsome silver card-case was presented to Mrs. Harcourt Wilson, the retiring Regent, by members of the chapter.

Surprise Party.

Miss Sarah Meripol of No. 1533 East Fifteenth street was tendered a surprise recently, friends having gathered in celebration of her birthday anniversary. A Dutch supper followed the games.

Box Party.

One of the delightful affairs of the week was the box party at the Belasco given yesterday by Mrs. Robert Smith of the Mayhew Apartments, followed by tea at the Alexandria. Jonquils and violets gathered into corsage bouquets at the ends of long ribbons formed a wreath in the center of the table. Each ribbon reached to one of the covers designated by a dainty gold-monogramed card.

Among those included were Mrs. J. W. Thayer, Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Mrs. Charles L. Crenshaw, Mrs. Roland

Fashion's Latest Fancies

Tailored Suits, Demi-Tailored Suits, Wraps, Gowns, Waists and Blouses

Every day brings hosts of new and exclusive models in Women's Apparel. No sooner does a worthy fashion appear in New York than it is snapped up by our resident buyer and expressed to Los Angeles.

Tailored Suits

All our Suits are strictly man-tailored, designed after the newest models; introduce the most approved lines. Only pure Woolen materials are employed, and they, in the most popular weaves and colors. Prices:

$22.50, $25.00, $29.50, $35.00 and up to $75.00.

Demi-Tailored Suits

Our demi-tailored Suits are copied from the best Paris models, models which have gained the approval of Fashion authorities. They come in Taffetas; Brocade Meteors, Terrycloth, Whipcord, Serge, etc., in color and trimming ideas for the most discriminating. Prices:

$25.00, $30.00, $35.00, $45.00 and up to $135.00.

Afternoon and Evening Wraps

Imported models as well as copies and adaptations are here in Warps for dress occasion. Soft Crepe Charmeuse, Brocade Meteor, Satin, Changeable Taffeta, Radium, Broadcloth and Lace are employed in these handsome Wraps. Every price from $250.00 down to as little as $15.00.

Evening and Afternoon Dresses

The reason why the Dresses we show are always a little nicer, a little newer in style than those seen elsewhere is because we buy from famous modistes, who confine their models to us alone. They are not only authentic but exclusive as well. Beautiful styles, at $50.00, $65.00, $75.00 and $100.00.

Also other dainty Dresses, up from $15.00.

Motor Coats

Both London and Paris send models in Motor Coats this season, and smart they are beyond compare.

New effects in Irish Tweeds, Tyl Tyl, Scotch Mixtures, English Serge, Shepherd and Diamond Checks.

Prices range from $15.00 to $75.00.

Waists and Blouses

Surely prettier Waist styles were never invented. They are different, they possess the elements of neatness and simplicity rarely found in garments so modestly priced. There are soft, sheer Voiles, Crepes, Batistes, Laces, Silks, etc., plain or with trimming ideas novel in the extreme.

Prices: $2.50, $3.50, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00 and up.

Handsome Foulards $1.00

While we show Foulards of all grades, in every new and Fashion-favored style, and at prices ranging from 85c on up to the most exclusive, single Dress Patterns, our popular-priced dollar line is unquestionably the most interesting of all.

Here are assortments to please the most discriminating. Varieties almost without end, and a quality that you would expect to pay a fourth more for, judging from last season's values.

A HUNDRED OR MORE STYLES TO CHOOSE FROM, AT $1.00.

—Main Floor—

Silk Petticoats Plain and Fancy $2.75 to $7

Here surely is the greatest assortment of styles, the most complete line of colors, and withal, the very best Petticoat values we've ever been able to offer. Not samples or styles of other days, but fresh new goods of the better class. Be sure you see them before the best are taken.

PLAIN MESSALINE PETTICOATS, with deep accordion plaited flounce, every thinkable color, $2.75.

SOFT TAFFETA PETTICOATS, in colors to match any fashionable gown, $3.75.

JERSEY TOP PETTICOATS, in a half dozen different styles, all colors, $5.00.

STRIPED SILK PETTICOATS and plain tops with fancy Silk or Chiffon Flounces, a host of new effects, at $5.00, $6.00, $6.50 and $7.00 each.

—Third Floor—

"Onyx" Silk Hosiery $1

We are anxious for every woman in town to see these new Silk Stockings at a dollar a pair. They are the famous "Onyx" goods, of Pure Thread Silk, deep lisle garter top and lisle soles. Black, white and colors. It would be foolish for any woman to deny herself the satisfaction of wearing Silk Stockings on Easter morning, when such as these are buyable at $1.00.

—Main Floor—

Children's Millinery

We shall not attempt to describe the Easter Millinery fashions for the Little Folks. Only by a personal visit can you hope to gain an idea of the wondrous pretty styles, the broad variety and the genuine beauty of fabric and trimming.

Surely we've never seen a collection of Hats and Bonnets so rich in all that's correct. Popular prices prevail at every turn. Bring the little folks in tomorrow.

—Third Floor—

Beautiful Easter Millinery

It is a fair supposition that the class of its clientele is the best indication of the class of merchandise carried by a store. A smart hat will appeal most to the woman who has smart ideas on the subject of millinery. Hundreds of women of discernment rely implicitly upon the Blackstone Millinery department for their hats.

This week's chief feature will be the display of ultra-fashionable Street Hats, Dress Hats and Evening Hats. You are urged to see the new ideas.

—Second Floor—

Easter Neckwear

The approaching Easter season naturally draws one's attention to the little Dress Accessories, particularly to Neck Fixings. This week we have prepared a display that is resplendent in clever ideas gathered from Europe as well as from our own Fashion centers.

The new Floral styles, the lacy Collars, Jabots, Cascades, Coat Collars and Sets, the Marie Antoinette, and a dozen other charming novelties are here at popular prices.

—Main Floor—

Home Furnishings

This department is not a side issue with us. It has grown to be one of the chief attractions of the store, one of the big departments. And there is a reason for its successful development.

We show Home Furnishings of the better class, not necessarily the high-priced, but the standard, reliable class. We carry the assortments to please the builder of the bungalow as well as the owner of the mansion. Our prices are as low as sound business principles combined with worthy quality will permit.

RUGS of every size and class, from the finest French Wiltons, on down to those Artistic Rag Rugs, with suitable Draperies and Hangings for each.

IN OUR BEDDING Section, nothing of worth is missing, nothing overlooked.

Special Order Comforts $3.95

In our own work rooms we make Comforters to order; any kind, size, shape, color or of any material. For example:

Comforts of Downs Cotton, covered with the highest grade Silkoline, extra size—72x88—any color you may choose—$3.95.

—Fourth Floor—

Long Chamoisette Gloves 50c

Real chamoisette gloves—Kayser's—look for all the world like kid gloves. They are made for service, the fingers are double-tipped, and they launder as no other gloves do.

We show the 16-button lengths in white, grays and black colors at 50c a pair.

—Main Floor—

Novelty Wash Goods

GRANITE WEAVE Linen, in White or Champagne, 48-inch, $1.25.

LINEN ETAMINE for Coats and Dresses, white and natural, 48-inch, $1.50.

FRENCH SUEDE CLOTH is one of the season's unique novelties. A twilled fabric with a surface as soft as kid, a texture designed especially for dresses and tailored suits. Tans, blues and browns, 42-inch; $2.50 a yard.

Sicilian or Punch-Work Embroidery is New

Effective too, and as simple as can be.

We show Dresser Scarfs, Pin Cushions, Tidies, Pillow Covers, Centers, Collar and Cuff Sets, Waist Patterns and a host of other things, stamped in new designs for this interesting work.

And we teach you how to do it if you come before noon, while class is in session.

—Third Floor—

"Onyx" Boot Silk Hose—Fifty Cts.

"McCallum" Pure Thread Silk Hose —One Dollar.

Colonial Pumps

$5 Polo Pumps

COLONIAL Pumps are in great demand this season. You will find our assortments extensive, and that they excell in attractiveness and fitting qualities. See our "Polo" Pumps at Five Dollars. Shown in Black and White Buck, Dull and Tan Calf.

¶ Tan Boots—Splendid assortments—Button and Lace. Price Four to Ten Dollars.

¶ White Boots—of Buck, Nubuck, and Mercerized Linen. Price Five to Ten Dollars.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blake Griffis are at home to friends at No. 1107 West Thirtieth street. They settled at the Howell Terrace for several months after their marriage, but are now keeping house in a cosy bungalow.

Card Party.

Saturday evening Mrs. S. S. Millard, Mrs. George R. Dodd and Mrs. C. H. Bellamy, were hostesses at a card party given at the Owen apartments. Carnations and violets decorated the rooms where supper was later served.

Honored.

Mrs. O. B. Franz of No. 157 Hoover boulevard entertained with a surprise birthday party for her husband Saturday. The evening was passed with whist and music, after which the guests partook of a sumptuous spread. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Eberts, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer M. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. William Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Defrees, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. C. Raymond and Mr. and Mrs. B. H Franz.

Farewell Compliment.

In honor of Miss Estelle Osborn, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. G. Leburn, of No. 233 Adams street, and who will leave soon for her home in San Francisco, a farewell party was given by her friends. Games and music were enjoyed and a fine dinner was served. Places were set for Miss Marie Hickson, Miss Bertha Simkins, Miss Guendolin Dana, Miss Mary Fitzgerald, Miss Ida Kenasco, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Adeline Dingman, Miss Rosa Osborne, Miss Gertrude Leburn, Miss Lee Simpson, Miss Mary Simkins, Miss Young and Miss Lily Brown.

Globe Trotters.

Miss Golda Norton, Mark Norton and Benjamin Norton will leave tomorrow for a tour of the world. Much time will be spent in India and Egypt, after which they will tour in a motor car.

Coronado.

Miss Marguerite Cardell, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lanier of Coronado for a month, returned home next week. During her pleasant sojourn she attended the following events.

Mr. Babcock's Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fabling of No. 1 Second avenue entertained last Saturday evening with a St. Patrick's party. The decorations were suggestive of St. Patrick's Day. Whist was played and unique score cards used, each of the participants with a good old Irish name. The prizes were carried off by Mrs. Louis Culbertson, Glen Covington and C. O. Edwards. A negro orchestra furnished music. A dainty luncheon was served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Culbertson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lavine, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Santee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ruenitz, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Summerfield and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fabling.

Return From East.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller of No. 1019 West Twenty-eighth street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Miller, who has been studying music in New York City during the winter, and they have chosen Thursday, March 29, to be "at home" to her friends. Miss Miller is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

Return From Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson S. Lottingwell of Chicago have just returned from Europe, after spending the week with Mrs. Lottingwell's mother at No. 2301 Menlo avenue.

Dickens Fellowship.

Mrs. Charles H. Eager, president of the Los Angeles Dickens Fellowship, entertained the members of the board and the student members of Inglewood at a "Merienda" at her home, "El Cumulo," at Inglewood. Those who cooked on the outdoor grill, and prepared the Spanish salad, were members of the luncheon, which was served in the ramada. Many visited the green-houses, aviaries and the handsome new home of Mr. and Mrs. Eager, which is nearing completion, after which they repaired to the residence to enjoy a rare treat in looking over Mrs. Eager's splendid collection of Dickens's literature.

Mrs. Lafayette Isaman,
Who has returned from an extended northern trip.

Those present were Mrs. W. R. Dickinson, Miss Annie Bock, Miss Margaret M. Fette, Mrs. B. M. Wyman, Mrs. B. F. Eshelman, Mrs. George H. Noyes, Mrs. T. F. Kirk, Mrs. S. Sollenberger, Mrs. Frank Parent, Miss Harriet Pownall, Mrs. J. F. Farley, Mrs. A. Oestrich and Mrs. Charles H. Eager.

Pleasant Reunion.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Coleman of Milwaukee, Wis.; Judge W. D. Story of Santa Cruz, Justin Copeland of Santa Ana, four members of the first graduating class (June, 1856,) of Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis., held a reunion and luncheon at Hotel Mt. Washington on Saturday, March 16. With these graduates were Miss Laura L. Colman of Milwaukee, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Colman; Mrs. A. J. Lay of Los Angeles, sister of Mr. Copeland; also a son of Mr. Copeland of Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heath of Santa Cruz, daughter of Judge Story and husband, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Severson of this city.

The table was beautifully decorated with a basket filled with California poppies. After luncheon the party repaired to the sun parlor, where speeches were given and poems read.

Mrs. Quint Hostess.

Mrs. Sumner J. Quint, No. 1217 Arapahoe street, was hostess on Wednesday at a small luncheon party at Hotel Mt. Washington, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Alletta E. Wilson. A basket of California poppies decorated the table, with favors of little suit cases, as Mrs. Wilson is soon to start on an extended trip East. Besides the guest of honor and the hostess, covers were laid for Mrs. Bertha Bent of Kansas City, Mrs. Ezra William Ober of Salina, Kan.; Mrs. William Irving Warner, Mrs. Clara W. Gries and Mrs. A. S. McKevett.

House Guest.

Mrs. Sarah J. Tripp, No. 2221 Romeo street has the noted authoress, Mrs. Emily Huntington Miller of Minneapolis, as her house guest.

Card Club.

Mrs. Clarence Knox, No. 4810 Gramercy place, entertained members of a bridge club to which she belongs, at her home, Thursday. The St. Patrick's motifs were carried in the decorations as well as in the refreshments, and score cards were ornamented with Irish policemen smoking pipes. Prizes were won by Mrs. McGill of Denver and Mrs. Frank Ryan. Members present were Mrs. George McIntyre, Mrs. Frank Mills, Mrs. McGill, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. J. W. Thayer, Mrs. Garroway, Mrs. Frank Ryan, Mrs. R. M. Pierson, Mrs. C. J. Hicks, Mrs. LeRoy Daniels and Mrs. Shroder.

Artist is Visitor.

Rex Stovel of San Francisco is the guest of Mrs. Caroline Adams of South Pasadena. He is known in San Francisco as an artist of ability, having recently completed the interior decorations for the new Cort Theater. He is also known as a painter of portraits and author of several dramas.

Alpha Rho Initiation.

Friday evening the Alpha Rho initiated Miss Mabel Henry and Miss Eunice Oerter, at the Fraternity House, No. 3575 South Figueroa street. The semi-annual banquet followed. The sorority colors, gold and green, were carried out by the use of jonquils and ferns, and gold-edged cards marked covers for thirty guests.

To Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Ned A. Lord and her little son, Lawrence, are passing a few weeks at Santa Barbara visiting friends. Many enjoyable social functions have been planned for Mrs. Lord during her stay here, as she has many friends.

Series of Affairs.

Mrs. Philip D. Wilson, No. 1940 Union avenue, entertained recently with two bridge luncheons. The first honored Mrs. John Lambert of Chicago.

"Tussah Royal"

For Dresses and One-Piece Suits

Without any exception the most satisfactory and most popular fabric for dresses and one-piece suits brought out in many a year is Priestley's Tussah Royal, at $1.50 and $2 a yard; 44 inches wide.

Shown here in all the correct Spring tones, as well as cream and black.

Its dust-shedding, non-crushable and damp-resisting qualities make it peculiarly suitable for this climate.

In anticipation of the present strong demand for long coats, we have brought out an unusually broad variety of Boucles, Chevrons, Nattes, Whipcords and Basket Weaves, in the usual widths, at $1.75 to $8 a yard.

Mr. Berk, our tailor, is ready at all times to take your measurements.

Three Reasons Why the Egan School SUCCEEDS!

ERNEST SHIPMAN

JOHN CORT

OLIVER MOROSCO

The Three Foremost Producing Managers on this Coast—Read Their Unsolicited Communications:

Los Angeles, March 21.

Frank C. Egan,
President Egan Dramatic School

Dear Mr. Egan:—From the standpoint of a manager who has decided to make Los Angeles his producing headquarters for the future, launching road companies, as well as organizing permanent stock organizations, in the cities of California and adjacent States, outside of Los Angeles, I wish to state that your Academy—equipped as it is to equal if not surpass any like institution in Chicago or New York—is a source of relief, as well as an absolute necessity to any manager's creative plans.

"There is as much, if not more, undeveloped talent in this native West than any other place of its inches on earth, and that you know how to whip it into shape where it is of value to the manager, has been practically demonstrated to me upon more than one occasion.

Miss Lucretia Del Valle, who I was influenced into signing for a very difficult role in "The Barrier," has more than made good. Others whom you have placed with me for stock companies in Arizona and Texas have given complete satisfaction. I learn with pleasure that your enrollment numbers students from nearly all the Western States. This gives you a wide range of ability to draw upon, and will inspire greater confidence in the managers.

You can surely depend upon my co-operation, together with that of other managers, in continued recognition of your progress, and those of your graduates who can come to me with your personal recommendation will always command a hearing.

With best wishes for your success,
Sincerely,
(Signed) ERNEST SHIPMAN.

I have known Mr. Egan for ten years, two of which I was personally interested in the Egan School. He is without doubt one of the few real teachers of dramatic art in the world. It has been my pleasure to place a number of his graduates in leading companies, all of whom have made good. The people of Los Angeles and vicinity should lose no time in availing themselves of this great opportunity to study under such direction.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) JOHN CORT.

August 18, 1911.

Frank C. Egan,

My Dear Frank:—To demonstrate to you that I am endeavoring to keep my promise to you regarding your pupils whenever consistent, I beg to announce that I have engaged Miss O'Rourke and Miss Thomas for next week's production of "A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI," at the Belasco theater. I have every reason to feel that with the amount of work you have given these pupils they will play the parts assigned them very well.

I am going to try two others of your pupils in the forthcoming production of "FATHER AND THE BOYS," and just as long as you can furnish me the talent I require for small parts I will use them in preference to outside professionals.

I was delighted to hear of your securing so many well known people for your faculty for the coming season. Your school is certainly the best of its kind in the country at the present time, and with the improvements you are continually making you are absolutely certain of well-merited success, and if there is anything further that I can do to further your interests—please command me.

With best wishes, I remain,
Your Friend,
(Signed) OLIVER MOROSCO.

How many more are going to climb Fame's golden stairs—in these managerial footprints, from an Egan School starting point? Perhaps you'd like to give a personal answer to that question.

SOCIETY.

go, who is spending the winter at Hotel Green, and the second Mrs. Lambert's daughter, Mrs. Harry Thompson. The St. Patrick's motif was carried out for the first affair, and in the second were spring flowers in gold baskets with gaudy hand-painted butterflies hanging from them and among the flowers. About forty guests were entertained each day.

Large Reception.

Mrs. William Jamison, Miss Jessica Lawrence, Mrs. G. J. Vieira, Mrs. J. St. Moyse, Mrs. H. T. Flint, Mrs. Harry Dean, Mrs. John R. Matthews, Mrs. L. C. LeCount, Mrs. W. T. Wetmore, Mrs. J. George Sloan and Miss Madeline Bridges, composing the board of directors, entertained the members of the Lyric Club and their friends with a reception in Symphony Hall, Blanchard building, Tuesday afternoon. White and purple iris and ferns were used in an effective decoration, and following a delightful musical programme dainty refreshments were served.

Dinner Party.

Miss Ethel Vanderberg delightfully entertained the active members of the Alpha Rho Sorority with a dinner party at her home on Normandie avenue Monday evening. A mound of violets and jonquils graced the center of the table and covers were laid for fifteen.

Delightful Affair.

Perfect in arrangement was the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Thomas Wright at her home, No. 1540 West Twentieth street, Wednesday. The large round table was decorated with American Beauty roses, and red carnations also entered into the artistic scheme. Individual corsage bouquets of Richmond roses and lilies of the valley were given as favors. The large living-room was bright with Killarney roses and score and place cards combined were hand-painted heads. Covers were laid for sixteen.

Dinner Delightful.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Doty were the honorees at a dinner party given by Mrs. Robert Hardy in her apartments at the New Marston Hotel Sunday evening. A large brown basket filled with Killarney roses and asparagus fern graced the center of the table. Shamrocks were given as favors, and green baskets were filled with bon bons. Green snakes were peeping out from unexpected quarters, and two green pigs were on either side of the centerpiece. Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. W. Doty, Mrs. Jessie Cairns Shoebottom, Miss Lois Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Hardy.

Farewell Luncheon.

Mrs. F. E. Brown, No. 3219 South Figueroa street, who, with her husband, starts shortly on a trip around the world, entertained with a farewell luncheon Wednesday. A handsome centerpiece of jonquils and violets were used on the table and covers were laid for Mrs. E. Gay, Mrs. John Pomeroy, Mrs. Wager, Mrs. F. E. Webster, Mrs. Mary Clark, Mrs. E. J. Vawter and Mrs. T. M. Melcrom.

Large Affair at Alexandria.

Mrs. J. C. Brown and Mrs. L. H. Mitchell will entertain with a large bridge party at the Alexandria next Thursday, followed by tea. Tables will be arranged for 140 guests.

St. Cecelia Club.

Mrs. Harry Ross of Pasadena entertained the members of the St. Cecelia Club at her home Monday. The Wagnerian programme was continued. Mrs. Harry Baxter reading a paper, Mrs. J. Schroeder giving piano selections and Miss Kie Julie Christin, vocal selections. Special guests present were Mrs. Harman, Mrs. Schroeder and Mrs. Lawrence and members. Mrs. George Crandall, Mrs. Elmer Grey, Mrs. Harry Duffill, Miss Myrtle Quellet, Mrs. Harry S. Ross, Miss Willy Smyser, Mrs. Harry Baxter, Miss Mary Bouquet, Miss Sadie Douglass, Mrs. Charles Lick and Mrs. Phillis Zobelein.

Whist Club.

Members of the Acacia Whist Club were guests recently of Mrs. B. Hahn of No. 1256 West Forty-ninth street. There were present Mrs. R. McLeod, Mrs. Scott Firmen, Mrs. Goold, Mrs. J. Dedrick, Mrs. J. Duden, Mrs. A. T. Munn, Mrs. C. Keeran, Mrs. E. T. Giles, Mrs. W. D. Stephens, Mrs. J. Robertson, Mrs. W. T. Richards, Mrs. J. D. Stirn, Mrs. Bradeh, Mrs. L. Jones and Mrs. G. J. Lindrum.

San Diego Gossip.

San Diego's annual charity ball, which is a benefit for the Children's Home, will be given Tuesday evening, April 19, at the U. S. Grant Hotel. Patrons and patronesses include leaders of the social set of San Diego and Coronado, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Belcher, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin B. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. G. Aubrey Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Douglas, Mrs. Sands W. Forman, U. S. Grant, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Griffis, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Ingle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Luce, Maj. and Mrs. William R. Maize, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Miller, Mrs. Austin W. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Oatman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Richards, Mrs. Mary W. Rife, Admiral and Mrs. Uriel Sebree, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Scripps, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sefton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sehon, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Spreckels, Mr. and Mrs. Percival Thompson, Mrs. Lena Sefton Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wangenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Wilde, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James R. Wadham.

An attractive bridge party of the week was given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Charles MacCormick Reeve, wife of Gen. Reeve, U.S.A., retired, at her home, on Coronado Beach. Four tables for bridge were arranged. Other guests came in for tea. Those playing bridge were Mrs. Percival Thompson, Mrs. J. T. Kauffman, Mrs. Barry Sullivan, Mrs. Herbert Munn, Mrs. Nelson Barker, Mrs. John Dupee, Mrs. Carnahan, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Beckwith, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. McRae, Mrs. Moresman, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Sheaf Rose, Mrs. Koons, Mrs. Sturgess, Miss Ten Eyck.

Coronado Society.

Misses Blanche and Grace Holloway—guests at Coronado—were hostesses Wednesday at an afternoon tea, given in the main ballroom of Hotel del Coronado. An orchestra dispensed music. Green was the color of decorations. Guests included Mrs. Walter Poor, Mrs. Arthur Dewar, Mrs. Joseph O'Brien, Mrs. R. H. Cole, Mrs. Asher Holloway, Mrs. Robert Coburn, Mrs. Hugh Gearing, Mrs. George Jeorns, Mrs. George Jaeger, Mrs. Earl Burnys, Mrs. Henry Wilson, Misses Mildred Brown, Edna Brown, Angie Holmes, Gertrude Crossland, Jean Titus, Claire Parmelee, Jessie Burbeck, Frances Bridges, Bernice Cosgrove, Helen Willis, Martha Halliaday.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Canfield of New York, who have spent several weeks at Coronado, gave a farewell dinner in their private car, the Rocket, Tuesday evening, in honor of their nephew, Dr. T. C. Pounds, and wife, of San Diego. The place cards were small postals illustrating scenes and incidents of the trip of the host and hostess across the continent. Dr. Canfield and party left Coronado for Santa Barbara, where they will spend a week.

Mrs. Theron H. Tracy of No. 2355 Second street, was hostess at a bridge party, Wednesday afternoon, given in honor of Mrs. Edwin Thomas of Buffalo, N. Y., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edward Mann. The guests were Mrs. Edwin Thomas, Mrs. G. Aubrey Davidson, Mrs. F. I. Kendall, Mrs. Austin Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Winchester, Mrs. J. Perry Lewis, Mrs. Henry J. Roberts, Mrs. Louis Masten, Mrs. Percival Thompson, Mrs. Nelson Barker and Mrs. Van Rensselier.

In Washington.

Miss Gertrude Cohen of this city, who is touring the East, was the guest recently of Mrs. Taft at the White House. Miss Cohen will later visit Mrs. Taft's sister, Mrs. Charles Anderson of Cincinnati.

Delightful Afternoon.

An enjoyable affair of Friday was the bridge party presided over by Mrs. Oscar M. Bryn in her pretty apartments on South Hope street. Quantities of huckleberry branches were used, with fair maid carnations, in decorating the rooms. Dainty pink cards with a moss rose in the corner, the brush work of the clever hostess, were used for scores, and a handsome piece of cut-glass and a brass vase were awarded as first and second prizes. Invitations were accepted by Mrs. Lorey Brammer, Mrs. J. Walter Burns, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. Edward McDowell, Mrs. Raymond Hoffelfinger, Mrs. J. Shilton, Mrs. M. E. Morse, Mrs. R. L. Miller, Mrs. George E. Parmenter, Mrs. Sylvan Kahan, Miss Ethel Lang, Miss Anne Treconis, Miss Harriet Crittenden and Miss Lillian Grant. A collation was served at small tables.

Santa Barbara News.

With fifty guests, the theater party given by Dr. Clement Biddle at the Potter Theater on Saturday night for William Faversham's play, "The Faun," was the largest and most successful event of the kind in the history of Santa Barbara society. The evening at the theater was followed by an elaborate dinner served in the palm room at the Potter Hotel. Dr. Biddle's guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Carrington, Dr. Charles Bispham, Miss Anne Bispham, Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Potter, Miss Nina Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harvey, Dr. and Mrs. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Cully, R. B. Gring, Commodore and Mrs. James H. Bull, Miss Marjorie Bull, Mrs. H. M. A. Postley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bothin, Mrs. Duncan Draper, Thornhill Broome, Mr. and Mrs. William Norman Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Baxley, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Calef, E. G. Hammersley, Miss Hammersley, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson, Miss Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jefferson, Mrs. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip H. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Underhill, Dr. and Mrs. David A. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coleman, Miss Blair, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Wetmore.

A pleasing social event of the week was the dinner given by Milo M. Potter in the palm room of the Potter Hotel in honor of Roderick White, the violinist, who is a brother of Stewart Edward White, the novelist, who lives here. The dinner followed a theater party given by Mr. and Mrs. Potter, two boxes being occupied. An immense table in the center of the palm room was tastefully and artistically decorated for the occasion, yellow jonquils, narcissus and greenery giving a nice effect. Apropos to the setting were miniature violins, one as a pretty favor to each guest, and at the head of the table was a regulation violin made of flowers. During the enjoyment of the elaborate dinner Tandler's quartette rendered appropriate selections. Those present with the host and honor guest were: Mrs. Joel Remington Fithian, Mr. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Edward White, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Weatherwax, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. T. Stewart White, Mrs. Milo M. Potter, Miss Nina Jones, Mr. Baker and Miss Black.

Mrs. George Douglas gave a charming bridge tea at her Padre-street home Tuesday afternoon, it being also a farewell reception, as Mr. and Mrs. Douglas left Wednesday morning for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where they will remain. The decorations were many and beautiful. Large baskets in the dining-room were laden with sweet peas, bows of pink and blue ribbon accentuating the artistic picture. Tiny baskets were filled with blue forget-me-nots and white blossoms, a bunch of which was given to each guest upon departing. The bridge tea continued from 3 to 5 o'clock and from 5 to 6 o'clock a general reception was held. Those present at the tea were: Mrs. William Miller Graham, Mrs. John Edward Beale, Mrs. Edward E. Carrington, Mrs. J. P. Jefferson, Mrs. H. S. Gane, Mrs. James H. Bull, Mrs. C. H. Hopkins, Mrs. Edwin H. Sawyer, Mrs. E. E. Moberly, Mrs. A. B. Higginson, Mrs. William Greer, Miss Anne Bispham, Mrs. T. Stewart White, Mrs. Girvan, Mrs. E. R. Spaulding, Miss Palache, Mrs. Bacon and Mrs. Driscoll.

Miss Elisabeth Black gave a handsomely appointed dinner at the Potter Hotel Tuesday evening in honor of her niece, Miss Louise Clark, and nephew, John Clark. Two tables were arranged for the party, at the larger of which twenty-nine of the thirty-five guests were seated and about the smaller table the elder guests were grouped. The tables were decorated with American beauty roses, with American beauty shades to match.

Mrs. Mary M. Norton entertained a few of her friends at her beautiful Montecito home, "Mira Vista," Tuesday evening. Flowers and foliage were used in the decorations. The color scheme was green and white. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jefferson, Mr. Greenleaf and Mr. Sanger.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hartigan of No. 749 Kingsley drive entertained Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Neely of Omaha recently at dinner. Places were set for nine guests and the decorations were violets and jonquils.

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOCIETY.

Pasadena.

SOCIAL entertaining in Pasadena last week was made up of a large number of comparatively small functions among the most important being the auction bridge party given Monday afternoon by Mrs. George Gerald Guyer of Altadena at the Rose Tree Tea House. This affair was in the nature of a farewell festivity given previous to the departure of

Our Optometrist, Dr. Noe

Specialist in the Fitting of Glasses

The marvelous business done in our Optical Dept. has justified us in installing an entire new equipment of the latest instruments for a thorough examination of the eyes. You've only one pair of eyes—the best is none too good for them—take care of them. We are in a position to insure you the advantage of modern methods of eye-testing. We examine them—grind the lenses of the glasses which we prepare for you—and all at a very moderate cost. (Optical Dept., Main Floor) is a fine place for the children to play, and the view is simply superb.

The New Undermuslins

—embody some splendid 1912 ideas

There are Princess Slips, with elaborate flounces, yet no fullness at the feet. Trimmings are put on in flat effect, more so than heretofore, and surplus materials have been eliminated.

There's a new Skirt-drawer, which has a panel effect set in with beading, taking the place of knee skirt and drawer, without extra fullness.

Slim Princess Petticoats, Gowns, Combinations—all bear the touch of down-to-date arrangement in line and trimming.

Prices—$2 to $10.

"Klosfit" Petticoats At $5.00

The genuine satisfaction so many have derived from these correctly fitting skirts tells its own story. The elastic gusset is the reason—the skirt fits without alteration. All sizes, lengths and colors in best messaline, chiffon taffeta and silk Jersey top effects. (Second floor)

La Vida Corsets---Best

Have You Ever Worn One?

If not, you should try a La Vida this Spring. We are exclusive Los Angeles agents for this world renowned make, and our corsetiere will delight in helping you select the model best suited to your figure. This Spring's styles have fewer bones than hitherto—the bust is medium low, back medium high, the abdomen lines very long. Comfort is the keynote of the construction of the La Vida. Soft French coutil and batiste, and Excelson boning are used.

We will be pleased to show you our La Vida Styles. There are many ranging in price from $5 to $15.

Choice of 6000 Pairs
Women's $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00 Boots, Pumps and Oxfords Tomorrow in a Memorable Sale
ONE DOLLAR A PAIR

An announcement of extraordinary interest. A sale inaugurated with the sole purpose of introducing our new underpriced shoe department to the shoe buyers of Los Angeles. Perhaps you've seen other $1.00 shoe sales before—this one will take precedence of all other similar sales ever held in the city for the reason that:

There's absolutely no old stock in this sale. Here we have a new department and every pair of shoes offered is fresh from the Eastern shoe market.

All of this season's most wanted styles. An assortment to choose from that beggars description.

Boots of Gunmetal, Calf, Vici Kid and Patent Kid leathers, many black and tan velours, velvets included; button and lace models.

Oxfords and Pumps

of Patent Kid, Vici Kid, Gunmetal, Suede and Russian Tan leathers; Velvets in brown and black; many White Sea Island duck, pumps included.

Every pair the newest and best styles that are shown around town at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00, in both hand-turned and Goodyear welt shoes; short vamps and every height heel.

Tomorrow 6000 women can participate in this big Monday event, providing the people who see these values will be content to possess but one pair—for there are just 6000 pairs in the lot.

BE HERE BRIGHT AND EARLY MONDAY, 9 A.M., FOR THE BIGGEST AND BEST SHOE OFFER EVER MADE.

Elsinore.

THE St. Patrick's ball, given Saturday evening, March 16, by the Social Club of the O.E.S., was one of the most pleasant social events of the year. A hundred guests were present. The decorations were in white and green. Ice cream and cake were served, and Miss Beatrice Clark presided at the punch bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Earl McClintock led the grand march. One of the features of the evening was the singing. Stephen Coogan sang "Where the River Shannon Flows; W. S. Durkin sang "My Rosary," and a male quartette gave several beautiful numbers.

Very creditable was the rendition of "The Incarnation," the cantata by Adam Giebel, which tells the story of the incarnation with all of its splendors of prophesy, fulfillment and the worship of the Christ child. It was given by local talent, and many and varied were its excellencies. Delbert Crane was director, and the soloists were: Miss Edna Burton, mezzo soprano; Mrs. L. P. Goddard and Miss Ruth Frothingham, contralto; W. S. Durkin, baritone. Quartette: W. L. Cambern, C. S. Wright, W. S. Durkin and R. H. Kirkpatrick.

Miss Mae Smith entertained the Aloha Club Saturday afternoon at her home on Graham avenue. Dainty refreshments were served, and a delightful afternoon enjoyed. Mrs. C. S. Wright will entertain the club at its next meeting, March 23.

The Elsinore Woman's Club was entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. L. Dickson of Machado street, the programme being a continuation of the study of the "Merchant of Venice." Mrs. L. T. Rush gave a paper on "The Position of the Jewish Woman," and Mrs. H. J. Frothingham gave a reading of the street scene from the "Merchant of Venice." Mrs. C. M. Williams was text leader, and Mrs. Ralph Eddy question leader.

The Pomona Glee Club will be in Elsinore on Thursday evening, March 28, under the auspices of the Woman's Club.

Roy Byron of Laguna, N. M., was the guest of his mother, Mrs. George A. Byron, recently. He was en route for the Panama Canal territory.

Mrs. Imogene Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and daughter of Iowa, who are touring California, visited Mrs. M. Hazard this week. Mrs. Cobb and Mrs. Hazard, who are old-time friends, had not met in almost half a century.

Mrs. William Friedman of Temecula was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Burnham.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Bachelor and family have returned to their home in Venice. Mrs. Bachelor, who was here for the baths, has been greatly benefited.

Miss Florence Keegan has returned from a month's visit with friends in Corona.

Mrs. Claud Mansfield returned Monday from a visit in Arlington with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Alden.

C. J. Goodenough of Los Angeles, whose wife is spending a couple of months in Elsinore with her cousin, Miss Carrie Hartwell, and party, was a week-end visitor in Elsinore.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ewing and baby arrived Tuesday from Norman, Okla., and will make Elsinore their future home. Mr. Ewing is a son of T. W. Ewing of North Main street.

Mrs. Lillis Lindley arrived Monday evening from Pasadena, and will spend a couple of weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Farr.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Schanck of Chicago, who have spent the winter in Elsinore, left Monday. Mrs. Schanck and J. K. Schanck of Elsinore are brothers.

Mrs. William Potter and daughter, Miss Bettie Potter, who have spent the past six months in Elsinore, left Monday for their home in Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Potter and Mrs. A. M. Macomber are sisters.

Whittier.

THE wedding of Miss Maude King and Charles N. Hurst took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. King of King's lane. There were 100 invited guests. The decorations were most elaborate in every detail, the living-rooms being beautiful in asparagus plumosus and marguerites. A canopy was made with white lilacs and ferns beneath which the happy couple exchanged the marriage vows. Preceding the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. T. H. Woodard, Miss Susie Burke of Pasadena sang the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin as the bride entered the room, and at the close of the service, "Sweetheart." The bride was lovely in a gown of white peau de cygne and real lace, her tulle veil being caught with lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Mark Fletcher, a sister, acted as matron of honor, and carried a large arm bouquet of yellow jonquils. An informal reception followed the ceremony and an elaborate collation was served. The dining-room was attractive in pink rose buds, a large basket of the lovely blossoms reposing on a mirror in the center of the table. Large pink tulle bows marked the places for the immediate family. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. King, one of Whittier's most prominent families, and is a charming girl, and very popular among a large circle of friends.

Mrs. H. B. Crawford assisted by her daughters, entertained a number of friends Wednesday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower, complimentary to Miss Grace W. Tarbell, whose engagement to Guy C. Welch of Tombstone, Ariz., has recently been announced. The color scheme of pink and white was effectively used in the house decorations and also in the delicious refreshments served. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful pieces of linen. There were thirty guests.

Mrs. Lucy Essley was pleasantly surprised, Monday, when a luncheon was given in her honor at the home of her son, E. L. Essley. The St. Patrick's Day idea was carried out in both the house decorations and table appointments. Covers were laid for twenty-two.

The members of the Economic Section of the Woman's Club were hostesses to the club members, Wednesday afternoon, at the clubhouse. An interesting programme of readings and musical selections was enjoyed. Mrs. George Ritter of Los Angeles gave a splendid interpretation of "Absolution." An informal social hour followed the programme and a delicious collation was served.

Mrs. Mae F. Saunders entertained a number of friends, Monday evening, the affair being one of a series of merry-go-round socials of the Congregational Church. St. Patrick's Day was observed with Irish songs and readings and also in the decorations and refreshments.

One of the pleasant affairs of the week was that given Monday evening by Miss Clara Halstead at her home, No. 142 South Newlin avenue.

Miss Minnie Meyers, daughter of Marius Meyers of this city, and Thomas Fitzgerald were married Sunday afternoon at the Catholic Church. The impressive Catholic ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Antill in the presence of relations and a few close friends.

South Pasadena.

ONE OF the large affairs of the current week was the whist luncheon given by Mrs. Edward Fisher Hobert of Oneonta, complimentary to a club of which she is a member. On a handsome battenberg centerpiece rested a low cutglass bowl filled with pink hyacinths and for-get-me-nots. The living-room was enlivened with Reve-de-Or roses and the drawing-room with flowering shrub and narcissus. Following luncheon tables were arranged for whist and prizes captured by Mrs. Otto Kuencer, Mrs. Florence Blood and the guests' prize by Mrs. Bert Ellis. Special guests present were Mrs. Arthur Levitt, Mrs. David Vail, Mrs. James P. Bryan of Philadelphia, Mrs. William Council, Mrs. Bert Ellis of La Canada and Mrs. T. C. Egleston of Denver and members, Mrs. B. F. Huntington, Mrs. Mary Stringfellow, Mrs. George C. Bush, Mrs. Robert Hardy and Mrs. Florence Blood of Los Angeles; Mrs. Jessie Cairns Shoebottom, Mrs. Charles C. Hudson, Mrs. Roy Mungrer of Pasadena; Mrs. Harrison Gifford, Mrs. George Patterson, Mrs. Otto Kuencer, Mrs. Norman Marsh, Mrs. C. J. Balfour, Miss Bertha Bosbyshell, Mrs. Frederick Engene Warner, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. Walter Sebree and Mrs. Charles Rohne.

Mrs. Gordon Wands of San Francisco is the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Gilbert, No. 411 El Centro street.

A charmingly appointed dinner of the week was that given by P. O. Gardner at his home, No. 1115 Windsor place Sunday, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilbert of Norwich, Ct., who are spending the winter in Southern California. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Dudley of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whitmore and Miss Jennie Hornby of Adrain, Mich. A lake in Kilarney was represented by a long mirror, surrounded by ferns, ivy and cut grasses. Green snakes were crawling over the grasses and place cards were ornamented with shamrocks. Favors for the ladies were handsome boxes of bon bons and preserved fruits.

Miss Florence Gifford, No. 1119 Fair Oaks avenue left Tuesday for Phoenix, Ariz., where she will be the guest of friends for a month. Upon her return trip she will stop at El Centro.

In honor of the twelfth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Rebecca, Mrs. George Patterson, entertained with a juvenile party at her home, No. 1707 Oak street Saturday evening. The dainty for-get-me-not was used to ornament the refreshment table, and jolly games were enjoyed during the evening. Included were Irene and Ruth Salisbury, Dorothy Sebree and Dorothy and Gladys Grier and Catherine and Mary Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Reavis, No. 1102 Fair Oaks avenue, left Tuesday for Beaumont.

Miss Eola Crippen, Monterey road and Milan avenue, gave a card party Thursday evening having as guests members of the Arroyo "Five Hundred" Club. Jonquils and ferns were used exclusively in decorating for the affair, and following the games handsome prizes were awarded to Miss Gladys Wilett and Jack Reddock. Members present were Miss Gladys Wilett, Miss Laura Hoffman, Miss Dolphine Fort, Miss Rita Summers of Los Angeles and Miss Reddock and Messrs. Arnold Salisbury, Wendell Kuencer, Carleton Gilbert, Hubert Crippen and Jack Reddock.

Mrs. George Patterson, No. 1707 Oak street, left Wednesday for Coalinga, where her husband has large business interests.

As a farewell for her mother, Madam Filley, who is leaving for an extended eastern trip, Mrs. Wilbur Filley entertained with a luncheon Friday at her home, No. 2057 Rollins street. A large basket filled with the yellow jonquils surrounded by shamrocks ornamented the center of the table, and place cards were hand decorated with jonquils. Following luncheon contests and dainty fancy work were enjoyed, prizes falling to the guests of honor and Mrs. Hungerford. Included were Mrs. W. K. Dodson, Mrs. Charles Holder and Mrs. James Holder of Los Angeles, Mrs. Frank Pryor, Mrs. Frank Stokes, Mrs. Z. L. Parmelee, Mrs. Hungerford, Mrs. William Council, Mrs. E. P. Bosbyshell and Mrs. Frank Munson of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Grant, No. 1000 Fair Oaks avenue, entertained the members of the Saturday Evening "Five Hundred" Club, their home having been decorated for the occasion with jonquils and greenery. Handsome prizes were awarded the winners and special guests included were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Heffelfinger, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mundy, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bryn, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Grant of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson and members, Mr. and Mrs. William Carlin, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Harland, Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Brasier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tower, Mr. and Ms. O. A. Blatner and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beardslee of Chicago.

Complimenting Mrs. M. B. Patterson of Stubenville, O., Mrs. Mary Stringfellow entertained with a thimble party at her home No. 1707 Oak street Monday afternoon. Variegated hyancinths were used to enhance the artistic bungalow and contests were enjoyed, prizes falling to Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Gakeler. Present were Mrs. Walter Sebree, Mrs. Howard Kelley, Mrs. Rebecca Cairns, Mrs. T. C. Egleston of Denver, Mrs. James P. Bryan and Mrs. P. B. Gakeler of Philadelphia, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Clarendon Foster, Mrs. T. I. Gifford, Mrs. May Huffman of Nebraska, Mrs. Richard Mahon of Stubenville, O., and Mrs. George Patterson.

MISS Nellie Frances Van de Grift and Herman Garfield Karstens of Nebraska City were united in marriage Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Van de Grift, Rev. Horace Porter officiating in the presence of 150 friends and relatives. The matron of honor was Mrs. Rudolph Blauer of San Jose and the bridesmaids were Miss Lucy Orr of San Francisco and Miss Clare Karstens. The flower girl was Dorothy Taylor and the ropes of smilax forming the aisle were held by Miss Josephine Van de Grift and Miss Esther Gleason. Bridal music was furnished by Mrs. Lucie A. Loud and after the ceremony Mrs. Baluer sang several love songs. The bride wore a handsome gown of brocaded satin with elaborate garniture of princess lace heavily embroidered in pearls. She wore a long veil of tulle and carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley and bride roses. The matron of honor was in white messaline and the bridesmaids wore white silk voile over pink. They carried pink roses. After the ceremony, reception and supper, Mr. and Mrs. Karstens left on a bridal trip of a couple of weeks after which they will return here for a short time before going East to make their home in Nebraska City, where Mr. Karstens is in business. The entire house was very handsomely decorated in pink carnations, pink roses and pink stock combined with garlands of smilax and asparagus plumosus. All lights were shaded in pink. The bride received many handsome gifts including a silver tea set from her parents and a chest of silver from the sisters of the bridegroom.

Mrs. John Howard Hall gave a smartly appointed luncheon in the refectory of the Mission Inn Friday in compliment to Mrs. Paul Day Willard of Hibbing, Nebraska, who is here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Adair. The centerpiece was a large gilt basket filled with pink carnations and ferns. Smaller gilt baskets filled with and white candies were the favors. The place cards were in the form of baskets filled with pink blossoms. Covers were laid for sixteen. After luncheon bridge was enjoyed in the Carmel rooms and prizes of silver pencils were won by Misses Ethel Smith, Martha Waite, Dorothy Bettner and Elizabeth Green.

The music section of the Women's Club gave a delightful entertainment at the clubhouse Thursday afternoon, the following prominent musicians taking part: Miss A. B. Spackman, pianist; Mrs. D. G. Clayton, Miss Grace Murray, Miss Lillian Backstrand and Miss Katherine Solue, vocalists; Miss Ellen Murray, vocalist; Miss Lena Kennedy, pianist; Gustav Hilverkus, cornetist; Miss Marie Chamblin and Miss Marie Cannon, pianists; Messrs. Johnson, John Serring, M. F. Southard, Mrs. Ingalis of Milhuen, Mass., Misses Helen Seager, Jov and Cora Southard, Grace Eaton and Mrs. Frank Wells.

The Casa Loma Golf Club held its first annual dinner Wednesday evening, the object being the presentation of the beautiful silver loving cups won during the tournament just closed. The table decorations were in keeping with the occasion, they being suggestive of a golf course. Those who received the loving cups were D. B. Mitchell, Miss Maude Lawrence, Miss Winifred Lawrence and Mrs. E. L. Drewery. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Boyd, Mrs. H. O. Lawrence, Miss Maude Lawrence, Miss Winifred Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Drewery, Dr. John Stephens, Paul Benedict, D. B. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Moore entertained a number of the members of the Pocahontas Lodge with an informal card party Wednesday evening. Whist was played and the prizes were won by Mrs. Burrows and M. M. Morris.

Mrs. Charles Wolcott entertained with whist Wednesday evening for Miss Anna Trenholme, who leaves Sunday for her home in Pitchburg, Mass. She has been the guest this winter of Mrs. A. F. Davis. Both the living-room and the parlor were decorated with bridal wreath and pink roses. The tally cards bore quaint emblems of St. Patrick's Day, the shamrock and flags of Erin. The largest scores were attained by Miss Gladys and F. H. Hardy, while the consolations went to Mrs. Nellie Lashlee and H. Nordman. The event also proved to be a birthday surprise for Mr. Wolcott, who knew nothing of the plans for the party until the guests arrived. One of the features of the spread was a large birthday cake. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hardy, Miss Gladys Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Davis, Mrs. Nellie Lashlee, Mrs. Annie Jenkins, Mrs. Annie Myers, Miss Trenholme, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hennessey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Gist, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Randall, Miss Mabel Gregory, H. Nordman and Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott.

Fisk, president; Miss Mary Hamilton, first vice-president; Mrs. Belle M. Jewett, second vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Springborg, recording secretary; Mrs. F. G. Feraud, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. W. Roberts, treasurer. The directors to serve two years are Mrs. J. P. Fisk, Mrs. B. M. Jewett, Mrs. A. E. Springborg, Mrs. William A. Taltavall and Miss Mary Hamilton. The directors whose terms are unexpired are Mrs. J. W. Roberts, Mrs. F. G. Feraud, Mrs. C. A. Sanborn, Mrs. George Robertson, Mrs. J. S. Edwards and Mrs. S. L. Beller.

A delightful party was given Tuesday evening at Harlem which was attended by young people from Redlands, Highland and Los Angeles. The evening was spent in dancing. The dancers were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Arth, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fussel, Misses Minnie and Edna Arth, Fern Keen, Catherine Yost, Messrs. Fred Arth, Fred Turner, Ernest Thompson, Lee Nicholson and Jarret Lake of Redlands, Elida Gerber, Miss Webb, Miss Rose Barnes, Frank Fletcher, Russell Power, Mr. Lee, Mr. Webster and James Burke of Highland, and Fannie Shorey and Ida Bell Gerber of Los Angeles.

The fourth annual reunion of the New England Society of Redlands was held Friday evening in the new Elk's Hall when the play, "The District Skule," was given. The "pupils," who will appear under assumed names in keeping with the occasion, are C. E. Truesdell, whose recitation will be, "Past and Present New Englanders;" Mrs. J. H. Williams, "School Days at Old Andover;" K. C. Wells, on "Doing Chores;" Mrs. Woodbury, on "The Seasons;" recitation by H. G. Clements; solo by Mrs. Montgomery; essay, "Maple Sugar," Mrs. Camp; "A Vision of the Future," Mrs. Lockwood.

Miss Louise West and Miss Lorraine Wilson entertained the academy students of the University of Redlands Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. West of No. 215 West Olive. Despite the fact that the sophomores and freshmen stormed the place and carried away the greater portion of the refreshments, the affair was an enjoyable one. The evening was spent in music and games and the old Virginia reel was indulged in to the limit. Those present were the Misses Wilson, West, Ida Porter, Lillian Slauson, Ona Ray, Irma Black, Caroline Black, Louise Davis, Gladys Ogliera, Edna Pierce, Stella Coshow, Hannah West, Gladys West, Myrtle West, Mr. and Mrs. E. Chedester, Rollo Wilson, Sterley and Miles Mahan, Albert Adamson, Welcome Smith, and Fred Reilly of San Bernardino, Donald Miller, Stewart Stevenson, Mr. Stockton, Gordon Brook, Alonzo Hill, A. Koonse, Harold Silker, Ira Thomason and Curtis Edwards.

Miss Beulah Barnes of No. 226 North street, entertained a number of San Bernardino and Redlands people Tuesday evening with a St. Patrick's party. The decorations were of green, in keeping with the season, a large shamrock forming a canopy effect in the living room. In the games the prizes were won by Miss Marion Roach and John Holland, while the consolations were carried off by Mrs. William Hanse and C. E. Arthur. The San Bernardino guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Hanse, Mr. and Mrs. John Culbertson, Misses Madge Powell, Miss Mary Benand E. Harmon. Inglewood.

THE DICKENS LITERARY CLUB held an unusually interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. R. Kerr.

Dr. and Mrs. Eshelman entertained Sunday at their home, a dinner party in honor of E. J. Wells, of Illinois, who is spending the winter in Inglewood. The invited guests were E. J. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Martin, Mrs. H. A. Batchelor, Mrs. Ines Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirk, and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Kirk.

On Thursday, Mrs. Charles H. Eager, president of the Los Angeles Dickens Fellowship, entertained the members of the board and the resident members of Inglewood at a "Meriendo" at her home, on Queen street. Steaks cooked on the outdoor gridiron and a delicious Spanish salad were special features of the luncheon, which was served in the ramada. The guests visited the greenhouses, aviaries, and the handsome new home of Mr. and Mrs. Eager on Regent street, which is nearing completion, after which they enjoyed a rare treat—looking over Mrs. Eager's splendid collection of Dickens literature. Those enjoying Mrs. Eager's hospitality were Mrs. W. R. Dickenson, Mrs. B. M. Wyman, Miss Margaret Minot-Felte, Miss Annie Bock, Mrs. B. F. Eshelman, Mrs. T. F. Kirk, Mrs. A. Oestrich, Mrs. S. Sollenberger, Mrs. George H. Noyes, Mrs. J. F. Farley, Miss Harriet Pownall and Mrs. Frank Parent.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. George H. Noyes entertained most delightfully a company of young ladies at her attractive home on Redondo avenue, in honor of Miss Lilian Annette Putnam, eldest sister of Dr. Putnam, whose marriage to Earle Van Gelder will take place this month. The decorations were appropriate and beautiful. The handsome living-room being a study in scarlet, with its myriads scarlet-hearts and great masses of scarlet geraniums, while the dining-room was a veritable bower of white "bridal wreath." During the afternoon, Miss Hurlburt announced the engagement of her sister, Miss Beatrice, to Mark Grimmell—both well known young people of Inglewood. Pink and white was the color scheme of the refreshments served during the afternoon, the ices, bonbons, dainty cakes and French confections all being in those colors. Miss Putnam, who has resided in Inglewood several years, and is greatly beloved by a large circle of friends, received many handsome gifts, and good wishes for the future, from those present. Mrs. Eshelman assisted Mrs. Noyes during the afternoon, whom the young ladies voted a most charming hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bourland of Whittier were the over-Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennett.

Mrs. Frank Noyes, once a resident of Inglewood, but now of Kingman, Ariz., is spending a couple of weeks here, visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Oldfield, of Portland, Or., were the guests, Tuesday, of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Mosher.

Miss Grace Eshelman, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Eshelman, is home from Pomona College for the Easter vacation.

Dr. Putnam left Inglewood Tuesday for Arrowhead Springs, where he will make a short stay, after which he expects to visit a number of other places, possibly going East before his return.

The Women of Woodcraft entertained fifty friends Tuesday evening, at their lodge-room in the Masonic building. Whist was played until a late hour, nine tables being used for this amusement. The ladies' prize was captured by Mrs. Lewis Oldfield of Portland, Or., the gentleman's prize going to Charles Mehegan of Inglewood. Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Friend and son, Robert, spent Sunday in Monrovia, the guests of eastern friends, who are spending the winter in California.

The Misses Grace Russell and Elmira Rice of Los Angeles were the week-end guests of Miss Annette Putnam.

Mrs. Mary Haskell of Augusta, Me., and her daughter, Mrs. Iva Everson of Alma, Neb., are recent arrivals in Inglewood, and are guests at the home of Miss Harriet Farmer, one of our grammar school teachers. These ladies expect to spend some time visiting places of interest in Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ufford and family left Inglewood Thursday for Smelzer, this State, where Mr. Ufford recently purchased a ten-acre ranch, where the family expect to reside for some time.

ODD LOTS LACE CURTAINS AT HALF REGULAR PRICES 95c TO $5—SALE PRICES 48c to $2.50

A $1 Waist Sale —Remarkable in Scope —Sensational in Value-Giving

—A good old fashioned $1.00 Waist Sale, similar to the features that have made this department famous.
—The result of big Eastern purchases, concentrating on this week's selling.
—Not only the lingerie waists, but the mannish shirt styles, some of mercerized materials, tan or cream.
—Shirts of striped Rugby galatea and striped dimity.
—The waists are mostly high neck models, prettily trimmed with lace or embroidery.
—Listen — it's been a long time since we have had such waists of beauty and character to offer at such a price. Description is out of the question, you must see them.

Natural Dress Linen 18c

36-in. Width—Sale Sensation

—To tell the story in plain facts, this 36-inch Natural Color Dress Linen is one of the strongest linen features we have presented in a long time.
—1500 yards—and well, it's the heavy, closely woven linen, so fashionable for the making of suits and dresses.
—If you want to see the enthusiasm which makes such Broadway features as this a success, just visit the third floor department Monday, yard 18c.

25c and 35c Semi-Silks

A Great Third Floor Sale 19c

10 Yd. Box Nainsook $1

—It's to be a great wash goods season and this is a great Wash Goods opportunity; 25c and 35c qualities at 19c.

White Nubuck

—For young ladies has just been brought forward in our Little Guardian line.
—$3.50 is a very nominal price for a Nubuck with this medium heel that Fashion is approving. Also note the welted sole and riveted buttons.
—Just the sort of footwear that misses are demanding and this is a saving price.
—Smaller sizes 11½ to 2, at $3.00.
—And this serves to introduce the completeness of our famous Little Guardian line of footwear for misses and children. It's time now to be thinking of new Easter footwear.

A Pictorial Demonstration of the Values That are Making This Garment Dept. Talked About —Look at the pictures, look at the styles, look at the prices. What news could we print two weeks from Easter that would have greater significance.

—We might herald this as a great sale—in which the above mentioned prices were featured. But garment for garment, and price for price, we'd find it very difficult, even had we procured them as a sales feature, to present better values.
—Better values at every price we name, is our slogan this season, and the garments are living up to our ideal.

At $10, $12.50, $15, $17.50, $19.50, $22.50, $25 and $29.50

—Every garment is new, every garment is distinctive, every garment is a feature at the price.
—Plain tailored and novelty suits, styles that are winning instant approval.
—This big announcement is intended to attract your attention to this department and the garments we are featuring.
—We want you to come and see for yourself why we are so enthusiastic. We want to impress upon you also, that Broadway merchandise is sold upon the one price principle absolutely.
—We picture nine styles from hundreds of garments, to show you how wonderfully good are these suits, and how low the prices.

SUIT PICTURED $10—Of all-wool mannish serge, lined with satin. Skirt in side effect. High waisted. Really it's the wonder how we can sell them for $10.

SUIT PICTURED $12.50—Of fine French serge. Choice of navy or tan. Collar and lapels of white serge, trimmed with white pearl buttons. Outside pocket, panel skirt, $12.50.

SUIT PICTURED $15—Of fancy serge, black and white stripe, looks like a suit worth far above the price. Plain tailored, finished with vesting, three pockets. Lined with all silk peau de cygne. Shields $15.

SUIT PICTURED $15—Two button cutaway model of exceptional navy serge, wide lapels, finished with white pique vesting, lined with changeable peau de cygne. Skirt fancy panel. These suits are really worth more.

SUIT PICTURED $17.50—Is of mannish serge, in navy or brown. Made with wide lapels, trimmed with mofre silk and buttons. One sided effect. Two-button cutaway. Button trimming on sleeve. High waisted skirt. Remarkable at $17.50.

SUIT PICTURED $17.50 — Of navy mannish serge, cutaway style. Collar, lapels and cuffs of the new Ratine. Fastened with one beautiful silk ornament, lined with peau de cygne. Skirt panel effect. Really wonderful value, at $17.50.

SERGE SUIT $19.50—Note the cutaway effect. One-button. Has wide lapels. Splendidly lined with silk serge.
—We'd be justified in asking much more for this garment. We've priced it low to attract your attention.

SUIT PICTURED $22.50—Really it's selling below its real worth. Collar of fancy white Bengaline, piped in blue, lapels with button trimming. Three-button cutaway style. Right up to the minute in every way.

SUIT PICTURED $25—Is of navy [illegible] —cutaway, one-button style. [illegible] long lapels of white serge and [illegible] satin. Cuffs the same. Three [illegible] stitching in back. High waist [illegible] skirt. This garment is a beauty [illegible] remarkable value.

Several Hundred Bunches Fresh Violets Free

—Beginning at 9:30 we will distribute several hundred bunches violets in our [illegible] floor garment section. [illegible] purchase necessary. The idea is to bring you into this department, where such [illegible] values have been assembled, that you may [illegible] for yourself, that our [illegible] siasm is well taken.

Undermuslins

A Great Purchase

—Such prices on Princess Slips, Crepe Gowns and Crepe Kimonos as will be immediately recognized as extraordinary.
—Daintiness of style and attractiveness of prices share equally in the importance of this announcement.

Princess Slips $1

—Just feel of the soft muslin if you would know how unusual are these Princess Slips at $1.
—The treatment of the embroidery, lace and ribbon trimmings is very effective.

Crepe Gowns $1

—You might class them at $1.75 values, or to be very conservative, $1.50.
—Trimmed with lace or embroidery beading and ribbon. Crepe gowns need not be ironed, and that will save much trouble and expense.

Crepe Kimonos $1

—New and of pretty figured crepe—shirred around the shoulders and on cuffs—made with loose belt.
—Choose from lavander, pink, light blue and dark blue. $1.00.

Remarkable Purchase Mesh Bags

Really $5 Values Five Styles at .. $3.50

—When this offer was presented to us, we snapped it up immediately, for surely such splendid mesh bags at such a saving price would be feature enough for us to dispose of them in very quick order.

—It was just the small assortments of several different styles that this manufacturer closed out to us at far below their real worth. They measure 5½ and 6¼ inches in size.
—Plain satin, scroll and floral designs, in French gray finish; also high-polished engraved designs.
—These bags are the indestructible mesh without lining. Pay especially attention to how the mesh is attached to the frame.
—Really we could not duplicate these bags in the regular way to sell for less than $5.00. Sale price $3.50.

Easter Millinery Now

—"Simply Exquisite! Isn't it wonderful how little it takes to make a Beautiful Hat? Just look at this——and this—and this."—

"Paquin" PARIS

—Just the shape—a touch of flowers—or perhaps a "stick up" of ribbon—but Oh! it's the study—and skill—and art that have been used to have the result just so bewitchingly becoming—
—It's study—and skill—and art that are making Bullock Hats for Spring—
—It's the study and skill and art upon which the success of your new Spring Hat depends——Have it individual!—Different! filled with character and beauty!
—Have it your hat—in every sense of the word. Irresistible—becoming!
—A Magnificent Display is being made—in the second floor salons, now—
—Easter, April 7—just two weeks more—

—"Oh! you just shouldn't miss the display that Bullock's is making. The Suits and the Dresses. I never saw such lovely Lingerie Frocks, and so many different styles—from the simplest Gowns, with just the daintiest touch of pretty trimming, to the most elaborate affairs; nearly all real Irish Lace.

—"And the suits!—Really remarkable, the tailoring and materials in those at $25—and there are coats at $25—that are just as uncommon. But it's at $35, $39.50, $49.50 that the styles are irresistible. You simply can't help wondering how they can be sold for so little.

"Then there are Veritable 'Creations' from Paquin, Paris

—"It made me think of nothing so much as of the academy."

—Woman after woman has been enthusiastic over the Fashion Show that is being held upon the second floor.—It's big—and different—and new—Notable for its unusual variety, and the beauty of each individual unit.

—And we have worked to have it varied—and beautiful—and at the same time to make it intensely interesting from a practical standpoint so that "Every woman can be clothed according to her figure and stature, in the lines and colors most in accord with them," as Mme. Paquin advises every woman should be clothed.

—Monday should be a Gala Day. In addition to the Paquin models; there will be Paquin models Americanized—; Suits from Francis; Labardie et cie.; Bechoff David; and New York Designers of note. Gowns of individuality in a rare range of styles and colors, exclusively at Bullock's — soft Silk Dresses—in shades of the chameleon——Suits, Coats, Waists, in such an array we shall not attempt to describe them, but just send out this announcement, bidding every woman welcome to the Second Floor, to look as well as to buy.

You can have clean bright snappy hair by using NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

If you would take more care of your hair you have no idea how much it would improve your looks. With flakes of dandruff showing at the parting and the hair itself thin, scragly, dull and lusterless, you are not making the most of nature's gifts.

The delightful, sanitary hair-dressing, NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE, is a boon to those with hair trouble. Its intelligent use removes dandruff and makes the scalp clean and healthy. The hair becomes naturally smooth and glossy, light and fluffy. HERPICIDE, by destroying the dandruff and making the hair and scalp sweet and clean, permits the hair to grow luxuriantly. The subtle and exquisite odor of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE is always pleasing and refreshing, while HERPICIDE itself is so clean and pure that it appeals to all.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE is a toilet necessity which no girl or woman with any regard for personal neatness and attractiveness can afford to be without. Try it once and you will be surprised at the improvement noticeable in the appearance of your hair. HERPICIDE stops itching almost at once.

Claremont.

THE MOST important social event of the week in Claremont was the wedding, on Monday evening, of Miss Marjorie Maynard, the youngest daughter of Mrs. La Salle Aimeron Maynard, to Roland Snow Valle, of Santa Paula. The bride's father, the late La Salle A. Maynard, was, for many years, an associate editor of Leslie's Weekly, and a leading journalist of New York City. The wedding was solemnized at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride, on Ninth street. The decorations throughout the house were in yellow and white, the living-room, where the ceremony was performed, being a bower of Lady Banksia roses and asparagus plumosus. Long chains of bridal wreath were arched over the fireplace, and a bower of white and green was formed before which the service was read. In the music-room white bridal wreath and yellow roses were effectively used, while the dining-room and enclosed porch, were massed with feathery yellow acacias. Promptly at 8 o'clock, Miss Bess Viola Daniels rendered a short musical programme at the piano, followed by Lohengrin's Wedding March, to the strains of which the bridal party entered. The four ushers, who bore garlands of ferns, descended the staircase first, outlining a pathway for the bride. They were gowned in white, with a touch of yellow. They were the Misses Blanche E. Stafford and Edith Hitchcock, of Claremont; Miss Elsie R. Hayes of Long Beach and Miss Vinale R. Stout of Glenn's Ferry, Idaho. The four bridesmaids, who followed, were attired in dainty white frocks and carried sheaf boquets of yellow daffodils. They were the Misses Hope L. Potter, Miriam J. Colcord and Mary S. Roof of Claremont, and Mrs. Paul L. Marsh of Pomona. Next came the maid-of-honor, the bride's sister, Miss Mary Maynard, gowned in yellow marquisette, and carrying an exquisite shower boquet of daffodils and ferns. The bride, charming in her wedding gown, of crepe de chene, and lace, made entrain, wore her bridal veil, caught back with sprays of orange blossoms. She wore as her only ornament, a pearl bar pin, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower boquet of white lilacs and lilies-of-the-valley. She was met at the foot of the stairs by her mother, who escorted her to the waiting groom, who was attended by his cousin, Stephen Barrows of Nordhoff. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Kingman, D. D., and after the nuptial vows were spoken, Mr. and Mrs. Valle, as well as the members of their families, were the recipients of many good wishes.

Refreshments were served in the dining-room, where Mrs. R. T. Belcher, Mrs. George Jencks, and the Misses Helene McCormick and Eva J. Southwick, presided. Later in the evening, the bride and groom left for a brief trip to Avalon, Santa Catalina Island. Both Mr. and Mrs. Valle are graduates of Pomona College, and the attendants of the bride were all her former classmates Mr. and Mrs. Valle will be at home after April 1, at Santa Paula, where Mr. Valle is horticultural commissioner for Ventura county. The guests included, in addition to a large number from Claremont, the following from out-of-town: Miss Mary G. Wilkins, from Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Shepherd, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Chandler, Miss Mabla Phelps and Miss Agnes Gets of Los Angeles; Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. Paul March, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Williams, Miss Kathleen Bartle, G. H. Hutchins, and the Misses Louise and Harriet Hutchins of Monrovia; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fuller of Redlands, Miss Eva Rasmussen of Ventura, Miss Jean Walden of Santa Paula, Mrs. W. W. Stewart and Miss Stewart of Perris, Miss Katharine Jones of Upland and Miss Lucille Reed of Whittier.

On Friday evening, the Misses Elizabeth Foss, Grace Hight, Rose Michod, Rowena Bush, Irma Baker and Myra Shaw, who are attending Pomona College, but making their home at Sycamore Lodge, were hostesses to a number of their friends at a St. Patrick's Day party, green being the color of the decorations.

The living-rooms were massed in green pepper boughs, and potted

ONE of the happy events of the season was the five hundred and needlework party given Thursday afternoon at "Leven Oaks" Hotel by Madam Emily Newton Wheeler and Mrs. Lawrence Newton Wheeler. Tables for needlework were placed in the living-room and those for cards in the dining-room. The hotel lends itself most admirably to artistic decoration and the rooms were beautifully arranged with lovely yellow blossoms relieved with feathery greens. The motif of yellow was again used in place cards and table appointments. Mrs. Edward D. Newton of Los Angeles and Miss Kathleen Bartle and Miss Opal Rives assisted in entertaining. Mrs. A. L. McCamant won a lovely sewing box as most expert needleworker, and Mrs. C. H. Sarwine an embroidered pillow, the first prize at the card tables. Mrs. Frank O. Lazer was awarded a consolation prize of a silver lemon dish filled with fruit. At 4 o'clock all of the guests assembled in the dining-room and an elaborate collation was served at the card tables. One hundred guests were present.

A programme of unusual interest was given Wednesday by the Saturday Afternoon Club, in celebration of St. Patrick's Day. Irish songs and recitations were followed by a delightful talk by Rev. Father J. J. Sheehy, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Ireland's long struggle for ancient rights was pathetically told in the first division of the address and then followed the history of St. Patrick's devoted life and wonderful achievements among the Pagan Islanders. The eloquent speaker closed with the recitation of Locke's poem of the Irish patriot's return to his native land after an absence of many years. The decorations for the day were of shamrock and other greenery. The hostesses were Mmes. J. J. Walsh, C. H. Dixon, A. B. Clapp and Miss Mills. They were assisted at the tea tables by Misses Weston, Boothe, Dixon and Beck.

Mmes. Charles H. Anson, Julia Moore, S. M. Barker, L. E. Bowman, F. A. Silck, E. Baker and Brown, assisted by fourteen young ladies, members of the J.O.C.'s, gave an elaborate and brilliantly carried out banquet Tuesday evening in the dining-room of the First Methodist Church. Covers were laid for 100 and the guests were all gentlemen, members of the church. The decorations of the tables were of lovely jonquils and the yellow motif appeared in table appointments. C. H. Ainley acted as toastmaster and Dr. F. E. Wilson responded eloquently to "The Glad Hand." Fred Ainley made a delightful talk in answer to "Goodfellowship." The occasion was in celebration of the opening of the domestic department of the church, which has been furnished by the ladies of the church.

Mrs. Sidney A. Schilling and Mrs. L. N. Wheeler were chairmen of the receiving Committee of the reception given Monday afternoon by the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society in the church parlors. The handsome decorations were in green and white. An informal programme contributed greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon. Tea was poured at 4 o'clock.

OVER THE SEA.

The Lord Mayor of Berlin, K. A. Martin Kirschner, who has occupied the position since 1899 and was re-elected for another term last year, has announced his intention of resigning. He says that he will settle the date of his retirement before June 1. He will be 70 years of age this year. It is probable that the Lord Mayor's decision to retire has been brought about by the recent creation of the municipality of Greater Berlin, in which Berlin proper is combined with all the suburban municipalities. Dr. Karl Steiniger was elected on February 27 Mayor of the larger municipality.

During the recent visit to Russia of the Paris municipality, a presentation was made to the Czar by the Mayor of Paris of a beautiful Easter egg incrusted with precious stones. The egg, which rested on a silken cushion, was surmounted by a small golden crown, beneath which was a tiny button actuating a spring. When the button was pressed the egg flew open, disclosing an excellent portrait of the little Czarovitch.

Felix Schweighoffer, the German comedian, who died recently, left an estate valued at 1,000,000 marks. "He was a model citizen as well as a great actor," says a friend. "He was thrifty, but his purse was never closed against the needy and what he did for them was done in secrecy."

Mrs. James is said to have amassed a fortune of $400,000 by selling watercress at Covent Garden Market, London. Mrs. James has been selling watercress ever since she was 5 years old, beginning with two small basketfuls. "Hard work is the secret of success," Mrs. James declares. "I stand out in the open every morning from 8 o'clock till 10, and after that I have to look after the fresh-cut watercress which arrives from my farm by every passenger train. Study your customers, never disappoint them, give them the best and you must succeed." Mrs. James has a handsome home in London, a house in the country, a watercress farm and keeps a motor launch.

FOR DISCRIMINATING WOMEN

WHITE AND TAN Button Boots are just now at the pinnacle of popularity—the most prominent style feature of the present season. The demands of fashion in this direction were anticipated months ago by the "Cousins" Organization. The result is that the present showing of WHITE AND TAN BOOTS—at both Gude stores—is exceptionally complete.

Boots of patent with white calf toppings, and with silver gray or tan suede toppings, are also prominent style features this season. Not only are these combinations exceedingly smart in appearance, but the colorings harmonize beautifully with the new Spring Suits and costumes.

Pumps with low heels are the new style note in low-cuts this season. They fit more perfectly than the high heel pumps, are smarter of outline, and permit of ever so much more freedom in walking. Shown in tan, dull calf, patent, white and black suede. In Oxfords, the button Oxford is the most prominent style. The new patterns are very smart in appearance.

Boots From $3.50 to $6.50
Pumps From $3.50 to $5.50
Oxfords From $3.50 to $5

Thousands of women in estimating their shoe needs unconsciously place THE COUSINS SHOE first at every point of judgment.

Style Notes

White and Tan Boots are the accepted style feature in footwear for Spring and early Summer. White boots are shown in genuine buckskin, "snowbuck" and "nubuck," and in white Sea Island duck; while the new Tan Boots are of soft Russia stock.

Fashion having willed that there must be a change from the conventional plain kid and calf—some of the more enterprising makers originated effective combinations of patent with white calf toppings, and of patent with silver gray and tan suede toppings. These styles appeal to a woman's love of the beautiful, and the soft suede toppings are in perfect accord with the flowing taffetas that play so conspicuous a part in the season's fashionable gowns.

English Lace Walking Boots are highly favored for street wear. These are shown in white, tan and dull calf, are new and very smart in appearance, and are admirably adapted for wearing with the tailored walking suits of the present season.

Pumps with low heels are pre-eminently the style feature in low cuts this season. They are shown in various leathers for street wear. Not only are the new low heel pumps more comfortable, but are much smarter of outline than high heel pumps—and the fit is much more perfect.

Colonial Pumps, with leather covered buckles, are a pleasing innovation, and are one of the style features of the season. Button oxfords occupy their accustomed place in the realm of low cuts, and as usual may be had in all leathers—but this season's patterns are very much smarter than in former years.

THE LOCAL STAGE.

usual fine orchestral concert, and the world's news in motion views.

Empress.

Ruth Francis and her company presenting "A Touch of High Life;" Sidney Grant, the famous monologist and the Three Keltons, will be the three festives of the new Sullivan & Considine bill opening at the Empress Theater with the usual matinee, tomorrow.

The new bill is splendidly diversified and gives every indication of being as entertaining and amusing as any programme that has occupied the stage of this popular priced vaudeville theater.

Miss Frances is a clever young actress who has won much popularity with vaudeville audiences, and in "A Touch of High Life" she is seen in her latest success, in which she recently scored a distinct hit in the larger cities of the East.

"A Touch of High Life is a one-act comedy drama, with much delightful music, and tells a most interesting story, with bright and clever lines, and gives Miss Frances an opportunity for an unusual display of her histrionic as well as vocal ability.

Sidney Grant is well known to local vaudeville audiences. As a monologist he stands among the foremost favorites in this country. His stories are always new, and of the kind that are told and retold long after his local appearance, while his method is purely original, and a delightful departure from the usual act of this kind.

The Three Keltons are also more or less known to vaudeville audiences having appeared before at the Empress Theater. They offer a musical act of a most refined order.

Brady and Mahoney, two clever young comedians will be popular in their latest mirth provoker, "The Hebrew Fireman and the Foreman."

Another offering on the new bill is that of Holmes and Buchanan in their novel musical act, "The Girl of 1847," a combination of popular and semi-classic melodies, and clever characterizations. Completing the bill will be Cadieux, the daring wire walker and the new comedy motion pictures.

Pantages.

Harry Lyons, the college boy, with the Stanley Singing Girls', representing an original musical novelette, is the feature of the Pantages show, opening Monday afternoon. According to advance information this is one of the prettiest singing and dancing offerings in vaudeville. Special scenery and lighting effects, brilliant costuming and pretty girls, combine with meritorious singing and dancing to make them favorites for the week of their stay here.

Sully and Hussy have been touring the East and during their stay in New York a professional paper referred to their act as follows: "Sully and Hussy, in fourth place, picked up the bill when it had apparently died, and turned a disappointed audience into a smiling and delighted one. First smiles, then roars of laughter rewarded their efforts."

Rapoli, the famous European juggler, who traversed the Pantages circuit a year ago, is now on his return engagement. Rapoli's novelties, as well as his skillful manipulations, should repeat his success of last season.

Helen Pingree and company will be seen in "The Girl and the Coach," a "rah 'rah" playlet, written by Miss Pingree herself. Miss Pingree is the author of many sketches, and the present one is her own selection for the fun-loving western vaudevillians.

Moore and St. Clair have a singing and dancing number labeled "Along the Country Lane." With their singing and dancing is combined some of the most deliciously funny foolery ever sent across the footlights, and this alone makes them one of the bright spots of the week's entertainment.

James A. McGee and Kittie Reece offer some new bits of new clogopedality. They add a dashing terpsichorean number to the bill.

New rag-time and new pictures complete the list.

Princess.

There will be merriment a-plenty in "The Heiress," a musical comedy with an attractive rural setting at the Princess Theater all of next week. Eleanor Courtan will present the role of the heiress, who is sought by two lovers, one a penniless youth, the other a wealthy rube, in the persons, respectively, of Donald Stewart and Edmund Flynn. Elsinore Richmond will make much of her role as a landlady of a rural hotel, while Oliver Bundy will handle the character of the wealthy father of the girl. The father is deaf, and beseeches his daughter to wed a deaf lover, so both the lovers pretend to be deaf. Subsequently the father regains his hearing, and complications that are highly entertaining ensue.

The play serves to introduce a number of excellent musical and song features. Among these are "Dusty Rag" and "Susie Ana Sue," by Miss Courtan, and "By the Light of the Jungle Moon," by Mr. Bundy.

Throughout next week La Bella Guillermo will continue her Salome dances, which proved to be such a popular feature in last week's bill. She will present a new series of oriental dances with variations, however.

Adolphus.

A vaudeville menu consisting of a variety of acts ranging from monologues and singing to a rat, cat and dog circus and a sharp-shooting act, is the offering at the Adolphus Theater for next week, commencing Monday at 2 o'clock.

The headline honors will be equally divided between Graham's Rat, Cat and Dog Circus and Tower Brothers and Darrell, high-class entertainers. The circus is probably the only act of its kind in vaudeville today, and is doubtless the most unique one. It brings together different species of animals, animals usually hostile to one another, and makes them live together and work together.

Tower Brothers and Darrell hold headline honors as a singing and talking act. A fresh, breezy monologue replete with new jokes and new situations and new up-to-date songs make up the act. Truxell & Winchell, the Irish millionaires, present a bright satire on stage life, entitled "Vaudeville Siftings." Ralton and La Tour, a singing, talking and dancing duo, stands alone, in a class by itself when it comes to clean comedy.

Hall and Hall, sharpshooters, present a novelty number, featuring rapin sharpshooting. Cornell and Carbonette have a wide and varied repertoire. Popular as well as classical music compose this duo's repertoire. Edo, the juggling kook," is an act in pantomime.

Leonard and Cooper, the singing chaps, furnish another musical act. Their act, however, is different from the others. The bill also includes twelve other splendid features, bringing it to a total of twenty feature acts.

Kinemacolor.

Far afield will the Kinemacolor travel films take one when the new bill goes on at that cosy theater Monday; from Canada to Egypt is no jump at all for these wonderful color films, and one traverses these wide expanses as if on a magic carpet. And, incidentally, one stops in Italy, where perhaps the best color films of all are to bee seen. It shows Lake Como, the beauty spot of Italia; a region hundreds go out of their way at enormous expense to see in touring this region. The film is especially fine and its color effects are wonderful.

Upper Egypt, a region almost unknown, is shown on one fine film, with all its wonderous shadings, and Santa Lucia with the remarkably fine but tempestuous seas for which with it is famed is pictured as in life. A great Canadian society function, with its brilliance of state, uniforms and gowns, is another interesting film, while one showing barnyard pets and their ways will be found of unusual worth and fascination. Mme. Planquette is continuing her vocal hits and the regular lecture is thoroughly explanatory of all that is shown, every film being in the famed Kinemacolor nature views.

Durbar.

"The Durbar in Kinemacolor" begins its second big week at the Auditorium Theater tomorrow afternoon, with six matinees and six evening performances.

The Los Angeles press and public are unanimous in their praise of the Kinemacolor films of the world's greatest spectacle and the result was record-breaking business.

The only essential lacking to make the Kinemacolor reproduction of the most wonderful pageant the world has ever seen absolutely perfect has been supplied in the person of Prince Sarath Ghosh, a native prince of India, who has been engaged to deliver the explanatory talks on the pictures. The prince lends oriental atmosphere to the production by appearing at both the afternoon and evening performances in his gorgeous Indian costumes.

The films show the royal visit to Bombay, Their Majesties' arrival at Selimgarh, the royal tent at the Delhi fort, gun firing by the Royal Horse Artillery, state entry into Delhi, the royal procession passing through the Elephant Gate, scenes within the elephant stockade, the state garden party, the Calcutta races, coronation Durbar ceremonies in three films (including the crowning of Their Majesties,) the Durbar camps during the royal visit, the King reviewing 50,000 British and Indian troops, and the Calcutta pageant—14,000 feet of film in all.

There is an appeal in every one of these pictures which do everything but speak; the orchestration, however, supplies the necessary touch of life, making the presentation of the brilliantly colorful spectacle a most accurate one and worthy of careful attention.

Joseph C. Miller,

"The Man in the Saddle"—in more ways than one—with the 101 Ranch Wild West show, which will open its Los Angeles engagement next Friday. Miller is one of the best-known outdoor showmen in this country, and is equally renowned as a daring rider and a keen promoter-exploiter.

WILD WEST SHOW.

101 Ranch to Give Real Frontier Frolic and Incidentally Boost Olympic Games.

The 101 Ranch, which needs no introduction to Los Angeles as the most representative real Wild West exhibition now before the public, will play a "three days" engagement at the Prager Park show grounds, opening with the afternoon performance, next Friday, March 29.

The 101 Ranch is enabled to present its many interesting features to Los Angeles showgoers at the beginning of the tenting season because of the fact that it has established winter quarters at Venice, and while the Indians, cowboys, vaqueros and other representative Wild West people are largely recruited from the famous Miller Brothers' 100,000-acre ranch near Bliss, Okla., the show has become, to a very considerable degree, a California institution. During the winter the paraphernalia of the show has been rebuilt, new wagons and tents have been provided, scores of broncos and other prairie horses have been added to the already numerous stables, and the army of Indians, cowboys, cowgirls, and other clever people contributing to the performance has been greatly augmented.

The performance given by the 101 Ranch Wild West is a most varied one. There is the pioneers' caravan of prairie schooners crossing the plains, the attack by Indians and their repulse by cowboys and frontiersmen, led by J. C. Miller, who has been well named "The Man on the Horse," because of his intrepidity as a rider; exhibitions of skill and daring by rough riders, scouts, cowboys, cowgirls and Indians; Indian war dances by famous Indians, who have participated in some of the most absorbingly interesting and exciting incidents of America's frontier history; crack shooting with rifle, revolver and bow and arrow; life on the ranch with the sports and pastimes of the cowboys and cowgirls; a genuine "round-up" with an entire herd of long-horned steers to illustrate the method of handling cattle on the ranch; an exciting buffalo hunt, utilizing the largest herd of bisons outside the Yellowstone National Park, and scores of other tremendously interesting and characteristic features of the fast-disappearing ranch and prairie life.

The engagement of the 101 Ranch Wild West in Los Angeles has an especial interest to all who admire sports and athletic pastimes because a percentage of the receipts are to go to the fund being raised to pay the expenses of the Southern California participants in the International Olympian games at Stockholm this spring.

At every performance in Los Angeles special features of an interesting character will be presented by well-known athletes who contemplate contesting for Olympian honors.

COMIN GHERE FOR ACTORS.

Morosco, Cort, Shipman, Belasco, and Baker to Take Aspiring Young Egan Talents.

Young Los Angeles players have been much in demand during the past few seasons, but in the coming year this demand, apparently, will be trebled, as five Pacific Coast managers have signified to Frank Egan an intention of recruiting from the ambitious young talents of the Egan school.

These are Oliver Morosco, John Cort, Fred L. Baker, Frederic Belasco and Ernest Shipman.

Mr. Morosco's position is too well known and too well defined to require explanatory comment. Mr. Cort, likewise, is almost as well known here as he is in his two widely-separated home towns of Seattle and New York; his hand seems to be over the whole West, as an overseeing manager. Mr. Baker is to Portland and the Northwest what the Morosco companies are to the Southwest, although Mr. Baker personally has not yet invaded the metropolis. Frederic Belasco and his San Francisco Alcazar re, of course, part of the permanent dramatic furniture of the Pacific Coast. Mr. Shipman, who has been an extensive producer for several years, has just come to Los Angeles to make this city the headquarters for a large number of stock companies for southwestern cities.

All these things mark the growth of Los Angeles as a theatrical center.

"It is an evident fact," said Mr. Egan, "that this city contains a greater per cent. of young thespianic ambitions—and by that I would say capable, intelligent ambitions—than any other city of its size in America, or the world.

"The remarkable number of new productions impending here require a great deal of acting talent. Obviously to import all these people from New York would be an almost impossible expense, and to fill the companies with amateurs is equally indefensible. Therefore I feel confident in saying that young players in this city will have greater chances during the coming twelvemonth than ever before.

"Mr. Morosco is to make a number of big productions—outside of the regular presentations at his two stock theaters; Mr. Shipman will send out at least half a dozen more companies; John Cort will probably try out a number of pieces, with locally made companies, here in the summer, and Frederic Belasco and Baker, in recent letters, have paid their tribute to the beauty of the young woman of the stage and the talent of the young actor—as they are found in Los Angeles.

"Los Angeles has produced some mighty clever boys, but so far the ambitious girls are far in the lead. Many of them are going out in prominent positions in western organizations; some of them are going straight to Broadway.

"Young women that have been sent out from the Egan School during the past year are playing as far West as Honolulu and as far East as London. And in all instances they are Los Angeles girls."

"MISSION PLAY'S" SCENEMAKER.

H. Logan Reid, New York Veteran and Creator of Many Famous Canvases, Takes the Job.

H. Logan Reid of New York City has been engaged as head of the scenic department of the "Mission Play." Mr. Reid will work under the general direction of Henry Kablerske, the Munich producer and spectacle builder who has chare ofg this dramatic allegory of the Southwest.

Reid is a veteran of his craft, and, in addition to making brilliant and lifelike surroundings for many of the famous productions of recent years, has much of the supposedly (but not necessarily) higher form of framed artistry to his credit, as a half dozen of his pictures now hang in well known European galleries, some are in the Metropolitan Museum of Art and he has exhibited a number of times in the Paris Salon.

Mr. Reid believes in broad, bold effects in scenic construction, and his contract for the construction of the Mission Play settings has appealed to his imaginative sense.

Intimate studies of the three locations of the play are now being made by Mr. Reid. During the past week he has been making landscape sketches about San Diego Bay, where the first act of the play is located. This coming week he will spend at San Juan Capistrano, and next he will go on up the coast line to El Carmel, and there imbibe the inspiring beauty of that heart of the mission world, beside Monterey Bay—an act which will give him scope for constructive perfection, as it is intended to show the zenith of the mission glory.

"I am tired of painting the modern play's wall-paper patterns," said Mr. Reid the other day. "I shall welcome the sweep of the great southwestern outdoors, the serenity and majesty of the western sea, the long vistas, unbroken by high buildings, bill-boards, modern streets and the other 'improvements' of civilization. El Camino Real has made an especial appeal to me. Its history is the very essence of romance.

Mr. Reid was born in Bristol, Rhode Island, in the late 'fifties, and has a longer active career to his credit than perhaps any other American scenic artist. He is a little man, scarcely more than five feet three inches in height, but his small person contains a large and highly interesting individuality.

Mr. Reid painted the scenery for most of Richard Mansfield's productions, and some of those which he executed entirely, in the great actor's later years, were "Nero," "The Scarlet Letter," "Don Juan," "The Misanthrope," and "Don an'Cos."

Mr. Reid was principal scenic artist of the Manhattan Operhouse.

He comes here from the Boston Opera, and in the past two seasons has painted, for this endowed institution, fifteen complete productions. And the scenery of the Boston Opera, as many readers have probably noted, has been of uncommon beauty, historical correctness and adaptability to stage purposes.

Several of the curtains in the leading Chicago theaters are his, and his present drops in New York City include the Manhattan Operhouse, and the Fifth Avenue, Murray Hill, Metropolis and People's theaters.

The scheme of the stage pageant of "The Days When California Was Young," has been worked out by Mr. Kaklerske, and it is this scheme which Mr. Reid will follow.

Baker Electrics

SHAFT DRIVEN

Daddy, get me a Baker.

Won't any Electric do?

Any is better than none, but I have reasons for preferring a Baker.

What are they?

You know, to a woman, most electrics look alike, are upholstered alike, are equally comfortable, but they do not run alike.

How do you know?

I've looked it up. There is a wide difference between them in the number of miles they can travel on a charge—in the cost of running them. The Baker has the mileage record; has always had it.

And it costs less to operate?

Exactly. You see, a Baker hasn't a lot of dead weight to lug around. It weighs less than any other car, and people tell me that its high speed motor is vastly more efficient than the more cumbersome type of slow speed motors used in other cars. Less battery equipment is required, and battery equipment costs money, you know.

Well, well, what a head you have, daughter.

You've got more sense than the average man.

Its only common sense, Daddy, to get the most efficient machine for your money, and save expense in running it.

UNITED CHORAL IN ST. PAUL'S

LOS ANGELES AND PASADENA SOCIETIES TO BE UNITED.

Ernest Douglas to Direct Performance of Spohr's "Last Judgment"—Promising Material Which Company Under the Supervision of Organ Guild Has Brought Forth.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

The Los Angeles Choral Society, in conjunction with the Pasadena Oratorio Society, will present Spohr's "Last Judgment" in St. Paul's Pro Cathedral tomorrow evening at 8 p.m.

The Los Angeles Choral Society, which has done fine and really unusual work, is an artistic child of the American Guild of Organists, and is filling one of the city's needs in building up a large and effective permanent chorus.

This programme will be the fourth presented by this comparatively new organization.

The soloists will be Mrs. Ethel Lyti Beethe, soprano; Miss Clara La Fetra, contralto; F. Brooks Cole, baritone, and Norman McPhail, tenor.

Ernest Douglas will direct and Percy Shaul-Hallett will be at the organ.

Matinee Musicale.

Students of the Majestic College of Music gave a recital in Starr Hall, No. 424 South Hill street, last evening. This programme was presented: "Chant Sans Paroles" (Van Gael) Mildred Hicks; "In the Month of May" (Behr,) Dorothy Kavanagh; "Cradle Song" (Heller,) Marguerite Rhodes; "Hide and Seek" (Schytte,) Doris Gidley; "Song Without Words" (Ellenberg,) Bernice Roberts; "Lied Volkslied" (Rohde,) Ida Tennyson; "Curious Story" (Heller,) Irwin Camp; piano duet, Valse (Bodenhoff,) Theia Wyman, Jeannette Sturm; Valse (L. Liebling,) Lucile Dawson; Marche Burlesque (Ellenberg,) Livona Gidley; Nocturne (Reid,) Helen Goodwin; Humoresque (Dvorak,) Novelette Major (Schumann,) Viola Albright.

Luchesi Concert.

Signor Ricardo Luchesi, vocal teacher, pianist and composer, is preparing to give a concert on Friday evening, April 19, at Blanchard Hall. He will be assisted by fifteen musicians. The programme will include classic, liturgical, romantic and operatic selections. He has expressly composed for the occasion an "Ave Maria" on a Bach prelude, for Allen Cawthorn, the gifted soprano engaged by the Lambardi Opera Company. The "Ave Maria" is written with violin obligato, organ and piano accompaniment. The violin obligato will be played by Mrs. Della Emock, who for several years was the successful soloist of the Phinney Band, the Imperial Quartette of Chicago and of Sousa's Band. Also Signor Luchesi's "Francesca da Rimini," a scene for soprano and orchestra, which brought him the honor of election to the Manuscript Society of New York, will be heard for the first time in Los Angeles. It will be sung by Mary Campbell, another accomplished young artist, possessing an exceptionally beautiful voice.

Tetrazzini Returning.

There is probably no more able body of women than those represented in the Friday Morning Club and the Associated Clubs, who are assisting in making the Tetrazzini concert to be given in Shrine Auditorium Easter Sunday afternoon, April 7, a tremendous success. The sole purpose of this popular-priced matinee, which the Diva is to give, is to prove the necessity of a municipal theater wherein so many appearances can be arranged for on a similar scale of prices as that offered at this Tetrazzini concert a year; particularly the Sunday afternoon concert or lecture, which, in other cities, is such a boon to the busy populace who are engaged throughout the week, with little or no time for the "best in music, art and literature." With a municipal playhouse, at the city's command, the world's most famous musicians, lecturers and teachers could be presented to the public at a very nominal cost, thus building continuously along educational lines.

All will be glad to hear Mme. Tetrazzini and her excellent company once more, and in announcing the coming of M. Mascal, the popular baritone of the late French Opera Company, the music-loving public are assured an additional treat.

Board Returning.

As the fifth artist on the second series of the Philharmonic course, Manager Behymer offers Alessandro Bonci, world-famous lyric tenor, who will be heard at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, April 9. Bonci has always been a favorite in this country as a opera, but as only the East has had the benefit of his beautiful voice in this way, it has only been in the last two years that the general public has enjoyed his finished work, and how well they liked it is best evinced by the crowded houses which greet him every appearance. Returning to this country from an unprecedented success in opera in South America and Rome he has had more appearances in recital and with orchestras than any other one singer.

Cora Mel Patten.

A most interesting afternoon and evening, on March 26 and 28 respectively, has been planned for the clubwoman, teacher and pupil alike when Cora Mel Patten will deliver her two interpretative lectures on Wedekind's "The Awakening of Spring" on the 26th, and Percy Mackaye's latest play, "Tomorrow," on the 29th. The latter play is just from the press, and will receive its first presentation in Southern California at this reading. The play is typically American; the scenes are all laid in Southern California.

Eastern Star Musicale.

Nell Lockwood McCune, contralto; Mrs. Leo Stadden, soprano, and Edward Ruenitz, bass, gave a musicale before Loyalty Chapter of the Eastern Star, in its clubrooms, last evening.

Palliser Recital.

Miss Esther Palliser's postponed recital will be given next Sunday afternoon at No. 700 South Burlington avenue.

De Chauvenet.

The fourth annual De Chauvenet composition festival will occur at the conservatory auditorium, corner Lincoln and Figueroa streets, next Saturday afternoon, March 30, at 3 p.m. The entire programme will consist of compositions by Mr. and Mrs. De Chauvenet with the addition of Invited Concert.

Signor Ricardo Lucchesi, vocal teacher, pianist and composer, is preparing to give a concert on Friday evening, April 19, at Blanchard Hall. He will be assisted by fifteen musicians. The programme will include classic, liturgical, romantic and operatic selections. He has expressly composed for the occasion an "Ave Maria" on a Bach prelude, for Aileen Vanderbeck, the gifted soprano engaged by the Lambardi Opera Company. The "Ave Maria" is written with a violin obligato, organ and piano accompaniment. The violin obligato will be played by Mrs. Della P. Black, who for several years was the successful soloist of the Phinney's band, the Imperial Quartette of Chicago and of Sousa's Band. Also Signor Lucchesi's "Francesca da Rimini," a scena for soprano and orchestra, which brought him the honor of election to the Manuscript Society of New York, will be heard for the first time in Los Angeles. A most interesting afternoon and evening, on March 26 and 28 respectively, has been planned for the pupils, teacher and pupil alike when Miss Cora Mel Patten will deliver her two interpretative lectures on Ibsen's "The Awakening of Nora" on the 26th, and Percy Mackaye's latest play, "Tomorrow," on the 28th. The latter play is just from the press, and will receive its first presentation in Southern California at this reading. The play is distinctly American; the scenes are laid in Southern California.

Golden Star Musicale.

Mr. Lockwood McCune, contralto; Mrs. Lee Stadden, soprano, and Edmund Resnitz, bass, gave a musicale for the Loyalty Chapter of the Eastern Star, in its clubrooms, last evening.

Author Recital.

Mrs. Ruther Palliser's postponed recital will be given next Sunday afternoon at No. 709 South Burlington avenue.

De Chauvenet.

The fourth annual De Chauvenet musicale festival will occur at the Simpson auditorium, corner Lincoln and Figueroa streets, next Saturday afternoon, March 30, at 3 p.m. The entire programme will consist of compositions by Mr. and Mrs. De Chauvenet with the addition of original numbers by Oscar Werner and C. S. Delano, members of the faculty, and a lullaby by Miss Ella Macheld.

Preceding this concert, beginning at 2 p.m., will occur a recital by pupils of the various grades of the conservatory. No admission is charged at these concerts.

Of several of Mr. De Chauvenet's compositions, which the great and venerable De Pachmann (friend and instructor of the composer) had given a careful perusal previous to his farewell concert here said, "His compositions are very original and possess a beautiful melody; when I finish my concert tour, I will learn them and play them in Paris."

Von Stein Two-Fifteen.

The two hundred-fifteenth students' recital of the Von Stein Academy of Music was given on March 16, in the capacious rooms of the school at Tenth and Hill streets.

This varied and extended programme was capably presented: Ralph Montes, "The Little Dancer" (Schytte;) Reta Mitchell, "Rondo Brilliant" (Weber;) Ethel Leaver, "To Spring" (Grieg;) Charles Hall, Enterpe School March (M. Greenwald;) Dorsey Whittington, piano; Ruth Whittington, "Plaudermaulchen" (August Nolck;) F. Anchell, "Butterfly" (Grieg;) Nellie Brigham, "The Lark" (Balakirew;) Beatrice Baer, "The Witches' Dance" (Ludwig Schytte;) Hope Hall, "Hungarian" (Baumfelder;) Hazel Emmerton, "Valse Impromptu" (Wilm;) Velda Hodge, sonatine (Lichner;) Clarence Bates, "Staccato Caprice" (Friml;) Lillian Chamlee, "Weihnachtsfreude" (Wilhelm Fink;) Leon Folsom, "Little Kossack" (Kohler;) Mazie Cartman, "A Village Dance" (Ludwig Schytte;) Gertrude Brown, "Avalanche" (Heller;) Victor Nemecheck, "Rococo" (Kronka.)

Barker Recital.

Saturday afternoon Barker Brothers will give their twenty-fourth weekly musicale in their large piano auditorium. This recital, as previous ones, will be entirely complimentary, the only request being that those who desire to attend shall secure tickets during the week, in order that there may be no overcrowding. The soloists for this coming programme comprise the Haydn Trio, well known to music lovers of Los Angeles, the artists being Miss Nancy Crail, violinist; Miss Ina M. Davids, pianist, and Mme. Elsa von Grofe-Menasco, 'cellist.

The programme follows: Pastoral Trio (Haydn,) (a) "Meditation" (Massenet,) (b) "Liebesfreud" (Fritz Kreisler,) Miss Nancy Crail; (a) "Rosaline" (Rubner,) (b) "Moment Musical" (Schubert,) trio; (a) "Gavotte" (Gluck-Brahms,) (b) Hunting Song (Mendelssohn,) Miss Ina M. Davids; (a) "O Sole Mio," Neapolitan serenade, (E. Di Capua,) (b) Die Guitarspieler" (Schytte,) trio; serenade, (Schubert,) trio; trio, Op. 42, (Gade.)

MUSIC AT THE LAND SHOW.

Fine Programmes Arranged by the Brilliant and Popular Creatore. Drill's Big Success.

Musical programmes of extraordinary excellence were announced yesterday for the last five days of the Land Show Beautiful at Fiesta Park.

For today's (Sunday) throngs Creatore has arranged especially attractive numbers for both this afternoon and evening. Creatore himself will lead both at today's matinee and at night, though he generally conducts only at night.

Popular melodies which have elicited such tremendous applause whenever they have been rendered by the great band of fifty pieces, have been added to the classical numbers on today's programmes. This afternoon, starting at 2:30, Creatore will render the chorus from "I Lombardi," the grand selection from "Faust," and the superb "American Fantasie," by Herbert.

Tonight, beginning at 8:15, the Creatore list includes the ever-popular selections from "The Chocolate Soldier," numbers from Gilbert and Herbert's "Mikado," the sextette from "Lucia," with solos by five men, the bandmaster's own composition of "Irish melodies," and his own arrangement of "The Star Spangled Banner."

BIG CHORUS NUMBERS.

The big chorus under Thomas Taylor Drill has arranged an exceptional programme for tomorrow evening. O. G. Mercer will sing "The Holy City" as a solo and the 350 choristers will render "The Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and other favorites.

ALICE LLOYD COMING.

Dainty English Vaudeville Lassie, With Strong Company, to Star at Mason in Musical Comedy.

Alice Lloyd, the famous English singing comedienne, who has been seen in this country exclusively as a vaudeville headliner, will make her first appearance in Los Angeles as a musical comedy star at the Mason Opera house for a fortnight, beginning Monday evening, April 8, in "Little Miss Fixit," the tuneful and very much out of the ordinary comedy described by Alan Dale as "a laugh or a song hit every minute," and which played an all summer run in Chicago following a four months' engagement at the Globe Theater, New York.

Werba & Luescher engaged Miss Lloyd for the title role of the play, thinking her the best suited for the character of any woman on our stage. The many admirers of this delightful actress will be glad to know that, during the action of the play, she will sing all her latest song hits, among them "Have You Ever Loved Any Other Little Girl," "Cupid," "The Hobble Promenade," "Splash Me," etc. She will also be prominent in the big sensational dance number, "The Newport Turkey Trot," which has been taken up by the fashionable smart set of New York, and its favorite seaside resort, and which is said to be quite the most fascinating of the now numerous terpsichorean oddities.

The story of "Little Miss Fixit" deals with the joys and trials of Delia Wendell, a young woman who loves her husband so devotedly that she quarrels with him over a foolish trifle, and then determines to forget her sorrows by making others happy. So she starts a wholesale match-making campaign, and tries to "fix it" for everybody who is in love, or who, she thinks, ought to be. This furnishes material for numerous amusing situations, interspersed with tuneful songs, duets and choruses, winding up with the desirable happy ending.

In the strong supporting company are Lionel Walsh, Frederic Santley, Frank Shannon, Joseph C. Lane, Grace Field, Nellie Malcolm, Pauline de Lorme, Annie Buckley and Grace Brown.

J. A. Lander of Yoakum, Tex., celebrated his 87th birthday by dividing his $2,000,000 estate among his eight children. He put eight pieces of paper in his hat, each piece bearing a number and the children all drew one. The lucky numbers drew the best of the property, and there were no blanks.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Capt. Conboys of the New York police force, and Harris Franklin, a negro elevator boy, are of the material from which heroes are made. During a recent fire in a six-story tenement-house Franklin continued to run the elevator through the dense smoke until all the families in the building had reached safety. One of those whom he took down told him that a Mrs. Moran, an aged invalid, lived on the fifth floor with her daughter, who was away at the time the fire started. Franklin told Capt. Conboys of this, and the two went up in the elevator, groped their way through the smoke-filled halls and found Mrs. Moran crawling about on her hands and knees. They carried her to safety. Meantime the fire, which started on the third floor, had spread to the fourth floor by way of the dumb-waiter shaft.

Dan Martin, founder and director of the Dan Martin Mission, and one of the best-known street missionaries in Chicago, is dead from overwork during the cold weather, when he was trying to feed, clothe and find work for hundreds of derelicts who applied at his mission for aid. Dan Martin was born in Ireland in 1860, and came to this country when 18 years old. Before coming to Chicago he lived in St. Louis, where he was converted to the life of a missionary by a child's singing in the streets.

It has become known that Andrew Carnegie has given financial aid to another Brooklyn church; this time to a Roman Catholic institution. The parishioners of St. Finbar's Church, at Bay Twentieth street and Benson avenue, Bath Beach, are rapidly completing a new and handsome stone edifice, and recently the workers wrote to Mr. Carnegie, asking if he would contribute toward an organ fund.

The "Laird o' Skibo" wrote for more particulars, and subsequently promised that he would give $2000 if the parishioners raised a similar sum. This they did, and last week the Rev. William A. Gardiner, rector of the church, received a check from Mr. Carnegie. The organ, which will cost every penny of $4000, will be installed in time, it is believed, for the Easter service.

Contrary to expectations, Mrs. Joseph Drexel of Philadelphia, who died recently, did not leave her valuable collection of curios which she and her late husband had been collecting for forty years to the University of Pennsylvania Museum. She left the museum $70,000, which is to be used to preserve the curios Mrs. Drexel gave to the museum before her death. The will contains bequests of $110,000 to charities.

Jewish charitable institutions will receive substantial aid from the estate of Bernard Rothenberg, dry goods merchant of New York. Hebrew Benevolent and Orphan Asylum will receive $400; Mount Sinai Hospital, $400; Lebanon Hospital, $200; Beth Israel Hospital, $200; Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews, $200; Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids, $200; Society for Ethical Culture, $100; United Hebrew Charities, $100, and Hebrew Technical School for Boys, $100.

Literary Gossip.

OXFORD SLANG IS THE LIMIT.

JARGON THAT WOULD PUT GEORGE ADE TO THE BLUSH.

Spoken by Undergraduates at Classic University—Freak Talk Which Rhodes Scholars May Bring Over to Enrich American Vernacular.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, March 6.—Now that there are so many Rhodes scholars from the United States at Oxford the great American "slanguage," as Punch called it, is likely to be, if it hasn't been already, enriched with some choice examples of the extraordinary jargon that is spoken in lieu of plain English by the undergraduates at that classic seat of learning. I had heard of Oxford slang, but never had dreamt of its extent and beauties until one day last week, when I visited a young English friend, who is at Magdalen, which they prefer to call "Maudlin." After a frugal lunch of bread, cheese and beer in his chambers, we sallied forth, and were crossing the "quad," when one of my friend's fellow-students bore down upon him, and a conversation very much as follows took place:

"Hullo, Thompson, my buck, how goes it?"

"Rotten, Smithers, rotten. Guest at a Cupper last night. No brekker. Tried to keep a lekker at John's, but got no farther than the Maggers' Memugger, when I felt queer and had to turn back. And the Dagger's got his knife into me. Not enough rollers."

"Me, too, I'm gated for the rest of the term because of a harmless little binge at my digs. I say, Thompson, that wekker's rather priceless; in fact, quite top-hole."

"Neat, but not gaudy, ain't it? Lord knows when I shall be able to pay for it. The wagger-pagger-bagger's simply overflowing with bills. Incidentally I've been having a talk with the Mugger, and he thinks I'm booked for a gulf. Heard that the Pragger Wagger is coming up to us?"

"So they say. Going to be a Trindog. What's the matter, Thompson, you're not looking very fit? Ought to do a meadow every morning."

"So I must. Well, so long. Be good and beware the brutal proggins and his bullers."

"Rather! They nearly had me in St. Olde's last night, and the Provvy warned me in our last conversation that next time I should be sent down. So long."

If that isn't a verbatim record of the first conservation between Oxford "undergrads," to which I listened. It is a fair "composite" one of several that would have put George Ade to the blush. The following glossary of the above dialogue may throw some light on what it was all about. A "cupper" at Oxford is a supper to celebrate the winning of a cup. "Brekker," of course, is slang for breakfast, and "lekker" for lecture. The "Maggers' Memugger" is the "Martyrs Memorial," the "dagger" is the dean and a "roller" is a roll-call. A "binge," as you may have guessed is a convivial gathering, and a "wekker" is a walstcoat. "Wagger-pagger-bagger" is "short" for waste-paper-basket. The "Mugger" is the master of a college and a "gulf" is taken by a man who goes in for an honors examination, but only does well enough to pass without honors. The "Pragger Wagger" is the Prince of Wales, while a "Trindog" is a member of Trinity College. To "do a meadow" is to run around Christ Church meadows before breakfast. The "Proggins" is the proctor, and the "bullers" are his "bull dogs" or attendant minions, while "Provvy" is Oxfordese for Provost. These are only a few terms selected at random. It is up to one of the Rhodes scholars to write some "Fables in Oxford Slang."

Lord Tennyson, son of the poet, ex-Governor-General of Australia, and man of letters, has got himself into trouble through sheer altruism. Like many another member of the British peerage his lordship is "in trade," having followed the example of Lord Rayleigh, who has dairies in various parts of London with his name over them, by going into the milk business. To begin with Lord Tennyson's milk carts bore his name, but the other milkmen in the Haslemere district, where his lordship's farm is situated, complained that this fact gave the peer an undue advantage in the market, whereupon Lord Tennyson, being good-natured, had the offending title removed. It seems, however, that there is a law in this country which insists on a tradesman's name appearing on vehicles owned by him, of which law the authorities have decided that Lord Tennyson has committed a technical breach, and he has had to pay a nominal fine. So the title that was borne by England's greatest poet laureate is to go back on the milk carts, and the rival dealers will have to put up with any advantage which it may give the noble milkman.

From John Ruskin to G. K. Chesterton is a "far cry" in a literary sense, yet the author of "The Man Who was Thursday" is one of the leading spirits in a movement to carry out one of Ruskin's dearest ideals. This is the revival of country handicrafts, especially spinning and weaving, and the encouragement of the individual and creative side of modern industry, in opposition to the ever-extending influence of the machine. Chesterton, in fact, presided at the first meeting, held this week, of the Peasant Art League, which will try to carry out Ruskin's ideas. Looms and spinning-wheels are to be set up in village halls all through the countryside, with experienced instructors to teach their use to the peasantry. Meanwhile, country villages are to be "merry and bright" along old-fashioned lines if Chesterton and his fellow-spirits can make them so. The aim is to make the village hall, besides a school of industry, the center of a new social life, to enliven which ancient festivals will be revived, likewise local dances, folk songs and ballads. In other words, this is an attempt to revive "Merrie England" with the old crafts and the old pastimes of the people.

Was Byron's hair curly naturally, or were the poet's famous ringlets produced artificially? The pros and cons of this momentous question have been solemnly weighed by an English writer, apropos of the centenary of the publication of "Childe Harold," a few days ago. On the whole, this writer thinks that Byron's curls were the real thing, though he remarks "the youthful Disraeli reproduced them, and his curls certainly betrayed the iron." He recalls, too, the revelations made by Scrope Davis, the wit, who was Byron's intimate friend at Trinity College. Davis walked into Byron's rooms one morning and found him still abed, and with his hair in unmistakable curl papers. "I thought your hair curled naturally," Scrope remarked. "Confound you, so it does," snapped Byron. "I take care of that. But don't you tell anybody." Unfortunately, Scrope told everybody. "Still," concludes the writer already quoted, "Byron was curly-headed at Harrow, and he could not very well have gone to bed in curl papers there."

Hereafter, the American visitor to Leipzig to whom literary "shrines" appeal, will be able to visit the tiny cottage in the environs of that city where Schiller, the poet, lived for some years. The Schiller Society has bought the cottage, which previously has merely been marked with a commemorative tablet, and will turn it into a museum of relics connected with the author of "William Tell." Here his famous "Ode to Joy" was written, while for English folk the cottage has a political interest, as well. Schiller shared it with a young man named Goschen, who at this time, 1785, was working hard to found a publishing business in Leipzig, and who succeeded so well that his name became as famous in Germany as a publisher as Schiller's was as a poet. He was the grandfather of the English statesman, Lord Goschen, who upset Lord Randolph Churchill's political apple cart so effectually, and who died comparatively recently. Lord Goschen paid more than one pilgrimage to the Leipzig cottage, and it was largely through his efforts that it was marked with a distinguishing tablet.

E. M. Carll of Winn, Me., has a leather pocketbook that has seen service nearly seventy-five years before the Revolutionary War. On the inside of the leather is the name of Nathaniel Carll, Unity, Me., and the date, 1702. Mr. Carll was E. M. Carll's great-grandfather. The pocketbook has been handed down from one generation to another and is supposed to have been in constant use.

What Might Be Done.

What might be done if men were wise—
What glorious deeds, my suffering brother,
Would they unite
In love and right,
And cease their scorn of one another.

Oppression's heart might be imbued
With kindling drops of loving kindness;
And knowledge pour
From shore to shore
Light on the eyes of mental blindness.

All slavery, warfare, lies and wrongs,
All vice and crime might die together;
And wine and corn
To each man born,
Be free as warmth in summer weather.

The meanest wretch that ever trod,
The deepest sunk in guilt and sorrow,
Might stand erect
In self-respect
And share the teeming world tomorrow.

What might be done? This might be done,
And more than this, by suffering brother—
More than the tongue
E'er said or sung,
If men were wise and loved each other.

Making An Owl Useful.

[Boston Transcript:] The presence of one owl after another perched high in a tree in the King's Chapel burying ground during the last year has caused many a citizen to look up, then to walk into the yard of City Hall and stand there gaping and to follow with eager eye some one's directing finger. The owl has been a novelty to the busy city people and they have wondered about his goings and comings. There have been explanations, but now comes what is vouched for as the reason.

Somebody who has an office in the neighborhood is greatly annoyed by the English sparrow, and to rid the burying ground of them he has an owl sent to him periodically; he looses the wise bird among the trees near by and the sparrows at once begin to disappear. When the owl is so sated that he seeks a change of diet and leaves the neighborhood, another owl is imported and once more the sparrows are raided.

ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

One Word More.

What of Raphael's sonnets, Dante's pictures?
This: no artist lives and loves that longs not
Once, and only once, and for one only,
(Ah, the prize!) to find his love a language
Fit and fair and simple and sufficient
Using nature that's an art to others,
Not, this one time, art that's turned his nature.
Ay, of all the artists living, loving,
None but would forego his proper dowry,
Does he paint? he fain would write a poem.
Does he write he fain would paint a picture,
Put to proof art alien to the artist's
Once, and only once, and for one only,
So to be the man and leave the artist,
Have the man's joy, miss the artist's sorrow.

—[Robert Browning.

Many Impressions.

Some weeks ago I had occasion to say a few words anent the value of sketches as a help to us in forming an opinion of a man as an artist. A sketch is an impression of nature painted in one sitting. That impression must not be "improved" by after touches made in the studio, for if this is done its value as a sketch is gone—it is, indeed, no longer a sketch, but a picture or a study.

The great charm of the true sketch is its direct vividness its vitality, its spontaneity. The sketch is an inspiration from nature. Through it the artist reveals his attitude. Though he may attempt to say little, he tries to say it with exactitude. Some sudden glimpse of nature's beauty has gripped his heart, fired his imagination, lifted up his soul, and he is moved to record his discovery either for the joy of the moment or for future use.

An exhibition of sketches from many hands is bound to be a very interesting thing, for it brings us into close touch with many artistic personalities. Here there can be no odium in comparisons, for sketches are not "works" but notes for future works, and surely a note may be as slight as the artist pleases (and still prove instructive and beautiful,) if it embodies the idea he was seeking.

I cannot agree that all the canvases shown in the present exhibition of the California Art Club in the Blanchard gallery are sketches, even though they are advertised as such. Indubitably some of them are pictures carefully arranged and composed, and painted through several sittings. And some of them are studies, canvases painted in the search for more exact artistic knowledge. Pictures and studies are quite as admirable as sketches—sometimes they are much more admirable—but they are not the same thing. Therefore, when an exhibition of sketches is announced, only sketches should be shown.

However, the difference between a sketch and a picture or study has always been a moot question among painters, and I am informed that even the intelligent jury of the California Art Club had warm differences of opinion last Wednesday. The half-hour sketch and the eight-hour sketch both fall within the law (neither has been overworked, if you will pardon the joke,) so both may deserve admittance, even though the one reminds you of a omelette and the other a chromo-lithograph of the Victorian era.

So there you are! The picture and the sketch—Tweedledum and Tweedledee—who's to decide what is what and which is which? Apparently the committee of the California Art Club gave the conundrum up in despair, and hung everything hangable that came their way—sketches, pictures, studies, though the sketches predominate.

And a very good exhibition the California Art Club is giving us. We have some strong painters in Southern California at the present moment. Their work will bear comparison with the work of any group of painters in the country, and not to their disadvantage. I declare with confidence that no other city in America of the size of Los Angeles can hold a similar exhibition that even approaches it in general excellence. This is not vainglory, for we have the goods to show—and to deliver to every purchaser.

As there are twenty-five exhibitors, and as many of them show three, four and even five sketches, it will be impossible for me to dilate at length on any one work, or to mention all the works. Time, space and the quality of mercy forbid it. My review must perforce be a sketch, not a finished picture. I have already smudged in the big masses of my background, now for a few salient details.

William Wendt painted all day, but only one day, on his big outdoor effect from Cornwall, "Under Gray Skies," and a wonderful sketch it is, with brooding skies, sprawling naked trees laid in with a sure and virile brush, and a fine suggestion of nature's amplitude. Even more beautiful, though very different, is this artist's "Rocks and Pool," symphonic amber tones from Topanga Canyon.

A painter from San Diego, Marse Zim, gives us magnificent color in his "Incoming Tide," a sunset sketch of sea and shore, and an excellent decorative scheme in his tender study of a girl leaning against a wheelbarrow piled high with new-mown hay, though in this latter sketch the drawing is a trifle uncertain. There are light and atmosphere in the purples and yellows of "Building" and "The Pool," by Maurice Braun, who is also of San Diego.

"Sketch of a Head," a little pastel by Walter L. Cheever, is charmingly and artistically done, and Eugene G. Frank's small landscape, "Eventide," is painted with the fine and beautiful simplicity of an old Dutch master. Both these artists live in Glendale.

From Pasadena comes Benjamin Chambers Brown, with a number of good sketches, among them his magnificently glowing "Arroyo Santa Anita." From South Pasadena we have Franz A. Bischoff, whose meteoric advance in landscape has been the wonder of those among his admirers who knew him only as a world-famous painter in ceramics. Bischoff's colorful contributions are "San Pedro" and "A Deserted House."

J. H. Sharp's little portrait, "A Crow Indian," has the brilliant color quality of a collection of artistic gems, and is painted with the suavity and sureness of touch which comes from absolute knowledge. Another brilliant technician is Helena Dunlap, whose "Veranda" and "Girl Reading" are quick with life and light color. Not quite so good as these is her "Sea Urchins," the handling being somewhat mussy.

"Tenacious Oak" is Hanson Puthuff's not particularly pretty title for an unusually lovely study of fawn-colored hills covered with rocks and shrubbery. This artist's "Graceful Red Gums" preserves the true spirit of the sketch. Another sketch of fine vitality and delightful color is Detlef Sammann's "Incoming Fog," a study of sea and shore. In the making of this sketch eye and hand worked together with admirable precision.

The color monotype that W. A. Sharp shows is full of refinement and feeling, and is very pleasing in its scheme of grays and browns. This artist's low-toned "Evening" has also much charm. There is poetry in the subdued tones of Ralph Fullerton Mocine's "Moonrise," genuine nature in Aaron Kilpatrick's "Signs of Rain."

Jack Smith departs from landscape and sketches for us a street scene from the window of the Sketch Club in Temple Block on a rainy day, and surprises us with the picturesque beauty of our own city. Margaret Taylor gives us a colorful sketch of a child's head, and there are characteristic sketches from Charles Rogers, Val Costello, Albert Clinton Conner and Arion Putnam, with some fine and interesting "Manhertypes" from the brush (or pen and press?) of R. B. Manbert.

In sculpture Marco Zim has a good relief medallion of Rodin, while Julia Bracken Wendt shows a subtle portrait of Mode Wineman in low relief.

The exhibition will continue till the end of this week. At its conclusion fourteen of the sketches, contributed by members of the club, will be sold at auction, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of the club.

The Wachtels at Daniell's.

The entire output of those two fine interpreters of the landscape of Southern California, Elmer Wachtel and Marion Kavanaugh Wachtel, now goes to the Daniell studios, No. 218 South Broadway. Sixteen recent pictures have been added to the permanent exhibition held there, nine being by Elmer Wachtel, who paints in oils; seven by Mrs. Wachtel, whose reputation rests on her magnificent water colors.

If you would see these later pictures it were wise to go soon, for after a few weeks they will probably be taken North, to be shown in the Arlington at Santa Barbara, and later in the St. Francis or Palace, San Francisco.

After showing some of her work in a recent exhibition in New York City, Mrs. Wachtel won an honor much coveted by painters. She was elected to membership in the American Water Color Society. Of Elmer Wachtel, a brother painter recently said: "He is a master of technique; his values are absolutely perfect."

Wonderfully quiet in effect, perfect in tone, is Elmer Wachtel's "In the San Diego Mountains."

This completeness comes from harmony of color, not its negation. There is fine painting of sycamore trees in "The Arroyo Seco," the tree trunks being gilded by late sunshine, the distant mountains glowing with it. The distant charming valley shows Pasadena dreaming in the sun.

Simplicity of treatment characterizes "Santa Barbara Bay," whose clouds, afloat in a sky of exquisite transparency, are touched with purple. "Mountain Flower Garden" has a foreground study of buckwheat, rocks and shrubbery, with slopes of hills that are remarkably modeled. The greens in the shrubbery are full of life. There is grandeur in "San Francisco Peaks," whose snow-capped mountains show an after-glow, while their sides are swathed in a purple creeping shadow.

Marion Kavanaugh Wachtel has painted no better pictures than these she is now exhibiting—and this is tantamount to saying that they are among the best water color landscapes done in America, or Europe. You cannot doubt it if you study the lovely sky of "Sunset in Santa Paula Valley," a picture whose distance is all delicate purples, whose valley is like a vision in a poet's dream. Fine simplicity of effect characterizes "After the Shower, Santa Barbara," grayish purple clouds piled high behind a graceful group of eucalyptus trees. The valley, lying in a subdued light, shows floating mists that are rendered with a technical dexerity truly marvelous.

The tonal effects in "Matilija Canyon" were got by the use of purples, rose colors and pale greens. The sycamores to the left, seen against dark masses of oaks, are finely differentiated in value from their background. "Mt. San Jacinto" has a beautiful sky, mountains that are palely purple, and an enchanted valley leading up to the glorious heights.

An exhibition that will give you joy if you love nature and art.

Art Notes.

A. Franklin Fields is holding an exhibition of pictures at No. 628 Dos Robles place Alhambra—California landscapes, as well as African, Australian and New Zealand paintings.

The exhibition of water color flower studies and ceramics which Miss A. M. Wagner is holding at Royar's, No. 744 South Hill street, will continue one week longer, when it will be followed by an exhibition of eastern sketches by Frederick Roland Miner.

K. Takahashi is holding an exhibition of landscape paintings in the Alexander building, Mission Road and Meridian street, South Pasadena. The exhibition opened on the 20th, to close on the 27th.

From April 1 to April 15 John Donovan will exhibit, at the Steckel gallery, about thirty marines and shore pictures.

Pictures by Birge Harrison and John M. Gamble are still on exhibition at Kanst's. Some interesting craft-work by Aktarian is also exhibited in this gallery.

F. Melville Du Mond is holding, in the American Museum of Natural History, New York, an exhibition of paintings made in the canyons, deserts and cliff dwellings, and in the Moki and Navajo country of the Southwest.

Achievement.

One man resolves, slacks not in his intent,
And rears from bits of stone a steady fane.
Another spurns the waste's impediment,
And crowns the desert field with ripening grain.
A third, with song, reshapes a shattered sword,
Fashioning a briefer blade, close home to fight
When one red dawn repeats the battle-word,
And hostile banners blaze within the light.
To him who dares the stern, unwonted task,
That done, gives hush to paltry talk of crowds,
Come visions of the soul behind earth's mask
And that high Toll above the road of clouds.
He wins from Life the laurel-wreath She owes,
Rich with the leaves of friends that late were foes.

Walking in the Woods.

I walk beneath mysterious autumn trees,
An autumn twilight hour—
But when I walked in summer field and bower
These, too, were mysteries;
Always there is a spirit and a breath
Beyond my spirit's call,
Almost the living trees confess the faith,
And yet I know not what creation saith—
But He who walks here with me knows it all.
There was an hour, O friend of mine, when we
To each drew very near,
When hand in hand we both grew silent, dear,
Because love could not see!
Always there is a secret yet untold,
The barriers do not fall.
Almost I find your life whose hands I hold,
And yet I know not what my hands enfold—
But love Himself is with us, knowing all.

Operations Avoided

Thousands of surgical operations are performed every year in our great city hospitals upon women afflicted with serious female troubles. Sometimes the operations are successful and sometimes they are not; sometimes they are necessary, many times they are not.

It is safe to say that a very large percentage of surgical operations for female troubles may be wholly avoided. This statement is amply proven by hundreds of letters constantly being received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., and the following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock of Paw Paw, Mich., relates her sad experience, which is only one of thousands that are constantly occurring. Had she taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at first, as she finally did, her dreadful hospital experience would have been avoided.

Here is her own statement: Paw Paw, Mich.: "Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and finally sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks, and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advise my friends who have any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, Paw Paw, Mich.

If you are ill don't drag along until you are advised to have an operation, but remember that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills and has saved a vast army of women from surgical operations. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not at least give this famous medicine a trial.

A HANDSOME REWARD WILL BE GIVEN

to any person who will prove that any of our testimonial letters constantly being published in the daily newspapers are not genuine and truthful, or that any of these women were paid in any way to give their testimonials or that the letters were published without their permission or that all the original letters did not come to us entirely unsolicited. WOMEN'S WORK,

BY SYDNE

LAUGH as we may over the eccentricities of Dr. Mary Walker, who is once again in the public limelight, there is after all a note of pathos not unmixed with pathos connected with her assumption of masculine garb.

When I was in Washington a few years ago I had an interview with Dr. Walker. I recollect it was at a session of the first mothers' congress held in this country. I noticed the doctor as she entered the hall—a diminutive but striking figure—clad in her long Prince Albert coat, dark trousers, tall silk hat with a black satin four-in-hand over her spotless shirt front. It was a cold evening and she wore long fur cape over her shoulders, and her ears and throat were protected by an old-fashioned "nubia," some distinctly feminine attributes lightening her grotesque appearance. She was quite willing to talk and greeted me with enthusiasm as I passed my professional card to her and cordially placed her arm around me as I sat down beside her. Presently, I heard a shocked voice in the room behind shriek in a stage whisper:

Mrs. Frank A
Vice-President Badger Club, who will e

"For mercy sake, Martha, see that man hugging that woman—right here in a public hall, too."

But the doctor did not relax her embrace and continued to pour into my sympathetic ear her grievance. It was distinctively "peeved" because the Programme Committee had refused to permit her to address the mothers. I understood afterward that they feared it would burlesque the congress to allow this manly woman a place on the platform of a mother's meeting.

Of course, one of the questions I put to the doctor was why she put on trousers, anyhow, and here is her answer:

"After the battle of Bull Run—I was then a volunteer surgeon in the field and went out to that bloody field and for twelve hours I never left it. When I returned to headquarters after my hours of awful work among the dead and dying soldiers on that bloody battleground, my skirts were dripping with gore. I contrasted the unhampered ease with which my brother surgeons labored by my side, and I decided that I would put petticoats while doing a man's work in the army. After the war I decided to be wedded to the ease and freedom of my masculine garments that nothing would persuade me to again adopt skirts."

Songs Entertain Club.

Edwin House entertained the Woman's Club of Hollywood Wednesday afternoon with "Songs by American Composers." He interpreted, with splendid baritone voice, songs gay and dashing and tender in a way that made American women fond of their country's music. "Ellis' Song Cycle," by Von Freilts, a woman by birth but an American by option, was followed by shorter numbers. The music department of the club is in charge of Mrs. Cecil Mikel.

Mrs. Calvin Smith, the president, read the programme with a gracious little speech thanking Mr. House for the afternoon's pleasure and inviting the members and guests to the tea-room, where chocolate and cakes were presided over by Mrs. Leonard and the hostesses of the afternoon, Mrs. Chester Jones and the Misses Pearl Dunmore Helen Dickey and Mabel Hall. Next week a lecture on "The Art of Today," by Prof. Judson, at the clubrooms, will be followed by arts and crafts exhibit, at the Fine Art Gallery.

Again, the Dickens People.

The repetition of the Dickens programme for the benefit of guests of the Friday Morning Club last Friday evening was a tremendous success. The auditorium and gallery of the clubhouse were crowded, the chairs being placed so as to accommodate the largest possible number. The regular club members present vied themselves for the most part with standing room in the lobby, making way to the guests, who were entertained by cards which had been distributed by members.

Mr. Marigold was at his best and, after a preliminary march through the room, headed the procession of more than sixty Dickens characters with Hon. David C. McCann, president of the club, on his arm. Mrs. McCann was in costume representing one of the famous landladies of Dickens's fiction.

After the assemblage was seated on the stage in the chairs reserved for them and each had done his or her individual "stunt," Dr. Marigold, in the person of Miss Helen Louise Kimball, delivered the memorable coster address. Members "spell" with just the right

Put to proof art alien to the artist's
Once, and only once, and for one only,
So to be the man and leave the artist,
Have the man's joy, miss the artist's sorrow.

—[Robert Browning.

Many Impressions.

Some weeks ago I had occasion to say a few words anent the value of sketches as a help to us in forming an opinion of a man as an artist. A sketch is an impression of nature painted in one sitting. That impression must not be "improved" by after touches made in the studio, for if this is done its value as a sketch is gone—it is, indeed, no longer a sketch, but a picture or a study.

The great charm of the true sketch is its direct vividness its vitality, its spontaneity. The sketch is an inspiration from nature. Through it the artist reveals his attitude. Though he may attempt to say little, he tries to say it with exactitude. Some sudden glimpse of nature's beauty has gripped his heart, fired his imagination, lifted up his soul, and he is moved to record his discovery either for the joy of the moment or for future use.

An exhibition of sketches from many hands is bound to be a very interesting thing, for it brings us into close touch with many artistic personalities. Here there can be no odium in comparisons, for sketches are not "works" but notes for future works, and surely a note may be as slight as the artist pleases (and still prove instructive and beautiful,) if it embodies the idea he was seeking.

I cannot agree that all the canvases shown in the present exhibition of the California Art Club in the Blanchard gallery are sketches, even though they are advertised as such. Indubitably some of them are pictures carefully arranged and composed, and painted through several sittings. And some of them are studies, canvases painted in the search for more exact artistic knowledge. Pictures and studies are quite as admirable as sketches—sometimes they are much more admirable—but they are not the same thing. Therefore, when an exhibition of sketches is announced, only sketches should be shown.

However, the difference between a sketch and a picture or study has always been a moot question among painters, and I am informed that even the intelligent jury of the California Art Club had warm differences of opinion last Wednesday. The half-hour sketch and the eight-hour sketch both fall within the law (neither has been overworked, if you will pardon the joke,) so both may deserve admittance, even though the one reminds you of a omelette and the other a chromo-lithograph of the Victorian era.

So there you are! The picture and the sketch—Tweedledum and Tweedledee—who's to decide what is what and which is which? Apparently the committee of the California Art Club gave the conundrum up in despair, and hung everything hangable that came their way—sketches, pictures, studies, though the sketches predominate.

And a very good exhibition the California Art Club is giving us. We have some strong painters in Southern California at the present moment. Their work will bear comparison with the work of any group of painters in the country, and not to their disadvantage. I declare with confidence that no other city in America of the size of Los Angeles can hold a similar exhibition that even approaches it in general excellence. This is not vainglory, for we have the goods to show—and to deliver to every purchaser.

As there are twenty-five exhibitors, and as many of them show three, four and even five sketches, it will be impossible for me to dilate at length on any one work, or to mention all the works. Time, space and the quality of mercy forbid it. My review must perforce be a sketch, not a finished picture. I have already smudged in the big masses of my background, now for a few salient details.

William Wendt painted all day, but only one day, on his big outdoor effect from Cornwall, "Under Gray Skies," and a wonderful sketch it is, with brooding skies, sprawling naked trees laid in with a sure and virile brush, and a fine suggestion of nature's amplitude. Even more beautiful, though very different, is this artist's "Rocks and Pool," symphonic amber tones from Topanga Canyon.

A painter from San Diego, Marco Zim, gives us magnificent color in his "Incoming Tide," a sunset sketch of sea and shore, and an excellent decorative scheme in his tender study of a girl leaning against a wheelbarrow piled high with new-mown hay, though in this latter sketch the drawing is a trifle uncertain. There are light and atmosphere in the purples and yellows of "Building" and "The Pool," by Maurice Braun, who is also of San Diego.

"Sketch of a Head," a little pastel by Walter L. Cheever, is charmingly and artistically done, and Eugene C. Frank's small landscape, "Eventide," is painted with the fine and beautiful simplicity of an old Dutch master. Both these artists live in Glendale.

From Pasadena comes Benjamin Chambers Brown, with a number of good sketches, among them his magnificently glowing "Arroyo Santa Anita." From South Pasadena we have Franz A. Bischoff, whose meteoric advance in landscape has been the wonder of those among his admirers who knew him only as a world-famous painter in ceramics. Bischoff's colorful contributions are "San Pedro" and "A Deserted House."

J. H. Sharp's little portrait, "A Crow Indian," has the brilliant color quality of a collection of artistic gems, and is painted with the suavity and sureness of touch which comes from absolute knowledge. Another brilliant technician is Helena Dunlap, whose "Veranda" and "Girl Reading" are quick with life and light color. Not quite so good as these is her "Sea Urchins," the handling being somewhat mussy.

"Tenacious Oak" is Hanson Puthuff's not particularly pretty title for an unusually lovely study of fawn-colored hills covered with rocks and shrubbery. This artist's "Graceful Red Gums" preserves the true spirit of the sketch. Another sketch of fine vitality and delightful color is Detlef Sammann's "Incoming Fog," a study of sea and shore. In the making of this sketch eye and hand worked together with admirable precision.

The color monotype that W. A. Sharp shows is full of refinement and feeling, and is very pleasing in its scheme of grays and browns. This artist's low-toned "Evening" has also much charm. There is poetry in the subdued tones of Ralph Fullerton Mocine's "Moonrise," genuine nature in Aaron Kilpatrick's "Signs of Rain."

Jack Smith departs from landscape and sketches for us a street scene from the window of the Sketch Club in Temple Block on a rainy day, and surprises us with the picturesque beauty of our own city. Margaret Taylor gives us a colorful sketch of a child's head, and there are characteristic sketches from Charles Rogers, Val Costello, Albert Clinton Conner and Arlen Putnam, with some fine and interesting "Manbertypes" from the brush (or pen and press?) of R. E. Manbert.

In sculpture Marco Zim has a good relief medallion of Rodin, while Julia Bracken Wendt shows a subtle portrait of Mode Wineman in low relief.

The exhibition will continue till the end of this week. At its conclusion fourteen of the sketches, contributed by members of the club, will be sold at auction, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of the club.

Mrs. Cyril B. Andrews,

The Wachtels at Daniell's.

The entire output of those two fine interpreters of the landscape of Southern California, Elmer Wachtel and Marion Kavanaugh Wachtel, now goes to the Daniell studios, No. 215 South Broadway. Sixteen recent pictures have been added to the permanent exhibition held there, nine being by Elmer Wachtel, who paints in oils; seven by Mrs. Wachtel, whose reputation rests on her magnificent water colors.

If you would see these later pictures it were wise to go soon, for after a few weeks they will probably be taken North, to be shown in the Arlington at Santa Barbara, and later in the St. Francis or Palace, San Francisco.

After showing some of her work in a recent exhibition in New York City, Mrs. Wachtel won an honor much coveted by painters. She was elected to membership in the American Water Color Society. Of Elmer Wachtel, a brother painter recently said: "He is a master of technique; his values are absolutely perfect."

Wonderfully quiet in effect, perfect in tone, is Elmer Wachtel's "In the San Diego Mountains."

This completeness comes from harmony of color, not its negation. There is fine painting of sycamore trees in "The Arroyo Seco," the tree trunks being gilded by late sunshine, the distant mountains glowing with it. The distant charming valley shows Pasadena dreaming in the sun.

Simplicity of treatment characterizes "Santa Barbara Bay," whose clouds, afloat in a sky of exquisite transparency, are touched with purple. "Mountain Flower Garden" has a foreground study of buckwheat, rocks and shrubbery, with slopes of hills that are remarkably modeled. The greens in the shrubbery are full of life. There is grandeur in "San Francisco Peaks," whose snow-capped mountains show an after-glow, while their sides are swathed in a purple creeping shadow.

Marion Kavanaugh Wachtel has painted no better pictures than these she is now exhibiting—and this is tantamount to saying that they are among the best water color landscapes done in America, or Europe. You cannot doubt it if you study the lovely sky of "Sunset in Santa Paula Valley," a picture whose distance is all délicate purples, whose valley is like a vision in a poet's dream. Fine simplicity of effect characterizes "After the Shower, Santa Barbara," grayish purple clouds piled high behind a graceful group of eucalyptus trees. The valley, lying in a subdued light, shows floating mists that are rendered with a technical dexerity truly marvelous.

The tonal effects in "Matilija Canyon" were got by the use of purples, rose colors and pale greens. The sycamores to the left, seen against dark masses of oaks, are finely differentiated in value from their background. "Mt. San Jacinto" has a beautiful sky, mountains that are palely purple, and an enchanted valley leading up to the glorious heights.

An exhibition that will give you joy if you love nature and art.

Art Notes.

A. Franklin Fields is holding an exhibition of pictures at No. 628 Dos Robles place Alhambra—California landscapes, as well as African, Australian and New Zealand paintings.

The exhibition of water color flower studies and ceramics which Miss A. M. Wagner is holding at Royar's, No. 744 South Hill street, will continue one week longer, when it will be followed by an exhibition of eastern sketches by Frederick Roland Miner.

K. Takahashi is holding an exhibition of landscape paintings in the Alexander building, Mission Road and Meridian street, South Pasadena. The exhibition opened on the 20th, to close on the 27th.

From April 1 to April 15 John Donovan will exhibit, at the Steckel gallery, about thirty marines and shore pictures.

Pictures by Birge Harrison and John M. Gamble are still on exhibition at Kanst's. Some interesting craft-work by Aktarian is also exhibited in this gallery.

F. Melville Du Mond is holding, in the American Museum of Natural History, New York, an exhibition of paintings made in the canyons, deserts and cliff dwellings, and in the Moki and Navajo country of the Southwest.

Achievement.

One man resolves, slacks not in his intent,
And rears from bits of stone a steady fane.
Another spurns the waste's impediment,
And crowns the desert field with ripening grain.
A third, with song, reshapes a shattered sword,
Fashioning a briefer blade, close home to fight
When one red dawn repeats the battle-word,
And hostile banners blaze within the light.
To him who dares the stern, unwonted task,
That done, gives hush to paltry talk of crowds,
Come visions of the soul behind earth's mask
And that high Toll above the road of clouds.
He wins from Life the laurel-wreath She owes,
Rich with the leaves of friends that late were foes.

Walking in the Woods.

I walk beneath mysterious autumn trees,
An autumn twilight hour—
But when I walked in summer field and bower
These, too, were mysteries;
Always there is a spirit and a breath
Beyond my spirit's call,
Almost the living trees confess the faith,
And yet I know not what creation saith—
But He who walks here with me knows it all.
There was an hour, O friend of mine, when we
To each drew very near,
When hand in hand we both grew silent, dear,
Because love could not see!
Always there is a secret yet untold,
The barriers do not fall.
Almost I find your life whose hands I hold,
And yet I know not what my hands enfold—
But love Himself is with us, knowing all.

Operations Avoided

Thousands of surgical operations are performed every year in our great city hospitals upon women afflicted with serious female troubles. Sometimes the operations are successful and sometimes they are not; sometimes they are necessary, many times they are not.

It is safe to say that a very large percentage of surgical operations for female troubles may be wholly avoided. This statement is amply proven by hundreds of letters constantly being received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., and the following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock of Paw Paw, Mich., relates her sad experience, which is only one of thousands that are constantly occurring. Had she taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at first, as she finally did, her dreadful hospital experience would have been avoided.

Here is her own statement: Paw Paw, Mich.: "Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and finally sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks, and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advise my friends who have any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, Paw Paw, Mich.

If you are ill don't drag along until you are advised to have an operation, but remember that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills and has saved a vast army of women from surgical operations. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not at least give this famous medicine a trial.

A HANDSOME REWARD WILL BE GIVEN

to any person who will prove that any of our testimonial letters constantly being published in the daily newspapers are not genuine and truthful, or that any of these women were paid in any way to give their testimonials or that the letters were published without their permission or that all the original letters did not come to us entirely unsolicited. WOMEN'S WORK,

BY SYDNE

LADON as we may ever the co-contradictions of Dr. Mary Walker, who is once again in the public limelight, there is after all a note of heroism not unmixed with pathos connected with her assumption of masculine garb.

When I was in Washington a few years ago I had an interview with Dr. Walker. I recollect it was at a session of the first mothers' congress held in this country. I noticed the doctor as she entered the hall—a diminutive but striking figure—clad in her long Prince Albert coat, dark trousers, tall silk hat with a black satin four-in-hand over her spotless shirt front. It was a cold evening and she wore long fur cape over her shoulders, and her ears and throat were protected by an old-fashioned "nubia," a distinctly feminine attributes heightening her grotesque appearance. She was quite willing to talk and greeted me with enthusiasm as I passed my professional card to her and cordially placed her arm around me as I sat down beside her. Presently, I heard a shocked voice in the rear behind shriek in a stage whisper: "For mercy sake, Martha, see that she is hugging that woman—right there in a public hall, too."

But the doctor did not relax her embrace and continued to pour into my sympathetic ear her grievance. She was distinctively "peeved" because the Programme Committee had refused to permit her to address the sisters. I understood afterward that they feared it would burlesque the progress to allow this manly woman a place on the platform of a mother's meeting.

Of course, one of the questions I put to the doctor was why she put on trousers, anyhow, and here is her answer.

"After the battle of Bull Run—I was then a volunteer surgeon in the army—I went out to that bloody battlefield and for twelve hours I never left it. When I returned to headquarters after my hours of awful work among the dead and dying soldiers on that bloody battleground, my clothes were dripping with gore. I contrasted the unhampered ease with which my brother surgeons labored in their petticoat-state while doing a man's work in the army. After the war I became so wedded to the ease and freedom of my masculine garments that nothing would persuade me to again adopt skirts."

Songs Entertain Club.

Edwin House entertained the Woman's Club of Hollywood Wednesday afternoon with "Songs by American Composers." He interpreted, with splendid baritone voice, songs virile and dashing and tender in a way that made American women proud of their country's music. "Elizabeth Song Cycle," by Von Freilts, a woman by birth but an American by adoption, was followed by shorter numbers. The music department of the club is in charge of Mrs. Cecil Frankal.

Mrs. Calvin Smith, the president, opened the programme with a gracious little speech thanking Mr. House for the afternoon's pleasure and inviting the members and guests to the tea-room, where chocolate and cakes were served by Mrs. Leonard and the hostesses of the afternoon, Mrs. Homer Jones and the Misses Pearl and Helen Dickey and Mabel Skinner. Next week a lecture on "The Art of Today," by Prof. Judson, at the clubrooms, will be followed by an arts and crafts exhibit, at the Fine Arts Gallery.

Again, the Dickens People.

The repetition of the Dickens programme for the benefit of guests of the Friday Morning Club last Friday evening was a tremendous success. The auditorium and gallery of the clubhouse were crowded, the latter being placed so as to accommodate the largest possible number. The regular club members present crowded themselves for the most part into standing room in the lobby, making way to the guests, who were entertained by cards which had been distributed by members.

Dr. Marigold was at his best and, with preliminary march through the audience, headed the procession of more than eighty Dickens characters with David C. McCann, president of the club, on his arm. Mrs. McCann appeared in costume representing one of the famous landladies of Dickens's creation.

After the assemblage was seated on the stage in the chairs reserved for them, and each had done his or her individual "stunt," Dr. Marigold, in the person of Miss Helen Louise Kimball, delivered the memorable oration of Sairey Gamp's "spell" with just the right

Women's Civic Work.

That the humanitarian spirit is the foundation of all civic work is the belief of the civic section of Ebell as expressed by its curator Mrs. J. B. Stearns, at the monthly meeting of that department, Thursday morning.

The subject under consideration was the housing and care of the city's poor. Mrs. Charles L. Michod, who has given a good deal of time and attention to the housing problem in conjunction with Mrs. von Wagner, led off with a talk concerning our tenement district with its 4000 Russians, 2000 Slavonians and thousands of other foreign residents. She has been through the slums of London and of Italy, and has worked in the tenement districts of New York and is therefore conversant with conditions there and, in her opinion, Los Angeles has as serious a problem, though of smaller dimensions as yet, as have these great centers.

The particular problem to face here in the house court, which, on account of our mild climate, flourishes to a wonderful degree. She described the dry goods box shack and the tent houses, and Lopez court, that plague spot on Buena Vista street, and advocated in their place the concrete construction houses, and pointed out the beautiful and sanitary garden cities of England, which are Dana Bartlett's ideals as a proper way of housing the poor with a limit of twenty cottages on an acre, which is a far cry from New York's tenement law, which permits as many as 1300 people to an acre. Paraphrasing Victor Hugo's observation, Mrs. Michod declared that when you open a home in these congested districts you close a prison.

Mrs. Bradley, who has been engaged for years in work with Bethlehem Mission, spoke concerning the large Russian population of that section giving many enlightening facts drawn from her personal experience in working among these people. Mrs. Baurhyte described the divinely human mission of the Maternity Cottage Utah street, where poor mothers are cared for and where more than 100 babies have been born during the past year. This institution is in no sense a rescue home for unfortunate girls, but rather a place where the poor, but self-respecting wife may be cared for in childbirth at a merely nominal rate, or, if unable to meet any expense, at no price at all. The city appropriates $25 a month toward the support of the cottage and one of the churches gives $10 a month; otherwise it is wholly dependent upon voluntary gifts. One of its resources is the second-hand store in the rear of the cottage where, from gifts of clothing or anything salable, the poor people of the neighborhood supply their needs, always paying something for whatever they buy, but at a price commensurate with their means.

"We never give anything away," said Mrs. Baurhyte, "there is always a price attached to everything if it's not more than a penny. It makes people self-respecting to pay for what they have and inspires independence."

The income from this store is from $30 to $45 per month, all of which goes toward the support of the Maternity Cottage. If any one has outgrown or half worn shoes or men's clothing, it will be gratefully received and will fill a double purpose in that it will add to the income of the store and, at the same time, supply some one's need at a cost far below the usual price.

Judgment should be exercised in the nature of these contributions. Mrs. Baurhyte quoted one case for example where, after paying an expressman $1.50 to bring a load of things donated by a well-meaning, but thoughtless woman, a pair of ice skates was found among the collection of cast-off clothing. Now who in all Los Angeles could find use for a pair of ice skates?

In the course of her remarks Mrs. Baurhyte urged the Ebell women to investigate the matter of placing children with adopted parents and ventilate it, and made the startling statement that she knew of institutions here that actually sell babies for $10 up to people who desire to adopt them. She said the Native Daughters have taken up this subject and she wished the women's clubs of Los Angeles would unite in an effort to probe it to the bottom.

The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Maternity Cottage takes place next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the furniture store of Niles Pease. As the institution is entirely non-sectarian, it was considered undesirable to hold this meeting in any church, Mrs. Baurhyte explained, and as the cost of hiring a hall can be better applied toward the maintenance of the institution, the board had gratefully accepted the offer of the Pease Brothers to hold the meeting in that building. This will be an open session and any who are interested will be cordially welcome. Several physicians will be present and there will be other good speakers and a full report of the year's work will be given.

Mrs. Sumner P. Hunt closed the symposium with a paper, which pointed to that millenial day when there will be no poverty to deal with. "In a truly civilized state there would be no poor," she stated, "that is the pith of the whole subject. It is a condition, however, and not a theory that confronts us and we have to consider the remedies for the defects of our non-civilization."

She described the Hull House method of meeting these conditions and quoted extensively from H. G. Wells, who is a recognized authority along the lines of constructive education that deals with the vital issues of life.

She Is Not a Candidate.

Mrs. J. E. Cowles, whose name is persistently mentioned in connection with the Presidency of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, which holds its biennial in San Francisco in June, announces positively that she is, under no consideration, to be a candidate.

Mrs. Cowles was one of the foremost workers to secure the biennial for California and she points out that it would be entirely out of precedent for her to accept such office as it is understood that no resident of the hostess State ever accepts the presidency.

"Neither good taste nor good judgment would dictate such a course so entirely at odds with the club ethics," said Mrs. Cowles, when approached concerning the subject. "The West should set a high standard of club ethics in this respect and, under no consideration will I accept the office of the president. There is plenty of good material in the ranks of the women of the country to fill this office."

When asked concerning any possible candidates Mrs. Cowles quoted from an official letter recently received from the Texas federation urging the candidacy of Mrs. Percy Pennybacker of Austin, whose name has been frequently mentioned in this connection and for whom the Texas delegation will work.

It is a well-known fact that club women the country over have looked upon Mrs. Cowles as the logical successor of the present president by reason of her office and of her long training on the national board, of which she is first vice-president. During the biennial in Cincinnati two years ago Mrs. Cowles was called upon to preside in the absence of the president and her dignity and fairness made a most favorable impression upon the club women.

For Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. R. V. Redpath and Mrs. Judson Davis will give an interpretation of Hiawatha next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Davis, No. 935 West Washington street, the small admission fee at the door for the benefit of the scholarship fund of the George Junior Republic. A large attendance is expected not only on account of the very worthy object but also for the genuine enjoyment of the interpretation by recitation and music.

Los Angeles Playwrights.

Two little one-act plays, "The Indemnity," written by Mrs. Bertha Starkweather, and "Not Worth Mentioning," by Mrs. E. K. Foster, will be presented Tuesday afternoon before the Press Club at the Woman's Clubhouse. "The Indemnity" deals with an economic question, the author having been a student of sociology for many years. The parts will be taken by Patsy Calhoun, Mr. Lonzeile and Mrs. Burdick, whose impersonation of Jo at the Dickens assemblage was pronounced by many as the best—and certainly the most pathetic—of any character there. The other play, which is a bright little comedy, as its title indicates, will be presented by Margaret Daniell, Patsy Calhoun and Allan Bos

Between plays, Miss Laura Grover Smith will give a brief resume of plays by local dramatists that have been produced. The Wednesday Morning Club and dramatic sections of the Friday Morning and Ebell Clubs, students of Cumnock and other dramatic schools have been invited to be present.

Dutch Literature.

Under the leadership of Mrs. F. A. Stephens the Ruskin Art Club, at its Wednesday session, enjoyed an excursion into what Mrs. Stephens described as "that unknown country of Dutch literature." Miss A. E. Wadleigh spoke of the seventeenth century as Holland's golden age, telling of the brilliant circle of poets and dramatists whom the genial Hooft gathered about him at the historic castle Muiden and dwelling especially on the work of Vondel, whose powerful drama, "Lucifer," is supposed to have suggested to Milton the subject for his great epic.

Mrs. F. A. Stephens described the morbidly emotional romantic movement that swept through European literature in the early nineteenth century, as a reaction against the glittering intellectuality, the caustic wit and cynicism of the preceding age, and told of its influence on Dutch letters. Mrs. W. B. Parker spoke of the works of Holland's first novelists, Elizabeth Bekker Wolff and Agatha Deken, who collaborated, and Mrs. W. H. Housh talked of the brilliant and cultured Bilderdijk, philologist, lawyer, translator and poet.

Mrs. Arthur Leavitt closed the lesson with an account of the poets Feith and Staring; of Bogaers, writer of ballads and tales, and of Tollens, the well-loved author of Holland's national anthem.

Household Economics Demonstrated.

The next meeting of the California Badger Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Talbot Winship at No. 735 East Thirty-first street on the afternoon of April 3. The main business will be the nomination of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Frank A. Waters, vice-president and chairman of the Programme Committee, will have charge of the entertainment, which will be on the subject of home economics, and an ocular demonstration will be the collation supplied by the executive board, who will demonstrate household science. Favorite recipes will be exchanged and the hostess, Mrs. Winship, will furnish some good music.

Club Notes.

Invitations are out for a reception at Hotel Maryland, given by the Women's Press Association in honor of Miss Zona Gale, the story writer, who is passing the winter in Southern California.

The Ebell books and conversation department will meet the first Thursday in April with Mrs. Thomas B. Stewell as acting curator. The programme will be arranged by Mrs. Edward C. Dieter and "Hilarius and His Successors" will be considered by Mrs. William Read; "The York Mysteries" by Mrs. J. A. Donato and "The Miracle" by Mrs. Helen H. Steckel.

Odell Shepard of the U.S.C. faculty will give a lecture on Shakespearian songs and theatrical music before the Cosmos Club next Wednesday afternoon. The lecture will be illustrated by musical settings, ancient and modern.

The Sierra Madre Club, which, by the way, is rather famous for its programmes dealing with practical questions, especially along sanitary lines, had a symposium on "Vaccination" last Friday, led by Dr. Abbie Mace Betts, who is chairman of the board of directors of the club.

The ninth chapter of P.E.O. in Los Angeles, a secret order, was formed last week at the home of Mrs. Ella J. Brown, No. 663 Westmoreland avenue. The installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. A. Sexton, State president. Several other State officers, present and past, were present, as well as representatives from chapters at Glendale, East Hollywood and Tropico.

The guest of honor at the Ruskin Art Club luncheon next Wednesday will be Miss Thekla Mertens, who will address the club on interior decoration.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Three of our army men (Capt. Henry B. Richmond, Capt. Conrad S. Babcock and Lieut. Adna R. Chaffee) are taking a graduate course in horsemanship at the Saumur Riding School in France.

Edward Mather, a clerk in the Omaha office of the Rock Island Railroad, received a court certificate last Tuesday showing he is heir to $1,000,000 from the estate of Robert Mather, his brother, head of the Westinghouse Company. Within ten minutes of the receipt of the certificate he had resigned, taken his hat and left the Rock Island offices.

W. T. Hornaday, the famous curator of the Bronx Zoological Gardens, in New York, who has been identified with collections for the zoo for many years, is considered one of the best-known students of animal life in this country.

James J. Hill, the railroad magnate, has announced that he will build and maintain in St. Paul a reference library to cost not less than $300,000. The action of Mr. Hill makes it possible for the city to erect a library building to cost $500,000.

Ten years ago Moses H. Steuer could not read nor write. Now, at the age of 56 years, he has been admitted to the Massachusetts bar. Steuer came to this country a little more than a decade ago, and to earn a living and support his family he traveled from house to house selling small wares. Working by day and studying by night Steuer learned the English language and the principles of law required for his admission to the bar.

The Lady and the Brook.

A brook is flowing to the sea
And babbling as it goes,
And once a maiden strolled with me
Along the way it flows.

Still it is doubtless murmuring
Along its winding way,
And lambs may play or birds may sing
Upon its shores today.

Ah, it is long since she and I
In springtime wandered there,
When not a cloud was in the sky,

Nor in our hearts a care.
I do not know where she may be—
'Tis long since we have met;
But, like the brook, she probably
Is busy babbling yet.

MAN WHO WOULD BE KING DESCENDANT OF POSTMAN.

Delightful Farce of Rival Courts by the Peerless Danube's Brink—Spurred by an Ambitious Wife, Prince Albert of Thurn and Taxis Proclaims His Kingship and Revels in "Court" Appointments.

BY BASIL LAMBERT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MUNICH, March 23.—Regensburg city, by the peerless Danube's brink, has a man who would be king. A real king that is; not a modern, deteriorated king who shakes hands with Mayors and pays incognito visits to Paris, but a mediaeval, distant sovereign, clothes in the pomp of Byzance, the "grandezza" of sixteenth century Spain, and the thousand-ton ceremonial of the Holy Roman Empire. This man who would be king is Prince Albert of Thurn and Taxis, who though always a magnate of very considerable importance, has lately come to the conclusion that life is vain and empty without the attributes and ceremonial of royalty.

As Prince Albert lives right in Regensburg city, naturally Regensburgers rejoice; but deep anger is being caused to rival Bavarian potentates, most of all to Regent Prince Leopold, who has sent a message to the King of Regensburg asking him to be a little more princely and a little less kingly in the days that are to come.

Regensburg is an incomparable city. Romans built a camp there, and called it Regina Castro; the Celts knew it, and called it Ratisbona, and some people call it Ratisbon today. It has been Austrian and Bavarian; it sheltered the Imperial diet; it has Roman

Prince Albert of Thurn Und Taxis,

Who under the pressure of his ambitious wife would be known as "King of Regensburg."

Heir to Regensburg,

Prince Francois Joseph Maximilien Maria Antoine Ignace Lamoral.

ruins, a cathedral, a city hall 600 years old (in parts,) a Valhalla of German heroes, and finally the miraculous fairy palace of the Thurn and Taxis.

This German Gothic building with Renaissance details has 514 rooms and an abbey cloister; it has fountains 400 years old, relics of Kaiser Charles P, a throne hall, a silver hall, a winter garden, and even a "kegelbahn" with inscription showing that Kaiser Wilhelm once knocked down all nine pins at a shot. Further, it has fourteen coffins of sold bronze, and in one of them slumbers the sister of Prussia's Queen Louise.

POSTMAN ANCESTOR.

It may be judged from the coffins and the kegelbahn that the Thurn and Taxis are a really distinguished family; and as a fact they have sufficient titles to do without that of king. For Prince Albert of Thurn and Taxis is also Prince of Buchau and Krotoszyn, Duke of Worth and Donaustauf, count-prince of Friedberg-Scheer, Count of Dalle-Sassina, Count of Marchthal, of Nereshelm, and of other places—and he is also hereditary Postmaster-General of the German empire.

To the postmaster-generalship he owes the fact that he is one of Europe's richest men. For a long time the Thurn and Taxis family had a monopoly of the postal service of the Hapsburg dominions. The first Thurn ans Taxis came from Italy, where, so he said, he was related to Torquato Tasso. After beginning modestly by carrying letters in Tyrol and Styria, his family captured a letter-carrying monopoly for Germany, Spain, Italy and the Netherlands.

Today you may see in the Regensburg Palace a hundred velvet books showing the organization of these first European posts, and you may see the fifty-four Thurn and Taxis postage stamps. Not until 1806, long before which the Thurn and Taxis became princes of the Empire, did the monopoly begin to decline. And the decline was highly profitable. When the German states started their own postal services they had to compensate liberally the hard-bargaining Thurn and Taxis family. Titles, land and money rolled in. For the loss of the Prussian posts was granted the principality of Krotoszyn; for the loss of the Bavarian posts the magnificent abbey of St. Emmeran in Regensburg and three vast estates; and finally, when the last remnant of the monopoly was surrendered in 1867, the then Prince of Thurn and Taxis was made a present of $2,250,000.

So that the present family of Thurn und Taxis has possession of over 100 castles, palaces and country seats in Prussia, Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Bohemia and Croatia, and can afford to inter-marry with the royalties whose letters they formerly stamped. His (present) Serene Highness Prince Albert-Marie-Joseph-Maximillian-Lumoral has in fact married Archduchess Margaret of Austria, daughter of Archduke Joseph, and sister of the Duchess of Orleans; and as a result of thus marrying the cousin of an Emperor, he began to cherish aspirations to be a king.

WOMAN BEHIND IT.

It is another case of cherchez la femme. The fact is, Her Serene Highness Princess Margaret of Thurn und Taxis was extremely annoyed at the discovery that she was not imperial; whereas her sister, Duchess Marie Dorothea of Orleans, married a man who keeps up royal state as King of France, has masters of the household, gentlemen of the chamber and equerries, dines in blue knee breeches and observes all the terrific etiquette of Louis Quatorze's court. So, being an ambitious woman, Princess Margaret lately inspired Prince Albert to set up as King.

If a Frenchman, she argued, can be a King without having a throne, why shouldn't a German? To prove that she could go one better, she dressed herself up as Empress Theodora of Byzance and disseminated her imperial picture all over Regensburg. This finally decided Albert to usurp an imaginary throne.

In some respects he has had brilliant success. Except that he is not spoken to as "sire" or "Your Majesty," he is quite as good a King as any in Germany, and the state he keeps up makes the modest Bavarian court look threadbare and faded, and turns Bavaria's twenty other serene highnesses green with jealousy and wrath.

CUTE LITTLE COURT.

The "court" at Regensburg is now being reorganized on precisely the same lines as are the most important German courts. "court" officials are appointed, such as "upper masters of ceremony," "general-intendants," "grand masters of the wardrobe," "masters of the horse," "body physicians," "chamber musicians," and, in fact, everything essential to greatness except Poet Laureates. The Princess also has a grand mistress of the robes, equerries, chamber musicians and so on. This vast establishment, manned largely by hard-up Bavarian nobles, costs the Prince in salaries and uniforms an extra $750,000 a year, as much as the whole income of many German sovereigns. But the princely postman is rich enough to pay the bill.

In all other respects Prince Albert lives as King. He issues "bulletins" about "court" events. When he leaves Regensburg for one of his hundred castles it is announced that he has "gone out of residence," and when he goes to shoot stags in the Schliersee hills his "court charges" go with him. When Kaiser Franz Josef goes stag hunting he brings a secretary, a valet and a barrel of beer; but when the King of Regensburg goes he has a suite of seventy court officials, "forest councillors," "body coachmen," "masters of the gunroom" and even the novel rank of "body chauffeur." The gorgeous uniforms impress the Tyrol peasants with the glories of the new King. Prince Albert-Marie-Joseph-Maximilian-Lamoral does not even dine. At 8 o'clock in the evening he "attends court table," and nobody except his Princess is allowed to sit at the table until the new King is served.

TICKLISH JOB.

But as Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria and Prince Nicholas of Montenegro learned, you cannot suddenly become King without causing spite and resentment. South German magnates are a proud and jealous race. They began to make trouble, and vicious writers in Munich's comic journals began to work the slings of ridicule, too. The nobles around Regensburg who used to shoot with the Prince refuse to have anything to do with the King. They complain that a host of secretaries, equerries and lackeys stand between them and their former friend.

The Austrian Baron Czernauer even made a little local scandal, because when he called to borrow a gun from his princely friend a gorgeous court marshal turned up his nose and said: "His Serene Highness is holding audience." The Munich comic papers print exaggerated accounts of the royal state at Schliersee. When His Majesty shoots, they say, his guns are handed to him by body court loaders. Also they suggest he has a stick-seat with a cushion stamped on one side with the Thurn und Taxis arms, and on the other the red and gold design of the Pluvial, or Coronation Mantle of the Habsburg Kaisers. All these gibes are extremely galling to Prince Albert, who is at heart an excellent fellow and has only become a King to appease the ambition of a wife who was born in the purple.

LEOPOLD ANGRY.

But serious trouble began only when the news of the coronation at Regensburg came to the jealous ears of crusty Prince Regent Leopold. Leopold is a cantankerous old man, fond of snubbing pretenders. About fifteen years ago he growled because the younger sons of the Thurn und Taxis family, and indeed of the other Bavarian mediatised families, called themselves "princes." In Bavaria, said Leopold, the only princes are the sons of the House of Wittelsbach, and the mediatised younger sons are merely "Fuersten," which is usually translated into English "prince," but in Germany has a different meaning. Naturally old Leopold, who would not put up with rival princes, is not going to tolerate a rival king. Moreover, he likes people to shoot stags modestly. So he has written a letter to Prince Albert-Marie-Joseph-Maximilian-Lamoral saying that, while not objecting to his royal magnificence, he considers the appointment of "court" officials is a mistake, as there is only one court in Bavaria and that is the Court of Munich.

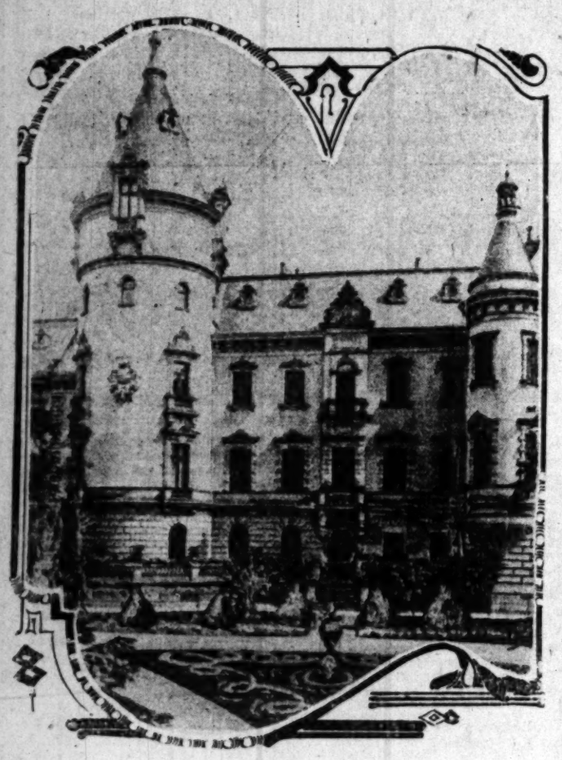
The contents of the new King's reply are still a secret, but the letter is said to be penitent and weak. However, Princess, that is Queen Margaret of Regensburg, is a spirited woman and she swears heroically that she will not let the matter drop. She will appeal to her imperial kinsman, Kaiser Francis Joseph, and teach the wizened old Bavarian usurper that the daughter of the Caesars is really condescending when she contents herself with mere royal rights. And so the quarrel will continue, supplying much material for talk in ancient Regensburg and much annoyance to crusty old Regent Leopold, who is already on the brink of the grave.

Princess Margaret of Thurn Und Taxis,

Of a proud, Austrian archducal strain, whose ambitions in Regensburg have caused her husband to style himself "king," to the irritation of the Bavarian nobles.

Prince Max Emanuel of Thurn Und Taxis,

Son of the "man who would be king."



Royal Palace of Regensburg,

Where "the man who would be king" holds his court.

JOY OF CREATIVE WORK.

By It One Lifts Himself Above and Beyond His Surroundings and Experiences True Enjoyment.

[The Nautilus:] Just so much action as serves to keep you in the center of the stream is not joy bringing. It is breasting the stream, it is the expression of the upbuilding power in man, that brings true enjoyment.

It must have been a joyous ray for that old ancestor of ours when he first learned to walk on his hind legs. He was accomplishing something new. The law of gravity suggested "Keep down. Walk on your four legs and let well enough alone."

And no doubt the conservative associates of our respected old ancestor looked on with disapproval, raised their eyebrows and remarked to each other that it wasn't being done in the best society.

But our ancestor—he knew. He felt the same joy that a few thousand years later filled the soul of Columbus when he looked out from the prow of the Santa Maria and saw stretched smiling before him a new land. The same joy that animated the heart of Watts when the first steam engine began its rhythmic throbbing. The same still, deep joy that Edison felt when he looked upon the sustained glow of the first incandescent lamp. The joy that always comes to the creator. To the one who trusts his own creative powers, leaves the herd and seeks a new world, or a new way of living, or a new way of doing something.

By the use of the creative power of a few the race is carried to higher and higher levels. When our ancestor began to walk upright it was not long before the herd, in spite of their conservatism, began to follow his example. The advantages were too obvious. They could look away over the tall grass and see if their enemies were near. They could discover if a possible source of food was at hand. If their friends were in the vicinity they could spy them. The lover could discover his sweetheart. And, best of all, by walking on his hind legs and using his front legs for arms, he could capture her and carry her off to his home in the trees.

Who dares to say that walking on the hind legs wasn't a great invention?

The trouble with most of us is we are nothing but imitators. It is easy not to think. It is easy to accept your religion, philosophy and science ready made. But you miss a lot of happiness. You miss the joy of standing before a creation and saying, "It is' mine. It grew out of my creative energy—the Universal Energy working through me."

Suppose you make a conscious effort to do some one thing, however small or insignificant, in a new and better way. Or suppose you take some belief which you have always accepted as true without any questioning and study it from all angles with the idea of finding the truth, your truth, concerning it.

And then suppose you repeat and extend the process until you become interested in doing and thinking. It is the creative energy put into work which makes work interesting. Which makes it successful. Routine kills creativeness. But you can control routine in great degree.

Are you like Bolton Hall's horse? He tells the story of two horses he once owned while living in the Far West. At night they were brought up and hobbled and left near the ranch house to feed. In the morning the hobbles were taken off. One horse would immediately begin to prance and run and make use of his freedom. But the other never realized his freedom. He believed in the immutability of hobbles, and, although they were removed, he gravely proceeded as if they were still attached.

It is easy for the mind to become hobbled by routine. That is why there is so little comparatively, of originality, and inventiveness displayed by mankind. The herd idea rules. The mind is hypnotized by imaginary hobbles. It does not seek the new. It does not conceive of improvement. It contents itself with the past and the konwn.

And this is why we die almost as soon as we commence to live. Of life as a continuous action we have no conception. We like to think of life as fixed. It pleases our intellect to run life into certain formulas and sit down with them content.

But the Divine Urge will not allow this. We are dragged willy nilly, protesting and resisting at every step, into new environments and given the stimulus of new conditions. If we respond we thrive. If we curl up in our shell and refuse to play—well, nature can always send her messenger, Death, as a last resort and then we have to leave our shells.

Irish Quick Wit.

[Portland Oregonian:] To illustrate the ever-ready wit of the Irish the following story was told at a banquet held recently in the Commercial Club:

An Irishman on his way home at night was in the habit of cutting through a cemetery in order to shorten the distance. A group of his friends evolved a scheme to have some fun at his expense. Accordingly they found a sunken grave across which his path lay, dug it out and covered it with boards in such a manner that he must fall into the yawning cavity.

The Irishman came along and everything happened as per schedule. While he was still squirming about in the bottom of the hole, striving to extricate himself, three or four of his friends, attired in white sheets and other ghostly accoutrements, suddenly made their appearance. Pat was frightened out of his wits and almost fainted when one of the said:

"What are you doing in my grave?"

The tone was sepulchral. It made the Irishman's hair stand almost on end, but he could not forego a witty retort.

"Faith, and what are doing out of it?" he asked.

Why Earrings Are Worn.

[Chicago Inter-Ocean:] Why do Italians wear earrings? Style, you say. Not a bit of it. Listen to the explanation given by Rosa Bruno, 15 years old, to Judge E. E. Porterfield in Juvenile Court. The judge wanted to know why an infant in the arms of Mrs. Pasquale Bruno, Rosa's mother, wore two big gold hoops which dangled almost to its shoulders. [illegible] replied:

"Us Italians, you know, we [illegible] ferent from you people. We believe in our babies' ears [illegible] So we put in the big earrings down the corners and keep [illegible] see?"

AUSTRIA'S MINISTER RICH, YOUNG, BRILLIANT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Count Leopold Berchtold,
The new Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister.

VIENNA, March 2.—So far as outward appearances at any rate are concerned Count Leopold Berchtold, Austria-Hungary's new foreign minister, may be regarded as an extremely fortunate man. Less than fifty years of age, and after only seventeen years' work in the diplomatic service, he has attained the highest position in the dual monarchy. Besides being handsome, clever, rich, a charming wife and two sons, he owns half dozen houses to live in.

As minister of the imperial and royal household and for foreign affairs Count Berchtold has an imposing residence in the Foreign Office, a palatial building on the Ballplatz, erected by Maria Theresa, in close proximity to the Hofburg. Other foreign ministers have more or less commodious quarters in the various palaces, but Count Berchtold alone enjoys a delightful summer home in the Lower Belvedere, a quaint old house standing just inside the imperial park at Schonbrunn. And so both in Vienna and Schonbrunn he can be in constant touch with his imperial master, for as minister of the household he has a great deal to do with the Emperor's family affairs. He must also attend important family functions, such as the renunciation of succession rights whenever any archduke marries outside of the reigning family circle or an archduchess marries a woman of lower degree than his own.

Count Berchtold is strikingly well qualified for his very distinguished appointment. He has unusually attractive personality. A brilliant diplomat, he is also extremely well versed in literature, science and art, and has himself achieved a literary reputation by considerable historical work. He is an enthusiastic art collector and connoisseur in Vienna and Buda Pesth, and his castle at Buchlau are filled with rare and valuable objects collected mostly during his residence in Italy. Then too he is an accomplished linguist, speaking six languages—English, French, German, Italian, Czech and Russian. Czech and Russian may be said to be his native languages, but the others he had to acquire by hard study.

Robert Emmet Sinclair, mail carrier on Rural Route No. 1, from Monterey, estimates that in the past year he has driven 23,694 miles and handled 501,333 pieces of mail. He has driven the same horse for [illegible] younger is being educated as an Austrian and will in due time succeed to the estates in Moravia.

In the matter of orders and decorations Count Berchtold has his share. He is a Court Chamberlain, a Knight of the Sovereign Order of Malta, has the order of St. Stanislaus and is a member of the Hungarian House of Magnates. After his father's death he had to decide whether he would be an Austrian or a Hungarian subject and he chose the latter.

But Count Berchtold is said to find little pleasure in all these great things. He is a home-loving man and would rather be with his wife and boys at Buchlau than directing the foreign affairs of a great empire. He and the Countess delight in entertaining their friends in the country, where they live in the most simple, patriarchal manner. A most generous landlord, he and his wife are really beloved by everybody on the estates.

If his diplomatic career has been short, it has also been full of conscientious work. Beginning in Paris, the Count went afterwards to the London embassy and thence as councillor of embassy to St. Petersburg, where he worked under his late chief, Count Aerenthal. He has succeeded the latter twice, first in the Ambassadorship at St. Petersburg and now as Foreign Minister. Count Berchtold has always been a worker and in St. Petersburg he accomplished a good deal for his country. His relations with the Russian government remain extremely friendly and he is on excellent terms with the Russian imperial family and many of the most influential persons in the Czar's empire.

This will prove particularly valuable to him in his new post. For the present international outlook is anything but satisfactory; what with the Turkish-Italian war and all the dangers of a spring rising in the Balkans. Austria-Hungary and Russia working in harmony can do much to maintain peace in Europe and with Count Berchtold at the head of affairs in the dual monarchy no effort will be spared to secure that end.

A PUZZLED KANSAN.

Unable to Find Out How Many Bushels of Corn a Crib of Specified Size Will Contain.

[Kansas City Journal:] A farmer living near Chanute built a corn crib sixteen feet long, eight feet wide, and eight feet high. When the rural mail carrier came along the farmer asked him how many bushels of corn the crib would hold.

"I don't know," said the carrier.

"You ought to know," said the farmer. "Maybe that's right," said the carrier.

"I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll find out for you and let you know tomorrow."

That evening he asked his daughter, who is still in school, to make the calculations for him. He told her to find the number of cubic feet in the crib and reduce it to inches. While she was doing this he overhauled his reference books to find out how many cubic inches there are in a bushel.

The first statement he came to informed him that 2150 should be the divisor. After the quotient had been obtained the superintendent of calculations remembered that this would give the contents in shelled corn, but that the farmer would, of course, crib his corn in the ear.

Telling his daughter to take the dividend and start over again, he hunted for an ear corn divisor, and found it was 3240. By the time a new quotient had been figured out, he discovered another place in the book which stated that 3754 should be used as a divisor.

This mixed him all up, so he telephoned to the grain buyer, and asked him how he figured the contents of a crib.

"It depends on the corn," said the grain man. "If it is a good grade of corn, I use 4100. Usually, though 4550 is about right."

When the carrier started out the next morning, he met a graduate of the Kansas University, who is also a practical farmer, and he told him to divide by 5200. Then he began stopping farmers in the road and asking them if they knew. None of them could tell him what he should use for a divisor, but they all agreed that a wagon bed ten feet long and three feet wide, would hold a bushel for every inch that it was filled.

When he got to where the crib was being built he had a list of answers running all the way from 422 bushels to 610.

"I don't know which one of these is right," he said. "I've asked so many that I got a full assortment and brought the whole batch along. You can take your choice, and if none of them suit you the best thing to do will be to measure the corn as you put it in."

"But suppose I don't have enough to fill the crib," the farmer remarked.

"Well, buy enough to make up the difference and find out. I'd really like to know myself."

WOMEN ORGANIZE UNIQUE SOCIETY.

WILL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF DOLLY MADISON.

Wives of Distinguished Democrats to Work for Advancement of Cause — Congressman Wickliffe's Wife Originated Idea—Mrs. Clark Toastmistress.

BY MARGARET DOWNING.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

WASHINGTON, March 19.—One of the most interesting of recent events was the organization of the Democratic women upon the initiative of Mrs. Robert C. Wickliffe, wife of the member from the Sixth district of Louisiana. Tentatively the programme is to celebrate the natal day of the most distinguished Democratic woman of the past ages, Mme. Dolly Madison, which occurs on May 20.

This May day breakfast is planned primarily to give the women affiliated with Jeffersonian and Jacksonian policies an opportunity to know each as do the men of the same party. The breakfast as the project is outlined by its originator, Mrs. Wickliffe, will be a love feast and every division of the Democracy will be represented. Mrs. Champ Clark, who has been chosen as toastmistress, is given that post of honor through the long established law of precedent faithfully followed in Washington from the President down the official grading of society. As the wife of the Speaker she is at least the third woman of the land and as neither the wife of the President nor the Vice-President will be present at the May day breakfast in honor of Mistress Dolly, Mrs. Champ Clark must outrank all others present, no matter what their post of honor or their future aspirations.

Mrs. Wickliffe is modest about claiming praise for her unique and altogether interesting and important idea, but she is very frank in disclaiming even the remotest suggestion that the society will play politics for the benefit of any particular candidate who desires to lead the Democratic cohorts. On this subject she was willing to explain her ideas in detail.

PURPOSE OF SOCIETY.

"It appeared to me that much good would result if the women who are the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of those who call themselves Democrats should get to know each other and work for the common advancement of the cause," said Mrs. Wickliffe, "and this is the gist of our whole scheme tersely expressed. We do not wish to influence any policy or to promote any individual's success. Our lines are broad and we merely want to get in harmony with the issues which mean success for those who are dear to us through the natural ties of love and kinship. To prove how little merited are the suggestions that we must perforce favor some of the candidates whose claims are to be adjusted before the Baltimore convention, one need only glance at the heads of the various committees in charge of the breakfast which the Democratic women propose to give on May 20.

"Such an undertaking means some labor, as every one will admit and we have put the different arrangements in the hands of women who have declared themselves willing to perform the work.

"One of the most important chairmen is Mrs. Henry D. Clayton, who is personally devoted to Mrs. Clark but whose loyalty to her home State must place her in the ranks of those who will try in every way to have Mr. Underwood of Alabama at the head of the Democratic ticket. Mrs. Clark knows this very well as we all do. Another important woman in our councils is Mrs. Martin Littleton of New York and she is a frank and fervent adherent of Harmon for the next President. Mrs. Gore, wife of the Senator from Oklahoma, is another very strong worker for our cause, that of celebrating the birthday of Dolly Madison and having the women of Democratic families meet on a common ground of friendship and unity. But Mrs. Gore is a staunch believer in Woodrow Wilson.

AN HISTORIC OCCASION.

"We hope to make our undertaking a social success and a historic occasion. Mrs. Grover Cleveland, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, Mrs. Alton Brooke Parker, Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Thomas Marshall of Indiana, Mrs. Kern of the same State, Mrs. Foss of Massachusetts, Mrs. Norman E. Mack, Mrs. Dix of New York, Mrs. Henry Watterson have all declared a willingness to be our guests of honor and to have such an assemblage of noted women sit down together will surely be a historic event and one of supreme importance.

"Those who are eligible to take part in the celebration are the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of Senators and members of the House who are Democrats, of prominent leaders of the past, of Democratic Governors, Governors-elect and nominees of the party, of prominent Democrats holding other high offices than the legislative branches and of a certain proportion in private life. This will make a big gathering and it is taxing our resources to get everything in readiness by May 20. We hope to organize permanently at this first meeting and hereafter whenever Congress is sitting on the same date, May 20, to foregather and renew the sentiments which have prompted this idea.

"Whether we shall organize into State societies as the D.A.R. or other big bodies of women and affiliate with clubs already formed, remains to be seen."

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN.

Few movements have aroused keener interest in social and political Washington, and consequently in the country generally. Those who know the beginnings of American history recall a similar concert of women under the leadership of Madam Washington and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton. They called themselves the Federalist Women and their object was to promote the cause of protection then being much discredited by the Democratic ladies who favored free trade. Madame Washington invited the Federal women to meet in the executive mansion of New York and later in Philadelphia and the accounts of these chiffon politics made an exceedingly entertaining if not a very important chapter of history.

All they wish is for all good Democratic women to be on terms of cordiality with each other and promise to aid any one who is selected to carry the banner. If they accomplish this, it will be important politically and may eventually be written large in the history of the times.

Mrs. Wickliffe is a slender, graceful young matron, a Kentuckian by birth, with all the vigor and vim which the daughter of the Blue Grass State seems to inherit. She is a distant cousin of her husband and has known him since her childhood. The marriage occurred in Louisville on April 20, 1903, and since that time Mrs. Wickliffe has resided in the picturesque village of Saint Francis, not far from Baton Rouge.

"I find Washington an ideal city for a transient residence," said Mrs. Wickliffe, "and I delight in the social life and the opportunity for getting at the beginnings of things and of knowing public men and women." Mrs. Wickliffe, though broad and cultured in every sense, believes that a woman's first duty is to husband, home and children, and she has always taken personal care of her little daughter. She is a dainty little lady, fond of social life.

CHINA'S HOLY DUKE.

A Lineal Descendant from Confucius Who Is Progressive, Believes in Education and Reform.

[Pittsburgh Dispatch:] Confucianism as a philosophy is represented in China by the so-called Holy Duke, Lin-Ji, the seventy-sixth in unbroken descent in the male line, from Confucius, and the latter's senior heir. For the past twenty-four centuries the head of the Confucius family has always borne the title of Shong-Kung, meaning Holy Duke, preceding his name. Lin-Ji has the immense advantage in the eyes of his fellow-countrymen of being a Chinaman of the purest blood, and of the most revered ancestry, in a land where respect for ancestry is carried to the extent of actual worship, and as such would always have a far greater hold on the good will of the Chinese people, than little Manchu Emperor Pu-Yi could ever hope to gain, as spiritual ruler, representing, as he does, an alien, discredited, and generally execrated dynasty.

Prince Chun, the ex-Regent, was strongely alive to the affection and regard entertained by the Chinese for the Holy Duke, and in the hope of strengthening the foundation of the throne of his son, Emperor Pu-Ni, endeavored to arrange for a marriage between the child and a grand-daughter of the Duke, instead of selecting the Empress from one of those Manchu princesses from whom the monarch's consorts have been chosen ever since the Manchu invaders obtained the mastery of China.

The Duke, however, held back, and cold-shouldered the project, conveying thereby the impression, since confirmed by events, that he was aware and in sympathy, even then, with the movement for the emancipation of China from the Manchu dynasty. He is now known to have given his active support to the revolution which has culminated in the establishment of a republic.

Here again we come face to face with the unexpected. For about the very last thing that one would look for in the lineal descendant of Confucius would be participation in the foundation of a republic. He makes his home at Ky-Fu, a city which includes his superb palace, and the tomb of his ancestor, Confucius, who flourished about four centuries before the birth of Christ. He is over six feet tall, some 50 years of age, of massive build, of jovial mood, and not only very progressive but also remarkably liberal in his ideas.

In fact, he has made use of his hereditary office of Inspector-General of Education in an empire where preferment to high office has been wholly dependent upon learning, to further the introduction of foreign ideas and to endeavor to graft upon the ancient civilization of the Orient only what is best in the modern civilization of the Occident.

It would be well if western powers would take a leaf from the book which the Chinese republic has just begun and make adequate provision for sovereigns with whose services they have seen fit to dispose. When rulers who have abdicated or who have been deposed are reduced to such straits as was the late King Milan of Servia, who was at times so sorely in need of a 50-franc note that he actually filled the office of paid coupler of a low-class gambling establishment, it cast an unpleasant reflection, not only upon him, but also upon the Servian people and lowered them in the eyes of other nations.

How Eskimos Shoot Seals.

[London Standard:] Sealskin is a fur that is never out of fashion, its high price assuring that it shall be always popular, and this present winter is no exception to the rule.

Seals are caught in a variety of ways, but they are very shy creatures, and the greatest caution must be exercised in approaching them. Even when they have been struck by harpoon or rifle-bullet, the blow must be fatal and death instantaneous or the animal will drop into its hole in the ice and be seen no more. Indeed, the fact that a seal seldom moves far away from its hole adds considerably to the hunter's difficulties.

The plan usually adopted by Eskimo hunters is to build up a kind of tent-sledge. The sides and front are masked with bearskins, the top with the pelt of a hare.

The native hides within this novel tent, and inch by inch propels himself over the ice till he is near his quarry. The rifle with which he slays his seal is brought into use through a

A Coming Song.

[Newark News:] Some day when we have a few minutes to spare we mean to write a song with this refrain:

Never take hold of one end of a wire.
Till you know where the other end is.

The great need for such a song is plain to see when we gaze around at the number of people who buy gold bricks, rush into matrimony, believe the Broadway critics, take up with strange and flashy acquaintances, and harken to the voice of the tainted politician.

$5.00 Life Reading $1.00

(Reduced fee for this week only.)

I give just as careful and complete a revelation of your business, love and domestic affairs for $1.00 as I do for my regular fee of $3 and $5. I am taking the reduced fee plan to introduce myself and my work more extensively to the people of this city, where I have established my permanent home.

My Work Speaks for Itself

While I have the indorsements of hundreds of the most noted men and women of America, I deem them of little value, since I stand alone upon the merits of my work. Any person who can believe their own eyes and ears cannot help but know that I am a man of high ability and indisputable power excelled by no man on earth in this line.

Master of Strange Powers

There are strange and mighty forces which men and women can use to better their conditions. These forces are called personal magnetism, mental telepathy, semi-hypnotic suggestion, etc. All this I teach to any one who wishes to use it for a legitimate and honorable purpose.

What I Do for $1.00

I tell what condition your business is in and how to promote it. I tell you of any move, journey, position or change of any kind which may be before you, and how to act to obtain the best results. I tell you exactly what your acquaintances think of you, who to trust and who to shun. In short, I tell you everything you called to find out, and that, too, without asking you a question or you speaking a word.

I guarantee to develop mediumship to its fullest degree in those who have any latent power whatever. If I do not succeed as above stated, I ask no fee for my work and time whatsoever.

ENGLISH BEAUTY CHOSEN QUEEN OF TOURNAMENT:

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Queen of Beauty,

Viscountess Curzon, who has been chosen as Queen of Beauty to preside at the Eglinton Tournament in connection with the forthcoming Shakespearean exhibition in London.

LONDON, March 2.—Much heartburning has been caused among lovely society women by the selection of Viscountess Curzon for the part of Queen of Beauty of the Eglinton Tournament, the greatest side show at the forthcoming exhibition of "Shakespeare's England," which Mrs. George Cornwallis-West is actively engaged in preparing.

In the very nature of things some jealousy was bound to arise when the task had to be accomplished of choosing the prettiest woman to preside at the old-world knightly fest. Dissatisfaction however, is confined to a small section of disappointed aspirants whom flattery has spoilt.

The general impression is that a better choice could hardly have been made, for Viscountess Curzon is undoubtedly a radiantly beautiful woman, and her smile is calculated to encourage the sorriest knight to manly achievement in the lists. She was married to Viscount Curzon in 1907, and although the mother of two children, does not look a day older than 18. Viscount Curzon is the eldest son of Earl Howe and prospective opponent of John Burns in the electoral fight in Battersea. He must not be confused with Earl Curzon, the former Viceroy of India.

Two popular men of title, the Duke of Marlborough and the Duke of Westminster, have promised to tilt for the prize on behalf of America against all competitors, but it is not yet known who will take up the gage for England. Every man who rides in the lists of the Eglinton Tournament will wear armor, and the victor will receive on his lance point a laurel wreath from the Queen of Beauty.

Grand dames will also have a part to play in Mrs. Corwallis-West's exhibition, and as it will appeal to the modern woman's love of splendid and picturesque costume there will be no lack of supporters. Princess of Pless is arranging a mounted pavane Prince, in which Lady Gwendoline Churchill and Lord Crichton will play leading roles.

Contradictory.

CHINESE MIND NOT UNDERSTOOD.

WIDE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MONGOLIAN AND EUROPEAN.

An Embarrassed Chinaman Has Never Been Seen—To Understand the People One Must Learn a New Language and New and Strange Conceptions of Things.

[Chicago Tribune:] To understand China, writes George A. Dorsey, Ph. D., from Peking, you must learn a new language, new values, new ideals, new conceptions of life and death. Having done all this, you see that it is all good, efficient, efficacious, moral, and all the rest of it. But it is not the West—not yet. May it never become the West until the West has traveled far on its new but rocky road of reform!

No; the first thing national assembly did was to ask a question that must have embarrassed—there I go again. Now, really, I have never seen an embarrassed Chinese. Simpson says he never has. Further, he declares he can't imagine a situation that would embarrass a Chinese. I may as well confess, and I realize it more each day, that I don't understand the Chinese mind. It is not inscrutable or unfathomable or mysterious or remarkable for ways that are dark, or understandable.

I wouldn't make this confession if I considered my failure due to my own inherent stupidity. I believe that the difficulty is more profound than that.

The difficulty which confronts us is many sided. We haven't experienced the same routine of sense impressions that the Chinese have, and from the nature of the case we can't even imagine ourselves to have experienced them. To this add the fact that values are reversed; that, to give a few samples, revolt is impious; love is sentimental twaddle, elevated in the West to a cult which dominates all literature and art; new ideas, if at variance with usage, are illegal; the dead dominate the living, and the living exist to perpetuate the family; physical exercise is a sign of low birth, the soldier is of low birth, the actor is an outcast, the man behind the plow is a higher social unit than the man behind the counter, and the man behind the spectacles is superior to either of them.

In short, mind is more worth while than matter, even though the latter be gold ingots; that better than the restless active mind is the mind which knows the value of inaction. For, "without going out of doors, one may know the whole world; without looking out of the window one may see the way of heaven. The farther one travel the less one may know. Thus it is that without moving you shall know; without looking you shall see; without doing you shall achieve."

Are these mere words, this saying of the Chinese sage? We may be sure of this; they are as well known, at least the sentiment is as well known, as is the famous dictum, "Time is money," among us.

Not only do values differ but there is in the Chinese mind, that to us incomprehensible idea of the continuity of things. With most of us the idea of continuity of family life covers a range of but two generations; with a few it may extend over half a dozen, and the family traditions trail back to a hearth on the Atlantic coast.

Our political consciousness is a mere matter of a century. Patrick Henry, Benjamin Franklin, Valley Forge, Lexington, these for us are the front milestones of time. Behind, beyond the tea party, it is merely a matter of history and we are hardly conscious that we are part of it, or it a part of us.

We are such upstarts, and so proud of it, that we really belong to the railway age. For us coaching and canal boat days are ancient history, hardly worth learning, because so well told and so accessible is somebody's dictionary of dates. We live rapidly, we work hard, we sweat, we move mountains. We develop every resource but our own; we do everything but think. We even preach the gospel of discontent, strife, restless activity, ruthless endeavor.

Not so, the Chinese sage proclaims. A violent wind does not out last the morning, nor does a squall of rain outlast the day. Such is the course of nature. And if nature herself cannot sustain her efforts long, how much less can man!

With a mind upon the receiver of which have beat impressions, commands, threats and preachments, differing from ours with a character molded by inhibitions, and ideals differing from ours, the Chinese thinks and acts quite contrary to expectation. But more. His mind has a depth, a breadth, and an outlook which ours cannot have. His family life goes right back to Adam; his emperor was the first man. I confess I don't know what it means to have such a belief, I can't imagine how it would seem to be a son of Confucius seventy-three generations removed, to feel that Confucius himself was simply one of an unbroken line of ancestry whose origin was coeval with the beginning of the world.

But it must mean something. It must exert an influence which registers itself in action. Now if one may think of oneself as simply a unit in a chain so favored by the spirits that it has existed since time began, in spite of convulsions of nature and the uprisings of man, one it entitled to believe that the chief excellence in life is to live, to add oneself as a link to the chain, and withdraw gracefully, having made certain that the next link will keep the chain from rusting and look out for the next link.

Life, then is an endless chain, and the family the visible symbol of perpetual motion.

Is it a good system? Is it all a better philosophy than ours? Nature is unethical. Science can with difficulty distinguish between the quick and the dead and finds it ever harder to say where the inanimate ends, the animate begins. But the biologist distinguishes between living and extinct species, and great historians concern themselves with empires that have fallen and civilizations that have decayed. I believe the historian is yet unborn who can write of the fall of the Chinese empire. True, its civilization has been largely carted away as loot to grace the palaces of western iconoclasts—and I am really sorry we have not more of it, not loot, but Chinese civilization, in Chicago.

When, O when, will the West cease to confine its knowledge of the Chinese to collections of curios and adjectives? It is enough to make one regret that Herbert Spencer ever touched pen to sociology to read (as we may in part IX of "Descriptive Sociology," which has just appeared after a lapse of thirty years since the publishing of its predecessor, part VIII) the following job lot of adjectives which are supposed to describe Chinese emotions: "Gregarious, mild, frugal, sober, industrious, of remarkable endurance, cowardly, revengeful, cruel, unsympathetic, mendacious, thievish, not ungrateful, excessively courteous, and ceremonious among themselves, high sense of mercantile honor."

The same oracle informs us that, intellectually, the Chinese are: "Non-progressive, slaves to uniformity and mechanism in culture, and following ancient stereotyped forms in every department of thought and action." And we thank Thee, Lord, that we are not like those fellows! It all suggests the yarn about the blind men who sized up the elephant.

Peking is a military camp, the walled city of a court which won China at the point of the sword, the permanent camping place of a dynasty which, on the whole, has ruled China well and given to it two of its greatest emperors. But the Manchu dynasty has run its course. The Manchus, as such, are among the obsolete institutions of China: they must give way to Chinese sovereignty. The South will not be denied.

In many ways Peking looks like an imperial city; but it has fewer of the earmarks of a modern capital than has Springfield, or Columbus. You look in vain for evidences of a central government or the machinery of a great state. The Legation quarter boasts a few substantial buildings and some ordinary barracks. But nothing suggests a capitol. Peking's mighty walls and superb towering gateways are always obstrusive and impressive; but other cities in China have massive walls.

The great yellow-roofed crimson walls of the Forbidden City are suggestive, but they might inclose a deer park or an insane asylum did not the glorious dull gold roofs of palaces within proclaim their regal character. But in walls and roofs, in pagodas and temples, grand as they are, little or nothing suggests any capitol with which you are aquainted at home or abroad.

Peking is the home of a court retinue, retainers, camp followers, and hangers-on. Most of it is in bad repair, much of it sadly down at the heel. No doubt it was once in perfect order. When real men occupied the palace, when art, literature, and science were in vogue, before the nation had lost face and most of its money, Peking must have been a superb city, one of the wonders of the world.

One day last summer I was hunting for a house up a certain street. I got lost, and finally decided that I was on the wrong street. I made my way over toward the Imperial City, but well toward the north. At last I reached a broad street, parallel with the imperial wall. It was almost impassable because piled high with refuse, the dump of decades. In the middle of the street, half buried in debris, was an enormous stone road roller. It may have been there fifty years, or five hundred. But it won't be, there much longer, for the steam rollers are at work. This relic of the middle age roadmaking must move on.

Simpson tells me that in digging trenches during the Boxer siege they often came upon beautifully made drains and other evidences that Peking once possessed a complete sewage system. At another place, many feet deep in the earth, they uncovered heaps of stone cannon balls!

What else? Are there no other evidences of a capitol save the walls, gates, and palaces of the spacious imperial compound?

Not many, and they are dreary. There are other compounds, of course. Peking is a series of compounds, nine of them, of huge area and lofty walls, for they are the homes of Manchu princes. Certain American clerks in Peking occupy quarters more pretentious than that which houses the Foreign Office of the Chinese empire.

Is Peking to be ruined utterly and forever? Apparently. It hasn't the money to build western palaces, or the good sense to stick to its own graceful, beautiful architecture. Result: Ghastly barracks. They are all alike—cathedrals, schools, courts, war office, all tarred with the same taint of mediocrity.

I was arguing the point with one of the staff of the Foreign Office who was educated in America. "But our style of architecture," he protested, "is not adapted to two story buildings." Which is sheer nonsense and quite characteristic of a Chinese educated in Boston. I called his attention to the two-story palace at the yellow temple, than which a more beautiful palace does not exist in China. The Chinese could build thirteen story pagodas which, though built of wood, have defied the winds and rains of ten centuries.

It is nothing less than a crime against civilization to ruin this city. But the crime will be committed and foreigners will be the chief abettors, as they are now the rankest offenders. If you want to see Aladdin's home, come to Peking before it is too late, before it has been ruined forever.

The prevailing note about Peking is man. Peking is pre-eminently a human city, perhaps more so than any city of its size in all the world. This is only another way of saying that Peking is behind the times, that its dominant note is the voice of man rather than the rumble of carriages or the roar of machinery.

All day long I hear men's voices. Above them rises the rattle of the tin plates on the rickshaws and the subdued, pleasing rumble of the beautiful Pekingese carts. At night the city is wonderfully quiet. There will be intervals of many minutes when, at my open window which overlooks half the city, I cannot hear a sound. It seems like a city of the dead. Then a dog barks, and another; men talk on the corner; there is a blast on a trumpet or some one is rapping an open flat box with a stick, or it may be some one of the peculiar and distinctive sounds made by a street vender.

These street noises are heard best at night, when the endless stream of rattling rickshaws has given way to a solitary straggler and the only carts abroad are going to or coming from the all night quarters of the Chinese city. Evidently street venders never sleep, for one or another of their endless calls may be heard far into the night; how much later I don't know, but I have heard them up to three o'clock.

Often I have watched the city grow quiet and then go to bed, until at last not a light is to be seen save half a dozen strays in our neighborhood—the palaces in the Imperial City showing not a sign of life. Nothing indicates that a soul is stirring in the vast city. Suddenly a trumpet blares out, gongs resound, and boom, boom, go the big drums. The suddeness of the clamor is startling at first, but one grows accustomed to such midnight outbreaks and hopes they will prove successful is scaring away evil spirits from the house of the dead.

Of noises new, Peking has taken on two. Incessant honk-honks suggest automobiles. But the honks are on bicycles. A surprising number of them are being used. Distances are great, there are many long, fair roads, and no street cars. The bicycle is the clerk's, messenger's and student's steed. The Chinese take to bicycles as ducks to water. Their bodies are slight and supple, their muscles pliable, and though you momentarily expect to see pigtail or long gown caught up in the spokes of the wheel, they seem certain of their seat and thread the crowded streets without a trace of embarrassment.

The crowning glory of Peking traffic is the little burro. There are burro "stands," as there are stands for rickshaws and carts. For a penny or so you may mount the beastie, and the burro "boy," often a man old enough to be the burro's father, trots along behind, belaboring the burro. The burro is not so fast as the rickshaw, but cheaper.

GOSSIP OF THE FOREIGN STAGE.

LONDON, March 1.—Just as the fondly imagined that the tornado which has recently been whirling round the head of the Lord Chamberlain had spent its force, the storm has burst out again. No sooner is he scotched in one place than he starts up in another. A week ago I mentioned that Eden Phillpotts's play, "The Secret Woman," had been banned by the Licenser as unfit for public performance. Now Eden Phillpotts, it is almost superfluous to say, occupies a high position in the ranks of English novelists, certainly as high as that held by any of the younger writers of the day, and obviously he is not a man to be attacked save at a grave risk of discomfiture. We all know that, on Shakespeare's authority, what in the captain's but a choleric word, is in the soldier flat blasphemy; to put the case otherwise, the giants in literature may do and say things strictly forbidden to the ordinary person.

The immediate outcome of the Censor's interference in the present instance has been, accordingly, a forcibly-worded letter published in "The Times" and signed by a number of leading authors like Archer, Barrie, Hewlett, Conan Doyle, Anthony Hope, Henry James, Pinero, Bernard Shaw, Wells, Zangwill and so forth, protesting against the indignity to which their fellow-writer has been subjected. I have, of course, read Phillpotts's novel on which the play is based, and am bound to admit it is pretty strong meat, a little too strong perhaps for the delicate digestions of babes and sucklings. The old well-worn argument has been advanced that what is permitted in a novel ought to be allowed on the stage. To this contention I have never been able quite to reconcile myself, for at the theater one is dealing with men and women in the flesh while in turning over the pages of a romance you have always the comfortable feeling that the characters are, after all, only the creations of the author's imagination. Also in the solitude of your study you are able to accept a good deal that you would not care to listen to in mixed company. An audience, like the bigger world outside, is made up of all sorts and conditions of people, and the fact ought, I consider, to be taken into account even by the dramatist, who claims the widest latitude for the expression of his ideas.

In spite of the Censor's interference "The Secret Woman," as I foreshadowed in my last letter, is to be performed all the same. Granville Barker has decided that there shall be six matinees of the piece at the Kingsway Theater, which anybody, who writes for a ticket in advance, shall be free to witness. Of this step George Alexander asked me to publish his most emphatic disapproval. Clearly it is calculated to hold the Censor up to ridicule; he forbids a representation and yet, by the adoption of a legal subterfuge, his authority is set at naught. Alexander has reason on his side. Let the Lord Chamberlain's office be swept away if you will, but so long as it exists its edict ought surely to be respected. We English are reputed to be a law-abiding nation; nevertheless we take the first opportunity of showing our contempt for the powers-that-be. It is all very anomalous, perplexing and paradixical. But the more absurd and bewildering the position becomes the nearer, it may be assumed, are we drawing towards a solution.

Meanwhile, "Dear Old Charlie" Brookfield, whose duty it is to read plays as a preliminary to their being submitted to the Chamberlain himself, has been provided with a coadjutor in the person of Ernest Bendall, the present dramatic critic of the "Daily Mail" and "The Observer." Twenty years ago I had the honor of succeeding Bendall in the capacity referred to on the "St. James's Gazette," and I have known him intimately ever since. He is hardly to be described as a brilliant writer, but his notices have always been conspicuous for sobriety and common sense. He has no great sympathy with the advanced school of playwrights; on the other hand, having had nearly forty years' experience of the theater he may always be depended on to take a sound and broad view of any question relating to it. The West End managers have with one accord, welcomed his appointment, for they know that their interests will be safe in his keeping.

I have just left George Edwardes, who invited me to come and have a chat with him over his new venture in vaudeville. Of late our public has shown a very distinct liking for one-act musical plays at the music halls, and it has occurred to George Edwardes that it would pay him to boil down some of the old comic operas, of which he possesses about forty, which have been produced at Daly's or elsewhere. He is making a start with "The Geisha," condensed so as to play not more than fifty minutes. This is shortly to be produced at the Palace by Alfred Butt with quite a brilliant cast. If the experiment succeeds, that amusing piece will be followed by others. I predict great popularity for the new departure, but Edwardes professes to be skeptical. "Some of my friends," he declared, "in whose opinion I have every confidence, believe that the measure is almost sure to injure me as a theatrical manager. They insist that people who can get the cream of a musical play in vaudeville, together with an attractive variety entertainment thrown in, will decline to pay their half guineas for a stall at Daly's or the Gaiety. It is to be remembered, however, that I shall not turn any piece to variety uses until it is absolutely profitless to me in London and the provinces. Further, there is always the chance that by this means I shall create and foster a taste for light musical entertainments which will in the end bring many, who at present mainly patronize music halls, to the regular theater. Of course, if I'm mistaken in this view, I shall promptly drop the business."

From this point he went on to discuss the future of musical plays in this country with special reference to the works of Viennese composers. I may mention here that Robert Courtneidge has just acquired the English and Lee Shubert the American rights in Leo Fall's new opera, "Der Liebe Augustin," successfully produced in Berlin during the past few days. "The rush to Vienna," said Edwardes, "still continues. American managers, in particular, are tumbling over each other to secure the compositions of men like Lehar, Fall and Oscar Straus. Well, I'm not out to compete with them. As a matter of fact they are entering the market just as I am leaving it. My conviction is that that special lemon has been squeezed dry. I could name at least four operas upon which I have paid very considerable sums in order to obtain an option only, after production, to forfeit my money. That is rather a costly game and I'm through with it. I am under contract to do one more of Lehar's pieces in London and I can't very well get out of the obligation. But after that I'm going solid for English writers and English composers, and there isn't the slightest doubt in my mind but that I shall carry the public with me. I grant you that the music of Lehar and his compatriots has a swing and a go about it which we get only too rarely in the work of their English rivals. On the other hand the librettos are deplorably bad and as a rule want a deal of bowdlerizing to suit our public."

Since I last wrote Eugene Walter's "The Easiest Way" has been produced and received with a considerable measure of appreciation. To our ideas it is just a little crude, but the strength and virility of the work have been generally recognized. Its chances with the public would certainly be greater were the principal part played by an actress of more emotional force than Sarah Brooks possesses. It was Laura Nelson Hall who made the real success of the evening in her original role. They were congratulations also to Guy Standing, who has seldom been seen to better advantage than in the role of Willard Brockton. On the final fall of the curtain the author presented himself before the footlights and encouraged by the plaudits of his friends, insisted on making a speech. So noisy were the occupants of the gallery and pit, who rather resent this sort of thing, that not a word could be heard.

The fashion of the present day demands that the complexion of the well groomed woman shall be clear and of a snowy whiteness.

ENGLISH A WORLD LANGUAGE.

Is Supplanting French in International Use and May Become as Universal as Latin Was Once.

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times:] Prof. Brander Matthews, who usually talks very good sense when he is not riding his spelling reform hobby, has told the students of Columbia University that the English language is the one best fitted to become the world language, and that such "machine-made international languages" as Esperanto will never amount to very much. He points out that a language that has not arisen spontaneously can never attain great vogue, though he does not tell the reason why, which is that no one ever thinks in such a language, and therefore it never becomes naturalized. English is the easiest of all languages to learn, its grammatical machinery being reduced to a minimum, and it has a start of several hundred millions of users over any "machine-made" language that has ever or ever will be put forth.

"Twice in the history of the world," declared Prof. Matthews, "there have been international, world-wide languages. Latin at one time was used practically all over the world. Again about two centuries ago, it looked as if French would become the spoken tongue of the world. But both these languages have now given way to English, which is fast assuming a position of world importance."

That this is the manifest destiny of the English tongue nearly all philologists are agreed. It is flexible and expressive, rich in literature and in vital force, being spoken by a dominant race whose genius for expansion it has absorbed. It is like the short sword of the Romans, to which weapon historians ascribe Rome's conquering march over prostrate nations. No other nation has such a weapon of thought, no other nation need expend so little energy to do so much execution. It has been welded by Chaucer, sharpened by Shakespeare, tempered by Milton, and polished by Tennyson. "With it we can conquer the world, unless we keep on grinding away at imaginary nicks as the spelling reformers are doing. They would take off the edge and make it as smoothly banal as the various world languages that have about as much linguistic validity as the Morse code. English is all right, if the spelling reformers will let it alone.

A Vegetarian Luncheon.

[St. Louis Globe Democrat:] Dr. Archibald Henderson, author of the new life of Bernard Shaw, was talking about vegetarianism at a dinner in Hillsboro.

"Mr. Shaw," he said, "has been a vegetarian more than twenty years. He sticks to vegetables very strictly. At the same time he doesn't like their taste over much.

"Shaw, at his home at Ayot, St. Lawrence, once said to me:

"'You should have come in time for luncheon. We had a fine luncheon today.'

"'Good,' said I.

"'Yes,' said Shaw, 'a fine luncheon. Salad, lentils, cress, greens—a luncheon fit for a cow—excuse me, I mean for a King.'"

HOW THE JAPANESE ALWAYS REMAIN SLENDER

PROMINENT SCIENTIST AND TRAVELER DISCOVERS LONG SOUGHT SECRET—REDUCED HIS OWN WEIGHT 100 POUNDS—NO ONE NEED REMAIN FAT NOW.

How to Reduce Fat One Pound a Day and Then Always Remain Slim. No Drugs, Medicines, Starvation Diet, Exercising, or Apparatus Used. Finds Simple Home Treatment Works Wonders.

Arrangements Now Made to Have All Stout Readers of This Paper Receive a Free Copy of Dr. Turner's Wonderful Book, "How I Reduced My Weight 100 Pounds."

On returning from a recent trip Dr. F. Turner, the physician, scientist and traveler, who has won fame and world-wide renown through his writings and scientific researches, accorded an interview to press representatives who were astounded by his loss of more than 100 pounds of excess fat since they last saw him. They found it difficult indeed, to recognize in the slender, muscular and perfectly proportioned form of Dr. Turner today, the same man whom only a few months ago they knew as a well-nigh invalid, so enormously fat that he could hardly walk.

When questioned concerning his health and the remarkable change in his appearance, Dr. Turner said that neither illness, medicines, starvation dieting, nor strenuous exercise had caused him to lose so much excess weight. In fact he said that fatty degeneration had eaten into his vital organs to such an extent that it would have been foolhardy to even attempt the usual methods of reduction, and he was forced to seek other means of escape from his former terrible condition.

On being questioned further the Doctor said: "When I began to feel the stuffy, cramped feeling inside, which, as physician, I recognized as the first tell-tale symptoms of fatty degeneration, and when my heart pounded and throbbed at times so it shook my whole body and seemed about to burst, I knew from these warnings that the end was approaching very rapidly although the examining physician of a large life insurance company, when refusing point blank to accept me as a risk, had already told me I was likely to drop dead any minute. I tried every means of reduction known to medical science, but without the slightest relief. I then became desperate and began to use all the advertised treatments I had ever heard of. These not only failed to help me, but they did considerable harm, one nearly causing my death on account of the powerful drugs it contained. Although a physician, I am strongly opposed to the use of drugs in treating obesity. I have never known a case where they did anything but harm when used for this purpose. There are also treatments put on the market by persons who are without a physician's training, and I firmly believe that if I had continued one or two of the methods recommended by these ignorants, so-called advertising "specialists" I would now be in my grave.

"My discovery came about during my trip and in this way: When seeking data for some literary work, I found a reference to the manner in which the Japanese were said to easily overcome any tendency to take on superfluous flesh. It was easily apparent from observation that the Japs are comparatively heavy eaters and that their diet consists largely of rice, the most starchy and therefore the most fat forming of all grains. I had often wondered why, in spite of these facts, the natives of Japan, both men and women, always present such a slender, trim, neat appearance. Although corsets are rare in that country, the women there have beautiful figures that any American woman might well envy, and the Japanese men have strength and powers of endurance that are proverbial. After diligent inquiry about the cause of this, I became more than ever convinced that they were using there in Japan methods of fat reduction and fat prevention far in advance of anything known to medical science in this country. As the finding of such a method was a matter of life or death to me at that time, I consulted numerous authorities and set about asking questions of those who would be likely to know anything about it. I am glad to say that my untiring efforts were finally rewarded by the discovery of a new means of fat reduction that I determined to give a short trial immediately. I was fairly startled to behold the wonderful change it made in my appearance, and the improvement in my health that was noticeable from the very first. My fat began to vanish at the rate of one pound a day, sometimes more. I knew I had at last discovered the secret that had been vainly sought for years, and I continued the treatment until I had lost more than 100 pounds in weight. I became stronger with every pound I lost, and soon regained all my old time vigor of both body and mind. It made me feel twenty years younger to be rid of all the fat that had formed inside and outside of my body. After discontinuing the treatment and keeping a careful record of my weight for more than two months, I was delighted to find that reduction was permanent, nor has my fat shown the slightest tendency to return since then."

"Can you imagine my ecstasies of joy and inexpressible relief, the tremendous load that was lifted from my mind, when after all my suffering I discovered almost by accident this wonderful secret method that enabled me to rid myself of 100 pounds of fat, and transform me from a hopeless, helpless wreck into a perfect specimen of physical manhood again. I have now been gladly accepted by the same large insurance company that previously rejected me."

Dr. Turner then went on to explain the treatment he discovered and while anyone must admit that it is a highly logical method and undoubtedly effective to a wonderful degree, yet it is so simple that even a child can understand it and obtain most satisfactory results. Surely no stout person need any longer feel that he or she must remain fat now. Lack of space prevents a full description of the entire method here, but Dr. Turner has described it in a handsomely bound and extremely interesting little booklet entitled "How I Reduced My Weight 100 Pounds," and by special arrangement with the doctor we are able to announce that these valuable booklets, while they last, are to be distributed absolutely free to those of our stout readers who are sufficiently interested to send a two-cent stamp for postage. The books are sent in plain wrapping, and we are told that there are about 1000 left. When these are gone, the doctor may not have any more printed for some time, as he is planning another long trip, and will probably have no time to give the matter attention again until he returns. The doctor's address is F. Turner, M. D., Suite 526A, Clark Building, Syracuse, N. Y., and any requests sent there during the next few days will be given prompt attention. We urgently advise all of stout readers to obtain this wonderful book and begin reducing weight immediately, as such an opportunity as this may never present itself again.

"Poly" is very proud of the fact that a movement among colored people in this city for educational purposes has been planned and launched successfully by a student at Polytechnic. William E. Pierson, a colored boy in the Senior B Class, has written twelve dramas, and has presented them in downtown halls. He is now at the head of the Junior Stock Company, consisting of colored young people who have a decided histrionic ability. Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week his latest work, "The Quiz," was played at Gamut Auditorium. It is a play conformed well to the rules of dramatic art, and teaches good ethics throughout. Humor is not absent by any means, and the two comedians made things lively for the large audience of

IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Los Angeles High.

The "Big Sisters" entertained the "Little Sisters," Friday, after school. The entertainment took place in the girls' gym, and playground. The "Big Sisters"—be it understood by the uninitiated—are the senior A girls, and the "Little Sisters" are the 9B girls. In the language of Mrs. Dorsey, vice-principal, "There are no more 'scrubs' at L. A. High, they are all Bills sisters." The entertainment was in charge of a committee of senior A-girls, working with the approval and under the guidance of Mrs. Dorsey. In the first part of the play, the Big girls were shown the serious side of high school life. On Friday an effort was made to show them that clean fun is a real part of life and work.

Mr. Fath, a member of the faculty of the State University, who is doing astronomical work at Mt. Wilson, addressed the seniors on Thursday. He outlined a course in astronomy which may be offered next year in the L. A. High junior college.

In a reading, full of humor, pathos and the morality, J. W. Foley, the humorist, gave a delightful lecture at assembly, last Wednesday.

Mr. Borden, a member of the State Forestry Commission, gave an illustrated talk on conservation, in the assembly, on Friday.

San Pedro High School.

Prof. Reid of the civics department of the University of California, visited San Pedro High in an official capacity Tuesday. He gave most excellent talks to the economics class on "The Meeting House," and to the civics class on "The Power of the President, and Committee Work in Congress." Prof. Reid's experience as private secretary to Gov. Johnson has made him very familiar with governmental procedure.

The biology class, under Mr. Kienholz, are making some interesting experiments with the blind fish, lately found near Pt. Firmin. They were hermetically sealed in glass jars, filled with sea water, and a portion of the water displaced by oxygen. In this manner, after a week, they were found to be very much alive. The value of the trial is proof that marine forms may be shipped long distances in this manner with perfect safety.

The boys' baseball team has lost one of its star players. Louie Sepulveda has joined the Vancouver professionals, and Patrick Cummings has signed up with the Vernons for the coming season. In spite of this loss, however, the boys have re-organized and are making a big effort to bring a strong team into the field. The team, accompanied by Principal Clayton, will leave for San Diego March 31 for a game with Russ High School.

The boys' semi-annual dance was given Friday night, at Elks' Home; the Elks' orchestra furnished the music and the proceeds will go to defray the expenses of the baseball team on the occasion of their San Diego trip.

The names of winners in the "annual" story and poem contest, have been announced by Miss Rutledge, of the English department, as decided on by the Judge, Rev. J. C. Livingston. The winners of the best story prizes are Warren Pierson, first prize; Ruth Nichols, second, and Evelyn Stephenson, third, with honorable mention to Clinton Rechtwig, and Ellen Jorgensen. In the poem contest, the first prize went to Harry Sweet, second to Fred LaPlont and third to Dorothea Haskell, with honorable mention to Anna Dalen and Kathleen Keller.

The Literary Society is making special preparation for an open meeting Friday night, March 29, and a very interesting debate on "The Direct Election of United States Senators" is in charge of the members of the Young Men's Civic League. Recitations, and musical numbers will make a pleasing programme, and the general public is heartily invited to attend.

The new social center will be opened at the High School on next Thursday afternoon. Dr. Jessie Russell of Glendale, will be here to organize the new center, to which all interested are urged to come.

Miss Ella Ludwig entertained many members of the sophomore class at her bungalow, on Pt. Firmin, last week. The decorations, games and ghost stories were all characteristic of "Old Erin," in honor of whose patron saint the party was given.

Polytechnic High.

The treat of the week was given Wednesday morning, under the auspices of the Board of Control, when Miss Marion Craig-Wentworth of Pasadena, read Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac." Mrs. Wentworth is a sister of Miss Alice Craig of Poly's English faculty.

The Polytechnic social center is creating much profitable entertainment for its members. Thursday afternoon, Miss Ina Pitner, of the domestic science faculty, gave a talk on cooking materials for clothes, and at the same time an illustrated lecture on pottery was being given in the art department. On Friday night Mr. Kolb, who has recently made a trip down the Colorado River from Green River, Wyo., to the Needles, entertained a large audience with stereopticon views and a description of his trip. Many other good things are planned for the future. A list of possible talks by members of the faculty is available, and these will be given at the request of several members.

The Civics League held its election of officers, and as a result Carl Shafor is now receiving congratulations as their new president. He has already begun the work of securing speakers for the league meetings. Other officers chosen are: Vice-President, Ed. Hunt; Secretary, Margaret McAr- thur.

The German Club continues to grow in popularity and usefulness. Last week's programme was participated in by the following: Juliet Green, Emma Huber, Leon Johansen, Anna Kaye, Margery White, Camilla Lewis, Edith Frinke, Helena Braun, Lydia Nelson, Irma Muck, Onnolee Catland, Roland Speers, Mary Koenigi and Ruth Masterovich.

The comic opera to be given by the music department is scheduled for April 18 and 19. The leading parts to be taken by Norman McNeil, Faith Guy and Sarah Crosby.

Poly is very proud of the fact that a movement among colored people in this city for educational purposes has been planned and launched principally by a student at Polytechnic, William E. Pierson, a colored boy in the Senior B Class, has written twelve dramas, and has produced them in downtown halls. He is now at the head of the Junior Stock Company, consisting of colored school people who have a decided histrionic ability. Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week his latest production, "The Quiz," was played at Blanchard Auditorium. It is a play constructed well to the rules of dramatic art, and teaches good ethics throughout. Humor is not absent by any means, and the two comedians made things lively for the large audience of colored folk, who applauded generously.

The Friday morning assemblies for girls are looked forward to eagerly by Poly's feminine contingent. Last Friday a talk by Mr. Dunn was the important feature. The point he made which most impressed his hearers was the suggestion that they must never look upon their educations as finished. Hazel Landers of the class of S'11 was gladly welcomed back when she appeared to sing a solo.

The Scribblers Club is planning a vacation programme for next Wednesday. Everyone will contribute a vacation story, real or imaginary.

Gardena High School.

The Gardena High School established its observatory in January with Homer Darr, science teacher, in charge. The observatory gives the average, maximum and minimum wind velocities; maximum, minimum and average daily temperatures, precipitation. The data are posted locally and published in the Gardena paper.

The students in the general science class are studying this as a part of their course, but all the agriculture students and many others are keeping in close touch with this work.

The school also receives the government bulletins daily from the Weather Bureau at Los Angeles.

The Avon Literary Society is rehearsing a new operetta based on life in California during that time which Gertrude Atherton termed "The Splendid Idle Forties." Mr. Curtis wrote the music and Miss Peterson of the English department, the words.

C. Winthrop Bowen, deputy State Forester, lectured to the students Thursday on "The Forests of California." The lecture was both interesting and instructive.

The school annually divides itself into two parts to compete for subscriptions to the school paper, The Tattler. Officers for the two sides are: Chairman, Sam Hawver, Marion Jones; vice-chairman, Webb Forsyths, Howard Belton; secretary; Florence Granger, Edith Smart; Treasurer, Dwight Sawyer and Marion treasurer, Dwight Sawyer and Marion Manual Arts High School.

The track meet with Los Angeles High School was a disappointment to the enthusiastic rooters from Manual Arts. Warned by those who knew L. A.'s pride in athletics some persisted in presaging a victory. The events were witnessed by a large number of Manual supporters, who greeted the contestants with enthusiasm. The showing made by this school's first track team was not unworthy. Some new yells were introduced by the Rooters' Club. Undaunted by defeat they departed from Bovard field with:

"Toe it, toe it, toe it, go it, go it, go it, home it, home it, home it, Manual Arts."

Baseball is bringing Manual Arts fame. The second team wins from Polytechnic second by a score of 19 to 4, while San Pedro met defeat from our first team last Friday.

The tennis team won an easy victory from Occidental last Wednesday. The girls report a good game at basketball with the Girls' Collegiate.

Mrs. J. H. Francis, president of the Ebell Club, gave an earnest talk to the girls at their assembly this week. She sketched "the ideal girl" and showed her knowledge of girl nature by her hits at girls' weaknesses and by her apt stories. The girls were delighted with her kindly spirit and the shrewd sense that characterized the lecture.

The Girls' Aesthetic Dancing Class gave a dance in the school gymnasium on Wednesday. About seventy-five were present. The decorations were in green in honor of St. Patrick, while dancing programmes were shaped as dainty shamrocks. The following faculty members were guests of honor: The Misses Putnam, Carey, Rice, Levy, Lavayea and Gephart, and Mrs. Morgan. The gentlemen were represented by Drs. Wilson, Spiers and Hart.

The corner-stone of the new administration building is to be laid on Friday, the 29th. The faculty and students are very grateful to the people of Los Angeles and the Board of Education for the administration building now under way.

State Forester Bowen gives a stereoptico lecture on Wednesday. Our debaters meet Polytechnic the last of the week.

McKinley Home School.

McKinley Home School boys are experimenting with a new line of agricultural work. They have put out 500 orange trees, which will be used for classes in budding demonstration; grafting and budding will be done on some of the trees on the grounds of the McKinley Home, and on trees of the neighboring farms. A hot house has been erected, and the boys are now building a lath house for the nursery. This is the only grammar school in the city doing experimental work along agricultural lines.

Classes in soil testing have been formed, and the boys at present are determining the kind of crops best adapted to the heavy clay soil surrounding the school, and the neighbors are much interested in the outcome of the experiments.

As the McKinley Home School is near the Gardena Agricultural High School on Tuesday a class of boys from the latter school visited McKinley Home farm and took note of the practical work which the pupils are doing.

Macy-street Social Center.

Citizenship Day was celebrated for the first time at Macy-street Social Center on Friday evening, when the forty-seven foreigners who went up to court for examination on Thursday were present as honored guests. Councilman Williams gave an address and the Manual Arts High School Orchestra furnished delightful music. The sociology classes of several of the colleges of Southern California were present, and after the exercises a reception was held and refreshments served. The hand of fellowship was extended to the newly-made citizens, and a most delightful evening enjoyed.

Citizenship Day is to be celebrated monthly, to welcome these new citizens. The citizenship classes continue to grow.

Dr. Scott Williams, who has lived many years in Mexico, last Tuesday evening gave a lecture in Spanish on "The Present Situation in Mexico."

Sixty-second-avenue School.

According to "Jack and Jill" the Social Center meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 30, is to be turned into a monster surprise party. As far as the general public has been able to ascertain, the alumni of the Sixty-second-avenue school is determined to allow succeeding generations to know they were "among those present." Music! The air is full of it—the orchestra, led by June Irish, the seventh and eighth grade glee clubs, under the direction of Mrs. Drake, and the community chorus, directed by Mrs. William Neff, all have a joyous part in it. Another feature will be a postal trip through Europe on the radiopticon (a kind of glorified stereopticon,) by Miss Alice Payne, who recently returned from the land of our forefathers. Prof. Loye Miller of the State Normal, and Miss Kathryn Chambers of Cumnock will also contribute.

The reception committee for this meeting will consist of Mr. and Mrs. E. Leckwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. William Miller.

One hundred pounds of seed potatoes were distributed among the potato farmers of the school this week. A gratifying feature of this work is the interest spreading to the truck gardens on the home lots, as a result of the enthusiasm aroused at the school.

Gardner-street School.

Amid a beautiful array of flowers and ferns which nearly hid the stiffness of schoolroom appointments, the Parent-Teacher Association of Gardner-street school held its first evening meeting on Friday night at Gardner-street school. The members of the association, who, the principal, Miss Joy, reports have been most generous in all things, have bestowed on the school many little artistic furnishings in the way of vases, potted plants and pictures, and these added greatly to the prettiness of the room. Mrs. Gus Harper, president, had charge of the reception which followed the meeting, and was a charming hostess.

Superintendent Francis gave an address, followed by a musical programme: Solo, Mrs. Lohmeyer; clarinet solo, Miss Jennie Jones; selection, school orchestra, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Gates.

Custer-avenue Intermediate.

The trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice" was cleverly rendered on Friday afternoon by the A9 English class. All the parts were delightfully given and showed the careful study as well as enthusiasm of the players. The cast was as follows: Shylock, Oakley Ashdon; Portia, Hildreth Kotsch; Nerissa, Hilda Hortsman; Antonio, Earl Stover; Bassanio, Fred Cross; Duke of Venice, Aaron Halperin; Gratiano, Cecil Hatlow.

FUTURE SEAGOING VESSELS.

May Be Increased to a Hundred Thousand Tons Capacity and Fifteen Hundred Feet Long.

[New York Herald:] What the dimensions of seagoing vessels of the future will be is one of the most vital questions that will have the attention of the great International Congress of Navigation beginning in Philadelphia May 22 next. The foremost experts of the world will discuss it.

To the men of the nations who have the world's navigation in their care this question is of vast importance. The men who build the canals and dredge the harbors and deepen the rivers and construct docks and repair slips must look into the future with the vision of prophets and plan their works for ships which the future will place on the ocean to carry the world's trade.

Ship canals and great dry docks cannot be built quickly or cheaply. As their required size increases the cost and time of construction are manifolded. The dredging of a harbor or estuary to an extra depth of a few feet takes many years. These men must work for the future.

C. Leemans, an engineer of Amsterdam, predicts that a few years will see vessels of 70,000 and 75,000 tons traversing the ship lanes of the North Atlantic. In a generation he believes there will be ocean leviathans of a hundred thousand tons plying between Europe and North America. Vessels of this size, he says, will have a length of 1500 feet, a width of 160 feet and a draught of more than fifty feet. Mr. Leemans will present an interesting paper on this subject at the Navigation Congress. E. L. Corthell, an engineer of New York, who also will discuss this subject at the congress, coincides with Mr. Leemans's view.

When it is completed two years hence the Panama Canal will be the only ship canal with capacity to pass the greatest vessels afloat. Its locks will take vessels nearly 110 feet wide, more than forty feet deep and 1000 feet long. These dimensions were insisted on by the General Naval Board of the United States after the Consulting Board and Canal Commission had suggested a size that has already been proven inadequate.

The German government is now paying dearly for constructing its Kaiser Wilhelm Canal too small. It is being enlarged at enormous cost. The Suez Canal is also being deepened, the canal company recently being compelled to borrow 150,000,000 francs for this purpose. Herr von Thierry of Berlin, a noted expert on this subject and a member of the International Technical Commission of the Suez Canal, will discuss this phase of the question at the congress here.

World's Diamond Workers.

[Springfield Republican:] "I notice that them as has 'em, wears 'em." is the remark credited to Fingy Conners, the Buffalo politician and Democratic boss, when it was suggested to him that he be less lavish in his display of diamonds. Apparently a good many "have 'em." Antwerp is known as the center of the diamond-cutting industry of the world, and how much of an industry it is is surprisingly shown by the recent publication of figures giving the number of diamond workers in the various countries. In 1871 there were at Antwerp only 300 diamond workers and their annual wages amounted to $120,000, but in 1911 the industry having passed beyond the limits of Antwerp, there were in Belgium 16,000 diamond workers and their wages amounted to $8,000,000. In comparison there were only 5000 diamond workers in Holland, 800 in Germany, 400 in Switzerland, 300 in America and 100 each in Paris and London.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes a pint of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TOLD OF NOTED MEN.

Bishop Thirlwall.

[The Argonaut:] Bishop Thirlwall, an English prelate, had the greatest possible aversion to answering questions. One day a tailor said to him, when he had been summoned to take the bishop's measurements: "What are your lordship's orders?" "I want a suit of clothes." "Here is a very nice cloth, my lord." "Ah!" "And this is likewise a very good one." "Yes." "Here is another of excellent quality." "Very." "Which material will your lordship decide upon?" "I want a suit of clothes." And that was all the answer the tailor could get. When the new gardener accosted him as he was walking, book in hand, in the garden, to ask: "How will your lordship have this border laid out?" there was no answer. "How will your lordship be pleased to have this border laid out?" was the next attempt. Still there was no reply; but when the question was again repeated for the third time, the answer came: "You are the gardener, I believe, and I am the bishop!"

Representative Legare.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] George Legare, Representative from South Carolina, had occasion a few months ago to spend the night at the rude mountain cabin of a backwoods constituent. The head of the household proudly brought in a month-old girl baby to receive the Congressman's blessing.

Legare, thinking of the twenty or more miles that lay between them and civilization, remarked:

"Must be hard to get a doctor up here to take care of a little baby when it comes."

"Oh, Mrs. Smitherson's all the doctor we ever have," the man said. "She lives right over back of that next mountain yonder, less'n five miles away. Yes; she takes care of all the babies in this part of the country."

"She must make a good deal of money," commented Legare.

"Hum. Well, I should say she does," the mountaineer replied. "She stung me for a dollar and a half."

Billy Sunday.

[Popular Magazine:] The famous baseball-player-evangelist, Billy Sunday, tells this amusing story of the attempt which was made to convert a hard-fisted old mountaineer in Kentucky:

"Jim, in addition to being in need of regeneration of every kind, was hard-headed and stubborn, and he resisted all the missionary work that was done in his behalf. At last a leading citizen of the little town made a desperate attempt to save the sinner's soul.

"Jim," he asked sadly, "do you mean to tell me you ain't teched by the story of the Lord that died to save your soul?"

"Humph!" commented Jim, in disgust. "Do you mean to tell me the Lord died to save me, when He ain' never seed me, or knowed me?"

"Jim," responded the neighbor hotly, "it was a darned sight easier for the Lord to die for you because He never seed you than if He knowed you as well as we-alls do."

The Penitent.

I will come back and be a child,
And put away from me
The daring and the dancing wild,
The dreams that troubled thee.

I will come back and softer sing
And tell thee stories true,
And make thee many a lovely thing
From out our drought and dew.

But when thou sleepest, I will run
And dance upon the sward,
And tell the moon how I have won
Thy praise for my reward;

And tell the moon how I must stay
A child, and dream no more
Such dreams as I have sought to say,
That tempted me so sore;

And tell the moon and tell the night
How I have put from me
All day—until the dim twilight—
The dreams that troubled thee!
—[Grace Fallow Norton in the Atlantic.

Chinese Seaweed Food.

[London Standard:] Freer commercial contact with China may quite possibly introduce into our table menus varieties of spicy concoctions from seaweed.

About 130 nutritive kinds of seaweed are in daily consumption in the Far East regularly maintained. More than £120,000 worth of one preparation alone is consumed every year in China in the form of dried gums which can be liquefied into delicate jellies.

In Europe seaweed has not been at all considerably used for food, though blancmanges, salads, green vegetables and a sort of tapioca fluid have been forms in which Scotch, Irish and Mediterranean peasants have partaken of the substances of seaweed.

In certain parts of Japan seaweed is subjected to careful cultivation, competing species being suppressed and rocks previously planted with the weed, being sunk in suitable bays. The weed is gathered at low tide.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medical, forest plants. The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be give, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Kit" writes: "I am far below normal weight. I suffer with headaches and am nervous to the point of exhaustion. If you can tell me something to help me I shall be very grateful."

Answer: I can prescribe nothing so effective as a thorough course of three grain hypo-nucleane tablets. These tablets will aid in extracting the nutrition from the food which will increase the red blood supply, overcome nervousness and you will become plump and healthy. This treatment should be continued for several months, as it takes time to change the tissues and cells of the body.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism? If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be entirely cured of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be cured. Comp. essence cardol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?"

Answer: To cure chronic cold, sore throat and bronchitis I would advise the use of concentrated essence menthe-laxens. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be cured of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will cure, and is very pleasant to take.

"Hulda" says: "I cannot eat without great distress after eating. I am sleepless and restless, nervous and irritable. Can you tell me anything that would cure me?"

Answer: Your trouble is all due to your stomach, which causes the nervous, restless feeling. Take tablets triopeptine and you will soon be cured of all this trouble. These are packed in sealed cartons and are pink, white and blue tablets to be taken after meals. Take the pink tablet after breakfast, white after dinner and blue after supper. If this is continued the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

"Miss M." writes: "I suffer greatly with my nerves, am almost on the point of nervous prostration. I cannot sleep and am hysterical at times. Can you help me?"

Answer: Many women, old and young, who have suffered as you do, have been cured by using the following tonic restorative treatment. Get from your druggist 1 ex. tincture cadomene (not cardamen) and 6 ozs. syrup of hypophosphites comp., mix, and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Always shake well before taking.

"Mary" writes: "In the last year I have been gaining weight so rapidly that I am uncomfortable and frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks. Diet does no good whatever. What shall I do?"

Answer: You can very easily reduce your weight by using the following: Aromatic elixir 5 ozs., glycol arbolene, 1 oz. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful after meals for three days, then double the dose and take for several weeks. This is harmless and I have had many people write that they lost a pound a day after the first week or so.

"Carpenter" writes: "My liver and kidneys are in a bad condition. I have dizzy spells and dark spots before my eyes. Also have twinges of rheumatism. Can I be helped?"

Answer: To cure kidney and liver trouble use three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions for taking. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver and purify the blood. They are convenient, effective and highly curative.

"Phoebe"—The following will cure your children of bedwetting: Get 2 drams of tincture rhus-aromatic; 1 dram tincture cubebs and 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort. Mix, and give the child from 10 to 15 drops in water about one hour before each meal.

"Maud" writes: "I have suffered a great deal with catarrh. It gives me headaches, waters my eyes and my breath is awful. Can you prescribe something to cure it. Only my nostrils and throat are affected."

Answer: I have prescribed antiseptic viline powder and grateful letters from hundreds indicate that it is speedily curative, but must be used occasionally to prevent a recurrence. Get a two ounce original package of viline powder; use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water. Press the palm of the hand snuff the water through the nostrils until thoroughly cleansed, two or three times daily. Mix a level teaspoonful of viline powder with an ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice daily and your catarrh should soon be cured.

"Onda" writes: "I am troubled with itching scalp, dandruff and my hair is falling out. It is harsh and brittle."

Answer: Plain Yellow Minyol is the best remedy for itching scalp, failing hair and dandruff that I know of. It can be bought in 4 oz. jars and if used according to directions will cure all diseases of the hair and scalp. If the hair is harsh and brittle and you are bothered with those straggling locks, the use of minyol will restore that soft, fluffy appearance and bring back the intense natural color.

VARICOSE Veins in the Leg.
Big Knotted Veins, Bad Legs, etc.
Cured WITHOUT CUTTING or tying the veins. Average time, two months. No detention from business. No operation or appliance. I can cure 92 per cent. of all cases, man or woman. I must apply first treatment myself. My secret mixture positively cures you. I absolutely remove cramps, pain, swelling, tiredness and disease, and it stays so. My cures astonish the people everywhere. Doctors themselves look on amazed and puzzled, for I do what they all believed was impossible. EASY, SAFE, SURE. If I can't cure, I won't begin. Don't procrastinate. Prominent Los Angeles officials and citizens and others far off cured and abundantly satisfied, and they will be glad to talk with you about it. Patients cured ten to fifteen years ago stay cured. Please send this notice to some afflicted one.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

CHRISTIAN HOMES COLONY.
In response to the many requests for a home place in California which would be surrounded by Christian influences, the Christian Homes Colony Company (which is composed entirely of Christian men and women) has secured a tract of rich valley land ideal for this purpose. This land has all the natural conditions desirable, besides water, railroads and Los Angeles markets. The land is especially adapted to alfalfa, fruit, vegetables and all kindred products, and may be cultivated at a large profit.
S. S. Baker wisely said, "As near to heaven as we can get by land." You will agree with him when you see it, especially when you learn the price. If you desire such a home make reservations now. We contract to refund your money with interest if you desire to vacate.
Bring your church and bank references. Get ours.
See or write our secretary and state how many acres you desire and for what purpose. Address CHRISTIAN HOMES COLONY COMPANY, 1004 Trust and Savings Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST PSYCHIC
BYRON L. STANLEY.
Others may come and others may go, Byron L. Stanley always remains at his own home,
BETWEEN SECOND AND THIRD STS.,
NEAR ANGELS' FLIGHT.
247—S. HILL STREET—247
READINGS, 50c TO $1.00.
Former Prices $3, $5, $5.
ALL READINGS REDUCED FOR SHORT TIME.
BYRON L. STANLEY
fully appreciates that in this day of sensational advertisements there are more false claims and misrepresentations chaperoned through the columns of the daily press than the most ingenital tongue could utter in a lifetime, until one cannot be blamed for doubting almost everything they read. Therefore he says to you—come to him this very day and let him give you a complete reading, telling you every hope, fear or ambition, better than you could explain yourself. He will tell you the bad as well as the good; keeping nothing hidden from you. He will tell you everything upon matters of love, marriage, divorce, business, health; in fact, he will read your life like an open book.
Before you go into anything of importance or undertake anything serious—in business or love, or marriage, or before you make any change—you should consult the master mind of psychics.
ALWAYS CONSULT THE BEST. IT IS THE CHEAPEST IN THE END. IT IS BETTER TO CONSULT NO PSYCHIC THAN ONE WHO IS NOT ABLE TO HELP YOU.
DON'T FORGET
The name STANLEY, a double guarantee. See the real life reader who really tells what you desire to know or no charge. A foolish weakling only will pay for a reading that gives no benefit. Stop and think.
Don't struggle with a burden you can divide. A troubled mind begets a morbid conscience. Sympathy, consolation and timely advice heal the worst of wounds. Be advised and relieved of anxiety.
Realizing that this city has been overrun with pretenders, and that many of its best citizens are anxious to visit a genuine psychic, Mr. Stanley has decided to place his consultation fee within the reach of all.
Finding many deserving people who were not able to pay a large fee he has decided for a short time to place his readings within the reach of all at five and ten-line prices. So if you wish to take advantage of this offer, call at once.
If you contemplate consulting a psychic several things should be taken into consideration—ABILITY, the HONESTY of methods, the FAIRNESS of dealings, the HIGHER degree of WORK, the ACCURACY of prediction, the COMMON SENSE used with it, the INTEREST taken in each case, the RESPECT shown to each caller, the fact of PERFECT secrecy in consultation, the FEE charged for services.
You hear the truth and nothing but the truth.
BEWARE of pretenders and partially-developed mediums. They copy his advertisements and in many smaller cities use his name. Please remember BYRON L. STANLEY can be seen only at his Los Angeles office.
To whom it may concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. STANLEY, as a life reader of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mediumship. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his advices.
DR. JOHN WESTERFIELD,
President Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store,)
by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.
The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigation along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.
PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.
Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions, and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.
MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANCE, SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.
HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
(Daily and evenings; Sundays, 9 to 5.)

PERSONAL—
PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,
NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.
303½ S. SPRING, NEAR THIRD ST.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 23 YEARS.
PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, talents, environments, about children, relatives, when and where to travel, what to seek or to avoid, when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc., also your good periods coming—giving dates of these events for the future.
PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Mary Mannering, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Caire, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hooper, Maxine Elliott, Ethel Barrymore, etc.
PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED WORK with his trained judment must in no wise be classed with that of other readers. Therefore do not waste your money on the idiotic advice and warning of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychics—those doing dishonest work.
PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST, and WITH EACH PALM READING gives also an ASTROLOGICAL READING.
DR. J. A. LARSEN writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory thing I have ever had in my life; I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and reliable of any reader in the United States."
FREDERICK WARDE says: "Your reading was most SATISFACTORY. Your knowledge and skill is REMARKABLE."
MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK says: "I was greatly surprised to find how many of your warnings were well founded. YOUR READING WAS MOST MARVELOUS."
MME. BALDWIN writes: "The Horoscope you wrote for me is absolutely CORRECT. My friend, MME. NORDICA, the singer, first showed me her Horoscope, and recommended your work to me. Inclosed find check for four more Horoscopes—all friends of mine."
The interpretation of a Horoscope is a fine art; the percentage of "GENUINE" astrologers is exceedingly small. To know a little of astrology out of books, and to be a skilfully trained, EXPERIENCED ASTROLOGER are two entirely different things. Therefore, in this work, it depends largely WHO it is that reads you as to the RESULTS obtained.
PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and hand reading has brought him a LARGE AND SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are exposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention. Strict privacy. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. Therefore HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
Daily and evening; Sunday, 10 to 2.

Opportunity is knocking at your door. Perhaps it has knocked before and you have not taken advantage of it. Grasping it now may lead you on to fortune.

I have a large and promising copper-gold mine of thirty-five claims, or about 700 acres, in California, that I am now opening up. I have put my own money in it so far, but now need help to put in a tunnel to the ledge where I can get a depth of one thousand feet by a tunnel about that distance. On the surface for over a mile this same ledge assays over 40 per cent. copper with some gold and silver. Have company incorporated five hundred thousand shares, par value one dollar. Will sell just one hundred thousand shares at 25 cents, any more after that will not sell at less than 40 cts. likely. If desired send 6 cts. or shares cash, balance four equal monthly payments on each thousand shares. Money raised will be used on the mine. If your money is only earning 3 to 6 per cent. why not try part of it at least in a good mining proposition with at least 12 per cent. probable dividends in a short time.

When run honestly and properly it is the cleanest business there is.

FOR SALE—TOURMALINE GEM MINING property at Mesa Grande, San Diego county, Cal. Some choice gems have been mined from this property, which has a strong ledge carrying the gem material, and several smaller ones traversing the several claims.

Mesa Grande is the home of the finest tourmalines, beryls, hyacinths, kunzites and other gems, and this property is close to the best producers, with every indication of being equal to them. Other unique gem material of properties and a number of splendid gold propositions are owned and listed by us.

Read Harry's Letter to Bob

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22, 1912.

Dear Bob:—

Since receiving your letter asking me to try and find an absolutely safe and profitable investment for you, have examined a large number of propositions. I have at last found it, and have taken all I could afford for myself.

It is in the Untied Mortgage Corporation, with an authorized capital of $500,000.00, par value $10.00 per share. It has been organized for the sole purpose of loaning money on Los Angeles property. You, of course, know there is nothing safer.

You may not know all the avenues through which large profits in this business are made; but you do know, they must be enormous, else the savings banks and other big financial institutions would not occupy the most expensive corners, and their stock often sell for several hundred dollars per share.

There are many reasons to convince me that this stock will earn from 10 to 15 per cent. yearly.

Another thing which appeals to me is, they can begin earning dividends from the first, therefore, we don't have to wait indefinitely for our returns.

The plan upon which they are working, places each and every one on an exact equality. No promotion stock or rake off to any one.

I have known most of the officers and directors for years. You cannot find more capable and reliable men anywhere.

A limited amount of stock of this corporation will be sold at $10.00 per share cash, or may be purchased for 50c a share down, and 50c per share per month; therefore, do not delay, as the price is to be advanced soon.

Buy all the shares up to the limit (there is a limit to the amount that any one can buy,) you can for cash, and as many on installments as you can conveniently pay for. One can invest as little as five dollars a month.

I must not forget to tell you that this corporation will later reorganize under the banking laws and do a general banking business. Think of it, you and I stockholders in a big strong bank.

Now, Bob, remember three things: First, it's absolutely safe; second, immensely profitable; third, every one is on an exact equality.

Am going on a trip, hence send your draft direct to the United Mortgage Corporation, suite 620 Consolidated Realty Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

I wish you could call at their offices and have every detail explained to you. There are lots of things I have not told you about of great interest. All are welcome to call who are interested.

Give my regards to your good wife and the kid. Make a fortune for them; they deserve it. This is your opportunity.

Your old chum,
HARRY.

P. S.—Every word ought to be underscored.

The Quest for Beauty

BY MADAME DE LA VIE.

Figures do not lie, runs the old maxim, but every daughter of Eve knows how untrue that may be when referring to her own particular figure.

Else why all the ruffled silk frills and sacheted satin hearts that decorate the corset departments and beckon untiringly to Milady to purchase. These are the dainty feminine paraphernalia that round out to contours the blouse that suggests, alas! too plainly, the flabby tissues beneath the garments.

These be temporary expedients, however, and the wise woman who lacks curves goes about acquiring them in a scientific way. Deep breathing first and always is the best, then drinking large draughts of pure cold water at least six times a day between the meals is the next step. Then, if the curve-seeker is really in earnest, she adopts the system of the great French doctor, Vaucaire. It is probably seventeen years since the Parisian beauty specialist gave out to the world the secret formula of his successful method of developing the bust of the society grand dames of France.

There is really nothing better known to science as a developer of the mammillary glands and many women in this country testify to its efficacy.

The formula was originally filled in liquid form, but it has the tendency to decompose rapidly, and by many the tablets are preferred. The effect is equally good and the dose more palatable.

Willard White Co.'s Vaucaire Galega Tablets, Bust Developer, Flesh Builder, Tonic, is the preparation so highly recommended by all high authorities on health and beauty culture.

White's Vaucaire Galega Tablets contain the genuine important Galega. They round out shrunken, shallow parts, develop and make the bust firm. If you are undeveloped, THIN, careworn, porous or run down, take a box of these tablets, and note their wonderful effects. $1 box (three weeks' treatment) only 89c at Sun Drug Stores. One box of the tablets equals two bottles of the $1 size liquid, and is very superior. CAUTION: Ask for Willard White Co.'s and note the name on box.

MME. DE LA VIE, the noted beauty writer and lecturer, highly recommends the MELOROSE Preparations and Willard White Company's Vaucaire Galega Tablets. Sent by mail if desired.

BE BEAUTIFUL.
Every Woman Can Be Beautiful —Mme. De La Vie.

King Solomon of old was called the wisest man and credited with one thousand wives, although the latter fact hardly demonstrates his wisdom to modern eyes.

At any rate, he must have had a vast knowledge of the ways of women and the various ways in which they attempted to make themselves beautiful in his sight.

He is on record with the statement that there is no new thing under the sun and this season's big beauty fad seems to prove it.

All Oriental women from Cleopatra down—or up—used oil baths or rubs as an efficient aid to beauty. Olive oil or almond or any sweet-scented emollient is the medium, and every part of the body is gone over with a gentle massage movement. The joints are treated to a little extra attention to make the body more supple.

The fair beauty-chasers of today use a good, pure cold cream (Melorose preferred) and get the same effect. This cold cream rub is a sensible fad and cannot fail to produce good results. It fills out hollows and really acts as a figure refiner. Coarse-grained skins grow clearer and better and excess of fat melts away. The girl who takes a cream bath each night for a month will actually wonder at the change for the better in her general health, which, of course, makes for beauty.

There is a soothing, sedative effect on the mind which smooths out wrinkles and tired lines in the face, and the general relaxation of the body makes every movement a thing of grace and beauty.

Here's to the new fad, the Melorose cold cream bath. It is a relic of the dark ages, if you will, and nothing new but it is a great factor for increasing your beauty.

MORE leading actresses use the famous "Melorose" preparations than any other kind. Indorsed by thousands Melorose Beauty Cream, Powder and Rouge, the most perfect toilet dainties in the world, 50c size only 45c.

CAUTION—Imitations and worthless nostrums are being offered. Get only the original, genuine, distributed by Willard White Co., Chicago. Beware of substitutes. Look for U. S. reg. trademark on each box.

FREE—Send 2c stamp for sample of Melorose Cream, Melorore Face Powder; also booklet about the tablets. Write to-

RANCHER ASSASSINATED.

Found Near His Home in Arizona With Bullet Hole Through His Body, Presumably Work of Indians.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 23.—Body of Ramon Duron, rancher, 70 years old, was found this evening a quarter of a mile from his home, which is eight miles southeast of Florence, with a hole made by a high power rifle bullet, through his body. He had not been seen since yesterday evening, when he left home to look after stock. It is believed he was waylaid and shot from ambush. He had some trouble with the Indians in the vicinity, and it is thought they may have done the deed. From the location of the wound death was instantaneous.

ABUSES TRUST; GOES TO JAIL.

Woman Free-Speech Champion Pays the Penalty.

Attempts to Escape from Detention Home.

Enthusiastic Taft Club Is Formed in South.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, March 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Juanita McKamey, the young free-speech champion, occupies a cell in the City Jail, the result of an attempt to escape from the Detention Home last night.

The young woman's plans were discovered by Mrs. F. Phelps, the matron, who at once sent a call for help to Chief of Police Wilson. Probation Officer Reed was summoned and he ordered that the prisoner be taken to the City Jail and held there until such time as she can be tried by the Juvenile Court.

It was learned several days ago that Miss McKamey had boasted she would not be brought to trial. Since that time she has been carefully watched. Last night she fastened blankets together and had planned to force the window leading from her room and lower herself to the ground.

It was learned this morning that the young woman had arranged with sympathizers to be met in San Diego and kept in hiding until such time as she could make her way to Los Angeles.

Four more prisoners were taken to the County Jail today bound over by Justice Solon Bryan under a charge of criminal conspiracy to break a city ordinance. They are Jack Whyte, Stanley Gue, D. Rosen and R. Gosden. Justice Bryan fixed their bonds at $750 each.

Lee Stancoff, James Cole and Walter Young are the only prisoners of the thirteen arrested for violating the street-speaking ordinance

—o—

Will Raise Values.

Sifted down, the objection to the parkway resolves itself into a protest against the assessment burden that will result from the carrying out of the project. And here it is that those opposing the enterprise are showing their shortsightedness the most. It has been estimated that the tax upon each lot in the district suggested will be about an average of $25, this to include the purchase of the land required and the improvement throughout.

In the opinion of the writer the parkway will be immediately worth at least $200 to every lot affected, and, with the general upbuilding of the entire vicinity of the project that is sure to come about within a year or two after its completion, its effect upon a vast and ever-widening area will be incalculable. In some parts of its extent the parkway will literally create values where none exist today and to some of those living near it the improvement will represent the difference between living on the brink of a disgusting slough and dwelling at the edge of one of the country's best parks. It strikes the writer that some of those protesting against the parkway should be getting out of the rut.

Whole Public Benefits.

Those opposed to the parkway charge that discrimination has been practiced in the creation of the suggested assessment district and even go so far as to refer to the whole scheme as a piece of gerrymandering and general all-around crookedness. Although the writer is of an entirely different opinion, it must be confessed that if there were even a grain of truth in such assertions they should be run to the ground by the proper authorities. To kick on the management of the Silver Lake project and to knock the project itself are two different things. There is absolutely no argument against the advisability of creating the parkway.

If the assessment district covering the enterprise has not been made large enough to permit of a fairly-distributed assessment, by all means let a larger district be at once created. In the opinion of the Fact and Comment man the opportunity to wipe out the disgraceful Bimini slough must not be lost even if the entire city has to be called upon to pay the expenses incidental thereto. This ravine, with its slimy, mosquito-ridden pools and its millions of croaking frogs, must be gotten rid of as a matter of civic pride, if for no other reason. The whole region along its banks ought now to be built up with charming homes, and, if the illogical opposition to it can be converted into concerted boosting for it, the vicinity of the proposed parkway should soon be one of the real show districts of the city.

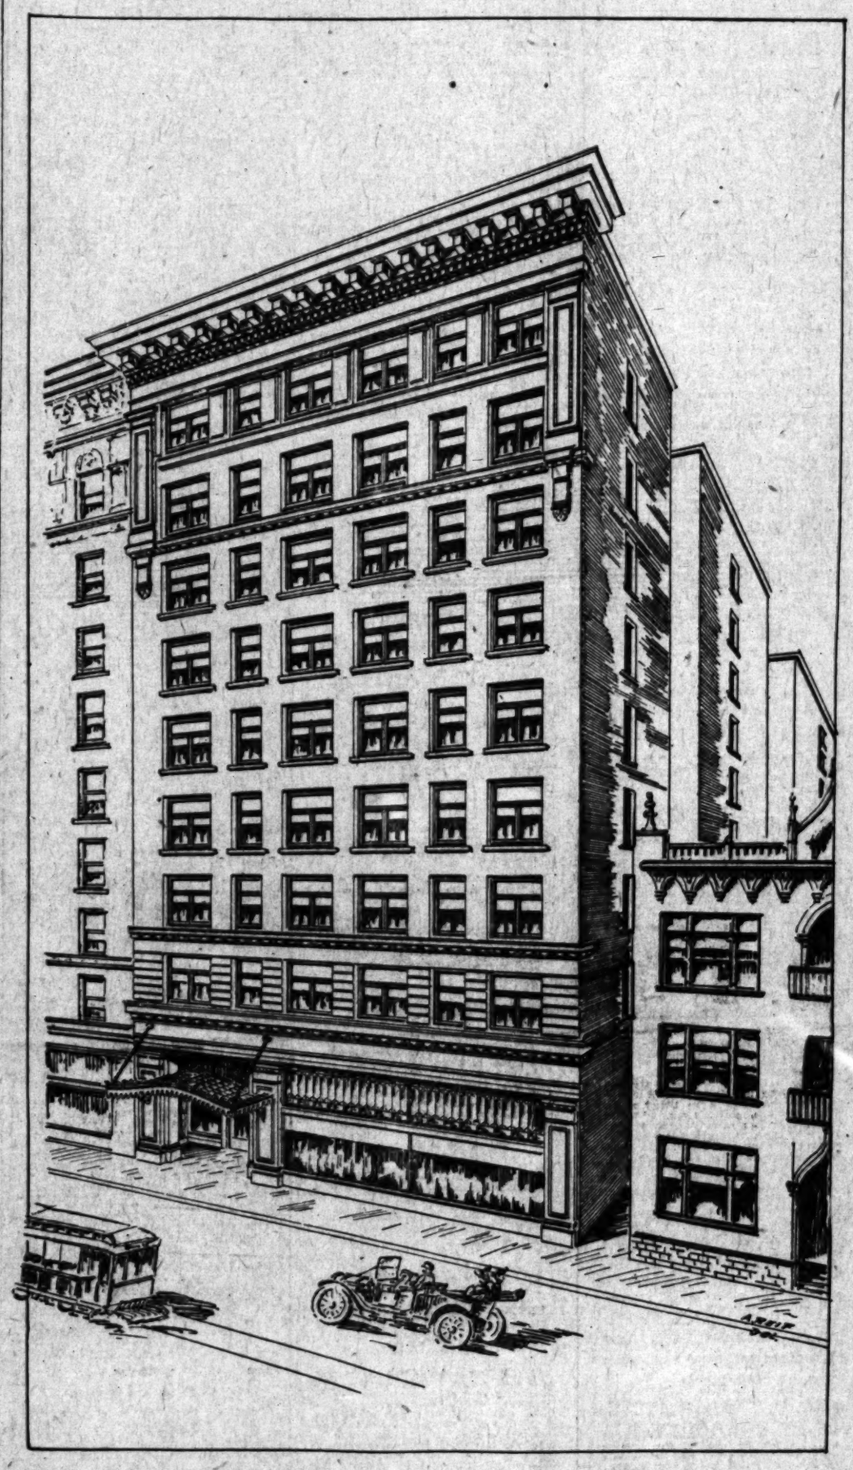
NO SCHOOL CHANGES.

The Board of Education has received the recommendation of Superintendent Francis which he was requested to make as an outcome of the board's investigation as a Committee of the Whole into the health department and the public school system of gymnasium practice. Superintendent Francis was away for several weeks after this investigation was concluded and the board decided not to act until his return. It has now decided not to take any action until June, or if it should act in the meanwhile, to make no changes of any kind before the next school year. Changes at this time, the members feel, would interfere with efficiency of service.

SELLS LARGE ACREAGE.

The Bonita ranch of 220 acres in the Chino district and a 160-acre orchard and vineyard at Ontario were sold during the past week by Webster Davis to H. H. Huntsberger, W. A. Kulp, W. E. Cooper, R. H. Ragland and John W. Huntsberger. The consideration is given at $150,000. Davis purchased the properties about a year ago and improved them.

Another Modern Hostelry for Close-in Site.



Nine-Story Fireproof Hotel for South Figueroa Street.

Metropolitan improvement planned by Architect A. Reif for Mrs. Hattie M. Morris and to be erected on valuable lot adjoining new Gates Hotel at corner of Sixth street. The project is in the hands of E. A. Burns, representing Robert Marsh & Co.

Modern.

ANOTHER BIG HOTEL PROJECT

Splendid Improvement for South Figueroa.

Structure to Be Nine Stories High and Fireproof.

Total Investment to Exceed Quarter Million.

As soon as working plans now being drawn by Architect A. Reif shall have been completed construction will be begun upon another fine hotel in this city. The hostelry in question will be as modern as any in Los Angeles and will be erected by Mrs. Hattie M. Morris on the east side of Figueroa street just south of and adjoining the magnificent nine-story hotel now under way for Carroll W. Gates at the southeast corner of Sixth and Figueroa streets. The proposed building will be of the same height as its neighbor and, with the Gates Hotel, will present a uniform skyline, making this part of Figueroa one of the most modern appearing stretches of street frontage in downtown Los Angeles.

The project is entirely in the hands of E. A. Burns, with Robert Marsh & Company, who has handled the negotiations from their inception. The plan originally called for a seven-story structure and the financing of this building has been successfully concluded. Arrangements are now being made, however, to continue the hotel two stories higher and its height will in all probability be nine stories on the Figueroa street front and ten stories at the rear.

The building will be of the latest type of reinforced concrete construction and will cost about $180,000, this figure not including the outlay for furnishings. The site is held by the owner at $50,000. With the value of the site and appointments figured in it is estimated that the improvement will represent a valuation of approximately $275,000.

HANDSOME EXTERIOR.

The hotel will have a handsome exterior, the front being faced with cream colored glazed brick and terra cotta. The entrance is to be protected by an attractive bronze marquise. Two fifteen-foot courts opening from the south end of the building will insure the proper lighting and give every room an outside exposure. Mrs. Morris, the builder, is the owner of the Florence apartments adjoining the site on the south and this three-story structure will in no way cut off the light from the larger improvement.

The new hostelry will have a front are of fifty feet by a depth of 155 feet, extending back to Lebanon street, a thirty-foot driveway half way between Flower and Figueroa in the block between Sixth and Seventh streets. It will contain in all 190 rooms, each with its own toilet and lavatory. The baths will number ninety-six and will be in tile.

The lobby will occupy the entire front half of the first story and will be handsomely finished in tile, marble and mahogany. The finish throughout the upper stories will be in birch, stained mahogany. The basement will be given over to a cafe and grill, both attractively finished. Two high power elevators will serve the building from basement to roof, the latter of which will be converted into a roof garden for the use of the guests.

Work on the Gates Hotel building adjoining the site of the proposed hostelry is progressing rapidly, one story having been completed. This metropolitan structure, a perspective and account of which appeared exclusively in a recent issue of The Times, has a frontage of 129 feet on Figueroa by 95 feet on Sixth.

The foundation excavations for still another great hostelry, the splendid eleven-story hotel for E. P. Clark on the east side of Hill street between Fourth and Fifth, are now well under way and this magnificent structure will soon be started. An account and cut of this project also has appeared exclusively in The Times.

NOVEL ADDITION PLANNED.

Five Stories to Be Built Under Moore Cliff Hotel—Ordinary Construction Methods Topsy-Turvy.

An interesting building project has just come to light in the plan of Dr. S. G. Moore, owner of the Moore Cliff apartments at No. 121 South Hill street, to erect a five-story addition to this property. The undertaking will involve the cutting away of a large section of the precipitous hill on the west side of Hill street and the erection under the three top stories of the four-story structure now standing on the site of the proposed addition. Dennis & Farwell, the architects of the present Moore Cliff, are drawing plans for the new improvement.

The Moore Cliff is one of the handsomest apartment-houses in Los Angeles and, standing at the crest of its steep hill site, commands an unsurpassed view of the city and is itself visible from nearly every part of the business section. It is at present approached by a series of stone steps winding up the face of a high and massive stone retaining wall. The building is suggestive of Moorish architecture and was built about five years ago.

It is the plan of the owner to remove the retaining wall in front of the place and to cut away a section of the hill fifty-two feet in width by a depth of forty feet. In the space thus created will be erected a five-story building of steel and brick construction that will just reach and partially support the second floor of the apartment-house.

The architectural style of the addition will conform to that of the present building, and, from the front the completed structure will present the elevation of an eight-story building, with the three upper stories set back some distance from the cornice level. The roof of the addition will constitute an open terrace in front of what will, in the completed structure, be the sixth story and will be made a charming feature of the whole.

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY in each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modest five-room cottage, at $960; to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL, entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of 10 per cent, of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Redondo and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charges for our Architectural services, if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Mount Washington

One Thousand Feet Above the Sea

The recent annexation of this famous district by the city marks an important epoch in its development.

Realizing this, we are about to enter into another energetic building campaign. Numerous sales of fine new homes have been made during the past sixty days, and in order to facilitate this campaign we will offer the remaining three new homes at irresistible prices and terms.

These houses are new and absolutely modern throughout, and on large lots, with incomparable view of mountains, city and sea. They consist of:

A six-room bungalow, lot 50x155, lawn handsomely terraced.

A unique eight-room house of Chalet design, corner lot, 138x150. Artistic sunken garden effect in grading of lawns.

A ten-room dwelling, corner lot, 203 feet frontage, 160 feet deep. This is one of the most artistic and attractive homes in the city. In five years the lot alone should be worth more than the price at which we will sell this place.

Vs. Lissner.

MUTINY IN CITY CLUB AGAINST BOSS RULE.

THERE is mutiny in the City Club, mutiny against President Lissner and the small clique that has surrounded him, selected the speakers and framed all the resolutions the club has ever adopted. The members who like to talk want a chance themselves. Yesterday they got the floor and did some talking—enough to set diners at the long rows of tables in an uproar and to make Lissner back down. The City Club never drinks liquor at its luncheons, not a drop.

It was the time set for the special committee, appointed at the previous meeting, to make its report on nominations for the ensuing year. The club has always been a supporters of the direct primary, but only for the people. In the organization itself, a committee appointed by Lissner has named the officers and the members of the club serenely voted for the committee's choice. Yesterday, when the time came for the committee to report, A. F. Southwick got the floor, and, after a sharp exchange of words with Chairman Lissner, succeeded in reading a resolution under which the members of the club in open meeting were to name the officers to be voted on, the highest two for each office to be voted on the week succeeding, and the one who then received the highest vote to be declared elected.

Lissner ruled this out of order. L. C. Dale appealed from the decision of the chair. Southwick backed him up, and for a time there was a blue smoke all over the Westminster dining-room, where the meeting was held, as members from all parts of the room tried to be heard. But Lissner changed his mind and was about to declare the resolution in order, when Lewis R. Works came forward with a substitute that was eagerly seized upon. It gave the "organization" in the club, headed by Lissner, a chance to save their faces. Works proposed that the old nominating committee be excused from reporting and that a new committee be named to report a complete list of nominees for all the offices in the club next Saturday, the members then to vote.

This was adopted and the club adjourned, but not without the recalcitrant leaders of the mutiny doing some talking, although Southwick and Dale were placen on the nominating committee. C. E. Warner, H. O. Wheeler, Jr., and Lewis R. Works complete the five members.

Judge Mack of the United States Commerce Court, spoke briefly before adjournment, suggesting that the Commerce Court was not of much importance and would not be until some definite ruling should be made, establishing its authority. He said he was proud to be a native of California and glad to be in the State again.

RESCUERS COME TOO LATE.

Twelve-Year-Old Lad While Playing Falls Into Silver Lake Reservoir and Is Drowned.

Because his playmates would not let him accompany them to a motion-picture show, Ben Helpren, 12 years old, sought to amuse himself at the edge of Silver Lake reservoir, yesterday. He fell into the water and was drowned before either Mrs. E. Lockerbie, No. 2321 Duane street, or A. Laird, No. 2511 Duane street, could rescue him. The body was recovered in an hour in eight feet of water and was removed to the Bresee Bros.' morgue, where an inquest will be held tomorrow. The lad lived with his parents at No. 917 Boston street.

When the boy screamed, Laird quickly threw off his hat and coat and dived after him, but did not reach him in time. After the lad sank from sight Laird dived several times for the body but was unable to locate it. Mrs. Lockerbie, when she Helpron lad first called for help, waded as far out into the reservoir as she could, hoping to reach him, but she found the water too deep.

SUPERB NEW RESIDENCE.

This is one of the most beautiful homes we have ever seen. It stands on a corner of Wilshire boulevard, on a large east-facing lot, among many of the best residences in the city. The architecture is modified Elizabethan, with verandas that reach almost wholly about two sides. The interior finish below stairs is all hardwood, part Peruvian and part Juana Costa mahogany, and the rest weathered oak, and all the walls are decorated with great taste and elegance. Nothing is lacking in the domestic quarters, for these include breakfast room, maid's room and bath below stairs, furnace, automatic heater, and garage with man's room. Above stairs the finish is all perfectly done white enamel, and there are five bedrooms, two tiled baths, a shower, sun parlor and balcony, and attic over the whole house. Remember, this home is brand new, in superb condition, ready to move right into. The price is low, $27,500.

WEST ADAMS RESIDENCE.
FOURTEEN ROOMS.

$16,500. $16,500. $16,500.

Located on a high and sightly lot on the crest of the fashionable West Adams Heights, commanding an unobstructed view of all the southwest part of the city to the ocean. As the heirs of the grand property live in England, the administrator has instructed us to make an immediate sale at the above figure. The arrangement is such that the house can be easily divided into two separate living quarters without being oddly planned. Hardwood floors and finely finished woodwork throughout. Upstairs are six large airy bedrooms, two baths and sewing-room. Downstairs are all the main rooms of a house of this kind, beautifully decorated and nicely arranged. Splendid furnace and laundry in the cement basement. Highly improved lot. Garage. An elegant home at a bargain. Our autos at your service.

NEWPORT'S HOUSE BARGAINS.

A WILSHIRE PALACE.

We do not hesitate to say that it is one of the best built houses in the city, built by a business man for his home. He was on the ground and selected every stick of lumber that went into the building, selected the plans for the finish and the result is a perfect house, but the result is that it cost $2000 more to build than he figured and he is forced to sell at a sacrifice to protect his business, very massive construction, English design, full 2-story, 9 very large rooms, looks like a dream of Paradise when you open the front door. Situated like a Pullman car, in hard polished mahogany, and oak floors that shine like a mirror, very large, old fashioned, tile fireplace, special designed light fixtures. Den with solid mahogany backboard and built-in. French doors leading to rear porch, a gem of a breakfast room opening into living-room, a kitchen that will win any woman's heart, very cabinets, every convenience built-in, that is over heard of and a few extras that are 2 years in advance. A dining-room that is a thing of beauty, a combination of mahogany, cut glass and mirrors that can not be described; genuine tiled floor bathroom, with plate glass mirrors, House elegantly decorated with imported papers. Automatic water heater, furnace one of the finest institutions in city, one block of Wilshire Boulevard, in the exclusive Wilshire district. This house is as good as any $12,000 house in the city, but it must be sold quick; will take reasonable terms or cash and give it away for $9000.

KINGSLEY DRIVE IS CLASSY.

One of the finest streets in the Wilshire section. You can say with pride that you live on Kingsley Drive. We offer for sale at a great sacrifice, one of the prettiest homes on this street, a full 2-story Swiss chalet, 8 large rooms and sleeping porch, large living-room with heavy beamed ceilings, large buffet built-in, very convenient breakfast room, large kitchen with plenty of room, 50x165 feet; fine lawn and garage. This is a $5000 house and can be bought on reasonable terms for $4500.

A BUNGALOW DREAM.

We have seen several hundred bungalows, but this house impresses us with being the most artistic and convenient bungalow that we have had for sale. 7 large rooms, all of one floor, large living-room with fireplace and easy nook, heavy beamed ceilings, full length plate glass doors leading onto sleeping porch, den with disappearing bed, large bathroom, a beautiful dining-room with very large buffet, a cozy breakfast room, the kitchen and has every built-in feature, 50-foot lot, swell location in Wilshire section, city car service is going up rapidly. We defy you to duplicate this house under $5000, only $100 cash required and its a snap at $4750.

BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND 16TH STS. 5-ROOM MODERN BUNGALOW.

Lucky is the man who reads this and investigates. It's not only a good buy, but it is the only buy at this figure to be had anywhere in one of the best residence districts of Los Angeles. It is in a class of restricted residence section. A little investigation will convince any one of the value offered. The price is only $3150, and you can find nothing else in this section for less than $3500. It is a well built, attractive and artistic fifive-room bungalow with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, large fireplace, all built-in effects, fine bathroom, cabinet kitchen, screen porch, two laundry trays. Nice lawn and flowers. Whether you are looking for a home or an investment you should not fail to see this. It will pay 12 per cent. on the purchase price renting unfurnished and will never be vacant. Act quick. It won't be on the market long at this price.

FOR SALE— City Lots and Lands.

FOR SALE

CUDAHY RANCH HALF ACRES $5 DOWN $10 MONTHLY.

Fine tract. Just open. Buy now for first choice at close to take advantage of first offering. $297 per half acre and up. Price raises April 15th, next, positively. Cudahy Ranch half acres are the first among the Cudahy Ranch subdivisions to be offered on the terms of $5 down and $10 monthly.

Considering the location, only a short distance from the city limits, and about six miles from the center of Los Angeles, these half-acre lots may be the best buy today, regardless of whether or not you are a suburban home builder, vegetable gardener, poultry rancher or investor.

These Ranch half-acre lots are 125 feet wide by 180 deep, in just the right shape to subdivide into two extra large city lots, 62½x125. Each has a rich, sandy loam. No adobe. A large 100,000-gallon water tank has been built to supply this tract; in fact, it has already been finished, pipe lines being laid and water turned on preparatory to receiving water from the first buyers. Buy before the advance in price in April 26th, thereby saving most of that much profit, and join the hundreds of purchasers of Cudahy Ranch property who have all made handsome profits. The opportunity for profit is even greater than that the buyer of Cudahy Ranch half acres had, for the opportunity was to the buyer of Cudahy Ranch lands two, three and four years ago.

The activity in connection with Cudahy Ranch property is just about to begin. Prices will advance rapidly as plans goes on. There is no other alternative.

Cudahy Ranch, the water system, the close to the city limits, and dependable car service are all in accordance with the select character of the section, possesses highest class of improvements and advantages. If you desire exclusiveness, distinctive environment, at a moderate price, THIS is the tract you should investigate. $1300 buys a 62½x125-ft. lot on wonderfully attractive terms. Delaware Drive and Alta Vista, each 60 feet wide, are lined with palms and ornamental electrollers. Such high-class residence tracts as Windsor Square, Lafayette Square, Victoria Park and Westlake Park are not to be had in close-in property.

Call at this office before you buy, or write for our price list and maps. We want to see Cudahy Ranch half acres in the hands of the Pacific Electric building every purchaser.

GRAND OLD
GRAND AVENUE.

Keep your eye on it. Watch it. Who will own the corners on this great central thoroughfare? Can deliver the S. W. corner Grand and 16th at a price that will make you a fortune in very few years. It's ripe for any business now. Will make you big interest now if improved. Owner wants money for all business or would not sell this corner. This is not only a corner on Grand, one block from Pico, the acknowledged future center of business, but the whole side of this lot fronts the east of Palm street, which is really a continuation of Olive street, which makes this corner the greatest corner in all that section next to Pico and Grand. You can clear up $5000 in 60 days on the great corner. Do you know of one corner north of Washington that has not made a big money for the purchaser? In all probability this corner can not be bought at any price in 60 days from today. Terms easy, but owner must make some cash. See me about it. ARTHUR G. NEWTON, 522 H. W. Hellman Bldg.

CHICKENS LAY ON RICHLAND ACRES

Buy an acre or more on our beautiful Richland Farm Tract. Finest location in the country for raising chickens. The largest chicken farm around Los Angeles, adjoins our land. They have 7000 chickens, which proves the value of our land for chickens. Fine growth of alfalfa. A high, sightly, well drained location, with beautiful view of mountains and valley. Very fertile soil, that will grow anything from onions to oranges, plenty of water for household and irrigation, piped to each acre.

21 MINUTES, 6TH and MAIN

Only two blocks of Long Beach car line. 120 cars pass the property each day. You can live in the country on an acre of ground (equal to six city lots) at a price one-half the cost of a good city lot, and get home quicker on the car line.

A SPLENDID SPECULATION

Three blocks of high school, stores, etc. Our land adjoins platted lots that are selling for $500 each. We are between the city and San Pedro Harbor, on the main boulevard. When the Panama Canal is opened, subdivide your acre into six city lots, worth $3000, or more. Can you beat it? We say, no. The cheapest acre property between the city and the harbor.

$700 PER ACRE

EASY TERMS TO SUIT

5% DISCOUNT FOR CASH

Prices will soon be advanced 25 per cent. We have sold $74,150 worth of this land since January 1st. Some of the best tracts left. We advise you to see it quick. There is only one crop of land, and there will be no more at this price, in this section.

A LAST WORD

The new manufacturing town of Domingues, where 4500 men will be employed, is close by. This will more than double the price of our land.

COME DOWN SUNDAY

Two automobile excursions daily from our office, 9 and 2 o'clock or take Long Beach or San Pedro cars to Olive Station, walk two blocks west, round trip 20 cents, or 10 cents by the book.

Send for maps and circulars.

FOR SALE—
YOUR OPPORTUNITY.
Here are a few of our best pieces left in our Monte Vista Valley. We want all this property sold immediately, as we must devote all of our attention in just a few days to our other projects.
Note the prices. Bear in mind that this property is 1500 feet above the sea, and only fifteen miles to this office; an electric line absolutely assured; pure mountain water piped to each lot.
$250—We have a very few one-half acre lots left, with beautiful live oaks, immediately adjoining a townsite, elevation about 1200 feet, beautiful view. Terms on this. Discount for cash. Do you want it?
$1127—Corner of a block from the townsite. Right on the proposed electric line. Absolutely frostless. Splendid loose loam soil. Surrounded by mountain water. Terms one-fourth cash, balance 12 quarterly payments; 5 per cent. discount for all cash.
$825—Would you like a secluded nook of a little over two acres? A portion of this is level, the balance runs up on a beautiful hillslope, covered with oaks; just the place for a fine bungalow, and a productive home garden and orchard; rich leafmold soil.
$1350—6 acres on route of new car line, high and sightly. A rare opportunity from an investment standpoint. Could be cut up later into villa lots; some rock but easily cleared, suitable for citrus or deciduous fruits. Terms, one-fourth cash.
$2100—10 acres, on hill slopes, commanding wonderful view of valley. Live oaks, sycamores. A wonderful opportunity to make a charming home on the hill slopes.
WE CAN'T AFFORD
To tell you all about these bargains in this column. It is too expensive. Come in and investigate.
Do not try to imagine.

FOR SALE—
MERCED IRRIGATED LANDS.
PERPETUAL WATER RIGHT.

Lands at Livingston, Merced county, on the Southern Pacific railroad.

We will sell 5 acres or over at $125 per acre, including water; $10 per acre down and balance easy monthly payments.

SIX YEARS TO PAY FOR LAND.

Land that will make good living and independence for the owner.

Soil, water and climate the best and everything right for stock, alfalfa, sweet potatoes, berries, poultry or fruit.

NO PIONEERING.

Near railroads, schools, churches, creamery, cannery and packing house.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION WILL BE GIVEN UPON MAKING FIRST PAYMENT. TWO CROPS CAN BE RAISED THIS YEAR TO TAKE CARE OF ALL FUTURE PAYMENTS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

The water is ditched to every 20-acre tract, and a perpetual water right goes with every sale or contract.

Land is practically surrounded by established colonies and the experimental point has been passed.

Go with us and see the land and you will be satisfied. It will not take you long to grasp the immense possibilities that are awaiting you if you decide to locate on our Livingston irrigated lands.

OUR TERMS PLACE THE LAND WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERY PERSON.

Merced colonists are the most prosperous of any in the State, and Merced banks show a deposit of about $4,000,000 with only a population of about 4000 in Merced. That indicates prosperity, and it is the colonist who is furnishing the money.

Remember, 5 acres, $50 down and $9.35 per month.

An exceptional chance to acquire a piece of the choicest irrigated land in the San Joaquin Valley.

PERSONS HOLDING POSITIONS IN THE CITY CAN PURCHASE AND MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO HAVE THE LAND CARED FOR WHILE BEING DEVELOPED.

ALSO HAVE OTHER PROPERTY IN THE SAME NEIGHBORHOOD ON WHICH WE CAN ACCEPT PART TRADE.

VAN NUYS-LANKERSHIM LANDS

Do not delay. Over 500 shrewd business men, professional men and ranchers have already bought 5 and 10-acre tracts of this rich land. Stake your decision on their judgment and foresight. Only a limited amount of good, close-in land remains—soon it will be all gone. Now is the time to act. Set out your land to fruit or vegetables. This splendid sub-irrigated soil means fortune. Orchards planted last year show exceptional growth—equal to that of twice the period elsewhere. On adjoining lands peaches and apricots are netting $250 per acre annually. Here's your chance for profits—here's your chance to own a money-making home right at the gates of the city. Some choice subdivisions have just been opened for sale. You must act quick. Come out and see for yourself.

FOR SALE— $24,000—
LAND BARGAIN.
DECIDEDLY A "SNAP."

75 acres at only $325 per acre, right where land is selling at $400 to $500 an acre, and none any better land. This entire tract of 75 acres is strictly FIRST-CLASS LAND—not alkali or any other objectionable feature—it's simply GILT-EDGE. Only 18 miles from Los Angeles, and close to the electric cars and fine oiled roads, one of which WILL VERY SOON BE MACADAMIZED; only ¾ mile from macadamized road now.

This land is the very best of alfalfa land, lies almost perfect for irrigation, smooth as a floor. Will pay $75 to $100 per acre in beets; no better land for truck gardening, and such land rents for $20 to $40 per acre.

2-room ranch house; 2 good barns; SPLENDID 12-INCH well, 450 ft. deep; FLOWING, with oceans of water—absolutely no limit to the supply; this supply of water is worth $3000 to the place; family orchard. Remember, this splendid ranch is in a rapidly growing community, only 30 minutes out of Los Angeles, where valuations are rapidly increasing; we have just sold 40 acres right in this same community at $500 per acre, and at $325 per acre this land is notably one of those "pick-ups" you don't often have the opportunity of getting. About half cash required, balance 3, 4, 5 years, 7 per cent. Owner a non-resident, makes this sacrifice in price only for a very prompt sale. Better see us quickly.

BIG MONEY IN ALFALFA AND FRUIT TREES
ON
PERRIS IRRIGATED FARMS.

There is no locality in the state that I know of, possessing in a higher degree all the qualities and conditions necessary to make apricot and peach growing successful. I am offering DEEP, RICH SILT LAND IN THE PERRIS VALLEY AT $100 TO $150 AN ACRE, good for orchards, good for general farming and dairying. Small payment down and four years' time to meet the balance. Water is plentiful, owing to the copious supply from the irrigation wells I have sunk.

Near thriving town and railroad, near fruit packing house, and school; only 2 1-4 hours' ride from Los Angeles, the ever-eager market of the Southwest. The merits of this land are proven by the very fact that dozens of neighboring ranchers are making good. You'll never duplicate this offer, nor secure such really fertile, well-watered land for so small a price. Come, subdivided, that you can arrange for ranch of any desired size; 40, 60, 80 acres or larger. Call and get literature, and arrange to see this fertile new tract for yourself. It will pay you, and you will get a SQUARE DEAL.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

20,000-ACRE TRACT

TO OPEN APRIL 15.

The DELTA project of 46,000 acres is now practically all sold, only a few pieces remaining. Our new tract of 20,000 acres is all patented land, and will be sold on the usual easy terms; a small payment down, and the balance in annual installments, extending over a period of ten years. With the land goes a perfect water right, allowing ample water for all crops, at an annual cost of about ten to twenty-five cents per annum per acre. The soil is the finest mountain loam and very deep. The land lies absolutely smooth, with a very gentle slope—just enough for irrigation. It is adapted to the raising of all kinds of grain, alfalfa, and vegetables, but is especially suited to the growing of

for which Utah is fast becoming famous. Not an acre of this land will be sold before opening day, April 15th. Our first excursion will leave Los Angeles Saturday morning, the 13th. We have arranged for a special car, which will accommodate about thirty persons. We will reserve space for this excursion in the order received. For full particulars, call on or address

GOVERNMENT LANDS—

FOR SALE—

CHEAPER THAN CARY ACT LANDS.

I can sell you land in Utah, half mile from railroad, at $60 per acre. Three to five miles from railroad $25. This is good, smooth plow land, a mellow, rich, twenty-foot deep SILT soil. There is nothing better or richer or more enduring in the U. S. The best crops in the Imperial Valley has no richer soil. It is justly called "THE NILE OF THE WEST." Land in this tract produced, last year, more than 50 bushels of wheat, and 75 to 125 bushels of oats per acre. It adjoins the district that has been famous for thirty years for its phenomenal yield of high-priced alfalfa seed. Full two-acre feet of gravity water with each acre. Assessments on water, do not, and never will, exceed 25 cents per acre per year. Sold on very easy terms.

Also 120 acres adjoining the best town in Southern Utah, 80 acres in full bearing alfalfa, balance in cultivation. Has good six-room house, barn, sheds, corrals, etc. Has a flowing well of PUREST LITHIA WATER that, in Los Angeles, would be worth a whole block on Broadway. This land carries a perpetual water right in the Deseret Water Co. or more than FOUR ACRE FEET per acre. This water company owns large flouring mills and much real estate in this district, and has over $300,000 in their treasury. The last four years there has been NO ASSESSMENTS on their water stock. They will this year declare a dividend of 25 per share on their stock, and have incoming interest sufficient for upkeep of water system. The present owner bought this place 2 years ago and paid for it from alfalfa seed alone in three years, he having produced from 80 acres. As a home, it is ideal. As an investment, nothing could be safer or saner. The climate, in this part of Utah, is more nearly ideal than the climate of Los Angeles. I will prove this last assertion to your entire satisfaction, or pay your fare and a month's expenses while you investigate. Call on me at 631 S. SPRING ST., second floor.

Yours for truth and honesty,
T. B. GOODPASTURE.

Two wells, 200 ft. deep. Rich sandy loam soil. A corner place. Property is one mile from the town of Lankershim and only 2 blocks from the car line. My place at this price is a snap. Any reasonable proposition will be met. Must sell. See me or my agents at F. J. HUMMEL & CO.'S OFFICE, 127 W. Third st. F5864, Main 3041.

FOR SALE—

25 acres, Orange county,

Realty Liners.

FOR SALE—
Lemon and Orange Groves.

FOR SALE—
FINEST ORANGE AND POTATO LAND.
In the prize-winning Bloomington District, in the heart of the citrus belt.
$250 PER ACRE.
Very easy terms.
This land is proven. It is surrounded by full-bearing orange and grapefruit groves. Deep rich soil having all of the essentials for proper raising of citrus fruit and potatoes. Enormous amount of acreage adjoining this is being planted to potatoes this year. Potatoes are easily raised and are a very profitable crop. The cost of raising is small and there is a minimum of risk. If you raise potatoes you can pay for your land the first year out of your crop and double your investment in two years. Los Angeles Express, March 21, says: "Potato famine may come near in a few weeks. Supply of tubers growing low in all sections of the country." An abundant supply of water for irrigating and domestic purposes piped to the highest corner of each tract.
This land is easily worth $500 an acre, when you consider the fact that it is in the heart of a thriving community. Bloomington is a few years will have large population. It now has a school, church, stores, packing-house, oil mill and manufacturing plants, giving employment to several hundred. The work on the $50,000 Bloomington Inn will soon be commenced. Several substantial store buildings are being planned. Oiled and beautified graded streets, electric lights, choice town lots for $100, also a few town lots covered with bearing orange and grapefruit trees for $400 per lot. The crop from these trees will assist you in making payments if you wish to buy a lot.
Bloomington is on the main line of the Southern Pacific. The new electric railway between Los Angeles and Riverside will pass through Bloomington. The line is already operating from Bloomington to Riverside. Undoubtedly this is the best orange land offered on the market today at $250 per acre, and yet cheap enough for general farming purposes. This land won't last long. See Mr. Boyer today for details.

FOR EXCHANGE—WEST PICO STREET property. This section is always desirable. Ask any real estate man of standing his opinion of Pico street. He will likely tell you that this is one of the best streets in the city, that some day it will come into its own; that property on this street will, in all probability, earn for its owner more money for the amount of the investment than nearly any other street. Remember, Pico is the longest through street in the city. Meet any Pico street property owner and you will meet a booster. We have on Pico a lot, at present improved with three-story apartment, valued at $20,000, under a net ten years' lease of $185 per month. Owner of this property will accept smaller business properties in exchange. What have you, what can you offer?

FOR EXCHANGE—
MODERN BRICK BLOCK.

GOOD INCOME PRODUCER.

Located on large corner in one of the most rapidly growing districts around Los Angeles; two-story pressed brick building; four stores below, apartments above. All apartments have folding beds and private baths. Entire building is leased to one tenant on a secured lease running 4 years. Cash value of this property is $25,000; mortgage $6000. Owner wants a good trade, city or country property, improved or unimproved.
See
EDWARDS & WILDEY COMPANY,
Main 9207. 232 Laughlin Bldg. Home 10767.

FOR EXCHANGE—THERE ARE ONLY TWO classes of property that are considered desirable in the real estate market. First, is close-in business property, second, desirable cheap acreage. Grand avenue is considered fairly close in. At least should be considered, the distance being only three blocks from Broadway. On this beautiful paved street we have a corner with a frontage on Grand of 100 feet, improved with a building in fair condition. Now netting $175 monthly. The price of this property is $35,000, subject to a mortgage of $10,000, at 6 per cent. Will exchange this for small-size pieces, desirable lots or residence. Might consider acreage if well located. What have you to offer?

$3000—Clear.
156 acres of land near Roseburg, Or. Fine for stock ranch or for fruit, and about 2,000,000 ft. good timber that can be logged off. Will assume small amount.

Total to exchange $106,000. Could add other clear property for larger deal. My party is a woman and can't look after the land, otherwise it would not be offered. Owner's representative

MRS. S. S. PHELPS,
Room 209, Hotel Lankershim.

FOR EXCHANGE—SEldom THAT FIRST class orange groves are offered in exchange. Generally that class of property is in run-down or poor condition, or location is not desirable. But, we have thirty acres at Highland, in fourteen-year-old trees, with the exception of two acres young Valencias; which, were the owner desires to exchange for Imperial Valley land, is not this a surprise? First, knowing California, as we presume you do, you must agree with us that Highland is unconditionally desirable locality. It will also be a surprise to you to learn that this grove is in tip-top condition; well fertilized, well cared for. That the present crop will be upwards of 14,000 boxes. That it has its own pumping plant; is well fenced throughout. A good five-room house, barn, corrals, a money-maker, and still at only the price of $2000 per acre, while most groves surrounding, not any better than this, for which present owners are asking higher prices. And last, but not least of the surprises, owner will exchange for Imperial Valley land.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

SAFE AND STAPLE
are the watch words of the successful investor; the company must be a safe one, made up of men who are men of standing in the community wherein they reside, and men who have made a success in life.
The company must be either manufacturing or selling a staple article and one that the public must have and also one that is within the reach of the average buyer and not the man who cares nothing for the price.
Now the Peerless Brick and Artificial Stone Company is in a position to meet both the requirements.
FIRST—They are safe, because they have people in them and at the helm who have made a success in life and have a standing in Los Angeles, and men who can be relied upon in every possible way.
SECOND—The Peerless Brick and Artificial Stone Company are manufacturing and marketing a product that every man in Los Angeles, who is building a building of any kind or description, MUST HAVE, and the man who is building a home, a store building, warehouse, garage or any building that he wants to feel is both FIREPROOF, as WELL AS DAMP AND VERMIN-PROOF, will have to buy our product.
Now you will probably say that such a product is O. K. and fine and dandy and all that, but the price for such a brick and material would be too high priced for the average builder.
BUT THAT IS WHERE YOU ARE WRONG, AS OUR PRODUCT IS 25 PER CENT. TO 50 PER CENT. CHEAPER THAN ANY OTHER MATERIAL ON THE MARKET.
Besides, we make a brick of any color, any design, and this product becomes harder with age, instead of deteriorating, as with other material of this description.
Now does it stand to reason that such a material is going to meet the public's demand for a cheap building material and one that is better by every TEST than anything now on the market, including CONCRETE.
The builders and contractors are clamoring for the material now, and have been for some time, and we have not been able to fill the demand, but the factory at the Arroyo Seco is now in full blast and we are supplying that part of the orders that we can.
We need money for the carrying on of this business, and we want you to investigate this and if it meets your approval, we want you to invest and become one of our satisfied stockholders.
Remember that this stock has advanced from $5 to $6.50 within the past 10 weeks and will keep on advancing.
We want you to investigate, and will be pleased to hear from you either personally or by letter, and we feel sure that you will let us a manufacturing company located right here in Los Angeles get by you without at least looking it up.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

WANTED—$25,000.
I want an associate, active or not, with $25,000 in a land and farming enterprise near Brawley, Cal. I will give one-half interest. Have 785 acres excellent land. Direct ownership, partially mortgaged, on largest portion, balance being purchased under easy contract. Large portion under cultivation. Money to be used on purchase contract, grading, planting of trees, full development and current expenses. With the improvements made with this money, the proposition will be worth more than $100,000. Under present development raising corn and cotton it will pay this year $25,000 to $30,000 gross; 50 per cent. net. I want to set out dates, apricots, grapes and early shipping crops. Income with development will easily pay off incumbrances. I prefer an associate who can carry the incumbrances at reasonable rate. This proposition is exceptional, the values are here and easily seen. In 10 years this property will be worth a half million dollars. I am a practical farmer and I will make the man who associates with me a rich man inside of 10 years. For full particulars, address C, box 197, TIMES OFFICE.

FOR SALE—
OGDEN-HENDERSON FURNITURE CO.
L. A. Greatest Bargain Furniture Store.
724 South Main St.

It will soon be time to clean house. Now is the time to look around and get posted on prices on furniture, rugs, stoves, draperies, etc.

We claim to be the lowest priced furniture store in L. A.

Let us prove it.

Go from store elsewhere, then come here and see if we are not selling the same goods for less money.

It is a mistake to think that you have to go to Broadway to get the best.

We handle the same grade goods they do and sell from 25 per cent. to 40 per cent. less, as our customers say.

It is impossible to show goods. Come in. Make your own comparisons.

We have no trouble to sell people who have looked and got prices.

They soon see that we sell the same goods for less money.

We sell goods on time or for cash.

We make terms to suit each customer.

Buy all the furniture you want and make a payment down and pay by the week or month (as you wish) and we will furnish your home completely with the best kind of furniture at the lowest possible price and on most reasonable terms.

Rug sale this week.

Now is the time to furnish your home with new rugs.

We have all kinds and all sizes of rugs from the cheapest to the best.

If there is anything that we excel in it is in rugs, for we have one of the most complete stocks in the city and there is no place in Los Angeles that can or will meet our prices.

We sell the genuine Wilton's, 9x12 feet, for $45. Some stores get $50 for the rug. This is the best rug made and will outwear our best rug made.

We have quite an assortment of patterns and colors and can suit the most exacting.

We also have a big stock of the best grade Axminster rugs in the 9x12 ft. at $27.50.

These rugs wear like iron.

The stock of Axminster rugs 9x12 ft., from $30 for the best grade down to $15.00.

Big stock of Davenport beds—different kinds and prices.

Just received a carload of roll and flat top desks direct from the factory at 25 per cent. less. Come and see them.

Paint Without Oil

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Paint Seventy-Five Per Cent.

A Free Trial Package is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powderpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fire proof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick; spreads and looks like oil paints and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, Manufr., 466 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

DAIRY LAND

In California's Greatest Dairying District

$85 AND $90 PER ACRE

The demand for good dairying land at a moderate price is rapidly exceeding the supply. Dairymen all over the State are looking for new locations because their present holdings have become too valuable for dairying propositions.

But the difficulty is to find good dairying lands, in a proven dairying center, at a moderate price. The solution of this difficulty is found in the 3500 acres we are now offering in the Santa Paula Rancho in Kings County, California.

This land is located in the greatest dairying district of California, where climatic and soil conditions are highly favorable for dairying, alfalfa and stock raising.

These Santa Paula Rancho lands are located in the banner dairying county, which produced in 1911 over $1,500,000 in dairying products—one-twelfth of the State's products. If you are interested in this proposition, call and see us tomorrow—we have the facts and figures that will prove to you that nowhere in America is there acreage that offers such profit-making possibilities.

When you buy this land you buy a growing crop with it and this means quick cash returns. SANTA PAULA RANCHO LANDS now producing or planted to alfalfa, $90.00 PER ACRE. Leveled, irrigated, ready for plowing and seeding. $85.00 per acre, on terms.

The water supply is by gravity from Kings River—irrigation laterals are built to and across each one of the 80-acre tracts and by simply installing a head gate the water may be turned right onto your land.

Come and see us tomorrow or write for our handsome illustrated folder describing these lands.

Along Arroyo Seco.

MOUNTAINS-TO-OCEAN PARKWAY DISCUSSED.

THE Arroyo Seco Park project received an enthusiastic boost yesterday afternoon when representatives gathered at the Park Commission's office in the Exposition building, Exposition Park, from Pasadena, South Pasadena, the Park Commission, the Sixth Agricultural District board of directors, the City Council and the Board of Supervisors to discuss plans for forwarding the movement to create a parkway that shall reach from the mountains to the sea.

The plan outlined by Supervisor Pridham was enthusiastically supported and a motion of Park Commissioner Lippincott that the meeting approve the project was carried. Pridham said the County Surveyor is now making maps of that portion of the proposed parkways, following the bed of the arroyo, that would come under the control of the Board of Supervisors. His idea was that from Pasadena to the mountains the land should be purchased by the county and he said this could easily be done by means of a nominal tax of 5 cents on each $100, this rate on the valuation of $600,000,000 being certain to produce as large an amount as would be necessary.

Mayor Thum of Pasadena, R. D. List of South Pasadena, John D. Reavis, president of the South Pasadena Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. A. S. Lobingier, member of the Sixth Agricultural District board of directors, and Landscape Engineer Cox of the Park Commission all spoke, and in conversation, Mrs. Lobingier said that, with the city tax covering a period of ten years, there would be no objection on the part of property owners to the proposed tax.

The Arroyo Seco Parkway will run from the mountains along the bed of the arroyo through Pasadena, South Pasadena and down the arroyo in this city to Los Angeles River. There it will be carried by a bridge over the river to Elysian Park and a broad roadway through the park will take drivers and pedestrians to the Silver Lake Parkway, and thence to Vermont and Wilshire boulevard. The road along the boulevard will reach to Santa Monica, and will give the county a drive like none other in the United States. Those present at the meeting yesterday besides the speakers were D. S. Gates of South Pasadena, R. D. List and Mrs. Edward Rust of South Pasadena and Superintendent Shearer and Secretary Herbert of the Park Commission.

Mayor Thum of Pasadena announced that his city had already secured options on two-thirds of the land necessary to be condemned in that territory.

GAIN IS ENORMOUS.

Increase in Valuation of Northwest Corner of Fifth and Spring Sensation of Real Estate Circles.

By far the most noteworthy real estate transaction of recent months was that reported in yesterday's Times in which the Commercial Fireproof Building Company purchased for $1,002,500 the northwest corner of Fifth and Spring streets as a site for one of the greatest office buildings ever projected in the West. The deal, which was consummated through the medium of H. A. Rowan & Co., stands out not only on account of the record-breaking consideration involved, but as a striking illustration of the tremendous gains in valuation of downtown realty in the past few years.

The corner parcel of the site was originally purchased by the mother of Dr. George F. Mohn for a sum that would look ridiculous today. The half-interest owned by Mohn was sold to his sister, Mrs. George F. Bissman less than a year ago, through W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. Mrs. Bissman has just received $600,000 for the property, which fronts eighty feet on Spring by 121 feet on Fifth.

The old Express site on Fifth street and adjoining the Bissman holding, was purchased by E. T. Earl for $34,000, twelve years ago. Eighteen months ago the Title Insurance and Trust Company paid $150,000 for it, selling it later to the Century Building Company for $175,000, at which figure it was taken over by the present owners.

The so-called Barker Block adjoining the Bissman corner on the north was purchased by Abbott Kinney for $54,000 twenty years ago. Kinney sold the site to H. H. Duryea and R. F. Townsley for $125,000 about ten years ago. A little later the Isaacs Bros. Company paid $140,000 for the frontage of forty feet. The Barker Block Company acquired the property at $175,000 and turned it over to the Commercial Fireproof Building Company at $225,000.

The three properties, composing a site of 120 feet on Spring by 155 feet to a twenty-foot alley on Fifth, are to be completely covered by the $1,000,000 office block projected by the new owners. This structure will be twelve stories in height and of the most modern steel frame construction. Upon its completion the intersection of Fifth and Spring streets will be the most metropolitan in appearance in Los Angeles, the three opposite corners now being occupied by the ten-story Security building, the eleven-story Title Insurance Block and the eight-story Alexandria Hotel.

AFTER ODD RECORD.

Best Figure for Homes Built in Single Month Likely to Be Eclipsed During March.

From March 1 to March 22, inclusively, the Chief Inspector of Buildings issued permits to the number of 814 for new structures of various kinds, whose aggregate cost will be $1,237,533. The figures for the corresponding period of last year were 650 permits and $1,642,803. The drop in valuation is accounted for by the fact that the permit for the $700,000 Union Oil building was taken out in March, 1911.

The largest single permit for the month, to date, is that for the eight-story hotel to be erected at the corner of Second and Clay streets, by F. W. Braun, and which will represent a cost of $104,000. The permits issued for new homes aggregate 344 and represent houses of one, one and a half and two stories, to cost a total of $784,022.

At the present rate, the record for the greatest number of permits taken out for houses in a single month bids fair to be broken before April 1. It is believed, too, that the month will catch up with March, 1911, in valuation before the end of next week.

Following is the classified report for the month to date:

	Permits.	Valuations.
Class A, reinforced concrete	1	104,000
Class C,	17	207,800
Class D, one-story frame	270	409,097
Class D, one and one-half story frame	12	24,200
Class D, two-story frame	62	330,725
Class D, three-story frame	1	20,000
Sheds, barns (frame)	191	26,042
Foundations only	2	2,400
Brick alterations	55	32,417
Frame alterations	202	60,799
Demolitions	1	50
Total	814	$1,237,533

EXPEDITION TO BORNEO.

Smithsonian Institution Seeking a Collection of Vertebrates and Ethnological Material.

[Washington Star:] A Smithsonian expedition, under the direction of H. C. Raven, will start in a few days for Borneo, where a collection of vertebrates and ethnological material will be made for the United States National Museum.

The field work will be carried on in eastern Dutch Borneo, the natural history of which is practically unknown. Nothing relating to it has been published and there are no collections from this region in the United States, although the National Museum has some from the west and south coasts of Borneo.

The museum is fortunate in having this opportunity to study a country practically unknown to zoologists, which comes to it through the interest of a friend of the Smithsonian Institution, who is financing the expedition.

Mr. Raven, who will carry out the field work, is a young and enthusiastic naturalist with considerable experience. He hopes to secure a quantity of interesting matrial, including the characteristic mammals of the country, such as orangs, deer, wild pigs, squirrels and smaller rodents and possibly rhinoceroses and tapirs. It is his intention to secure passage on the next steamer for Singapore, from which port he will sail directly to Batavia, Java, where he will confer with the Dutch authorities and the American Consul in regard to his credentials, etc., and then sail to Samarinda, Borneo. At Samarinda he hopes to secure a native houseboat and be towed up the Mahakam or Keti River by one of the small trading steamers which follow the streams for nearly 200 miles. Arriving at the end of the course, he will float down in the houseboat, stopping wherever and whenever he desires to make his collection.

The trip will probably take up the greater part of a year, and, if successful, will provide much valuable scientific information and many extremely interesting specimens for the National Museum.

INDORSE IMMIGRATION IDEA.

Progressive League Women Approve Proposed Bureau for Getting Rid of Undesirable Citizens.

Miss Jeanette Converse was congratulated by the Woman's Progressive League yesterday afternoon on her idea of including in the new charter for the city, provision for a municipal immigration bureau to be permanently operated as a department of the city government.

In addressing the league yesterday on this subject Miss Converse said she had presented her plan to President Osborne of the Chamber of Commerce, and he had approved of it so heartily that she had introduced it before the Committee on Charter Revision, of which she is a member. As a result the committee has decided to submit such a department for public consideration.

Her idea is to have a municipal clearinghouse in which immigrants of various classes will be sent to those communities where they would be most likely to prosper. This will avoid the accumulation of slum conditions on the water front or the overflow of the city with undesirables. Persons from Southern Europe who are accustomed to intensive culture could at once be recommended to sections where agricultural conditions resemble those under which the immigrants have previously worked. Immigrants acquainted only with industrial labor would be allowed to remain in the cities and those who desire to colonize might be sent to the different localities where good land is available in large tracts for such purposes.

Clifford Howard, president of the Evening City Club, made the address of the afternoon. Without recommending ways and means for handling immigration, Howard enumerated many of the problems which the completion of the Panama Canal will bring to this city. In the discussion which followed Mrs. Bertha Hirsch Baruch spoke of the work of the Patriot Society in America.

DEGENERACY OF WEALTH.

Young Millionaire Finds His Appetite Sated Though His Grandfather Found Sausages Good Enough.

In the March American Magazine, Hugh S. Fullerton writes an amusing, and at the same time important, article on "Eating." Following is one of his stories:

"A few days ago I accepted an invitation to lunch with the heir of one of Chicago's packers.

"'Louis,' he said, after examining the menu languorously, 'a small portion of the clear soup, and please have Adolph brush the edge of the cups with a sprig of garlic. He forgot it yesterday.

"'And, Louis a trifle of the goose liver. Please serve it on the inside leaves of the head lettuce. A salad of pimento and grapefruit, Louis. I shall make the dressing. Please bring me my own oil and my box of chili pepper.' (The flavor of that which they serve here is much inferior, so I import my own oil and chili,' he explained to me.)

"He concluded the order after some criticism and effort, and turned to me: 'I'm beastly hungry, old Top,' he remarked. 'I've a really vulgar appetite. I've gone in heavy for physical culture, you know, and I eat like a harvest hand.'

"The point of this story is I was a friend of his grandfather. I used to see him in the cattle pens at the yards at 4 a.m. jabbing his thumb into the ribs of steers, wading through the mire and bidding lustily. About 7 a.m., when he had bid in enough beef for the day's kill, he walked over to Gleim's sausage factory.

"And he and Louie, the boss sausage-maker, would eat five pounds of 'red-hots' and the gravy sopped up with bread, drink half a gallon of scalding coffee and discuss the market. He lived to be 72. His grandson will die before he is 35."

TO NAME CANDIDATES.

Chairman Announces Committee of Fifteen to Select Persons to Run for County Charter Board.

Chairman Koepfli yesterday afternoon named the committee of fifteen men, three from each Supervisor district, which will nominate fifteen freeholders as candidates for election to the board which is to draft a county charter.

This committee following a public session Tuesday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, will report its list of fifteen or more candidates to the convention. Koepfli's appointments follow:

First Supervisor District: Former Judge George R. Davis, Pasadena; A. F. Currier, Spadra; W. A. Johnstone, San Dimas.

Second District: R. F. Del Valle, chairman; Russ Avery and Dr. Walter Lindley, city.

Third District: Mrs. O. P. Clark, J. B. Brokaw and Lucius K. Chase, city.

Fourth District: Mrs. Shelly Tolhurst, I. B. Dockweiler, city, and Roy Jones, Santa Monica.

Fifth District: D. S. Gates, South Pasadena; John Burr, San Fernando; C. A. Bancroft, Tropico.

Surrender Boys, or Run.

Hard to tell, in this old world, what troubles yet may come;
We're in the Leap Year country, an' the boys are runnin' some!
'Tain't like you read about it in the almanac or book,
For the town is full o' widders an' they're willin' as they look!
(Run, boys, run!
Leap Year time for fun!
When the women do the courtin',
Surrender quick or run!)

In the Leap Year country, an' trouble all around;
But what's the use to weaken? Good fellers, hold your ground!
Just feel you're complimented that you're goin' to get the hook;
Think o' them rosy widders that are willin' as they look!
(Hear you—every one:
Lear Year time for fun!
When the women do the courtin'
Why should a feller run?)

GREAT ACTIVITY AT PALISADES.

Many Fine Mansions Are Planned by Lot Owners.

Old Elks Club Bought by New Jersey Capitalist.

April Date Selected for High School Dedication.

SANTA MONICA, March 23.—J. J. Davis, who has just completed the platting of a new Palisades subdivision, has let to J. D. Kneen the contract for the street grading, oil paving, and concrete sidewalks, curbs and gutters throughout the tract. The contract price was $48,000 and the work is to be done by private contract under supervision of the city's Street Superintendent. The work is being started and while it is in progress the water, sewer and gas mains will be installed. The paving of Montana avenue, which bounds this new subdivision on the south, is now under way, as ils also the paving of Seventh street, which bounds the new home district on the west.

Work has been started by Contractor Goetz on the enlargment and inrovement of the Windermere Hotel on Ocean avenue. The plans show many betterments, including a doubling in the number of sleeping rooms and the enlargement of the dining room. A banquet hall, with a fine floor for dancing, will be included while throughout the present structure and in the newer section conveniences will be added for the accommodation of the guests. The material is being delivered on the ground today and operations will be pushed along so that the enlarged hotel may be ready by the time the summer visitors begin to arrive for the season.

FINE HOMES PLANNED.

Dr. C. P. Thomas has purchased a lot in the Palisades and will at once erect a handsome $10,000 residence. The lot is 104x207 feet, which will afford wide scope for the ornamentation of the grounds. The building will be of brick and in the Colonial style of architecture. The site is on Alta avenue, a block east of Ocean avenue and when the improvements planned shall have been completed the banker and practitioner will have one of the prettiest homes in a city of beautiful residences. Work is to be started at once.

An early English residence is to be built at once in the Palisades for E. L. Crispin. The site selected is on Alta avenue, where the owner of this delightful new home has recently acquired a lot 200x204 feet in size. The building, which is to be of brick and shingle construction, with hardwood floors and redwood trimming, will be one of the most attractive in the northern section of the city. The grounds will be improved in the best style of the landscape architects' art. The improvemenes are to cost $12,000.

H. D. Couch of Los Angeles has purchased two lots and has given the order to have plans drawn for a $6000 residence. He expects to begin work just as soon as the permanent improvements are completed in the new Palisades subdivision.

Joseph D. Fisher of Los Angeles has also purchased two lots and has instructed his architect to prepare plans for a $10,000 residence.

Messrs. Davis, Gorham and Lee will also build in this tract, as will Mr. Fleming and a number of others. The new Palisades will soon be the storm center of building operations.

BUYS CLUB FOR HOME.

For a stated consideration of $1000 Edward F. Benjamin of Allenhurst, N. J., has purchased the Elk Clubhouse at Ocean and Arizona and will at once take possession of it as a home. The Elks will immediately build a handsome temple and clubhouse on Ocean avenue near Michigan.

Work is being prosecuted with vigor by Contractor George Snyder on the construction of the Busch Casino, which is to be located at the corner of Ocean and Colorado avenues and will cost $32,000. It is the intention of the Anheuser-Busch people to have the improvement partially completed so that a portion of it, at least, may be utilized in the accommodation of the great crowds that are expected here May 4, the day of the automobile roadraces. J. B. Wyman has secured a lease of the play and will be in charge of the entertainment and refreshment features.

April 11 has been selected as the date for the dedication of the High School grounds on Prospect Hill. There will be no corner-stone laying. In fact, there will be no corner stone, but arrangements will be made for the accommodation of such historic documents as may be desired. These will be enclosed within the foundation walls of the $200,000 structure, which will be completed in time for the opening of school next September.

The Santa Monica lodge of Elks has let to H. X. Goetz the contract for the erection of a handsome combined clubhouse and temple. The site selected is on Ocean avenue near Fremont, on a $5000 lot donated for this purpose. The new building, which will be of three stories, will front the sea. The plans were purchased outright from Mr. Goetz and the first bids received several weeks ago ran the cost above the appropriation and several minor changes have been made in the original plans. It is expected, however, that the third story will finally be included in the structure, which is to contain lodge rooms, banquet hall and other features generally embodied in clubhouses.

The Santa Monica building permits issued during February aggregated $104,647, which was the banner month for the beach, with a single exception. That memorable exception was April of last year, when things were doing at the Fraser pier. The permits for that month totaled $170,560. Permits just issued include the following: Pacific Holding Company, dwelling at No. 1457 Eighth, $1000; Clara Bowers, residence at No. 834 Fifth, $3000; Hugo Lindeau, cottage at No. 2925 Main, $900; C. E. Amman, brick apartments, No. 2941 Main, $1200; J. H. Teed, bungalow at No. 1418 Sixth, $615; Daniel Jessup, frame dwelling at No. 423 Utah, $1000; M. Klein, frame storeroom at No. 2513 Highland, $500; Herman Mercier, frame residence at No. 1002 Fourth, $3000; Martin Kehl, frame bungalow at No. 803 Fifth, $3000; Herman Meier, frame cottage at No. 1003 Fifth street, $2300; L. H. Doescher, frame dwelling at No. 803 Fifth, $2700; J. L. Van Avery, frame dwelling at No. 2407 Main, $1500, and J. James, brick office building at No. 2921 Main, $1500.

BANKER'S HOME CHARMING.

English Mansion of Leading Financier One of the Attractive New Dwellings of Wilshire.

The home of S. F. Zombro, president of the Central National Bank, now nearing compeltion on Ardmore between Fifth and Linden, is one of the most attractive of the new dwellings of the Wilshire section. The house, which is in the English style, was planned by John C. Austin and W. C. Pennell, associated architects. The first story of the house is of pressed brick exterior, above which is a half timber and plaster effect. The downstairs rooms are finished in mahogany and oak and the upper rooms, six in number, in white enamel, with mahogany doors. The four baths are in tile.

The dining room has a heavy oak wainscoting and beamed ceilings. The hall, living-room and library are in mahogany and have high mahogany fainscoting. The ceilings of these three rooms are enriched with plaster cornices. A beautiful tile mantel is a feature of the living-room.

The residence occupies a lot 75x150 feet in size and the grounds are being attractively laid out under the direction of the architects. A garage in keeping with the house is being erected.

PLAN FINE CHURCH.

Scientist Congregation to Erect Imposing House of Worship on Hill Street Just South of First.

A lot on the east side of Hill street, 120 feet south of First street and having a frontage of ninety-seven feet by a depth of 150 feet, has just been purchased by the Fourth Church of Christ Scientist from the Gibbs estate. The property, which was sold to the church organization for a reported consideration of $75,000, will be utilized as the site of a modern and imposing house of worship to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Construction upon this structure is to be begun as soon as the plans have been completed, although no architect has as yet been selected. Upon the completion of the foundation the basement is to be roofed over and occupied by the congregation while the work on the superstructure is under way.

At present the meetings of the church are held at the Friday Morning Club.

BIG TRACT FOR MARKET.

Large Acreage Southeast of Inglewood to Be Subdivided into Acre and Half-acre Lots.

The sale of 320 acres immediately southeast of Inglewood and adjoining Hawthorne Acres is reported by the James R. H. Wagner Company, agents in the transaction. The seller, Thomas Bones, had owned the site for a quarter of a century, having acquired it at a ridiculously low figure. The property is perfectly level throughout.

The Land Owners Company is given as the buyer of the acreage, which is to be immediately placed on the market in acre and half-acre parcels by the James R. H. Wagner Company. Water will be piped all over the property.

FINE APARTMENTS LEASED.

Three-Story Brick Building on Alvarado Street Taken by Hotel Man for Term of Ten Years.

One of the most attractive of the many fine apartment houses now under way in this city is the three-story brick structure recently started by the C. F. Borton Company for E. R. Potter on Alvarado street, adjoining the northwest corner of Pico and Alvarado streets. The building, which was planned by the same company, has just been leased to C. H. Stillwell for a term of ten years and at a total rental of $72,000. E. A. Burns, with Robert Marsh & Co., negotiated this lease.

The building will have a full basement, which will constitute practically a fourth story, and will contain parlors, an amusement room and billiard room. Eighty-five rooms, divided into two and three-room apartments are provided for in the plans. The improvement will represent an outlay of approximately $55,000, and will be ready for occupancy about August 1.

The site is 70x155 feet in size and the building will occupy a ground area of 60x140 feet. The structure will be unusually handsome in appearance, the front being faced with gray pressed brick. The roof cornice is to be of red tile and will be supported by heavy timbers. The general style will suggest Spanish types.

The entrance is to be in stone and Italian marble and will lead into a lobby finished in Flemish oak. A large Grueby tile fireplace will be a charming interior feature

BULLOCK'S TO ENLARGE.

Big Broadway Store to Have Seven-story Addition Occupying Site of Old California Furniture Block.

The announcement, previously made in The Times, of the plan of Bullock's to add to the big Seventh-and-Broadway store the frontage of the old California Furniture Company building immediately adjoining on the north was confirmed yesterday when formal application was made at the building department for a permit to raze the latter structure. Immediately following the removal of the building in question and addition occupying its site will be erected.

Plans for this addition are now being prepared by the architectural firm of Parkinson and Bergstrom and Morgan, Walls and Morgan. When the contemplated improvement is ready for occupancy the store will have a total frontage of 211 feet on Broadway by 145 feet on Seventh. The building to be removed is of Class B construction, while that to replace it will conform in type to the fireproof structure of which it will be made a part.

SMUGGLERS FOUND GUILTY.

One of the Best-Known Chinese Merchants in the United States Is Convicted, With Three Others.

A verdict of guilty of having conspired to smuggle alien Chinese into this country, returned by a jury in the United States District Court, yesterday, against Woo Wai, Wong Chung, Wong Wing Sai and Wong Yee, crowned two years of effort by Immigration Inspector Connell and his assistants.

The jury returned the verdict after thirty minutes of deliberation. The case occupied two weeks. Woo Wai, the chief defendant, is secretary of the Chinese Six Companies of San Francisco, and one of the best-known Chinese merchants in the country.

That the defendants had conspired to smuggle coolies across the Mexican border they did not deny. Their defense was that Inspectors Weddle and Conkling had induced them to undertake the thing and had even assisted them.

Judge Van Fleet overlooked this and held that, regardless of the prompting the Chinese had committed a wrong and knew they were doing wrong at the time.

The view of the court is most important from the fact that it offers a new line of attack by the government. It means that the authorities are justified in entering into an arrangement for the purpose of trapping wrong-doers, provided the officers have clean hands in the enterprise and only engage in it in the interests of justice. It is a sweeping pronunciamento, and will have a wide influence in the administrations of violations of law, especially in the immigration department.

The sentence will be pronounced tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Special Counsel Frank Stewart said that the other cases against the defendants will not be tried during the present term of court. Under the Federal statutes the Chinese are liable to a fine not exceeding $10,000, and imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both.

It is understood that the case will be appealed, first to the District Court of Appeals, and to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary, to determine how far an officer of the government can go in securing the co-operation of a person in the commission of an unlawful act and then turn the evidence secured to have his companion convicted.

VINDICATION IS REPORTED.

Postoffice Inspector Webster, returned yesterday from a two weeks' task in San Francisco and vicinity, involving the charges made against Postmaster Arthur G. Fisk, whose renomination for a second term has been made to the Senate by President Taft, but is now held up temporarily by certain Senators, including Works, pending an investigation. The investigation has been completed, and the result sent to Senator Bristow, chairman of the special committee having the matter in charge. What the finding of Inspector Webster is, is not known. It is hinted that much of the opposition to the confirmation of the appointment is based on religious grounds. It is said that the report absolves Fisk.

A LARGE GATHERING.

Adventists Assembled in Conference Hold Their Last Sabbath Service in the Auditorium.

Declaring that the church is an organization with which God would reach out and save men and women from sin, A. G. Daniells of Washington, D. C., earnestly exhorted his audience of between 2000 and 3000 in the Auditorium, Saturday, the majority of whom were Seventh-Day Adventists from the Los Angeles and suburban churches, to let sympathy, tenderness and Christlikeness take possession of their lives. This was the last Saturday meeting during the Pacific Union Conference, now in session, and was largely attended.

Mrs. E. G. White addressed a large audience in the afternoon at the Carr-street Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Pastor K. C. Russell of Washington, D. C., spoke at the same place in the evening. He will speak also at the Carr-street Church tonight.

A telegram was received from Frank Wiggins stating that he and Mrs. Wiggins expected to sail yesterday from New Orleans for Panama.

BANK AT AVALON.

Figures furnished by the postmaster indicate that since the opening of postal savings banks in this city, September 15, last, over 3700 accounts have been opened in the bank, of which there are over 3000 now active. The aggregate savings are more than $250,000. On April 1 the government will open a branch savings bank at Avalon, which will be an accommodation to the residents of the island, as there is no bank there.

THE

is the land that costs you the least actual money---in other words, the land in which you have the least amount of cash actually invested.

Figured from this standpoint, Grogan's Merced Tract is the cheapest land offering on the market today. The average price is $150 per acre—on terms of one-fourth cash at date of purchase, balance 1-2-3 years, with interest on deferred payments at 6%. The first payment is $37.50 per acre. This is all you will ever have invested. Everything has been done for you. There is no expense you have to face other than the first payment. Even the lateral irrigation ditch has been installed. The land has all been under cultivation, and nothing remains for you to do except to immediately crop the land and receive your income.

You buy 20 acres on Grogan's Merced Tract today and invest $750 as first payment. In the latter part of April or first part of May you plant a black-eyed bean crop. If you cannot go to Merced yourself, you can make arrangements with our Merced office to have this done for you. Black-eyed beans are a ninety day crop and are actually netting the Merced farmers $70 an acre and upwards. At the end of four months from date of purchase you would not only have your first payment of $37.50 per acre returned, but in addition a substantial bonus. In other words, a purchaser of 20 acres would only be out the use of his first payment and cost of cropping the land for a few months, and would secure possession of a property which would pay for itself out of its own earnings in a few years time, and, in addition, a piece of property that will undoubtedly be worth $10,000 in less than five years.

You cannot buy cheaper land than this, and you cannot duplicate this possibility elsewhere, because there is no other land offering on the market today where nothing remains for the purchaser to do except to immediately utilize his ground. In addition to this, you take no chances when you plant any one of several different crops in Merced. This is not a new and untried section where the suitability of the soil and climate for various crops has to be determined by experiment. When you plant a crop on Grogan's Merced Tracts you know just what you are doing, have the soil and water to do it with, and are absolutely certain of results.

Summed up in a nut-shell, you can secure property that will net you annually over 100% on your investment, and that in a short time will be worth and sell for $10,000, by simply using $1000 or $1200 for four or five months.

If this proposition is as represented you cannot afford to overlook it. You at least owe it to yourself to investigate. Better call at once and arrange to join one of our three or five party excursions, and look the land over personally.

If you are interested, and cannot call personally, phone or write for free booklet entitled "Facts For Farmers."

Odd Fellows Bldg., Merced, Cal.

The Young Groves

Of the West Riverside Estate, composed of 4 and 5-year old Washington Navel and Valencia orange orchards, were absolutely unfrosted by frost.

They lie on the frostless foothill slopes of what is known as Block Six—here originally planned from selected stock and are today, in my opinion, the best bargain to be had in Southern California.

For a very short time only we will be able to sell these orchards at the present very low price of $1000 per acre, on the very easy terms of one-fifth cash, balance in eight equal annual installments.

There are only 70 acres to be disposed of, and when this 70 acres is sold you could not duplicate the property under $1500 an acre—nor could you equal the terms any place else in Southern California.

If you are looking for money-making investments in citrus property, it will certainly pay you to investigate at once.

People Would Suffer.

SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY RUINED WITHOUT TARIFF.

Trust Seeks to Kill One of Southern California's Most Important Aids to Prosperity by Passage of the Underwood Bill—Would Boom Refineries With Foreign Product—Citizens Must Protest.

BY WALTER KINKADE.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S second most important industry—beet sugar—will be paralyzed or permanently disabled if the Underwood bill, which provides for placing sugar on the free list, is enacted into a law. The danger lies close at hand, for the bill has already passed the House of Representatives and has been submitted to the Senate for its passage there.

On California, which has the most perfectly organized beet sugar industry in the United States, will fall the brunt of the disastrous effects of this law. The introduction of the bill shows the boldest attempt in the history of the nation to surrender an important and growing industry to foreign importers and to foster a monopoly against the domestic raw sugar producers, solely in interest of refiners of imported raw sugar, commonly known as the sugar trust; and this bill enacted into a law, will kill the beet sugar industry and will deprive the government of more than $52,000,000 much-needed revenue.

There are seven beet sugar factories south of the Tehachepi. These, with side tracks and dumps, cost approximately $10,000,000. The local market consumes about $2,750,000 worth of this sugar, leaving $11,000,000 worth marketed in the East, adding annually to our bank deposits.

These seven factories will be closed, for the benefit of the sugar trust, unless the residents of California unite in protest against the bill that proposes to allow foreign raw sugar into the country without duty.

To kill the beet sugar industry, will destroy much of Southern California's prosperity, for beet sugar raising and refining is second in importance only to the citrus industry. Plants at Los Alamitos, Oxnard, Chino, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and Anaheim annually produce from 1,000,000 tons of beets 2,750,000 bags of sugar, which, at $5 a bag, brings $13,750,000.

The cost of annual production includes $6,500,000 paid to farmers for beets; $1,500,000 for factory labor; $400,000 for sugar bags; $500,000 for fuel oil; $1,500,000 paid for freight on sugar; $1,000,000 freight on beets, pulp and supplies; $500,000 cost of supplies, and $200,000, paid for lime rock. This makes the total annual cost of production, $12,100,000. This, taken from the annual amount made, leaves $1,650,000 for profit and deterioration.

TO KILL COMPETITION.

The beet sugar industry is in the way of the refineries, for the simple reason that beet sugar is sold cheaper than cane sugar. Hence it is a formidable competitor in the market, and so big that the trust is straining to get this measure through, to choke competition, and secure the entire United States for its market, which, at present, consumes 20 per cent. of the world's entire production of sugar.

All the beet sugar made in the United States is granulated sugar—a refined product—and comes into direct competition with the output of refineries. Every pound of sugar manufactured in beet sugar factories lessens by that amount the meltings of the refineries.

Beet sugar invariably sells at a price less than cane sugar, the customary difference being one-fifth of a cent a pound, and 20 cents less per 100 pounds. The domestic crop checks the grasping tendencies of the refineries, forcing them to meet the competition of the beet product. The refineries all want free sugar, and they admitted to the Hardwick committee, which has been investigating the sugar companies for five or six months, that such legislation would increase their business and curtail or destroy that of their competitors, namely the beet sugar industry.

From testimony given under oath to the Hardwick committee, it is found that the average cost of producing beet sugar in the United States at present is not more than 3½ cents a pound, a reduction of 30 to 40 per cent. below the cost of production here ten years ago. This fact, alone, presents the need for the protection of the home sugar industry.

The average price paid for granulated sugar increased from 4.55 cents in 1902, to 5.345 cents in 1911. If placing sugar on the free list will reduce the cost of sugar 1½ cents a pound, as Underwood, author of the bill, states, it will reduce the selling price of sugar to a point that is far below the cost of producing beet sugar in this country.

PROFIT WIPED OUT.

Now, it is the difference in the cost of producing beet sugar and the selling price of the same that gives beet sugar concerns their profit, included in which would be the interest on their investment and plant depreciation. In no case have figures shown that beet sugar companies have made a profit of 1½ cents a pound. Therefore a reduction of 1½ cents a pound in the selling price would wipe out their profits unless they can lessen the cost of production very materially.

The only way to lessen cost of production would be to decrease the price paid for raw material, in other words, compel the farmer to receive less for his beets or to abandon his industry. The reduction of 1½ cents a pound can be accomplished by reducing the cost of beets to $2 a ton for which he now receives an average amount of $6.

No farmer would raise beets at this price, for no farmer could afford to. With the beet supply cut off, factories would close and this would destroy a national factory investment of $100,000,000. This would mean a shortage of supply of sugar, for during the active marketing period the beet sugar industry supplies 70 per cent. of the consumption; and a consequent bleeding of the people by the sugar trust, which could charge what it pleased because of no competition to restrain it.

The national loss will include the entire beet sugar industry of California. Local companies controlled by local managers, representing local investors, will be the sufferers, and the blight on the local industry will be one from which it can never recover.

The passage of the law means to the beet farmer of California that "you must not raise beets or cane unless you do so at a price that will deprive you of all profit." Men have built their homes close to the industry which gives them employment. Beet farmers pay to common laborers alone some $3,000,000. Thousands will be thrown out of work when the factories close.

PEOPLE WOULD SUFFER.

It may be true that if the law putting sugar on the free list is enacted that the price of sugar will drop for the consumer; but it is also a fact that it will be held down only until the beet sugar competition has been entirely destroyed. Then after the market has been delivered over to the refining interests of the United States, it is safe to say that the price of sugar will be advanced so that consumers will have received no bnefits from the removal of the tariff. It will then be too late for the consumers to retrench, for there will be no beet sugar output to lean on, for the beet sugar industry will be paralyzed.

There are many reasons why California must protest against the Underwood law. California has natural advantages for the production of all the sugar she needs besides export supply. The market for California beet sugar is broadening and making inroads on markets where only the refineries held dominion before. The economic value of producing our own sugar is much greater than the economic value of refining imported raw sugar, for beet culture has had immense bearing on increasing the acreage and valuation of other agricultural crops, for it begets confidence, and confidence influences investments. Foreign importations of raw sugar benefit only foreign constituents and labor.

No industry has worked in such harmony with the national policy of reclamation and irrigation, and the establishment of beet sugar factories here has been to quadruple the value of farm beet lands tributary to the factories.

The danger to this great industry means its complete obliteration. Not only beet growers and beet sugar men are concerned, but the entire State should stand in loyalty against the Underwood bill. Prompt action is the only thing that will save the industry. The bill has passed the House and it is now in the Senate.

TO TEST COTTON.

The experiment started by Warren Anson in testing the raising of cotton on the Janss Investment Company's model farm in the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands, has led to a shipment of selected Egyptian cotton seed from the United States Department of Agriculture. Argyle McLachlan, assistant in crop acclimatization, has forwarded suggestions for growing the plants. The department also desires to keep in touch with the progress of the tests. Anson is also making a test of a new method of planting usgar beet seeds. Instead of placing them in drills, as is the custom, he is planting in hills, ten inches apart, with eight seeds to a hill. When the plants sprout above the surface, he will leave the healthiest two in each hill. This gives ample spreading room for the roots and permits of better cultivation and a circulation of air around the tubers. The American Beet Sugar Company is watching this method in the belief that it will solve several problems of the beet grower and also result in a more uniform development of the beet roots.

HIGHWAY PLANS MATURING.

Committee Working Out Scheme for Boulevard From Westlake Park to Palisades of Santa Monica.

An agreement was reached the past week between representatives of the Soldiers' Home, at Sawtelle, and the County Supervisors, whereby Wilshire boulevard is to be run through the government grounds to connect on the west side with San Vicente boulevard. This will make a continuous driveway from Westlake Park to the Palisades of Santa Monica. According to G. P. Cimiotti of R. A. Rowan & Company, the Wilshire Committee has adopted plans perfected by a committee of landscape experts whereby the entire boulevard will be harmoniously developed, in width, in paving and in arboreal effects. "The one halting point in the plans," said Mr. Cimiotti, "was over the matter of building the boulevard through the Soldiers' Home grounds. This has now been provided for.

"From the city to the sea bithulitic paving will be spread. For the entire distance the drive will have the same width both of street, curb, parkings and sidewalk. Developers of each successive tract will carry through the plans. The harmony scheme even goes so far as to provide for the kind of trees that shall be used, so that there will be no sudden breaks or sharp contrasts.

"In accordance with the arrangements we are now laying out the Wilshire frontage of Windsor Square with the designated trees and flowers. Even the kind of grass seed to be used will be the same all the way. When the trees shall have matured and the shrubs developed there will be no boulevard anywhere to equal it."

Waking Up.

VALLEY AROUSES FROM SLUMBER.

LANDS NEAR GLENDALE TAKE NEW LEASE ON LIFE.

Fine Subdivision Opening West of Southern Pacific—Promoter Seeks a Franchise for Electric Road to Aviation Field—Truck Gardens to Be Cut Up.

GLENDALE, March 23.—After lying apparently asleep for several years the western section of this valley, that portion lying west of the Southern Pacific tracks and within the extreme northern limits of Los Angeles, is taking a new lease on life and promises big things for the immediate future. The section where the major portion of the work is being done lies just west of the southern portion of Glendale and north of Park avenue. A short time ago twenty acres were purchased by the G. H. A. Goodwin company. This tract was subdivided, sidewalks and curbs, electricity, gas and water installed and streets graded and oiled. The opening of this piece started operations in the section. Subdivision work has been almost completed in the Gui tract, consisting of nearly forty acres and being entirely in vineyard, at which place the celebrated Gui wines have been made during the past several years. All improvements in this tract are of the finest, and the tract will be opened to the public within a few days.

The most recent valuable piece of land to go down before the progressive tread of the subdivision movement in this valley is the Stracy estate, located at the extreme west end of Park avenue. This piece consists of twenty acres of fine level land, being in elevation several feet higher than the Los Angeles river-bed. Between this tract and the west end of Park avenue is a bank of something like thirty feet. The improvements planned for this tract and the west end of Park avenue include the grading away of this bank and also of Park avenue in such a manner as to make the descent from the avenue to the tract extremely gradual and one hardly noticeable. This will necessitate the grading back of Park avenue for a distance of something like 150 yards. As the west side of this tract is close to the river, the company will erect over the river and into Griffith Park and the new aviation field a large rustic bridge, to be used by autoists and pedestrians alike. This will be the first direct opening from the eastern section of the valley into the park and will doubtless prove popular.

A feature which promises to do more than anything else toward the opening of this section is the establishing of an electric street car line, which will run from Fourth street and Brand boulevard, Glendale, west on Fourth street to Pacific avenue, south on Pacific to Oak drive, thence along Oak drive west to and across the Los Angeles river, connecting with the southern end of the new aviation field. This line will run between the Park-avenue and the Gui tract and two blocks north of Park avenue. A franchise for this line is now being offered for sale, and E. D. Goode, who has secured the right of way, claims that the road will be in operation within four months after the franchise has been granted, providing he gets the franchise. It is expected that this line will connect with the north end of the line which will be erected by the Pacific Electric company, branching from the main Glendale-Los Angeles line at Ivanhoe and running north for a distance of about two miles to the aviation field.

The West Park-avenue section is now in Los Angeles, and, as a result of requests made by residents of that section to the Los Angeles Council, that city has purchased from G. W. Fishel, nine lots on the north side of Park avenue just west of the Southern Pacific tracks, to be used as a site for a new grammar school. The piece was bought for $4500 cash. It is understood that work on this school will be started within a few weeks. The residents along Park avenue have also petitioned the Los Angeles fathers to improve Park avenue, which is in an extremely poor condition.

Japanese, who for the past several years have conducted vegetable gardens in this western section, have been informed that, at the expiration of their present leases, the land which they now occupy will be subdivided into home sites. Many of these Japanese are already leaving this section.

ANGELES MESA SALES.

Total of Recent Transfers in Southwest Subdivision Reported at Over Sixty-Six Thousand Dollars.

The Angeles Mesa Land Company reports recent sales in its Angeles Mesa Tract, on the slope of the Inglewood Hills in the southwest part of the city, aggregating $66,525. Following is a list of the recent purchasers: On Eighth avenue, between Slauson avenue and Fifty-second street, Wes. C. A. Miller, $900; Arthur T. Anderson, $950; Minnie M. Dinius, $950, and Frank K. Rule, $950.

Charles H. Polkingham, lot on Ninth avenue, $950; George T. Reis, lot on Tenth avenue, $1000, and Gus V. Martin, lot on Eleventh avenue, $850; on Fourteenth avenue, Charles H. Alms, $1150; H. A. Barre, $1600; Mrs. M. M. Chester, $1150; R. W. Martin, $1200; Florence M. Martin, $1200; Earl F. Gehres, $1000; Walter J. Juergens, $1000; G. W. Halsted, $1000, and Gladys Thomas, $1000.

On Fifteenth avenue, Anna Marshall, $1200; Mrs. T. L. Foley, $2000; Jesse L. Gough, $1200; Elizabeth Bell, $1000; S. O. Richey, $1200; Mary Ashby Frasher, $2250; Roy E. Webb, $1100; Frank B. Bendell, $3100; Norman A. Loyd, $1125.

Netta A. Logan, lot on Fifteenth avenue, $1200. On Sixteenth avenue, Mary M. Steagall, $900; Daniel Drumhiller, $1100; Marion S. Elliott, $900; A. O. Miller, $900; Bertha Osthoff, $1250; Reuben F. Ingold, $1200.

On Walnut avenue, E. L. Wisdom, $5500; Mary V. Reeve, $1350; Sadie B. Pickett, $1100; Maude Melrose, $900; Olive D. McGinnis, $900; F. E. Partridge, $1100; Pauline M. Nemetz, $1450; Jennie I. Jones, $900; M. W. Higgins, $900; F. N. Featherstone, $2400; Walter S. Swartwout, $1200.

On Eighteenth avenue, Ella N. Sprague, $1200; Helen Harte, $1100; Jessie G. Allen, $1450; Carl Wallenschlager, $1100, and Mrs. L. L. Futhey, $2400.

ODD CHARM TO DRIVE.

A mile of shade trees, double-rowed on either side of the walk, are being set out along the San Vicente boulevard frontage of Brentwood Park, to enhance the scenic effects of that residence park. Black acacias had formerly been used on this side of the tract, but more rare trees are to supplant them. Flowers of perpetual bloom, growing between the trees will, eventually, make this one of the most splendid promenades to be found near Los Angeles, and the improvements will materially add to the charm of the automobile driveway to Santa Monica. In the center of Brentwood Park is a six-acre garden of trees and flowers. Through plans just completed, a mirror lake will be installed here and a Japanese scheme carried out. A Japanese landscape gardner is in charge of this work. A large nursery has also been established here by the Braly-Janss Investment Company, to provide trees, plants and shrubs for the park.

NEW BRIDGES OPENED.

The two bridges across the main stream and branch of the San Gabriel River on the lower El Monte-Pomona road were opened to the public the past week, following their asphalt flooring, and the entire El Monte boulevard is now declared complete with the exception of a stretch of sand about half a mile long. The Highway Commission has already made this passable for automobiles and will, as quickly as possible, pave it. The opening of the two bridges, immediately after the rush of high water, has already done much to renew activities in the La Puente Valley, according to Sterling W. Banks, manager of the land department of Purcell, Gray and Gale. Mr. Banks reports the following purchases at Rancho La Puente, for the week: William R. Long, five acres, $2500; Joseph A. Gettier, five acres, $3000; Andrew C. Thompson, ten acres, $6000, and George D. Irwin, five acres, $2750.

SOUTHWEST SALES.

Schulman & Fox report the following sales in the southwest: Otto Lefevre to A. C. Rickard, six-room bungalow, at No. 1607 West Fiftieth street, lot 40x130 feet, $3200 cash; William Getz to Katherine Ricks, five-room bungalow, at No. 1570 West Fiftieth, $3200; O. E. Moyer to G. M. Champagane, seven-room bungalow, at No. 4533 Gramercy place, $4400; for B. E. Wells to A. T. Straine, lot 40x135 feet, $850 cash; C. A. Fox to Fred A. Speicher, lot 50x135 feet, on the south side of Forty-fifth street, between St. Andrews and Gramercy place, $1000 cash. A. T. Strine to William Ruoff, Jr., lot 45x135 feet, on the north side of Fifty-first place, between Normandie and Halldale, $850 cash; W. A. Skiles to Horace A. Crawford, six-room bungalow, at No. 1622 West Fiftieth street, $3375; for Southwest Land Company to Otto Lefevre, lot 44x128 feet, north side of Forty-second place, between Gramercy place and Arlington street, $950; Elmer E. Cooper and Elmira E. Cooper to Paul H. Musckat, lot on south side of Forty-sixth street, between Harvard boulevard and Western avenue, $1100; and J. R. Dennison to J. B. Brown, bungalow, at No. 4423 Gramercy place, $3800.

PLANS MISSION HOUSE.

Frank E. Hartigan has prepared plans and specifications and secured the contract for the building of a ten-room residence and garage for Mrs. Anna M. Martin, to be located on the northwest corner of Tenth and Gramercy place, on a lot 90x150 feet, with an east and south exposure. This residence will be of the mission type, with plaster exterior and terra-cotta roofing. The interior finish will be of Juana Costa mahogany, Circassian walnut and oak. The garage will be two stories. The lot is elevated and will admit of effective terracing, retaining walls and landscape architecture. Hartigan states that these improvements will cost over $12,000.

RANCH TRACT OPENED.

Beazell & Marshall, recently appointed sales agents of Cudahy Ranch property, report that the new subdivision of half-acre and one-acre lots fronting Florence avenue will be ready for the market tomorrow. A new well has been drilled for this particular tract and the new 100,000-gallon storage tank, which has been under construction for the past few weeks, is now completed, and pipe lines are being laid throughout the tract

Record Breaker.

LAND SHOW BIG DRAWING CARD.

Attendance May Reach Total of Quarter Million.

Exposition Greatest of Kind Ever Attempted.

Today "Fresno County Day" at Fiesta Park.

With last evening's big attendance included, the total number of visitors at the Land Show Beautiful for the first twelve days reached 180,000, which exceeds by a clear 30,000 the aggregate of the sixteen days of last year's exposition. Estimating conservatively the daily average for the remaining five days at 15,000, the grand total will be 255,000 persons passing the gates for the seventeen days and nights of the 1912 exhibition.

The early approximations of the probable attendance at the 1912 Land Show placed the grand total at 200,000, and with tens of thousands of persons yet to attend the exposition because of special attractions during this week, it is likely that the final total will come very close to this enormous figure.

Already the Land Show attendance has made it the greatest exposition of its kind on record. The New York, Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City land shows did not occupy nearly as much floor space as that now holding forth at Fiesta Park and in attendance all other exhibitions of the kind are utterly eclipsed.

Coming at the heighth of the tourist-colonist influx, with the railroads extending the low rates to forty-five days and advertising it broadcast throughout the East, the 1912 Land Show has had a patronage and has fulfilled a mission that has proved of monumental importance.

RECORD OF ATTENDANCE.

The day-to-day record of attendance, as formulated last night by General Manager Phillip D. Wilson and L. E. Behymer, who has had personal charge of the gate, show the following totals:

"Los Angeles Night"	5,000
March 13—"Madero County Day"	12,000
March 14—"Crescent Bay Day"	15,000
March 15—"School Children's Day"	50,000
March 16—"Beach and Orange County Day" and "Oregon Day"	12,000
March 17—"St. Patrick's Day"	8,000
March 18—"Kern County Day" and "Arizona Day"	10,000
March 19—"Utah Day"	13,000
March 20—"California Day" and "Society Night"	16,000
March 21—"San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties Day" and "New Mexico Day"	5,000
March 22—"Imperial and Coachella Valley Day	9,000
March 23—"Labor Day"	14,000
Total for twelve days	180,000

Special excursions on the various occasions contributed largely to bringing out the large crowds. "Madera County Day," "Utah Day," and other similar events drawing great numbers of people resident in Los Angeles and vicinity. Of the 50,000 individuals who passed in and out of the great tent on "School Children's Day," 35,000 were young pupils and 15,000 adults, the doors having been opened at 9 a.m. to accommodate the tremendous crush of humanity.

LOS ANGELES BENEFITS.

The benefits to Los Angeles as a whole coming from the Land Show already are being felt, and many specific instances are being reported. The various members of the exposition committees, most of whom are prominent members of the Realty Board, under whose auspices the enterprise was carried to success, declare that in tangible results the Land Show has far exceeded anticipations.

The exhibitors from distant counties and communities yesterday enthusiastically declared that the good received from coming to the show already has far exceeded the outlay. Some of these outside representatives, who have kept registers open in their booths for the signatures of visitors, state that much new population has been won for their sections by the representation.

Los Angeles city, however, has naturally been the chief beneficiary and the influences set to work through the Land Show promise to be felt for several years to come. The extension of the colonist rate from thirty to forty-five days, and its inauguration fifteen days earlier than usual, which concession was won by the Land Show at the Chicago conference of railroad representatives, undoubtedly contributed a large number of permanent residents this year. The big railroads advertised the Land Show as a special inducement to travel throughout the East and Middle West, publishing the dates in folders and time-cards, and this has proved most effective in drawing homeseekers to Los Angeles. Although the colonist rates will be in force until April 15, the travel up to date leaves no doubt that the total of new arrivals in California on the low-rate, one-way tickets will pass 100,000 this year, as against 75,000 last year. Of these arrivals fully 80 per cent. come to Los Angeles.

EXHIBITORS ARE PLEASED

The exhibitors, who have made extensive showings of produce and opportunities from their various sections, are highly pleased over this invasion of Los Angeles.

The Land Show has made it plain to the whole West that Los Angeles is the undisputed mecca of tourists and colonists, and this advertising has raised the status and importance of the city. The large attendance has elicited surprised comments from the northern county representatives, who had not expected such a large show.

While the Realty Board committeemen made an enormous outlay in constructing, assembling, decorating and carrying on the exposition on the highest possible scale, Chairman William M. Garland of the Executive

BETRAYS SELF AND PARTY IN SEEKING THIRD TERM.

Repudiation of Solemn Pledge Is Bitterly Denounced by Leading Newspapers of Country—Record of Taft Proves He Deserves Another Term—T. R.'s Ambition Pitiful and His Defeat Certain.

STRONG condemnation of Theodore Roosevelt for his announced ambition in seeking the Republican Presidential nomination, and thereby violating his pledge and forsaking his old friend, President Taft, is expressed daily in the leading newspapers of the country. Excerpts from several editorials are as follows:

Roosevelt's Statement.

[Indianapolis News:] No one, we suppose, is surprised at Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that he will accept the Presidential nomination if it is tendered to him. He has in truth been a candidate for some time—many believe for three years. During the last few months an active campaign has been prosecuted in his behalf, a campaign under the personal direction of George W. Perkins of the harvester and steel trusts. Of course, Mr. Roosevelt knew all about what was being done. He has been a candidate for months. Now he simply makes personal declaration of the fact.

It seems to us that it is necessary, in the interest of a sound morality, to consider the position in which this man has put himself. "I will," he now says, "accept the nomination for President if it is tendered me." November 5, 1904, he said: "Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination." We thus have an utter repudiation of a solemn and freely-given pledge. If this is honesty the term will have to be redefined. The people now see that they had no reason to believe what Mr. Roosevelt said in 1904. Why should they believe anything else he says? If his word is to be held sacred only as long as it is convenient for him to abide by it, it is well that the country should know it. "I will accept the nomination for President if it is tendered to me"—"under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination." Thus the case stands.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter is simply a confession. For months his bitterest enemies have charged that he was a candidate, and insisted that he was going to break his pledge to the American people. His real friends and admirers indignantly denied that he would do any such thing. Indeed it was pointed out that he "could not" do it. Our attention was called to his promise, and we were reminded that he was a man of his word. Now he admits the truth of all that was said against him, gives the lie to those of his friends who said that he was a man of his word, and tells the country that he will accept what he said that he would "under no circumstances" accept.

We do not believe that the American people will condone such conduct. We do not believe that they are ready to cut away from the tradition against a third term—a tradition which Mr. Roosevelt commended in 1904 when he spoke of "the wise custom which limits the President to two terms." In our opinion the country is not willing to substitute personal government for government by law. We shall no doubt have a lively spring and summer, but we shall find that the sober judgment of the people of the United States is opposed to the third term, opposed to those Roosevelt political theories that are subversive of representative government and very strongly opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's way of dealing with the great office of President. His statement is no surprise. But it will come as a shock to those who had been taught to believe that the man who made it is an apostle of the "square deal."

Larceny Not Popular.

[Kalamazoo (Mich.) Gazette:] The Roosevelt press and the Roosevelt shouters, such as there are at the present time, will make the most of his announcement. They constitute but a small portion of the deciding force. The great mass of voters will sit quietly back and andlyze the man, his motives and his acts. They will find him a traitor to their party, a betrayer of friendship and a man who would be a "king."

If Roosevelt had waited until the convention the rank and file of the Republican party would have rallied to him as a man if he had been nominated, but his action in trying to steal the nomination, to usurp the functions of the convention, as well as to make himself master of the entire Republican party and all for which it stands, will have but one answer. His rebuke, if not given in the Republican convention, will come at the polls, and Roosevelt will find that the American voters are still lovers of fair dealing and the square deal.

He Has Followed His Hat.

[Hartford Courant:] Col. Roosevelt has no better friends living than those who hoped that he would rule his own restless, impatient spirit, turn a deaf ear to the temptersmen—within and without—and conserve a reputation which he held in trust for the United States of America. Since the Ohio journey and speech it has been a case of hoping against hope; now even that is ended. In the letter published today he tells the eight inquiring Governors that he will accept the nomination if it comes his way; that he will be a candidate for it up to the decisive ballot in the Republican national convention, and that he would like a Presidental primary. He does not tell them he will abide by the national conventions' decision should it be adverse to his candidacy, but perhaps he may have meant that to be inferred.

We shall say no word in haste or in anger of Col. Roosevelt's singularly belated "yes," as little are we minded to exaggerate its importance. He paused a long time on the brink of his personal Rubicon: now that he has at last jumped in with a splash, we look for no such grave results as followed in the Julius Caesar case. We regret deeply that the colonel has made what we must consider a most unwise and unfortunate decision. He does not make at all clear in his letter the reasons of his present readiness to accept what he solemnly declared he would under no circumstances accept; he will doubtless be voluble in explanation later on, and the public will learn that good Dr. Lyman Abbott's coffee-cup allegory was official.

Our regret is chiefly—almost wholly—for Theodore Roosevelt. He has not given himself a square deal in this matter. As to the President, we were not a bit more cheerfully confident of his renomination last Monday than we are today.

All the arguments which Theodore Roosevelt urged so earnestly for Taft's first nomination are far stronger in 1912 than they were in 1908; they have been supplemented and reenforced by years of extraordinarily faithful and efficient service. For the Republican party to go back now on Taft—and make the Democrats the unhoped-for present of the third-term issue in the bargin—would be simply to invite political disaster. The Republican party is not going to commit any such folly as that.

Party Will Be United.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] If any Republicans fear that the Taft-Roosevelt contest for the candidacy will defeat their party at the polls their attention should be directed to these important facts: The colonel says he will support the ticket, no matter who heads it. He declares that he will not make a personal attack on the President. Likewise, he denies that he said the President was not a progressive. The President disclaims any intention of mentioning the colonel personally in any of his talks, and declares that neither directly nor indirectly will he make any attack upon him. Certain close friends of the President and the colonel say that they will remain neutral in the contest for the candidacy, but that after the convention makes its choice they will take the stump for the ticket, regardless of the names which it may carry.

Here are considerations which all Republicans should keep constantly in mind. The fight for the nomination will be conducted fairly. Every Republican who has any particular preference for the candidacy will have an opportunity to make that preference known. An especial effort will be made to keep personalities out of the canvass for the nomination. No antagonisms are likely to be created which will hamper any Republican in supporting the ticket which will be selected. As everybody, or nearly everybody, believes that the present torpor in general trade is due to a fear that the Democrats, by some accident or fatality, may carry the country, as they did in 1892, all elements of the Republicans are likely to fall into line just as soon as the convention talks.

This is the right spirit for the Republicans in this exigency. The party is bigger than any of its leaders. It was here long before any of the chieftains of the present day rose to prominence. It will be here long after all of them depart. The existing divergencies regarding nomination seekers are only temporary. A few years hence all of these differences will be ancient history. Except as they are recorded in the books, nobody will know anything about them. New issues and men will be before the country, and the sponge will be drawn over the present personages and prejudices. The important consideration is that the party shall obtain a new mandate in the Presidency in November, and that the present incapable and unpatriotic Democratic House be thrust back into the shadow from which it was drawn in 1910.

The Mask Is Off.

[Philadelphia Record:] Theodore Roosevelt has betrayed himself, his friend and his party.

He has betrayed himself, for he pledged his honor the night of the election in 1904 that he would under no circumstances again be a candidate for President. Although his first term was not one to which he had been elected, yet he declared on his honor that he had regard for the substance and not the form, and, having had two terms, he would not entertain the thought of a third. He has sacrificed his honor to his ambition.

He has betrayed his friend, because it was at his earnest and continued solicitation that Mr. Taft gave up the judicial ambition of a lifetime and sought the Presidency. It was Mr. Roosevelt who used the Presidential patronage to secure the nomination of the man he had selected for his political heir. The long-established political practice entitles Mr. Taft to a renomination at the hands of his party, and all the obligations of honor and friendship forbid Theodore Roosevelt from seeking to deprive the President of the renomination. He has sacrificed his friend to his ambition.

He has betrayed his party, for no party can refuse to give its President a second nomination without creating a division in it that must imperil its success at the polls. He is deliberately creating a dissension that must greatly affect the party's prospects. Mr. Roosevelt says he will adhere to his present decision until the convention has expressed its preference. Medill McCormick indicates plainly enough what will happen after that if the preference shall not be for Mr. Roosevelt.

This man McCormick, who betrayed Senator La Follette, is the fit manager of the headquarters of the man who has betrayed himself, his friend and his party. We learn from McCormick's statement that the proposition has been made to Mr. Roosevelt that in the event of his failure to get the Republican nomination he should form a third or People's party. Mr. McCormick says: "From an authoritative source it was learned today that Col. Roosevelt did not look upon the proposition with favor, and in effect stated that such a proceeding was out of the question."

Did Caesar put away the offer of the crown upon the Lupercal more languidly than that? How does this language compare with that in which he declared he would not be a candidate for a third term? And yet that declaration has gone to the waste basket. Nothing in political action is more treacherous than to go before a convention and seek its nomination with the purpose, in the event of failure, of seeking a nomination elsewhere and undertaking to defeat the selection of the convention. This is a fit programme of duplicity for Theodore Roosevelt and Medill McCormick, who used Senator La Follette as a blind until the time came for opening Roosevelt's headquarters.

The purpose of Mr. Roosevelt is to get the Republican nomination if he can, and if he cannot he will tear up the pledge that the cunning McCormick makes for him, and will put himself in the field as a candidate of the radicalism of all parties.

This announcenemt of McCormick's is a pledge in its outward form, but it is a threat in substance. It is a notification to the Republican party that if it shall give its nomination to any one else there will be a third party in the field. It is the thoroughly

Parsons, $500; John Daly, $105; Clarence Moore, $230; A. R. Mann, $150, and D. H. Merikle, $275.

BIG CONTRACTS LET.

The new J. J. Davis subdivision of the Palisades is to be handled by private contract, both in regard to its streets and its sidewalks and curbs. The contract for the sidewalk and curb work has been let to J. D. Kneen. These will be of a superior character, in harmony with the rest of the improvements in this vicinity. The contract for the grading of the streets has been let to F. H. Stout, and work will begin at once. All of the streets in this property are to be paved and further ornamented by trees. The work is to include the laying of the sewers, water and gas mains, as well as the street paving and installation of the sidewalks, curbs and gutters.

TO LOAN ON MORTGAGES.

The United Mortgage Corporation, with an authorized capital stock of $500,000, has just been organized by a number of citizens of Los Angeles for the purpose of loaning money on mortgages in this city. The company has arranged with a strong life insurance company to insure the borrower at the time of making the loan, so that in the event of the death of the mortgagee during the term of the loan the insurance company will pay off the mortgage, leaving the home free of all incumbrance. This is comparatively a new feature in loaning circles. The corporation will eventually be reorganized under the banking laws to do a general banking business. The officers are at suite 620 to 623. Consolidated Realty building. Following are the officers and directors: Col. W. O. Welch, president; Dr. F. W. Rayburn, vice-president; W. J. Tummonds, treasurer; C. H. Foss, secretary; Maj. D. R. Weller, attorney; G. W. Randall and Dr. R. C. Baker.

TO BUILD TWENTY HOUSES.

Swank & Letton report the sale of twenty lots in their Moneta and Manchester bungalow tract to P. J. McDonald and R. H. Mouser, who will begin immediately the erection of twenty modern bungalows to be sold on easy terms. MacDonald is largely interested in the mining business in Mexico, where he has been operating for the last fourteen years. He retains his interest in Mexico, but will, owing to unsettled conditions there, make Los Angeles his future home, devoting attention mostly to the building and investment business. Mouser, with whom he will be associated in the building business, has been connected with the firm of Swank & Letton for about a year and a half.

NEW VERMONT SQUARE.

During the past week eight lots are reported as being sold in New Vermont Square by the Southwest Land Company. The purchasers follow: Mrs. Ada Delscamp, south side of Forty-second street, between St. Andrew's and Gramercy, $10,000; Mrs. Margareth Schilling, corner of Western avenue and Forty-first street, $2750; H. R. Nash, north side of Forty-third place, between Gramercy and Arlington, $900; Otto Lefevre, north side of Forty-second street, between Western and St. Andrew's, $1050; same buyer, north side of Forty-second street, between Gramercy and Arlington, $950; G. A. Gottschell, north side of Forty-first drive, between Western and St. Andrew's place, $1125; Henry W. Bohrnan, west side of Vermont avenue, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth, $1650; same buyer, west side of Vermont avenue, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth, $1650.

TRADES FOR CHICAGO SITE.

The K. Lundeen Company reports the following exchange: R. Meyer to J. E. Hundley and J. W. Miller, northwest corner of Vincennes avenue and Forty-fifth place, Chicago, facing 125 feet on Vincennes avenue and 138 feet on Forty-fifth place, improved with three-story brick and stone building, divided into twenty-four flats, thoroughly modern, for a consideration of $190,000.

J. E. Hundley and J. W. Miller to R. Meyer and wife, a young Valencia orange grove within the city limits of Anaheim, containing forty acres, and a lot on Green avenue, this city, having frontage of 123 feet, with a depth of 150, and partially improved with a small apartment building known as No. 815 Green avenue, the difference being adjusted with cash and mortgages.

SELL NINE LOTS.

The Angeles Mesa Land Company reports recent sales in Hillcrest Arlington Heights aggregating $14,400. The tract is on the high ground between Washington and Adams streets and just west of Crenshaw boulevard. The following is a list of the purchasers: C. H. Berkley, $2500; L. C. Houts, $1500; Meyer Krupp, $2000; Ernest N. Miller, $1500; Mary Averill, $1400; Thilda M. Shepard, $1400; M. L. Menderson, $1200; E. B. Sheldon, $1500 and Adeline Bowman, $1400.

TO BUILD ON HARVARD.

The Forrester Improvement Company has let a contract to F. B. Moiso to erect two ten-room bungalows, with second-floor sleeping porches, on Harvard boulevard, between Seventh and Eighth streets. The lots are sixty-five and seventy-five feet front, respectively, and the houses will cost between $6500 and $7000 each, it is said. They will be finished in Juana Costa mahogany and other hard woods, and will contain two baths each.

Santa Monica Beauty Spot

Are Becoming World Noted

Charms of Brentwood Park Compared to Those of Ancient Gennesaret. Big Activities Now in This Princely Home Place

As other birds are held awe stricken and fascinated at the majestic flight of the eagle, in the magic circle he describes about them, so are those of other lands, other States in our own land, and even other communities of California, beginning to become astounded and charmed by the ever increasing heights being attained as a result of the tremendous improvement activity of the various beauty spots of Santa Monica. One of the most notable of these beauty spots is picturesque Brentwood Park.

In the beginning, before there ever was a Brentwood Park, or its creation ever began to be considered by its builders, Nature busied herself in creating of its natural setting, Santa Monica, an amphitheater of surpassing magnificence that the very Gods themselves would have coveted for their dwelling place.

A great blanket of richest emerald she spread before her, with here an undulating hill and there a valley and over yonder a plain. Then deftly carving out a perfect crescent in the border of this emerald land she established the great, placid, sapphire sea.

Next she set herself to the task of hewing out vast chasms that men call canyons, which she further embellished with huge boulders and rock promontories, over which she threw coverings of colorful mosses, vines and shrubs of many varieties. Then she bethought herself of the protection necessary to insure an ever temperate climate to so fair a land, and she threw up a bulwark of mountain ranges, where the flitting high lights and shadows play at hide and seek from dawn 'till sunset, along its deep ravines and purpled crests.

It is not surprising that man, provided with such an advantage as this by Nature, could create a homeplace that would rival for splendor the beauties of the ancient and the present world; and man has and is taking full advantage of the opportunities presented by Nature in Brentwood Park, as well as in the remainder of Santa Monica. A genius in modern scenic art has established in this Park of mansion-homes, winding walks and serpentine boulevards, bordered with floral parkings and centered by shrub planted circles, that have very few rivals, if any, throughout this continent for scenic charm.

Neither is it surprising that those who visit such a rare community as this, be they from abroad, from the far East of our own country or from the West or Middle West, are not loath to forsake all ties that bind them elsewhere, and come speedily to rear their lordly homes amid this crowning piece of Nature's and man's combined handiwork.

TRAVELER SAYS BRENTWOOD PARK SIMILAR TO GENNESARET.

One who has traveled largely and is familiar with the locations of some of the most prominent of the ancient cities, says that Brentwood Park in its natural environment is strikingly like the famous beauty spot of its age, ancient Gennesaret, must have been; with the exception that Gen saret overlooked the Mediterran flowing out to the Atlantic, w Brentwood Park, placed at practic the same high elevation, overlooks beautiful Crescent Bay and the cific.

History describes Gennesaret, w was called "The Garden of Prince teeming with a profusion of bloo flowers, and filled with myriad birds; on one side of it were precipitous bluffs overhanging sea, and the crescent shaped and its great promontories; bac it rose the stalwart mountains; w description answers almost ident ly that of Brentwood Park. Th habitants of Brentwood Park, an fact throughout Santa Monica, imbued also with the same ambit that inspired those living when nesaret was at its prime, their ex object and aim seeming to be constant improvement of their cou and its entire surroundings. BIG ACTIVITY NOW IN BRE WOOD PARK.

Brentwood Park seems a verit boiling caldron of development now, from the least details to most important. Among the prominent features of its activi is the establishment of its new beautiful homes. One of the superb homes just completed b A. Campbell has been purchased Mr. Otto Thum and his family, br er of the prominent William Th Mayor of Pasadena, and is to be cupied at once.

The other home is still on the ket for sale, and two more home equal distinction and beauty of struction are to be started in very near future by Mr. Campb characteristic effort of a brace of political bandits to sandbag the convention.

Merits of Two Men.

[Detroit Free Pres:] Theodore Roosevelt, twice President of the United States, is now an avowed candidate for another nomination, and the Republican party is forced to a choice between two men in picking its leader for the fight against the Democrats this fall. There is much acrimony over the matter and unbiased judgment is not easy to arrive at just now, but let us try as dispassionately as possible to review the situation and to determine what the course of wisdom would be at this juncture.

As between William Howart Taft and Theodore Roosevelt it is difficult to see why Republican voters should select the latter for the approaching campaign. Mr. Taft is, to use the time-honored expression, the logical candidate. Every tradition of the party points to him as the nominee. It has been the custom, hardly ever varied, to indorse the sitting President's record in office and to put him forward as the representative of what has been accomplished during his term. Expediency has dictated this course. The President is the party leader. His has been the responsibility for the legislative programme of the four years. What there is good in it is his work, and through him the party can properly ask for its own return to power.

If Mr. Roosevelt is now substituted for Mr. Taft, the record of the present administration will be his burden and his strength. He cannot say it is bad and hope to escape the effects of its badness. It is the Republican record and the Republican candidate must stand on it.

Sum up the factors in the equation. Mr. Roosevelt, if he were the candidate, would have as assets his own personal popularity, minus Mr. Taft's personal popularity, plus or minus the good and evil in this administration and minus the third-term sentiment in the nation. How much more would the Roosevelt popularity come to than the Taft popularity would come to, and how much must be deduced from the excess to allow for the third-term odium?

The Free Press for its part believes that Mr. Taft's net value to the party this year would be considerably greater than that of Mr. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's Platform.

[New York Evening Sun:] There can be no misconception of the platform on which Col. Roosevelt has taken his stand. It is the work of his own hands and not the most devoted friend can alter or deny it. We set down its conspicuous features:

The sacred custom of a century is without binding force.

A solemn pledge needs no keeping.

Friendship needs no respect.

Constitutions are hateful and obsolete restraints.

Whatever else any one may think of this platform, it is beyond question complete and utterly consistent. The American people have only to decide whether the author of such a platform is fit for the greatest office in the gift of men.

Should Help Taft.

[Utica Herald Dispatch:] Col. Roosevelt's announcement that he will accept the nomination for the Presidency, if it is tendered to him, and that he will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference, was generally anticipated, although many of those who have stood with him in the past held to the hope that he would not stultify himself by deliberately going back on his pledge of November 8, 1904: "Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

It is evident that Col. Roosevelt's determination to become an active seeker after the nomination was formed long ago, even before the seven Governors thought of working up the scheme to open the way for his candidacy. Their letter made it possible to give his announcement the appearance of being a response to a demand of the people and all his moves, with the Columbus speech leading up to his declaration of today, were adroitly made. The campaign for the nomination will be carried on with the Columbus speech as a platform, and it is to be expected that it will bring into play all the unusual talents that Col. Roosevelt has shown as a politician.

Despite all the criticism that has been heaped on President Taft by his political enemies he has made a good President. Like Cleveland he will loom larger when he has been out of office a few years. His predecessor was wont to go before the people and rail about the trusts and great combinations of capital and malefactors of wealth. He talked much but did little or nothing to curb them. Taft has not talked so much but has discovered that the Sherman law, though not the ideal statute, will serve the purpose of restraining large combinations of capital and under his administration much progress has been made with this work. Nor have the Harrimans and the Morgans and others paid hurried and secret trips to the White House for luncheons and conferences. The record of President Taft endlies him to a second nomination, an honor that has not been refused any Republican President, and there is nothing in the record of Roosevelt to entitle him to the honor of a nomination for a third term, an honor that Washington and Jefferson declined, and the Republican party refused President Grant.

TO MARKET BIG TRACT.

The purchase of 920 acres of land by the realty firm of Swank & Letton from S. E. Vermylea added another to the list of recent notable realty deals made by Los Angeles investors. The tract is situated a short distance east of Redlands, and will be known as the Redlands Heights Tract. The property has for some time been cultivated as a vineyard. A considerable force of men is now at work developing the water supply, and preparing the land for subdivision.

ONLY SIX LOTS DEFT.

The Angeles Mesa Land Company, selling agents for Wilshire Harvard Heights, reports recent sales in that subdivision aggregating $20,550. This leaves the company only six lots out of a total of about 400. The sales in the tract to date, including resales, are given at over $1,000,000. Approximately 200 homes have been built in the tract, these costing from $2500 to over $25,000, with an average at about $4000. Following is a list of sales: Frank E. Hartigan, $7450; H. W. P. Colson, $2400; James A. Rogers, $4500; R. H. Travers, $2200, and W. P. Jeffries, $4000.

WILTON HEIGHTS TRACT.

The McCarthy Company reports sales in its new Wilton Heights tract as follows: Mrs. Alice Leisure, 50x150 feet between Wilton Place and Ridgewood Place, on Temple street; Max Broszey, Redondo, 50x150 feet between Van Ness avenue and Ridgewood Place, on Temple street; Gertrude Coffey, 50x136 feet on Ridgewood Place near Elmwood avenue, and Rife & Frenzell, two lots 50x136 feet each, Ridgewood Place between Temple and Elmwood avenue

Thing Is Pitiful

[Philadelphia Ledger:] Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy is based solely upon desperate personal ambition; his greed for office is so intense that he is willing to foment a revolution in order to attain it. His conduct as a good American, as the leading exponent of the square deal, as a preacher on the texts of manly action, good faith and adherence to truth and honesty, must give his close friends and supporters serious pause. As for the political effect of his candidacy he may give aid to the Democrats, and hamstring his own party; he will certainly destroy his own reputation as a sound American; but he will not receive a nomination at the hands of the Republican party; he will never be President again. He has made simply a division in the Republican ranks, and in all probability he will take Mr. Bryan's place, lately relinquished by the Democratic aspirant, as a "perpetual candidate" and possibly as the leader of a rump, rag-tag and bobtail party. The thing is pitiful.

Work of Taft.

[Springfield (O.) Sun:] The announcement of Roosevelt that he would take the nomination of the Republican party if it were tendered him, and that he would adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference, has stirred the electors of this country as has no other statement from the same source or from any other citizen of our times.

Real Celebration.

RECORD BARBECUE TO MARK OPENING

OWENSMOUTH TO BE LAUNCHED WITH GREAT FEAST.

Newest San Fernando Valley Town Will Have Auspicious Beginning. Roast Beef for Twelve Thousand Visitors—Auto Races Over Half Million Dollar Boulevard.

Next Saturday, in a big jubilee way, the town of Owensmouth, newest of the little cities on the vast Van Nuys-Lankershim lands, is to have its official birth and be definitely put upon the map. An all-day celebration, in which many thousands of persons will participate, will mark the birth of the town.

Owensmouth has been subdivided and will be handled by the Janss Investment Company, acting for the Los Angeles Suburban Homes Company. It lies sheltered by mountains on three sides and will stand as the last outpost in the vast acreage of which it has been a part.

A great barbecue is to be held throughout the day, and Joe Romero, famous Spanish chef, has instructions to prepare for not less than 12,000 persons. His men will start days in advance preparing their pits, dressing the beeves and mixing their rich salads. This is expected to be the largest barbecue ever held in point of the number served.

There are to be thrilling automobile races, in which Teddy Tetsiaff and Caleb Bragg, both champion drivers, will paraticipate. Eugene Hewlett, in a third powerful Fiat car, will also be among the racers. The speed contests will be held along the $500,000 boulevard that runs eighteen miles through the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands.

Beryl Williams, local aviator and head of an aviation school, will make several flights during the day and show the latest dare-devil feats of volplaning as well as the "dip of death." Williams has also contracted to race his airship against Tetsiaff's ninety-horse-power Fiat.

Other sports will be held throughout the day, and bands and banners will be evident everywhere. Souvenirs are also to be distributed that the sightseers and participants shall not forget either the day or the place.

Special plans have already been made by the Pacific Electric to handle the large crowd, and the auto stages of the Janss Investment Company will materially assist. Thousands of motorists are expected to make the trip over Cahuenga Pass and along the great private boulevard.

Only one building will be found on the townsite in advance of the opening, and that is the tract office of the Janss company. Plans have already been made, however, for a bank and several stores, and the architect's design is ready for the first big schoolhouse. Within a few weeks it is expected that the lots sold immediately after the opening will have been dotted with bungalows and country homes.

The central, or main, portion of the town is more than a mile square. It is this area that will likely be first built up, though, in advance, there have been inquiries concerning the outskirt lands.

The all-day free celebration is to be one of the biggest events of its kind. In addition, the visitors will have an opportunity to see the entire Van Nuys-Lankershim tract on their trip, as well as to witness the way that towns are inaugurated in the Southland.

LIKES SOUTHLAND BEST.

Wealthy New York Woman Pays Large Sum for Beautiful Dwelling on Mariposa Avenue.

During the past week the Arthur W. Kinney Company, represented by Messrs. Raymond and Wheelan, concluded negotiations for the Chapman Brothers Company, by which the latter sold for a price approximating $30,000, the fine new fourteen-room residence at No. 432 Mariposa avenue. The property has a frontage of 190 feet.

The house is two and one-half stories in height and of an attractive design, with shingled exterior and Santa Barbara sandstone across the front. The entrance hall is well lighted and finished in selected quarter-sawed white oak. The living-room is finished in especially treated mahogany, with the walls decorated in oil, after a soft brown and old gold color scheme. An elaborate mantel of rich brown rookwood tiles, together with the lighting fixtures, were designed especially for the room.

The dining-room is paneled and has a massive buffet. The woodwork is Peruvian mahogany, finished by hand. Opening from the living-room is the library, from which opens the conservatory.

On the second floor are four sleeping-rooms, each connected with large tiled bath-rooms. Here also are two sleeping porches and a sewing-room. A large billiard-room and the servants' quarters with private bath occupy the third floor.

The purchaser is Mrs. A. A. Housman of New York City, who, after one month's residence here, has fully decided to make Los Angeles her permanent home. She has heretofore spent her winters in Southern France, Italy or Egypt.

Mr. Raymond reports other sales as follows: Ethel T. Kennedy to Ada B. Seeley, 50x145 feet, east side of New Hampshire, between Seventh and Eighth streets, $3100. Chapman Bros. Co. to J. M. BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE.

EL SEGUNDO, March 23.—This hustling industrial city by the sea has evidenced further activity by the organization of a Chamber of Commerce. Already twenty members have signed the membership roll.

The El Segundo Supply Company, a large hardware machinery store, has been opened in the McCray building. This company is putting in $10,000 worth of stock. Every step is being taken to supply the needs of the contractor and builder. M. L. McGuire is the manager and B. O'Malley assistant manager.

The El Segundo Home Builders have started the construction work on a large warehouse located on the new railroad. The structure will be 24x80 feet and will be fully equipped for the rapid handling of freight. The new building for the weekly El Segundo Herald is now ready for plastering.

W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. report considerable sales activity.

NEW GASTRONOMIC TERMS.

A Rare One Met in Michigan by a Traveling Man Who Found Himself Puzzled by the Waitress.

[Philadelphia Record:] "Every section of the country has its own phraseology," said a traveling man at a Broad street hotel yesterday, "but the funniest I ever heard was handed to me by a waitress in the upper peninsula of Michigan. I was at one of those combination boarding-house and general stores, at which I was compelled to stop against my will. When supper was announced the oddest assortment of humanity you could imagine gathered around the only table, in the center of which there was a big pile of large baked potatoes. As the waitress, who was barefooted, by the way, put her thumb in every dish she brought in, I decided to make my meal on potatoes, knowing she could not put her thumb in those. After I had eaten several I paused to study my surroundings, when suddenly the girl thrust her face over my shoulder and exclaimed: 'Do you want your change?' I didn't quite understand what she meant, as I hadn't given her any money. 'I beg your pardon,' I said. 'Are you ready for your change?' she then asked. This wasn't much of an improvement, and I was still mystified. All conversation at the table had ceased and I was the object of all eyes. I looked at the girl helplessly and she regard me pityingly. Suddenly she burst forth again: 'Why, you haven't stacked yet,' she said. I was now completely bewildered, and before I could decide what to say she cast a look of utter scorn upon me and marched out of the room in a huff and banged the door. 'What did she mean?' I asked another traveler by my side. 'Why, you poor simp,' said he, 'she wanted to know if you were ready for your dessert. They call it "change" in this country, and when you are ready for it you are supposed to "stack" or pile your dishes on top of each other.'"

ROCK CAVE FOR A PRISON.

An Arizona County Jail Hollowed Out of a Mountain of Solid Quartz by Use of Explosives.

[Wide World:] When the authorities of Graham county, Arizona, decided to look about for a place in which to confine criminals they found a natural depression in the side of a hill. This was enlarged into what might be called an artificial cave, divided into four compartments.

The cave was excavated parallel to the side of the mountain in which it was made and daylight admitted by holes blown out of the wall with explosives, the windows being guarded by a network of heavy steel bars.

The entrance to the depression was also closed in the same manner, and a vestibule or porch of masonry built out from it to provide quarters for the Sheriff and his assistants. This vestibule is also divided into compartments, which are connected by gates of steel bars.

The only way of entering the prison is through the vestibule of masonry, and in order to escape the inmates would have to cut their way through three sets of bars, which are an inch in thickness, as the windows are so high up above the rock forming the floor of the cells that they could not reach them.

It is necessary, however, to have a very secure place, as the criminals in this part of the country are of a most desperate class, and the inmates frequently include murderers and highwaymen. The mountain which has thus been turned into a prison is composed of solid quartz rock, and the excavation was made principally by the use of explosives. The jail is located in the town of Clifton, the county seat.

WHERE BIRDS NEST.

Swallows Make Their Homes in a Dining-Room and Bedroom of a House Unmindful of People.

[Bailey's Magazine:] A very curious instance of boldness in swallows was recorded in 1856 from Ceylon. In this case the birds built over a lamp in the dining-room. What made their choice of site more remarkable was the fact that the lamp could be raised or lowered by counter weights and the connecting chains actually passed through the mud walls of the nest.

Occasionally the bird selects a nesting site which invites comparison with the boldness of the robin. In July last a pair of swallows took advantage of the open window of an unoccupied bedroom in a house at Felmersham, in Bedfordshire, to begin building their nest on the curtain rod of the bed.

The return of the owner of the house and the occupation of the bed did not in the least disturb or alarm the birds, which completed the nest and brought off their nestlings within seven weeks of the house owner's return. They took no notice of the occupant of the bed when flying in and out of the window feeding their young; but the hen bird would fly off the nest if anyone entered the room during the daytime.

Lighthouse as a Monument.

[Popular Science Magazine:] The first memorial lighthouse to be erected in the United States is in the course of construction on the shore of Lake Champlain, and will commemorate the deeds of the French explorer after whom the lake is named. A lighthouse now stands at Crown Point, New York, and the determination to make it a memorial of the discovery was reached during the course of the tercentenary celebration of the discovery, in 1909. There are several memorial lighthouses in Europe, but none has so far been erected in the United States. The old stone lighthouse at Crown Point was made the basis of the plan which architects were set to work completing. The project provides for the reconstruction of the old light tower in monumental form.

A Scorpion's Fainting Fit.

[Harper's Weekly:] The scorpion that is placed in the center of a ring of coals does not commite suicide by stinging himself to death, as has been claimed. In lands where the scorpion abounds it is a regular pastime among countrymen to ring a scorpion with fire and watch him commit, as is believed, the happy dispatch. Nevertheless, the scorpion has the last laugh and not the spectator.

The scorpion, though an inhabitant of torrid regions, is so delicately organized that a very slight increase above the normal temperature produces a condition in him analogous to a fainting fit. Driven desperate by the heat, he lashes his air wildy giving the impression that he is plunging his sting into his own body. Then he falls motionless.

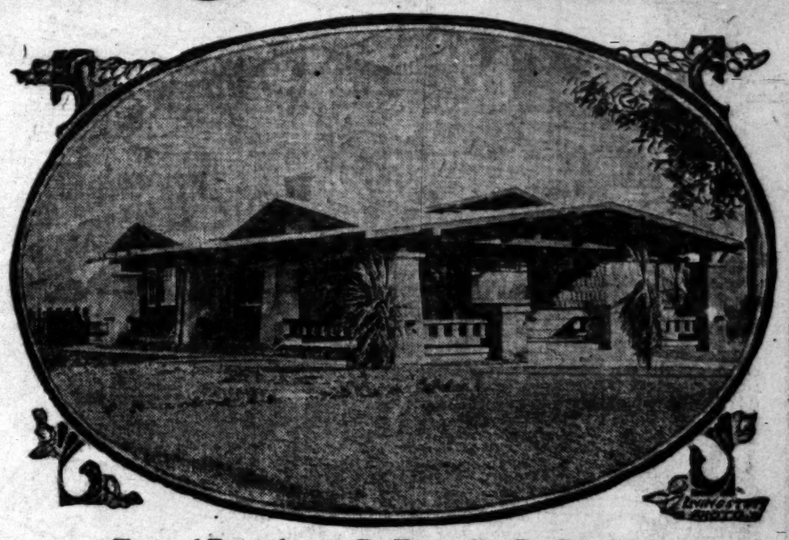
40 Bungalows to Be Erected



Type of Bungalow to Be Erected in Du Ray Place

A contract for forty picturesque, unduplicated and medium-priced bungalows for Du Ray Place, the new residence subdivision at the end of the West Adams street car line, has just been awarded to the Buckler-Rennie-Smith Construction Company by the Carlin G. Smith Company, projectors of the seaward property.

The contractors have agreed to rush these forty bungalows to completion in the quickest time compatible with thorough workmanship. High grade artisans are to be employed, and the contract provides for only the best material obtainable. Of unusual interest is the fact that the bungalow designs will so blend into each other that no discordant note will be evident and the entire tract will have a harmonious setting.

These forty houses comprise the first unit in a big building and improvement scheme. As soon as they are finished another unit will be started, to keep pace with the demand for this property.

Nearly half of the entire Du Ray Place has been sold by the subdividers in less than three weeks. Many of the sales were made in advance of the street work. The selling record has been unequaled.

HAS BEEN YOKED UP WITH THE FREE SUGAR BILL.

Republican Progressives Are Being Driven Back Into Their Own Party by the Democratic Determination for Free Trade—Corporation Tax May Be Increased.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special to New York Journal of Commerce.] Republicans in Congress have been greatly surprised by the action of the Democratic caucus in voting to adopt a bill providing for free sugar, and another establishing an income tax as a means of providing the revenue lost through the removal of the duty on sugar. They assert that the two measures taken together will ultimately prove more injurious to the opposition party than anything they have thus far done. At the same time they are not at all sure that it would be possible to prevent the bills from passing the Senate, if progressive Republicans prove to be willing to support them. They count, however, upon the fact that the two bills are practically a unit; and that, while the progressives are friendly to the income tax in some form, they will not be friendly to the idea of free sugar.

POSITION OF SUGAR MEN.

Democrats have pretty carefully counted the cost before going into this undertaking. It had been originally intended to report a bill reducing the sugar tariff to about a cent and a half per pound of sugar content in all imported sugars, and do away with the Dutch standard and the differential on refining. Then a strong movement arose in favor of free sugar. It proved to be very difficult to hold this bill, as some of the leaders would doubtless have liked to do, and inasmuch as severe criticism had been visited upon them for their action in taking many chemicals from the free list, while they had also retained a duty on wool, it was resolved to make a concession to the radicals who demanded free sugar and at the same time to pass the income tax proposition, especially as the latter had been urged by many Democrats almost continuously since the party came into power in the lower House. The sugar men have been aware of what was threatening and have been almost frantic in their efforts. The beet men have maintained a strong lobby here, while the Louisiana Representatives have worked in a body to prevent the removal of the tariff. It appeared, however, that only a very few Democrats were directly identified with sugar interests. As for the Louisiana men, they are under suspicion on such accounts as being Republican rather than Democratic. They have, however, not been able to influence Democratic votes to any great extent. At least they could not seemed to be with the members of the party who were not disposed to adopt an extremely liberal tariff policy on any line, and were unwilling to be guided by the free trade point of view for purely party reasons. It has been interesting to most that the sentiment in favor of free sugar has been so strong among the Democrats as a party. In spite of all the beet and cane sugar men could do, not over a dozen-five to thirty voted in caucus against free sugar.

REPUBLICAN PROGRESSIVES.

It seems certain that a good many Republican progressives who have been in the habit of voting with the Democrats on various esubjects will now be driven back into their own party. They do not favor free trade by anything. Their tariff reform ideas have hardly gone beyond the point of merely cutting off the excess duties which were obviously nothing more than a basis for graft. Moreover, many of them come from States more or less interested in sugar growing. It now looks as if two or three of them would vote in favor of tariff removal. This will make very little difference to the outcome, as the Democrats are perfectly willing and able to put through their proposition without progressive aid. The situation in the Senate is quite different. In order to do anything there the Republican progressives must be held in line. This is the more necessary because the Louisiana Democratic Senators will vote against reductions in sugar, while several others will do the same. Among these others is reckoned Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas, and there will probably be two or three more Democrats who will join him. This means that unless the progressives vote in a body with the Democrats nothing could be accomplished. It would be necessary to offer concessions, probably making a considerable cut in sugar, but retaining the bulk of the tariff. Then the Senate would have to look around for something to supply the reduction in revenue. Such a bi-party combination might take the income tax, but probably would not. It would therefore be necessary to fall back upon an increase in the corporation tax, or a duty on rubber or something else. But the burden of choice would be definitely shifted to them, and thus the House leaders would get rid of the responsibility otherwise resting upon them in connection with the matter. Doubtless the House would be quite ready to assent to any feasible compromise plan the Senate might propose, since a number of other such plans were seriously considered before the present scheme was determined upon.

REMARKABLE PRESIDENT.

[Topeka State Journal:] The more one carefully and conscientiously analyzes the work of President Taft and his accomplishments, the more one marvels at the actual results.

A careful analysis of this kind must surely impress the unprejudiced citizen with the really wonderful accomplishments of the present national administration.

Those who have an open mind, and are anxious to do justice to the President cannot fail to be influenced by a study of this sort.

In a speech at the Kansas Day Club in Topeka on January 39, before 600 representative Republicans, Charles F. Scott concisely and effectively took a survey of this nature. He pointed to the remarkable success that has been achieved by President Taft in seeing to it that the pledges in the national platform adopted by the last Republican national convention have been fulfilled. Here is a summary of that part of the speech of Mr. Scott, which is well worth rereading and remembering:

A review of the achievements of the administration of William H. Taft will show that it has come more nearly writing into law every pledge contained in the platform upon which it was elected than any preceding administration in the nation's history.

The platform promised tariff revision at a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the President. Tha: pledge was kept. The tariff was revised, as promised, in the interest of all the people. That revision did not close a single American factory or reduce the wages of any American workingmen, and in the first year of its operation it converted a deficit of 40,000,000 into a surplus of 20,000,000. It contained a maximum and minimum provision under which for the first time the United States has been able to obtain entrance for its products into foreign markets upon as favorable terms as the products of any other nation. It provided a corporation tax which has brought $25,000,000 a year into the treasury, besides compelling a degree of corporation publicity which has had a most wholesome effect. It provided a tariff board, which, if permitted to continue will bring the possibility of informed, impartial, scientific tariff revision. The Payne law was a fulfillment in good faith of the platform pledge and it has been a boon, not a bane, to the country.

The platform called attention to the need of a more elastic and adaptable monetary system and promised to work out that problem. The monetary commission has made its report in fulfillment of that pledge.

The platform promised to establish a system of postal savings banks. That promise was promptly fulfilled.

The platform promised an effective enforcement of the Sherman act. The columns of the daily papers for the past two years have borne ample testimony to the faithfulness with which that promise has been kept.

The platform promised certain amendments to the interstate commerce law. That promise was kept by the enactment of the commerce court statute; broadening the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission to such an extent that the government has practically complete control over our great transportation systems—a control which has been exercised so wisely, that while the rights of the people have been carefully safeguarded, the business of the railroads has not been unnecessarily disturbed.

The platform promised to promote and by the enactment of an employers' by proper legislation for their safety and by the enactment of an employees' liability law that should be within the requirements of the Constitution as pointed out by the Supreme Court. The pledge was promptly fulfilled and a law is now imbedded in the statutes doing away with the old rule of contributory negligence. A step beyond the platform promise has been taken through the enactment of beneficent laws touching the use of safety appliances on railroads which look to the protection of their employees from every avoidable accident.

The platform promised a child labor law for the District of Columbia that should serve as a model for the States. Such a law has been passed.

The platform promised the establishment of a mining bureau. That has been done and the life of every miner in the United States is less exposed to danger because of the great work this bureau is doing.

The platform promised to maintain the efficiency of the army and navy. That has been done.

The platform promised to follow up the conservation policy upon which the Roosevelt administration had entered. That has been done by the passage of laws which will make impossible the exploitation or mobilization of the mineral wealth of the public domain.

The platform promised that the best of efforts would be made to extend the foreign commerce of the United States. For the first time our exports last year passed the billion-dollar mark.

The platform promised Statehood to New Mexico and Arizona. Their stars are on the flag.

In a word, with a few exceptions of minor importance every pledge given to the people of the United States by the Republican party in its platform of 1908 has been written into the law.

Nor do these accomplishments of the Taft administration make any reference to those achievements which were outside the platform promises, which are in a peculiar sense the achievements of the President himself—the superb tact and skill with which our diplomacy has met the problems of international intercourse, the introduction of business methods into the departments at Washington, effecting economies reaching in the aggregate many millions of dollars; and the negotiations of treaties with France and Great Britain—the longest step in the direction of world peace that has been taken since the world began.

EGG SKIN FOR CUTICLE.

The Thin Membrane Used in Place of Skin Grafting Said to be a Success.

[Washington Post:] Crushed fingers can be made to grow and wounds to heal without scars by grafting upon the injured members the thin membrane taken from eggs, according to an article by Dr. Russell Bellamy, who reports his discoveries in the current number of the New York Medical Journal. Dr. Bellamy is a graduate of the Medical College of New York University. He was in the city today, but left the Hotel Plaza to go to Washington in connection with his recent discoveries.

He reports cases where the implanting of the cells from the inner skin of an egg upon the mutilated fingers actually caused those members to grow and to develop healthy tissue. His article is illustrated with photographs of negro patients, who, after sustaining injuries to their digits, started new growths under the stimulus of the egg grafting, and now they have fingers of which the upper halves are white.

"By the associating of living cells," writes Dr. Bellamy, "and even with apparently dead cells, I have been able to revitalize structures and to create new tissues, osseous excepted, up to the time of my first work.

"In order to fructify lifeless, or do renew lost tissues, the utilization of a little understood animal substance proved ideal. It now places itself as a positive factor, and allows one to do creative surgery. After satisfying myself that I had found the necessary cell, I can state emphatically that these cells are the realization of the ideal, and henceforth make creative surgery possible."

The surgeon declares that his work is absolutely conclusive, and that in no case is it possible to classify the new growths as scar tissue.

Oriental Barbaric Dimension.

[Rochester Union Advertiser:] That son of the Gaekwar of Baroda, who has been studying at Harvard, is evidently not one of the sporting crowd, for he has earned his degree six months ahead of his classmates. Perhaps, if some of our college youths had more of the sort of barbarian spirit that has enabled him to do this than of the kind of barbarian spirit that seems to possess them there would be less ground for the foes of the college education to stand on.

Three Experts Make Appraisement of Los Angeles Investment Company Property—Submit Startling Figures

A Profit of $3,426,604.08 Not Charged

Three of the most prominent members of the Los Angeles Realty Board have appraised this company's real estate holdings at $3,426,604.08 more than they are carried on the company's books.

This makes a profit for Los Angeles Investment Company stockholders of $3,426,604.08 which has not been charged up. It represents the increase in value since the property was purchased—a profit in which every single small investor can share.

The appraisement was made by Robert Marsh, W. W. Mines and C. F. W. Palmer, all members of the Los Angeles Realty Board and recognized as experts on realty values. They are competitors of the Los Angeles Investment Company and would be inclined to place a low value instead of a high one on the company's property.

Robert Marsh is the head of Robert Marsh & Company, and W. W. Mines of Mines & Farish, two of the largest and most prominent realty firms on the Coast. The C. F. W. Palmer Company of which C. F. W. Palmer is head, has bought and sold more subdivision property than any other firm in the city.

Stock Worth $11.00

The appraisement just made shows the actual book value of Los Angeles Investment Company stock to be $4.06 a share as the other items of the Company's resources are mainly balances on property sold.

First National Bank stock is selling at $700 a share. Its book value is $254. The difference between these figures or $446, is what is generally termed the "good will" or business of the firm. In other words, 63 per cent of the market value of First National Bank stock is "good will."

Figuring the Los Angeles Investment Company "good will" worth the same as that of the First National Bank, makes Los Angeles Investment Company stock worth over $11.00 a share. The investment value of Los Angeles Investment Company stock, according to the above, is at least $11.00 a share. Its selling price is now $3.85, but it is the intention of the Board of Directors to advance the price of the stock steadily, until it reaches its actual value.

First National Bank stock, with the splendid reputation and business of the institution, is well worth what it is selling for. So is Los Angeles Investment Company stock well worth $11.00 a share, using First National Bank stock as a criterion.

Bank Holds "Money Back" Fund

The Globe Savings Bank of Los Angeles has over $100,000.00 ready to buy Los Angeles Investment Company stock from those who wish to sell. This is the Guarantee Fund. It has invariably returned on demand, to every stockholder in the Los Angeles Investment Company, his money in full. To date this fund has purchased over 300,000 shares, buying all stock offered to it. During the panic of 1907, the Guarantee Fund paid cash for every share of Los Angeles Investment Company stock handed it for sale. The money is ready—$100,000.00. If you want your money back take your stock certificate to the Globe Savings Bank.

No investor in the Los Angeles Investment Company or in any of its securities has ever failed to have his investment returned to him in full on demand. This is a record of 16 years.

Stock Advances—March 30---Saturday Night

Small investors have never faced a bigger opportunity. One Hundred Dollars invested in this Company's stock when the company was organized in Los Angeles sixteen years ago, with dividends reinvested, is now worth $18,695.97. Ten Dollars a month invested under the same plan, is now worth $44,771.65, while the small sum of ten cents a day, with dividends reinvested, is now worth $13,431.49.

With the continued growth of this marvelous southwest city, with the ever increasing population, and rising land values, an investment of $100 in Los Angeles Investment Company stock is today as good an investment as it was 16 years ago.

Saturday, March 30th, marks another advance in the price of Los Angeles Investment Company stock.

NATURE STORIES.

[London Nation:] Cuba ends to the south in a huge hammer of mountains 8000 feet high and steeping sheer into the sea. The wall does not end there, but continues its precipitous descent into the 700-mile long abyss called Bartlett's Deep. This gigantic submarine valley is nearly four miles deep and eighty miles wide.

At a mile and a half, the pressure of the water is nearly two tons to the square inch; the ooze that comes up from such a depth, though the equator runs overhead, is cold as hoar frost; it is ten times certain that no vegetation can grow there.

As, in our world, none but the vegetables are able to make food, it ought to follow that in the depths of the sea there should be no animal life. As a matter of fact, these glooms are inhabited by the most grotesque and chimerical of all fishes. It would seem as though in the darkness life had taken every imaginable license to be ugly and bizarre. Cannibalism is evidently the only method of life, and its equipment runs to every kind of extravagance.

There are fish with teeth so long that they cannot close their mouths, fish that draw their stomachs over prey larger than themselves, fish with no more mouth than a leech, and getting their living as leeches; fish with huge, myopic eyes, and fish frankly blind. Probably none of them comes from depths quite beyond the region of light, though a great many of them go poking about their ghoulish business furnished with lanterns of the glow-worm type.

[Harper's Weekly:] Many creatures are noctambulists. Some have eyes specially adapted to the conditions of the night, among them cats, night birds and night butterflies. In the eyes of night animals the ends of the optic nerve are divided into about 130,000,000 cylindrical fibers and 60,000 conical fibers.

According to Von Kries, the conical fibers perceive bright colors and the cylindrical fibers perceive dark colors. Many animals see clearly in the dark because in their eyes cylindrical and conical fibers are uniformly intermingled.

The horse follows the road, however dark the night; the owl sees dark things better than he sees light things; therefore, it is probable that the cylindrical fibers of his optic nerves are either more numerous or more powerful than conical fibers.

[London Strand:] "When photographing the snail," says Prof. Ward, "I was surprised at the fact that even the rough cut edge of a sheet of glass presented no difficulties to its locomotion; its even pace was continued in spite of the fact that the sharp corner appeared to be penetrating its body. There, too, we have exhibited the animal's delicate sense of touch, and this led me to make a further experiment.

"After I had placed the snail on the butt of a razor's blade it slowly moved along the back of the blade and then climbed completely over the sharp edge, the razor being inexcellent condition. As the successive waves brought the forepart of its foot near the edge of the blade its head was held low down, and the lower and shorter pair of feelers nearly touched the blade, as if feeling the way.

"At the moment when the sharp edge was reached the small feelers were fully extended toward it, and just as the very instant when I expected to see them cut off they were both instantly retracted. They were little more than a hair breadth away, and though the lower feelers possessed no eyes, yet by their sudden movement I was quite convinced that the snail at that instant recognized danger.

"Still the foot traveled on, and slowly the snail dragged its whole weight of exactly one and a half ounces, over the edge, later moving toward the butt and remaining perfectly unharmed. The species experimented with was the Roman or edible kind, which accounts for its comparatively large weight, it being the largest of British snails."

[Denver Republican:] That swans possess some power of reasoning seems to be proved by the following story, which is told by H. G. Hutchinson:

He says: "On a certain pond a pair of these birds had for two successive years, hatched out a pair of cygnets, only to find the young, fluffy things devoured long before they came to the properly feathered age of one or other of the large pike which lived in the pond. This last spring the swans made their nest in the usual place, hatched out their cygnets as before, but as soon as the cygnets were hatched, disappeared from the pond altogether, parents, babies and all.

"There is another pond, or lake, at a distance of a mile, and a half or so from the first, and on this lake the swans were found to be with their young ones. The puzzle was to know how they had got there. Their wings were so pinioned that they could not fly, and there were some very stiff and close fences between the one pond and the other.

"Subsequently a countryman said that he had seen one of them walking over the fields that lie between the ponds. He had noticed nothing more than the old swan walking, but there is little doubt that had he been nearer or looked closer he would have seen that it was carrying a cygnet, or the pair of them, on its back. Almost certainly the birds had walked and carried their young with them from the one pond to the other.

"How they got through the fences is still unexplained, nor is it understood how they knew the second pond to be there, since it does not seem that they had ever visited it before. But their wisdom and enterprise, which were so highly commendable, were justified by the results.

"They reared their cygnets successfully in this other pond wherein there were no pike, a fact which we might almost fancy the swans, with their supernatural cleverness, had ascertained before they made their difficult transit."

[New York Tribune:] There is only one animal in the Central Park menagerie which the horde of rats that infest it are afraid to tackle, and that is Jim, a dog recently presented to "Bill" Snyder, the head keeper, by an official of the Bide-a-Wee Home. In the last week Jim has killed fully forty rats that have for a long time caused terror to the elephants, Hattie and Jewel, and Smiles, the rhino, which are in one house. Jim is a fox terrier, and when he was presented to the menagerie Snyder was informed that the dog was a well-bred one. The keeper and his assistants have no doubt about it now.

Jim is following the occupation which another Jim carried on two or three years before him. The first Jim was recently killed by an automobile. Snyder soon had the new Jim on friendly terms with the elephants and the rhino. Now Jim sleeps in the house with the big animals every night. He snaps at the legs of the huge animals in play, but they wouldn't hurt Jim for anything.

When the door of the house was opened yesterday morning four dead rats were found near where Jim was asleep. The dog was tired out from his battles.

SENATOR DIXON'S FOLLY.

Waste of Energy to Attack the President for Using Officeholders for Political Agents.

[New York Tribune:] The folly of Senator Dixon and Medill McCormick in putting out in behalf of Col. Roosevelt reports so fantastic as to make themselves and their cause ridiculous is genuinely deplored, even by advocates of Mr. Roosevelt's renomination. Yesterday, for instance, a report that the administration's use of patronage to "coerce the delegates from the Southern States into supporting President Taft," was assuming the proportions of a scandal and that the Senate was likely to deny confirmation to all nominees for office in the South until after the national convention was industriously circulated. The friends of President Taft declare that this report is without foundation, and the President himself should be wasted when it could well be employed to so much better advantage in inducing Congress to act favorably on the recommendation in his message of December 21 deplores the fact that so much that Congress place all these minor offices in the classified service. President Taft is the first President who has had the courage to urge upon Congress a step which would deprive the Chief Executive of such a large amount of patronage, and he has done so more than once. President Taft has further suggested that those newspapers which appear to take pleasure in devoting much space to deploring the use of patronage could with marked advantage turn their attention to impressing on Congress the necessity for the legislation he urges and to educating public sentiment to a point where it would compel its representatives in the national Legislature to act. In the opinion of Mr. Taft, such legislation would not only remove all possible suspicion regarding the selection of delegates from the Southern States, but it would make for marked economy in the public service and would save the Chief Executive from an exacting demand on his time which is wholly disproportionate to its importance.

Deadly Poisoned Arrows.

[New York Press:] Women are certainly coming to the front, and old Capt. Cook's stories seem almost outdone by the tales told in the voyages of Mrs. Coombe, who has been making scientific observation of the natives in the islands east of Australia and north of New Zealand. In the New Hebrides Mrs. Coombe found comely savages with not a stitch on except a small string of animal skin encircling the neck and strung with human teeth, thus serving as an ornamental necklace. This traveler tells of the custom of the dead man's relatives who avenge his death surely and cruelly as did Old Corsicans and do New Kentuckians. When the death of any native of importance takes place it is nearly always by violence, or because of "a spell being cast upon the victim," and in case the one dying is a man, and no other reason can be figured out, the blame is put upon his widow. Many sections of the islands are inhabited only by cannibals and a state of war or feud between the different villages is always kept up. The deadly weapon is the arrow, poisoned by letting it stick and soak in a dead man for a week or two.

Necessity for Face Powder.

[New York Herald:] Alderman John F. Donohue of Wilkesbarre, Pa., has decided that George Schreider of that city was not justified in leaving his wife because she uses face powder, and, as Mr. Schreider asserts, "paints herself like an Indian." The alderman, after a night's reflection, reached the conclusion that cosmetics are necessary for the happiness and the good looks of women, and make them a comfort to their husbands. He has ordered Mr. Schreider to return to his wife, support her as he should and pay the costs of the prosecution. In expressing his decision regarding facial adornments, Alderman Donohue said:

"The art of facial decoration is one of the most necessary for the preservation of the beauty of the female sex, and if I have anything to do with it it shall not become a lost art. It is the one thing that keeps a woman everlastingly young and a comfort to her husband, who grows old too quickly through the business pressure of today. The rouge, the chamois and the powder puffs are absolutely necessary essentials to the happiness of every woman, and your wife is not an exception."

Up to the Teacher.

[Miami News:] This was the note which was handed to one of the grade teachers the other day: "Dear Mum—Please ixcuse Johnny today. He will not be at school. He is acting as time-keeper for his father. Last night you gave him this iximple, if a field is four miles square how long will it take a man walking three miles an hour to walk two and one-half times around it? Johnny ain't no man, so we had to send his daddy They left early this morning, and my husband said they ought to be back tonight, though it would be hard going. Dear Mum, please make the nixt problem about ladies, as my husband can't afford to lose the day's work. I don't have no time to loaf, but I can spare a day off occasionally better than my husband can. Resp'y yrs. Mrs. Janes."

Teaching the Servant.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] Andrew Carnegie, at a recent dinner in New York, said of a certain labor trouble:

"It is silly of employers to pretend, in these troubles, that they are always in the right. Employers are often in the wrong; often unreasonable. They often—like Mrs. Smith-Jones—ask impossible things.

"Mrs. Smith-Jones, taking a villa at Palm Beach, engaged for butler a stately old colored deacon.

"'Now Clay,' she said to the old fellow, 'there are two things I must insist upon—truthfulness and obedience.'

"'Yes, madam,' the venerable servant answered, 'and when yo' bids me tell you guests yo's out when yo's in, which shall it be, madam?'"

BRITAIN'S FEARFUL CALAMITY.

[Editorial.]

ON March 15 nearly two million (1,960,000) workpeople in England, Scotland and Wales were idle because of the great coal strike. Here is the line-up:

Miners	849,800
Other mine workers	209,940
Railway men	120,000
Textile trades	103,800
Steel and iron trades	236,500
Tin plate workers	39,500
Potteries	61,000
Glass workers	3,700
Stone and iron quarries	56,000
Cotton operatives	50,000
Builders and bricklayers	29,700
Engineering	17,500
Seamen	29,700
Jute workers	25,000
Dockers and longshoremen	120,000
Other skilled workers	30,000
Laborers	27,700

The figures (and they are increasing) give one some idea of the fearful calamity which rampant socialism, masquerading as trades-unionism, has brought upon England, Scotland and Wales.

In the pottery district (made famous to us by Arnold Bennett's novels of the "Five Towns,") the suffering is more intense than anywhere else. Absolutely no business and people starving. A number of the smaller potteries are ruined and cannot possibly resume operations when the strike ends.

Industries all over are unable to get supplies of raw material because the reduced railway service is only able to carry food and perishable articles. Strike relief payments (to unionists only) amounted to $1,450,000 in the week ended March 16. Some of the coal mines will never reopen. The closing of the Great Western Railway construction shops at Swindon has thrown 10,000 men out of work. Factory after factory is giving its workmen notice to leave. In Sheffield alone 25,000 factory workers have been discharged. Thousands of trains have been laid off and their crews thrown out of work. Iron works, transportation, glass works and railway shops have been among the first to suffer, and they are suffering severely. The prices of coal, bread and other necessities have seriously increased. Two million men out means a wages loss of $3,000,000 a day, at an average wage of $1.50 per day. Soldiers have been set to felling trees for use as fuel instead of coal. Twelve thousand operatives had to become idle when the Paisley thread works shut down for want of fuel on March 15.

The London correspondent of the New York Sun cables: "The present magnitude of the tie-up is almost inconceivable. The strike has affected in a direct way, counting only the miners and the other men thrown out of work, with their families, more than 4,000,000 people. In other respects it has paralyzed practically the whole life of the nation. Prices of food have gone up, fuel is virtually unobtainable, railroads have curtailed their services, shipping has been held up and every branch of industry stopped to some extent.

"Even the wealthiest trade unions are now beginning to feel the pinch caused by the great demands on their resources by the huge army of the idle."

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES ON AND OFF AND STRIKES COMING.

STRIKING is now more than a disease, it has become a fever. At Bayonne, N. J., a few days ago 300 to 400 girls of a silk factory struck for no cause at all. They had not made any complaints nor asked for higher wages. At noon after the strike they and sympathizers, about 1000 in all, attacked the non-striking girls as they left the building. The police had to take the attacked girls to their homes in patrol wagons. A 16-year-old girl began the strike by shutting off the motive power from the looms.

Another tool strike (part of the fever,) has just occurred at Bristol, R. I., where the pupils of one school refused to remain unless a certain principal teacher was re-elected at the town election. They worked at the polls for him. He had been dismissed for too much activity in politics, in the school and out of it.

Two hundred thousand German miners are on strike and much fighting is going on. Authority is resisted and some deaths have resulted. Many arrests. The police are being fired upon. Mills are closing down for want of coal. The demand is for 15 per cent. wages increase which the mine owners refuse to grant. Women push and pull coal wagons in the German mines. The Socialist Miners' Union seems unable to keep order in spite of urgent appeals. The unions remaining at work are being protected by the police.

Days' work and wages lost by principal British coal strikes in the past fifty years:

Year—	Number of Strikers.	Days' Wages Lost.
1864	57,000	4,597,000
1871-2	30,000	2,700,000
1873	99,000	10,000,000
1875	70,000	7,980,000
1887	91,000	2,029,000
1888	70,000	2,875,000
1890-91	60,000	2,650,000
1891-92	165,000	5,026,000
1892	300,000	22,537,000
1894	70,000	6,364,000
1898	100,000	15,000,000
1910-11	130,000	8,900,000
Total days' work and wages lost.....		85,227,000
Money wages loss, at, say, $1.50 per day, $127,921,000.

Notwithstanding this fearful record of wages money loss the conditions of and surrounding the present coal strike in Great Britain are getting worse every day. Over 750,000 non-union miners are now forced to be idle. Authorities are seizing fuel to give it to families who are too poor to buy it. The miners' union funds ($12,500,000,) are invested in securities which, though good, the banks refuse to lend money upon to finance the strike. Industries are closing down daily. Some of the big daily papers have had to cut down the size of their editions. From every city come reports of great suffering among the poor. Food supplies are running short and prices have advanced. Riots are occurring at the Lancashire pits. Strikers and police wounded. A plan for the English miners to go back to work and the Welsh and Scotch miners stay out on strike is gaining favor, cables the New York Sun correspondent. In the first two weeks of the strike the railways lost $2,111,770 in fares and freights. Other trade unions are suffering financially because so many of their numbers are forced out of work for want of coal and have to be relieved. The navy is rigidly economizing its use of fuel. Many communities are daily feeding hundreds of people in other trades who are forced out of work. Special prayers are being offered in the churches of England and Wales for the settlement of the strike. In many cities the street gas lights are turned off at 10 o'clock to save the gas coal. King George is holding his undated prospective engagements in abeyance, as rejoicings are not the "order of the day" just now. The British Cabinet is making frantic efforts to bring the miners and the owners to a compromise, but the miners' persistent demand for the same minimum wage for good work, or for poor work (an unjustifiable demand,) stands in the way. Food supplies are being looted. Mass meetings of strike sympathizers in London are prohibited. The muncipal street car service is cut down. Fewer trains are causing delayed mails. Families, many of them, are starving in the Mold mining district. London's music halls (the workers' theaters,) are closing for want of attendance. Immense quantities of American coal are going to European ports for use in place of English coal. Nearly two million men are now out of work. The strikers' union relief allowance is being cut down from $2.50 per week to $1.25 per week. Cardiff, Wales, has 700 starving families. The Northumberland Union has disbursed half of its funds. Up to March 11 (ten days,) the loss of wages was $1,500,000. Even the Parliament has had to cut down its use of coal for heating, gas lighting, and electricity generation. Thousands of trains have been taken off by the various steam railroads. The sailings of Atlantic liners are being cancelled. In North Wales the price of coal has increased by from 75 to 100 per cent., closing practically every factory and quarry in that part of the country. In other parts conditions are almost as bad. Paper mills are being shut down. Work is being stopped almost everywhere and hundred of thousands of "innocent" workers, male and female, are "laid off." As a consequence prostitution in the cities is increasing, as the women and girls must live. In spite of all this British union labor is still supporting 10,000 labor agitators at a cost for salaries and expenses of $3,000,000 a year.

The Lawrence (Mass.) strike cost $1,500,000 loss of business to the manufacturers; $1,500,000 loss of wages to the strikers, and $300,000 to the State and city for militiamen and additional police. Did it pay?

Up to March 15 the loss to the British nation by the fifteen days of the coal strike was $75,000,000. Yet Tom Mann (England's Gompers,) threatens to "tie up all England." Mann is a Socialist. He counts on a strike of the 250,000 of the Transport Workers' Union, he writes Haywood. To show their strength all the coal miners of France went on strike for twenty-four hours on March 11.

Haywood and his associates are charged in the court at Boston with applying the "strike money" to their private and personal benefit. Contributors bring the suit, aided by Atty.-Gen. Swift. This is the "McNamaras' defense fund" on a smaller scale.

Good Wages Get Good Service.

[Pacific Coast Mechanic:] The man who pays good wages for good service gets it, and the man who gives good service can always get the good wages. If the laboring man could be shown that his first duty lies to his employer, he would reap the natural result and so be able to provide for himself and his family in a very much better way than if he yields blind loyalty to some organization which not only compels him to pay dues but taxes him every little while, for so-called defense funds which somehow have a peculiar fashion of disappearing into thin air—although it would probably be no very difficult task to trace where much of these funds go. You might sum up this idea by quoting the saying that "he serves himself best who serves his master best," not that we advocate for a moment that any laboring man should ever be compelled or even willing to acknowledge any man or set of men as his master.

The Open Shop Meaning.

[Pacific Coast Mechanic:] Shut up a room for a time and what is the result—the air within becomes musty and unwholesome—shut up a mind or heart and the same result follows, the ideas and thoughts become stale and narrow and selfish, the impulses grow unhealthy and stagnant—Open Up—is the method.

To come right down to the question, "open shop" means nothing less than just this open method for all times and occasions. The "open shop" is but another name for the Golden Rule and wherever the Golden Rule is applied there exists happiness, health and hope.

REPORTS ON WAGES AND CONDITIONS.

Timely Bulletins from All Parts of the World.

In spite of the fact that during 1911 our railroads were compelled by reason of decreased net earnings to practice rigid economy, yet the further fact remains that many millions of dollars more were paid out for wages than in prior years, and to fewer employees. The 1911 (June 30) report of the Interstate Commerce Commission proves this by the following figures, on railways of over 500 miles long:

Paid out for wages	$1,303,277,249
Increase over 1910 rates of wages	41,368,922
Increase over 1906 rates of wages	68,297,679
Employees, 1911, less than those in 1910 by	31,827
Wages paid in 1911 exceeded wages paid in 1910 by	$40,974,216

This last wages increase was greater than the increase in gross earnings by $22,595,121. The net revenues of the railways, which are what is left after paying operating expenses, decreased $40,988,539 during the year ended June 30, 1911, though the workers for the railways got almost $50,000,000 more in wages. As between the railway owners and the railway workers, the latter had $98,000,000 the best of it in the year named. These figures are summarized from bulletin 28 of the Bureau of Railway Economics, which is based on official reports made by the railroads to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The railroads, restrained in 1911 from increasing rates, were nevertheless compelled to pay out $50,000,000 more wages to 31,027 less workers, showing that wages rates generally were heavily increased. In view of this were not the railway strikes of 1911 inexcusable?

Wages Here and Abroad.

Wages in England, France and Germany are decidedly lower than they are here. Nobody denies this. Ask any foreigner about it if you are in doubt. In Austria and Italy, factory operatives are paid from 20 to 40 cents a day. In Japan, where there are factories in which American products are generally imitated, wages, even to male workers in some cases, do not average as high as 10 cents a day. Think of that in November next, when you are asked to vote to destroy the American high-wages scale.

Principal Pay Rolls by Trades.

	Wage earners.	Yearly pay roll.
Foundries and machine shops	418,465	$253,521,000
Lumber and timber	784,560	218,720,000
Printing and publishing	338,402	201,628,000
Steel works and rolling mills	280,767	185,201,000
Cotton goods	287,771	139,850,000
Clothing, men's	271,427	134,527,000
Boots and shoes	215,932	98,963,000
Clothing, women's	173,601	78,589,000
Woolens	175,170	75,427,000
Slaughtering and packing	104,710	71,646,000

Why disturb such pay rolls as these, and the many others which might be enumerated, by strikes, boycotts or forced lockouts? Even if, because of busy times or other emergencies, an increase of wages is forced, the increase will not outlive the inevitable, occasional dull periods (law of supply and demand,) with the natural result that "the last state shall be worse than the first."

State Railway Wages in France.

Crossing tenders (wives of section men,) per year	$24.60
All male employees, minimum, per day	.97

During 1910 the wages of nearly 10,000 employees were advanced in one way or another. Judging by the above present rates the advance was needed, even though there is a pension at the end of service.

Factory Pay Rolls by States.

And these, based on the high rates referred to are the State yearly factory pay rolls, and factory workers, which you will then be asked to vote to injure (principal industries only:)

Salaried men in U. S.	790,267	998,575,000
Total factory earners in U. S.	7,405,313	4,388,601,000

The American factory pay roll cannot be protected by class or sectional voting in November next. It must not be held up in one State at the expense of another State. It is our vital issue, fellow wage or salary-earning voters. In this case it is "each for all and all for each." We are getting good wages and want to continue getting good wages. It will be our own fault if we reduce their rate or volume by strikes, other labor disputes, or by reckless voting.

Wages Increase in Textiles Industry.

For the twelve months, from April 1, next, the pay rolls in the New England textile mills will be increased by $10,000,000, and will stand at:

Cotton goods	$120,000,000
Woolen goods	92,000,000
Total	$222,000,000

Increased Cost of Living.

Using 100 as the unit figure of cost of living in 1890, investigation shows that between that year and 1910, the advanced cost of living has been more severely felt in Tokio, Japan, than in other cities of the world. For example:

	1890	1910
Tokio	100	158
New York	100	125
Hamburg	100	115
Paris	100	114
London	100	110

Make Bombs While Flying.

[Popular Mechanics Magazine:] The airmen of the Italian military aeroplanes, which have been dropping bombs into the ranks of the Turks, do not start flight with the bombs loaded, lest the machines should come to earth heavily and thus cause disaster. Instead, the officer whose duty it is to drop bombs while his companion operates the aeroplane fills each bomb as he requires it, holding the bomb case or shell between his knees and the screw-cap between his teeth, pouring the ingredients in as best he can. The bombs used are about the size of an orange.

Time to Act.

MUST PREVENT GREAT STRIKES.

NO RIGHT TO IMPERIL THE INTERESTS OF A NATION.

The British Coal Miners' Strike Shows the Weakness of Present Laws to Restrain Organizations of Men from Throwing the System of Production Out of Action.

[New York Journal of Commerce:] The purpose of law and authority for the enforcement of law is the protection of the interests of society as a whole, and of the rights of its members against injury by each other or by combinations among them. When law fails to accomplish this, it is defective for the purpose for which it is instituted and is in need of amendment. Unless it can be so amended and enforced as to accomplish its object, government is on the way to anarchy, where the interests of society will be without protection and the rights of men in their persons and property without defense. The coal strike in Great Britain is raising the question whether there is any defense against the immense wrong that may be done by organizations of men in the employments and occupations upon which the very life of the community depends, stopping all work and throwing the system of production, distribution and exchange out of action, to the injury and suffering of multitudes of men, women and children who are entitled to the protection of government, the only excuse for which is that the workmen, whether rightly or wrongly are dissatisfied with the terms of their labor. Can no way be devised for bringing the differences and disputes between employers and employed under examination and enforcing a settlement on grounds of justice, without leaving them to fight it out with strikes and lockouts to the damage of the collective interests of a whole nation and the disturbance even of international relations?

Nobody denies that men are individually at liberty to work or refuse to work for one employer or another, controlled only by their own needs and desires, unless they bring themselves upon the community for support, when if able-bodied, they may be compelled to work for their subsistence. They may agree together not to work for a particular employer except upon terms satisfactory to themselves, provided they leave the employer free to employ others and others free to work for him on terms mutually satisfactory. They have a right to organize their labor force and use it to back their demands for better terms and to strike work if their demands are not complied with, so long as the injury is done only to themselves and the employer with whom they are in disagreement. So long as strikes are limited in their effect to those directly concerned, they may properly enough be left to voluntary efforts for their settlement, but when they extend so far as to inflict serious injury upon others and to menace the rights and interests of whole communities or an entire people, there surely should be some authoritative means of putting an end to them and compelling a resumption of work. Crisis at Hand.

WINE INDUSTRY IS THREATENED.

Shipment Into "Dry" States Prohibited by Bill.

Grape Growers to Meet With Senate Committee.

Unjust Measures Attacked by Expert Vineyardists.

With California producing annually 45,000,000 gallons of wine, valued at $35,000,000 the proposal of the Kenyon bill which aims directly to stop the shipment of California wines through and into the "dry States" of the Union is looked upon by the California wine producers as the greatest crisis in the history of the industry.

The judiciary committee of the Senate has granted the grape growers of California a hearing for this month at which the delegates from every section of the State are to plead their cause and attack the drastic measures of the Kenyon Bill as proposed.

M. Sharbaro, secretary of the Italian-Swiss colony will represent the largest wine interests in Northern California, and Secundo Guasti, president of the Italian Vineyard Company, will make a strong appeal for Southern California. Besides these there will be many other prominent California grape growers and wine producers present in Washington to add weight to the delegation.

M. Barlotti, secretary of the Italian Vineyard Company, which has headquarters in Los Angeles and controls the largest single vineyard in the world, expressed himself conservatively but firmly on the Kenyon Bill.

"The greatest injustice of this bill," said M. Barlotti, "is that it reads to forbid not only the shipment of wines into a dry State but through it, which, if made a law, would deal such an effecive and sweeping blow at the wine industry of California that it would never recover. When you know that California produces nine-tenths of the wine produced in the United States and that the greatest part of this production is shipped out of California and East over routes through the so-called dry States, you understand the grave situation the industry is facing.

ORIGIN OF MEASURE.

"The Kenyon Bill originated, no doubt, as a result of the broadcast distribution of whisky in small packages by mail and express throughout the States. Now, the great mistake made by the temperance people is in considering wine as in a class with whisky. Whisky is a concentrated stimulant having a high percentage of alcohol, whereas wine contains but a very low percentage of alcohol and is used in the majority of cases for table use.

"It would be folly to deny any State or community the right of rejecting or receiving liquor according as conditions suggested, but that it should dictate a measure making impossible the shipment of liquor through such territory is plainly unjust to the people at large. Let those municipalities, towns, villages and communities which are in the popular phrase "dry," institute, if they desire, a law forbidding or qualifying the receipt of liquor in the said community. This law does exist in a number of places and is known as the 'local option.'

"I think, moreover, there is a general ignorance as to the consumption of wine in this country. There are hundreds of thousands of foreigners or people of foreign descent in the United States who use wine as it is used in Europe, as a food. To such people wine represents one of the necessities of life, not an intoxicant. To deprive them of wine is worse than to dprive most people of coffee.

COMMERCIAL VALUE.

"Now, as to the commercial phase of the situation in which the wine industry stands at present: Wine making is one of the oldest, perhaps the oldest, of our California industries; hence, with the early start it received, it has forged along strongly through the years and has now reached a very high mark in its progress.

"Much of our prosperity in this State is directly or indirectly dependent upon the wine industry. The sum of $150,000,000 is invested in the industry today, besides the consideration of money exchanged in its shipment. California is to a great extent the land of the vineyard, the natural home of the vine. There are more than 200,000 acres of vines now in bearing, and many thousands of acres of grape land await planting. To destroy the demand for wine is to destroy the great wine industry of California, built up out of the natural adaptability of the soil to the vine and to lay waste stretches of hill and valley now in flourishing condition.

"California ranks well with the great wine producing countries of the world. Of course, France and Italy, with their billion-gallon outputs, stand unrivalled, but not far down the list is California, in a class with Chili, which, like California, produces about 45,000,000 gallons each year. California has been able to not only supply in great part the demand for wine in the United States, but has entered of late years into the business of exportation.

HAS SUPERIOR QUALITY.

"In the year of 1854 vineyards were planted in California on a real commercial scale; in 1880 the production reached 5,000,000 gallons, in 1890, 25,000,000 gallons, in 1900, 30,000,000 gallons, and in 1911, 45,000,000 gallons.

"The grape grows everywhere in California, from the hillsides that border the sea, to the deep fertile valleys in the interior. The California table grape possesses a superior size, beauty and shipping quality, the California raisin is the most delicious raised in the world, and the California wine grape cannot be surpassed for its flavor and aromatic qualities.

"California produces and markets over ten times as much wine as is imported into the United States. But if the consumption of wine would increase and wine take the place of beer, the production in California could be increased considerably.

"If the per capita consumption of wine in the United States were the same as in France, there would be a domestic market for more than two thousand million gallons of wine, and then every rolling hill and fertile valley would be covered with vines. In France, which has a population of little more than one-half that of the United States, there are 4,250,000 acres of bearing vines. In California there are 200,000 acres, but this is capable of great extension should the increased demand for wine encourage further investment and development."

MUST PREVENT STRIKES.

or groups of men cannot be forced to work against their will, but organizations of men can be prevented by such penalties as may be adequate, from stopping the whole working force of a particular industry and deranging other industries and the trade dependent upon them.

When the entire force of men employed upon railroads in England and engaged in handling traffic at terminals and seaports were on strike last year, the injury was not confined to transportation interests. It interfered with the activities of many industries, distributed a vast volume of trade, caused inconvenience, discomfort, loss and suffering to thousands not concerned with the employments directly involved. Whatever the wrongs of the strikers, the rights of others were outraged by their action, and those others had no defense. The coal strike is still more destructive. By concerted action, directed by the leaders of an organization under which unions in different districts are affiliated together, a million miners leave work at once and go almost gaily on a holiday, regardless of consequences to anybody but themselves and their employers. Those who do not wish to be idle are coerced or intimidated by others and the whole force abandon their work, bringing widespread injury and loss upon a whole population and imperiling the interests of a nation. The mass of them may not fully realize the wrong that is inflicted upon others and upon the State, but the leaders and officers of their organized bodies do realize it and deliberately use the vast power of the organization as a scourge for the whole people and their government, to force compliance with their demands without any means of testing their merits and passing judgment upon them.

Here there is certainly a failure of law and government to accomplish one of the primary objects for which they are instituted among men, the defense of individual rights and of the common interests against irresponsible power and wanton violence, individual or collective. This kind of outrage ought to be treated either as revolt against government authority or conspiracy against the common defense and general welfare, and if there is no means provided for so dealing with it, such means ought to be provided by changes in the law. It does not require the indictment of a whole people or the prosecution of great masses of men. Those really responsible are few in number and hold positions in labor organizations which make them accessible to the hand of law and amenable to public authority. Under representative government laws cannot be changed without the consent of the people and through legislators of their choice, but the safety of nations will make this question of "general strikes" in large industries and the method of preventing them and of settling the disputes that lead to them, an issue of preponderating importance in political action in all industrial countries until it is settled in accordance with civilized principles.

THE CLOSED SHOP.

Prevents Men Earning Wages Without a Union License Which May or May Not be Wanted.

[New York Times:] It appears that the indictment of fifty-four unionists for complicity in over 100 dynamite outrages, averaging over one death in each case, rests upon evidence obtained from 40,000 letters passing between officials of the unions implicated and seized at the union headquarters. That such things should happen in America in this century challenges credulity. . . Neither the capitalists nor the non-unionists whose lives and property suffered were engaged in any warfare upon the unions. They were engaged in rearing structures of universal benefit and they were slain or maimed as though they were public enemies. . . . . If the savages who are responsible for these crimes—whether those under arrest or any others—shall finally be convicted and punished much will have been accomplished. It will be a greater accomplishment if the by-product of the outrages shall be a general understanding of the nature of the closed shop, which is the objective of all the tradea union outrages, whose number surpasses any exact knowledge or statement.

If the closed shop shall be established, no man can earn wages without a union license, and the union is under no necessity to grant the license. The right to live includes the right to earn a living. Work for the unemployed is one of the first demands of the unions upon the society which they condemn and propose to improve by their own methods. And yet the unions would deny that right to any except their own members. . . Let nobody imagine that this is something which concerns only ironworkers. Whoever buys anything bearing a union label subscribes to the theory of the closed shop. . . . Nothing is suggested here worse than a general appreciation of the meaning of the closed shop, which in its essence, and as practiced, surpasses in cold-blooded malice and oppression of the needy and the innocent the dynamite outrages themselves. At worst there were only a hundred of them and only a hundred or so were slain. The closed shop principle affects scores of millions.

It is a political outrage that there should be obstacles to any man's realization of his own plans for an honest livelihood. The economic wrong on the community is equally offensive, and can be translated into facts of easy understanding. . . The dynamite outrages were the result of the proof that 200 to 400 rivets could be driven in a day by workers glad of the chance, if they were not murdered at the job.

Good Tidings From San Jacinto

Great Excitement Over New Water Discovery

An immense Underground Lake of Water has been discovered near San Jacinto, California. A mere crust of earth, in some places but a few feet in thickness, has shielded for ages an immense body of water, sufficient to flood the entire country for miles around, which means that this fertile, semi-tropical beauty spot will in short order be the Garden of Eden of the whole State. All these lands are unsurpassed in fertility, productiveness and climatic conditions. All of which is proven by the thousands of acres of beautiful orchards and thrifty ranches under a previous water development. We state, without fear of contradiction, that this neighborhood contains a greater number of well kept fruit orchards than any other section of equal size in the whole State of California, and we state further that they will show a much greater percentage of profit. There is no scale or pests to fight, or failures to sadden the heart.

A committee with autos has been appointed to show everybody around free, and we extend a hearty invitation to all of our good neighbors to see this beautiful little Valley of ours in all its glory. Come over on the Santa Fe in the morning, back in the evening. The San Jacinto Board of Trade, San Jacinto, Cal.

Home Building

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE BUSINESS AND THE BEST INVESTMENT FOR YOUR MONEY.

One Company Who Builds Homes

The "Commonwealth Way" on the co-operative plan has over 2700 shareholders.

The success of Commonwealth Home Builders has been phenomenal and profitable. This is due to a thorough business organization, the first prineiple of business and co-operation, the only sane and practical method.

The Co-operative Force in Business

Business is done on the co-operative plan; no one man builds a sky-scraper or puts a large tract of land on the market. Co-operation is in the air—you find it everywhere.

Now, don't you realize that as an individual, you can never hope to have your money earn more than bank interest. Then why not become a shareholder in our great Commonwealth family, and share in the large profits possible only through combined capital.

You cannot find a safer form of investment, and every share is secured by first mortgages. You will receive a regular quarterly dividend and also share in an annual distribution of additional profits.

Organizers and Original Shareholders

Our organizers and original shareholders consisted of 100 representative business and professional men who wanted to get into the Home Building Business, because they realized it was a profitable business to engage in. Our great success and the profits they have received in dividend checks proves the soundness of their judgment and demonstrates conclusively that in co-operation there is strength with absolute safety.

In this Fastest Growing City

The Home Building business is an assured success, and we hope you will decide to call and have us explain our system of co-operative investment and show you the success we have attained. If you become a shareholder you will never regret it and from our experience will say, "We believe you will add thereto every additional dollar you can spare and will even reinvest your dividends. Become a Commonwealth shareholder and share in our prosperity.

"Home Builders"

Assurance That Stockholders Have Real Profits to Divide

"Home Builders" passed experimental stage

[47]

IF you have considered the above a critical question in choosing a building company investment, you will have no difficulty in finding a definite and satisfactory answer to it by putting "Home Builders" to that test.

It earned from interest alone, more than it paid out in the four quarterly (three months) cash dividends last year—in fact, earned $7,229 more. This excess interest, together with its net profits, amounted to $60,000, in round numbers, and was placed in the surplus. The surplus was further increased by the premium received on shares.

"Home Builders" profits above, or aside from, its interest revenue comes from its building operations, bonuses, etc., and is no small amount in the gross earnings.

"Home Builders" is able to do this from the simple fact that practically every dollar of its capital and surplus (resources or assets) is on an interest-earning basis. Likened to any other, said to be similar enterprise, in Southern California, there is no comparison in the percentage of money invested at interest earning, to its total capital.

The main reason for this flattering condition lies in the fact that "Home Builders" gets in on the mortgage or creditor side—it does not even build one house before it is sold, much less dozens of them. It may loan a large sum for the development of a tract or large parcel of ground, providing it receives sufficient bonus, but, it does not do even that, unless the security is ample as well as bonus, and the other fellow holds the responsibility. It realizes that a good mortgage is better than ownership, generally. Wisely placed, there is so much more margin between value and amount invested that the stockholders' money is safer than if it attempted speculation through ownership and sale.

Herein "Home Builders" is widely and wisely different from other building or investment companies.

Don't you think it's safer, too? Of course you do. You can surround your money with this sort of safety, pro-rate the profits, and feel a sense of security fully equal to that of transacting your own affairs in your very limited capacity—"In union there is strength" if it's "Home Builders" Union.

That is why shares will advance to $2.60 on April 1st

[48]

Dividends Every 3 Months

FIGURES take on personal meaning when considered from "Home Builders" side of the fence—you do not need imagination to know what the result will be when this company doubles its present resources of $1,297,226.99.

With the entire present resources, practically, earning a big rate of interest, secured by mortgage, trust deed, stocks or bonds, and more than enough to pay cash dividends, just stop and consider what it is fast becoming.

When you invest in "Home Builders" shares you do so with a deep sense of security because you know what results will accrue from its use of your money.

How much better, safer, saner it is to put your money in the keeping of a proven concern than to take the risks incident with inexperienced and younger enterprises—especially, when they take large risks and where so much of the working capital is only on half pay—living on prospects of future sales, future increased values.

"Home Builders" has never in all its life been a speculator, as has been shown. It started and has kept on the creditor side—the mortgage side, of each transaction. When it becomes a concern of five or ten times its present size it will still be adhering to the same safe plan.

Think of what your stock will be worth then. Consider the dividends you will have earned in the meantime. That is not hard to surmise, when during its first four years its shares have earned $60 for every $100 invested and the $100 has a market value of $255.

Guaranty Shares now $2.55

[49]

WISDOM says to buy "Home Builders" shares at once. Safety and profit will counsel holding on to them. If you can't pay all cash you can take advantage of the monthly payment plan. This is simply an arrangement that enables you to procure them at present price. No penalties for paying for them faster than the terms of payment. The monthly plan of buying shares is just as commendable a way to make your savings work as the purchase of a home on payments.

The guaranty given by the General Agency is added protection, through supplying agreed facilities for the re-sale of your shares should you find their conversion necessary at the same time guaranteeing at least 8 per cent. earning on your principal.

You can't honestly ask fairer, squarer, or prompter treatment than you'll receive as a "Home Builders" stockholder, so come right along with your subscription.

TAFT HAS BEEN STATE'S FRIEND

Californians Will Show Gratitude, Declares Orator.

Opposition to Renomination Doomed to Failure.

Samuel Shortridge Praises Work of President.

Hon. Samuel M. Shortridge of San Francisco, well known throughout the entire State, delivered a strong address on the excellent record made by President Taft at a big Taft Republican meeting at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco recently. His brilliant oration was listened to with intense interest and frequent enthusiastic applause greeted his words.

Mr. Shortridge not only pointed out the greatness of President Taft in an international way and as an able executive in the management of the people's business at Washington but called him a special friend of California because of his immediate aid at the time of the San Francisco earthquake and by his help to have the Panama exposition held in San Francisco.

In part Mr. Shortridge said:

As I am a Republican and a Californian, as I love California more dearly than any other State in the Union and think her immediate future and remote future depend largely upon the success of the Republican party, I am here to declare my faith and my confidence in a great man, a great Republican, a great President—William Howard Taft. (Long-continued applause.)

It has been beautifully and truthfully said that a nation is to be known by the character of the men it honors; and if this nation would lift itself to the higher levels, it would crown men honor—not crown—but again honor that great man, that true man, that large-hearted man, that luminous-minded man, whose heart is big enough to hold in its loving chambers all the people of America, and whose brain is big enough to grasp and master the great internal domestic affairs of this nation, as well as the larger, international concerns of the Republic. (Applause.)

What can we do as Californians but honor him, vote for him at the polles, and vote for him in Novem...?

We have prided ourselves, and I am not arrogantly, that we are a thoughtful people, that gratitude was a distinguishing characteristic. If we are grateful, if we appreciate statesmanship, if we appreciate favors past and favors to come, why, we must support this great man, who has been, and will be the constant, the intelligent, and the hopeful friend of San Francisco and of California. (Applause.)

When this city—now so beautiful, risen from the ashes, again Queen of the Pacific, in power, in beauty—when the city of ours was prostrate and dead, if I were houseless, when the flames swallowed up temple and cathedral, palace and cottage, when the earth trembled and shook and laid in ruins the edifices we had reared, when we were homeless, terrir-stricken and dismayed, thank God there was William H. Taft in Washington whose heart was the first outstretched to give us help, assistance and comfort. Will we forget him? Can we forget him?

FRIEND IN EVERY NEED.

He has been at every crisis in this city, when we have had battles to fight, he has been our friend. See the struggle that we had to get the great Exposition here in 1915. There was New York, represented by able, patriotic, energetic citizens, and here was Boston, San Francisco, represented, it is true, by able and capable and loyal citizens; but with all their energy and with all the merits of their cause, San Francisco would not have succeeded had it not been for the influence of a great man who sat where Washington sat.

Can San Francisco turn her face back upon her greatest friend? Can California for one moment contemplate not giving him her support in the primary and in the approaching election?

Gratitude, which distinguishes man from the brute—gratitude, the flower of heart, and self-interest, enlightened self-interest—both gratitude and self-interest call upon us. I think I can trust and believe I speak the sentiment of the rank and file, the great majority of the women and the men of California, when I say this day say that in the coming election we will send a solid delegation to Chicago to vote, to work, to plead for our friend, the great President who has carried the nation through one administration successfully, and who deserves another term, as is the Republican party has, with rare exceptions, given a second administration and a second term to every one of its loyal presidents from Washington down. (Applause.)

AN ABLE EXECUTIVE.

Let us therefore, my friends, Republicans here resolve that we will do everything that is honorable to secure the renomination and the reelection of Willism Howard Taft. (Applause.)

President Taft is a man of large experience in the affairs of State. He has filled the Presidential chair peculiarly well equipped—a man of great ability, a man simple in his habits of life, pure in purpose, a man in sympathy with every constitutional guaranty and principle of this republic. (Applause.) A man familiar with the framework of this government from the foundation stones laid by Washington and Madison and Wilson to the coping-stone—familiar with the cornerstones of the Union and every pillar that upholds the temple of this republic. He has been and is and ever will be the friend of equal law, the friend of reciprocity, the friend, the champion and the defender of the Constitution of our fathers. (Applause.)

Against false doctrines being preached throughout this republic, there are those who would lay sacrilegious hands upon the very foundation of this republic. Under the Philadelphia constitutional convention, as it was designed by the fathers, this nation has marched forward and has expanded and grown from a handful into millions; from poverty has become great; from povertystricken has become great; from poverty-stricken unto wealth; from poverty it has grown up unto wealth; from quicksands it has come to rest upon a solid rock. (Applause.)

The Constitution of our country has grown and expanded, and our flag has grown and expanded at home and abroad the flag dear to the

(Applause.)

A SOLID EXECUTIVE.

Therefore, my friends, Republicans, here resolve that we will support that, in honorable to the renomination and the reelection of William Howard Taft.

Mr. Taft is a man of large experience in the affairs of State. He is not a Presidential chair pecularly adapted—a man of great ability, simple in his habits of life, a man in sympathy with the primary constitutional guaranty of the rights of this republic. (Applause.) He is a man familiar with the history of this government from the foundation stones laid by Washington and Madison and Wilson down—familiar with the principles of the Union and with the pillar that upholds the temple of this republic. He has been, is and ever will be the friend of law, the friend of regulated liberty, the friend, the champion and defender of the Constitution of the United States. (Applause.)

He knows the false doctrines being preached throughout this republic, and knows those who would lay unholy hands upon the very foundations of this republic. Under the wise, as it was designed by the splendid constitutional convention has marched forward, expanded and grown from a nation into millions; from power to power great; from poverty to power unto wealth; from wealth grown up unto the uttermost parts it has come to be a solid rock. (Applause.)

The Constitution of our country has been grown and expanded at home and abroad the flag of this republic is emblematic of and stands for liberty, for law, for guaranty of the right of labor, and guaranty of the right of honest capital. (Applause.)

ENEMIES AT WORK.

And yet there are those who would shake the pillars and overturn the temple itself. We stand, I trust, where Washington stood, saying that two terms were enough for any American President. (Applause.)

In aspiring to a third term that man whom the people once loved is false to his own name and fame; he is imperiling the success of the party, whose defeat would be a national calamity; he is asking this republic to enter upon a path our fathers shunned—a path that leads to the throne of a Caesar, not to the chair of a Washington. (Applause.)

We Republicans of California stand for the two-term proposition not as a matter of sentiment, not as a matter of mere tradition, but because we believe it is a wise, a wholesome, a safe rule to carry out in this republic for all time to come. (Applause.)

LINCOLN AND GRANT OPPOSED.

May I remind you, gentlemen, and you, good women, that the fight now to prevent the renomination of President Taft is something akin to the effort which was made to prevent the renomination of him whose name and memory are a benediction forever—Abraham Lincoln. (Applause.)

Men opposed him for renomination, said he was not going ahead fast enough, questioned his motives; but he was renominated and triumphantly re-elected. He saved the Union and he saved the Constitution, and he is among the great stars in God's firmament of freedom. (Applause.)

Then came the great soldier, the mighty undefeated general, Ulysses S. Grant (applause) and the Republican party made him its nominee and the American people elected him their President. And when it came to his second term, there were Republicans who violently opposed his renomination; there were those who found fault and criticised, sneered and scoffed at that great, magnanimous, patriotic, simple American citizen. But all the efforts of Charles Sumner and the so-called liberal Republicans were unavailing. Gen. Grant was renominated and triumphantly re-elected.

Thus we see that the rank and file of the party has never followed those who sought to discredit and defeat the renomination of a worthy and faithful Republican President. When Gen. Grant had been renominated and had served his second term—when the American people had bestowed upon him all the honor that could be bestowed upon any human being, the same honor that they had bestowed upon Washington, upon Jefferson, upon Monroe, upon Madison and others, when, after they had done all this, there were those who sought to break down the tradition of the second term and induced Gen. Grant to seek a third term, in sorrow, if not in anger, the Republican party said "No!"—as the Republican party of California and the Republican party throughout this nation will say "No" to another, and renominate and re-elect the man who has served his country faithfully and well—the President we love and in whom the American people have reposed and may safely repose absolute faith and confidence. (Applause.)

WOMEN WILL HELP.

I feel kindly towards the Republicans of California. United, we are ever triumphant; divided, defeat may come to us; and therefore, while we announce our advocacy of President Taft, while we are here for that purpose, personally I would not speak a word or utter a sentiment which would make it impossible or embarrassing for all the Republicans, or any Republican of California, to come and join us in this good work.

I trust I am right in believing that the good women of this State, numerically speaking, are Republicans and that they appreciate the services and the ability of the President of the United States. The women, qualified by our laws, will participate in this coming election; and it has seemed to me that the women who believe in the home, who believe in righteousness, who believe in peace, will espouse and actively aid the cause of the greatest champion of peace and righteousness this world has ever seen. The great champion, who leads the world movement for international peace, is our President. (Long continued applause.)

HARNESSING A SHARK.

Revenge Sailors Sometimes Take on the Man Eaters That Follow Their Ships Waiting Their Prey.

[World's Magazine:] The sharks jaws are pried open to the fullest extent; a stout eight-foot spar of tough timber, four inches by four in cross-measurement, is fixed transversely far back in the angle of the jaw, the ends projecting on either side. A strong rope leading from the ends of the spar is drawn close and tightened with a clove-hitch around the fish's tail, behind the wide tail-flukes. It is thus the sailor harnesses his enemy.

The clam of the cruel jaws drives the two-inch long teeth deep into the tough spar. The tight line holds it in place, and, struggle as he may, the shark fails to move the spar an inch from its position. As a finishing touch, the sailor drew his knife-blade across the shark's eyeballs and let him go.

Blitted and bridled, blinded, with jaws wide-gaping, he swam through a limitless sea in never-ending fatuous circles. The queer furnishings he bore scared away others of his kind. Lonely and silent he passed like Cain among fishes till starvation and sheer misery ended his existence.

Cruel? Of course it was. But surely, like the venomonous snake, the shark has long put himself beyond the pale of human mercy. Soft-hearted as he usually is, the sailor-man has a long memory. The shark has followed for weeks in the shadow of his ship, and has watched each man of the crew with greedy, malevolent eye. There is a heavy debt against all the shark tribe for many a lost mariner, and, when the chance comes to settle old scores, the sailor pays it to the full. Besides the thing has the sanction of immemorial custom. It was some old Phoenician, trading out of Tyre to the far Cassitorides, who probably, first put the trick in practice.

Could Thank God.

[Hampton's Magazine:] Shortly before his death the late Chief Justice Fuller presided at a church conference. During the progress of a heated debate a member arose and began a tirade against universities and education, thanking God that he had never been corrupted by contact with a college.

"Do I understand the speaker thanks God for his ignorance?" interrupted the Chief Justice.

"Well, yes," was the answer, "you can put it that way if you want to."

"All I have to say, then," said the Chief Justice, in his sweetest musical tone, "is that the member has a good deal to thank God for."

SUCCESS BEGETS :: :: SUCCESS

Every new shareholder adds something of value to the investment of every shareholder that preceded him.
The increase in value is stimulated by the shareholders themselves.
The momentum of our growth is increased.
Fifty owners of a ten-acre tract make it far more valuable than if it has only one owner.
Hundreds of owners make a "home-building" company far stronger and more valuable than if it has only one or two owners.
That is why we have nearly 300 shareholders.
That is why we refused $50,000 from one man, $10,000 from another and $5000 from another.
That is why our $100,000 of capital stock is about all sold in small subscriptions in less than seven weeks.
The "choose-wisely" investors saw the point from the beginning.
They knew our policy meant success—the SUCCESS that begets SUCCESS.
And they bought quickly.

Today we have nearly THREE HUNDRED live, up-and-coming shareholders.
The kind that is on the lookout for the success of their company all the time.
Come in with them while you can.
We want as many active, interested shareholders as we can crowd into our $100,000 of capital stock.
And we will not be able to extend many more invitations, for there is not much of our $100,000 capital stock unsold.

POLITICAL TIPS.

"New Jersey is for Taft," says Charles T. Lynch, a prominent lawyer of Paterson, N. J. "There was a time when Col. Roosevelt was exceedingly popular in New Jersey, but his open hostility to the President has caused him to lose a host of supporters, who feel that it is improper and unjust to seek the nomination against a man who had received the Republican nomination largely through Col. Roosevelt's efforts.

"The Newark meeting, a night or two ago, which was addressed by Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, former Gov. Fort of New Jersey, and others, was a distinct disappointment to the Roosevelt supporters. They had expected a big gathering, but the hall in which the meeting was held was not half filled, and nearly a third of those present were women. I do not believe Col. Roosevelt has a chance to get a single delegate in New Jersey."

A strenuous attempt is to be made to divide the New Jersey delegation to the Democratic National Convention. The Presidential primaries for the choice of delegates will be held May 3, and it is considered probable that Gov. Wilson will lose two or three districts as a result of the opposition of Senator Smith and others.

Senator Lodge created considerable amusement when he recently spoke upon the initiative, referendum and recall before the students and faculty of Princeton University by quoting from the works of Gov. Wilson. "There can be no question whatever," he said, "that to abandon representative government and to take up in its place legislation by direct vote is to return from a high stage of evolution to a lower and more primitive one." He cited instances in history where similar policies had met with failure.

"I have taken off my coat for President Taft, and you can say positively that I will use what influence I have to promote the President's nomination for re-election."

This declaration was made by Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, who also said: "In my mind Col. Roosevelt's announcement that he will be a candidate for a third term is unjustified. Like other good Presidents, Mr. Taft should be elected for a second term. I have noticed that instead of a ground swell of public opinion for Col. Roosevelt there has been a cave-in of loyalty which is rapidly spreading all over the nation."

[St. Louis Republic:] The appearance of W. Bourke Cockran in the retinue of Porfirio Roosevelt is worthy of record in this and other places where the truth of history is preserved.

Since a time when the memory of men runneth not to the contrary Mr. Cockran has served losing causes, and always, as is his right, for an honorable consideration. He is an old man eloquent. Words fall from him like golden eagles from the mint, but they cost money. If Mr. Cockran ever spoke for fun, for love, for charity, or for nothing, nobody knows it.

When the New York Demosthenes takes up a cause it is a sure sign that the demand is for a few beautiful and soothing words with which to comfort the mourners.

Who would have thought that Caesar would have come to Cockran so soon?

A QUICK RESCUE.

In Nineteen Minutes After Man Fell Overboard From Warship He Was Lifted Back on Deck.

[Army and Navy Journal:] A fine example of quick work in rescuing a man who fell overboard occurred on the U.S.S. Washington, the flagship of Rear-Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, under command of Capt. Richard M. Hughes. The Washington while at sea on February 22, en route to Key West, Fla., was moving along at twelve knots when William Faraday, boatswain's mate, of Bradford, Mass., was washed overboard. Instantly a cry of "Man overboard" was given, engines were reversed, and the cruiser quickly stopped. Private Madsen, of the marines, sighted the man struggling in the water and let go a lifebuoy, which Faraday reached with a few strokes. In the meantime—twelve seconds—the lifeboat had been manned, but the sea was so high that it was impossible to lower the boat for several minutes while awaiting a favorable opportunity. The crew pulled hard for half a mile to windward until Faraday was reached. When finally close by a line was thrown, but Faraday, injured, and nearly exhausted, was unable to secure it to his body. After skilful maneuvering in the heavy sea the crew brought the boat alongside and the fainting man was taken aboard. Nineteen minutes after he went overboard Faraday was lifted to the deck, suffering severely from the shock of immersion. The lifeboat was commanded by Lieut. Edward E. Spafford, and the crew consisted of Hambrick, coxswain; Clark, Ballaple, Danegar, Sanfanck, Adams, Staman and Menor.

Some Cold in Kansas.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] The cold snap has been severe in Kansas, too. A Kansas man went out early the other morning and saw a wolf lurking in the offing.

Believing that the lupus—which is Emporia Latin—was interested in the topography of his chicken yard, the Kansas man rushed the lurker. He had no weapon—the man had no weapon—but as he passed the fence he pulled off a ten-inch icicle. A moment later he caught up with the brute, and jabbing the icicle just abaft his left shoulder—the wolf's left shoulder—stretched him weltering in his gore.

Later on he returned to his home and gave the icicle to his wife for a hat pin.

"Why, Walt," she said, "this is too long!"

Whereupon he held the point against the red-hot stove for an hour or two until it diminished to the desired length.

It was some cold in Kansas.

On Firing Line.

BREAKING IN THE BIG GUNS.

EXHAUSTIVE TESTS TO PROVE THEIR EFFICIENCY.

Delicate Instruments Used to Register the Results of the Experiments to Determine Their Awful Power and the Safety of the Men Who Are to Manage Them.

[New York Tribune:] Few people realize just how great a test the big guns which go to make up the equipment of our battleships must undergo before they earn the right to Uncle Sam's firing line. These tests are made at the naval proving grounds at Indian Head, Md., a secluded spot on the banks of the Potomac River about twenty-five miles from Washington. Here the United States government owns twelve hundred acres of land, and almost every day a bloodless battle between guns and armor is waged on the river front.

This conflict is jealously guarded from the public eye. The place is absolutely closed to visitors, and only those who are fortunate enough to obtain a pass from the Bureau of Ordnance at Washington are permitted to look upon the technical tests to which the guns and armor are subjected. The government tug is the only boat allowed to make a landing at the wharf.

There is a corps of naval officers at Indian Head, and these men and their families live on the far end of the reservation, away from the valley where the firing is done. About 500 civilians, 350 of whom are negroes, are employed to carry on the dangerous, not to say difficult, work of safeguarding the lives of our sailors, as well as proving the awful power of our modern guns.

PUTTING THE GUNS IN PLACE.

Only those who have seen a gun go through its many tests can fully realize the havoc which is wrought by the huge steel instruments. The guns are brought by tug to Indian Head from the gun factory at the Washington Navy Yard. At the proving ground wharf a giant crane lifts them to a truck, which runs on rails to a point near the spot where the tryout is to be made. At this point another crane lifts them into position, where a thorough examination of the structural parts is made by the naval officers on duty. The heavy work is done by the negro employees, and as soon as the gun has been pronounced structurally perfect the men begin to make ready for the firing.

The first trial is a dangerous experiment and accidents sometimes happen. Several years ago a negro's head was blown off by the explosion of a six-pounder. Projectiles, too, sometimes perform strange antics. Special precaution is taken to minimize the number and extent of the disasters which might result through the freaks of the projectiles by the use of a siren whistle. This is blown five minutes before the test begins, thus affording the workmen who are at the works near by or walking about the grounds an opportunity to seek shelter in some of the shacks erected for that purpose. The whistle can be heard for at least a mile, and even the inhabitants of the village are prepared for the concussion, which is little short of an earthquake.

The after effects of great gun fireare sometimes serious, for the concussion frequently loosens plastering from the ceilings of the houses in the vicinity, and in one instance several windows in the hotel of the village were shattered. Nearly all the officers' homes have pressed metal ceilings and many of the buildings have windows made of a material known as fiberloid instead of glass. Everybody about the place has become accustomed to the noise, and the tremendous concussions occasion little excitement among the workers. The men in the administration building hardly look up from their books when the building seems to rock on its foundation.

NOTHING TAKEN FOR GRANTED.

The guns are fired by electricity from a building in the rear of the battery, which is known as the "bomb-proof." This building looks somewhat like a mausoleum. It is built of concrete and its walls are five feet thick. It is the main place of refuge during the firing and is also a storehouse for the powder to be used during the day. Giant scales are used to weigh out the powder charges, which are poured into muslin bags ready for the guns. The utmost precaution is used, for nothing is taken for granted, and every move is noted by the officers.

When everything is ready the officers retire to the hill in the rear of the battery, the signal is given and the man at the electric key presses the button. The flight of the shell is most carefully observed. This is done over and over again, for each gun, large or small, is fired at least five times with increasing charges of poyder until the maximum chamber pressure is one and one-fourth times that required for actual service.

This is followed by the elevation and getting it pointed on a fixed mark, after which it is fired over the river range and the officers note the places where the shells fall. Calm weather is preferred for this work, for wind and atmospheric conditions sometimes change the whole routine of a test.

Much might be written from a technical point of view on the smokeless powder used and as to its general effects, but many of these facts the navy authorities prefer to keep to themselve. This powder, which looks like pieces of perforated horehound candy, is all manufactured at Indian Head, about a dozen buildings being used for the purpose.

CONCUSSION AND VELOCITY.

The effect of the concussion on the mount or gun carriage is also carefully watched, because the carrier must be strong enough to absorb the recoil to a certain extent, as any great yielding or stretching might affect the range of the shot and the correctness of the fire. All this requires repeated testings, and in one year more than ten thousand shots have been fired at Indian Head in proving out two hundred and seventy-five guns. This did not include the small arms.

The velocity of the shell as it is hurled through space is another problem, and this is worked out by the aid of the chronograph—a delicate instrument in the office of the administration building. When the speed of the projectile is to be tested the gun is pighted on two screens, which are suspended in the air 168 feet apart. These screens are connected by wire with the chronograph in the office, a quarter of a mile away. This apparatus consists of three instruments, each of which works on the same gun in the following manner:

A long rod, coated with silver soft enough to allow dents, hangs by a magnet which is in circuit with the first screen. When the gun is fired the shell tears the wires of the screen, the connection is broken and the rod begins to fall. As the next screen is pierced it releases a second rod, which touches a spring causing a knife to shoot out, making a mark on the first rod, the distance between this mark and the initial mark accounted for beforehand being the measure of the distance fallen by the rod while the shot is passing over the distance from the first to the second screen. By the known laws of gravity the distance fallen by the rod, together with the distance between the screens, furnishes the basis for calculating the velocity of the projectile. The speed varies with the different guns and ranges from 1500 to 2100 feet a second, the shells of our newest guns making the latter speed. The chronograph is the invention of a Frenchman.

THE DELICATE CHRONOSCOPE.

The chronoscope, which is also in the office, is an even more delicate piece of machinery, and records the time from the explosion in the powder chamber to the instant the shell leaves the gun. This is done by a spark on the machine as the powder is exploded and another when the projectile passes the muzzle, and in so doing breaks the small wire in connection with the instrument. A drawing is made of every test and later transferred to blueprint paper and put on record.

Now that the strength, aiming quality and velocity of the shell of a gun have been tested, the fight between it and the armor, such as is used on modern battleships, begins. Sometimes an experimental target, such as the counterpart of the section of a battleship, is set up, and against this various sized shells are fired in order to note the destructive effect on the interior.

Our newest battleship is to cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $11,000,000, and the greater part of this expenditure goes for guns and armor, and the latter is quite as rigidly tested as the former. A searching chemical analysis of every piece is made, and it must undergo something like thirty different examinations. A thoroughly equipped laboratory is maintained for this purpose at Indian Head.

After the armor has been pronounced chemically perfect, a sample plate is set up on the proving grounds, usually about 360 feet from the gun, which is to try its powers of resistance. This process is quite as dangerous as the test of a gun, if not more so, for steel splinters are likely to fly through the air, and here again the greatest precaution is taken and everybody is kept out of the danger zone. After the terrific crash and the shower of steel have passed away the result of the gun fire on the armor is examined by the officers and a photographic record made by the official photographer.

PHOTOGRAPHING THE IMPACT.

The actual impact has been photographed several times with more or less success and more or less destruction for photographic apparatus. The camera was operated by electricity in the exposure of plates. Fantastic figures are often formed on the armor, and as the result of one test the perfect profile of a woman appeared on the steel plate. Later in the day the exploded shells are dug out of the sand by the use of a clamshell digger and carried to the shell dump.

Indian Head has been the scene of some remarkable tests. Recently the aeroplane gun was tried out there, and its success may make aeroplanes practically useless in time of war. It was fired at an angle of 85 deg., almost perpendicular. It has a range of over three miles and can fire fifty shots a minute. As no aeroplane has as yet attained this height, it can be readily understood how destructive this gun will prove to an air craft. It is said that the Navy Department contemplates the manufacture of a large number of these guns—in fact, enough to place a battery of them on the deck of every warship in the navy. The guns are being built at the gun factory in the navy yard at Washington.

Fuses are also tested, and on the bank of the river a plate of the thinnest armor, such as is used for torpedo boats, has been set up as a fuse tester. Loaded and fused shells are fired against this plate and the bursts observed. Before this can be done a clear range of seven miles must be had on the river. There is also a covered firing butt, containing a plate with a number of screens behind it. This is used not only to determine the distance, but also the character of the bursts.

Our twelve-inch armor piercing projectile is said to weigh little less than 900 pounds, but going at a speed of perhaps 2000 miles an hour it can be readily imagined what the impact will be.

From a scientific point of view, Indian Head is full of interest, but the layman thinks only of the awful destructive power of these giant guns which lie in the valley of the proving grounds awaiting their stamp—the large official "P," which means perfection after a rigid test.

"It must be something akin to being struck by a 350-ton train," said a Congressman, after he had witnessed a gun and armor battle, "or worse."

Nothing seems to be left undone, and Uncle Sam is equipping his gallant sailors with the best weapons skill and science can provide.

TWO STORIES OF GLUCOSE.

Bees Used to Turn It Into Honey by One Concern—Another Uses It for Making Candy.

[Boston Herald:] The recent flood of pure food matter in the papers calls to mind a couple of stories told of and by a traveling salesman who in 1876 represented the first big glucose factory established in Buffalo. He sold the stuff to the candy makers by the carload. One day a friend met him in a Boston hotel and he was in a state of great indignation. It seems that he had been thrown out by one of the big candy makers. He was boiling with rage because the dealer who had so treated him had been using glucose for a year or more and in large quantities, and he could not understand the change in his attitude.

While the two were talking the candy maker came into the hotel, walked up to them, smiled at the glucose salesman and said: "When I threw you out this morning my store was full of customers and I wasn't taking any chances on some one of them not knowing you and your business. I wouldn't have it known that I am using your glucose for all the profit that's in it. Never come to my store again. Let me know that you are here and I'll call on you. Send me ten barrels at once. And now let's go take a drink."

The other yarn was about a New York concern. A grocery house had purchased ten barrels of glucose. As an experiment they fitted up a top floor as a honey factory. First they had the floor concreted, then they poured in the glucose and on the top of it floated a number of very thin boards pierced with holes like a colander. Several hundred bees were then turned loose in the room. They alighted on the boards and their weight was sufficient to bring up the glucose through the holes in the boards. Hives had been prepared around the room and when the bees were surfeited they went into the hives and stored the honey. It was "pure honey" and, according to the salesman, was sold as such.

Pointed Necessities.

COMPLICATED PIN MAKING.

MANY PROCESSES REQUIRED FOR THEIR PRODUCTION.

All the Work Is Done by Machinery Even to Sticking Them Into the Rolls of Paper—In Old Times the Price of Pins Caused the Phrase "Pin Money."

[Philadelphia Record:] Pins of metal were made by hand in the sixteenth century. Before that time small skewers of wood were used, just as the negroes in the country districts of the South use the long thorns of the haw tree today.

The first metal pins were probably made of gold, seeing that in England they were considered such an extravagant luxury that the makers were not allowed to sell them publicly except on two days of the year.

Then it became the custom, at the beginning of each year, for husbands to give their wives money to buy a few pins. To this day, for this reason, money allowed to a woman for her private spending is called "pin money."

Many packages of pins may now be bought for the amount asked for a single pin in those days; yet each one of these little articles—so cheap that the least coin in any civilized country is large enough to buy many of them—requires very expensive machinery and the labor of several men and women to make it.

The process of making the wire from which the pins are manufactured is of itself slow and complex, but it is not considered in pin-making because the wire is made by one manufacturer and sold by him to another, who makes the pins. This wire comes in coils of great length and is just the size of the body of the pin.

It is first drawn through six or eight little rollers, to press all the bends and kinks out of it. The machine that does this also winds the wire carefully on a large reel, and this reel is placed on a spindle attached to the machine that makes the pins.

When a reel is put on the spindle a workman inserts the free end of the wire between two steel rollers, which draw it and feed it properly to the cutters. After this it continues to feed itself. As the wire leaves the rollers it passes between two matched dies until it touches a gauge. Just as it does this the dies come together and clamp it firmly in a groove to their face. At the same time the machine cuts off the proper length.

The gauge then moves away, and a little punch forms the head by striking the end that rested against the gauge.

When this is finished the dies separate and deliver the pin into one of a great many grooves in the face of a wheel about a foot in diameter, and just as wide across its face as the pin is long.

As soon as the first pin leaves the dies, the feed rollers send the wire between them again, and the whole operation is repeated.

When the pin is taken by the wheel it has no point; but as the wheel turns it rubs the pins against an outside band, which causes each one to roll in its groove, and at the same time carries them past a set of rapidly-moving files, which rub against the blunt ends and sharpen them roughly.

They next pass against the faces of two grinding wheels, which smooth the points, and then to a rapidly-moving leather band having fine emery glued on its face. This gives them the final polish, and as they leave the band they are dropped into a box underneath the machine.

The machine works with such rapidity that it makes 7500 pins in an hour.

The next step is to plate the pins with tin in order to give them a bright, silvery appearance. They are prepared for plating by being first immersed in weak sulphuric acid, to remove all grease, and then dried by being placed—a bushel or so at a time—with about the same quantity of sawdust, in a machine called a tumbling barrel.

This is simply a cask suspended on a shaft, which passes through it lengthwise. The shaft is made to turn by means of a belt, and in doing this it revolves the barrel. Two or three hours' rolling in this sawdust cleans the pins and wears away any roughness which the machine may have caused.

Pins and sawdust together are taken from the barrel and allowed to fall in a steady stream through a blast of air. The sawdust being the lightest, it is blown over into a large room-like box, while the pins, being heavier, fall into a bin below.

Then they are spread out in trays having sheets of zinc in their bottoms, which have been previously connected with one of the wires of an electric battery. The trays are then placed in a tank containing a solution of tin in muriatic acid, and the other wire of the battery is inserted in the solution. Electrical action immediately begins and deposits metallic tin on the entire surface of each pin.

They are then washed in a tank of water and put in other tumbling barrels with hot sawdust. When they have been dried and cleaned of the sawdust, as in the former instance, they are put into a large, slowly-revolving copper-lined tub, which is tilted at an angle of about 45 deg.

As this revolves the pins continue to slide down the smooth copper to the lower side. This constant friction against the tub and against one another polishes them.

It was formerly the practice to allow pins of all lengths to become mixed in the different operations, and after polishing to separate them by a very ingenious machine; but it has been found more economical to keep each size to itself.

From the polishing tub the pins are carried to the "sticker," where they fall from a hopper on an inclined plane in which are a number of slits. The pink catch in these slits and, hanging by their heads, slide down the incline to the apparatus which inserts them in the paper.

As the number of pins in a row on the paper and the number of slits are the same, an entire row is stuck at once by an ingenious device that takes one pin from each slit and inserts them all at once in the two ridges which have been crimped in the paper by a wheel that holds it in place to receive the pins.

At the same time this wheel crimps the paper it spaces the rows, so that when filled with pins the paper will fold up properly.

The whole operation is so delicate in its action that a single vent or other imperfection will cause the machine to cease feeding until the attendant removes the offending piece; yet the operation of the machine is so rapid that it will stick 90,000 pins an hour.

As the long strip of paper on which the pins are stuck comes from the machine it is cut into proper lengths by girls, who then fold and pack the papers in bundles ready for shipment

HAWAIIAN SUGAR CROP.

During the Past Thirty-five Years the Production Has Increased to Forty Times What It Was.

[Consular Reports:] The figures of growth since the annexation of Hawaii to the United States—and, indeed, since the reciprocity treaty of 1876 between the islands and the United States, by which freedom of commercial interchange with this country was established and investments of American capital thus assured—are extremely interesting. A table shows, for example, the production of sugar, by far the most important product of the Hawaiian Islands, from 1875 down to and including 1911. The production of sugar in 1875, the year immediately prior to the adoption of the reciprocity treaty, is given at 25,000,000 pounds; by 1881 it had grown to 94,000,000 pounds; in 1891, 275,000,000; in 1901, 691,000,000; in 1910, 1,111,000,000, and in 1911, 1,011,000,000 pounds, or forty times as much in 1911 as in 1875. The value, which was stated at $1,250,000 in 1875, was given at $36,750,000 in 1911, or thirty times as 1875. The value, which was stated at $1,250,000 in 1875, was given at $36,750,000 in 1911, or thirty times as much in 1911 as in 1875. Thus the quantity of sugar produced in 1911 is forty times as great as in the year immediately prior to the beginning of reciprocity and the value thirty times as great, the relative difference in increase between quantity and value being due, of course, to a reduction in prices of sugar meantime.

Of this increase of practically 1,000,000,000 pounds in the sugar production of the Hawaiian Islands since the adoption of the reciprocity agreement with the United States more than one-half has developed since annexation, which occurred in the year 1898. The sugar production of 1897, the year immediately prior to that of annexation, was, according to the table in question, 520,000,000 pounds, as against 25,000,000 in 1875, the year immediately preceding the reciprocity treaty; 1,111,000,000 pounds in 1910 and 1,011,000,000 in 1911. Thus the increase in sugar production in the islands during the twenty-two years of reciprocity, 1876 to 1898, was 495,000,000 pounds, and during the period since annexation, 1898 to 1910, was 592,000,000 pounds

ALFALFA

FREE WATER

Artesian Wells

Our rich delta lands produce every California product, except citrus fruits. In fact you can realize a handsome income by raising general farm products. But this is certain—you can make the most money and the quickest money growing alfalfa, operating a dairy and raising hogs.

Located in Tulare County, in San Joaquin Valley—midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco. Santa Fe Ry. the entire length of tract. Shipping point on the land, affording an excellent market.

—Just Think of It—

Only $70 to $80 per acre, easy terms, for lands that are conceded as being the natural home of Alfalfa. Undoubtedly it is the best land offering in the State today.

—Here Is Our Proposition—

If you purchase Tulare County Lands of us, we guarantee to show that you can make a profit of 8 per cent per annum on your investment for a period of five years after the first twelve months, or if you will allow us to show you these Tule lands, and, in your own judgment you do not see this 8 per cent, we will pay all expenses of the trip and a reasonable allowance covering your time during your absence from the city.

Can you ask for anything more fair or for a better investment? We have arranged a pleasant excursion, and special rates. Investigate now before prices advance. Call on us at once for your reservation and see this wonderful land of opportunities.

THE ACHIEVEMENTS

"Scare me!" he suddenly command-ed the inspector.

"What?" Walker bent his brows.

"Scare me, and watch the needle."

Walker, half comprehending, fum-bled in the drawer of a desk, straight-ened suddenly, a cocked revolver in his hand, and snapped it at Trant's head. At once the needle of the gal-vanometer leaped across the scale, and Crowley and Walker both stared.

"Thank you, inspector," said Trant as he rose from the chair. "It works very well; you see, my palms couldn't help sweating when you snapped the gun at me before I appreciated that it wasn't loaded. Now, test Caylis as we did Kanlan."

The inspector went to the door, took Caylis from Sweeny, and led him to the chair.

"Sit down," he said. "Mr. Trant wants to talk to you."

The childlike, brown eyes, covertly alert and watchful, followed Trant, and Caylis nervously grasped the two inviting knobs on the arms of his chair. Walker and Crowley, standing where they could watch both Trant and the galvanometer dial, saw that the needle stood where it had stood for Trant before Walker put the revolver to his head.

Trant quietly took from his pocket the newspaper containing the false account of Johanson's escape, and, looking about as though for a place to put it—laid it, with the Johanson paragraph uppermost, in Caylis's lap. Walker smothered an exclamation; Crowley looked up startled. The needle—which had remained so still when the paper was laid upon Kanlan's knee—had jumped across the scale.

Caylis gave no sign; his hands still grasped the brass knobs nervously; his face was quiet and calm. Trant took from his pocket the little phial refilled with bananas oil and emptied its contents on the floor as he had done that morning. Again Walker and Crowley, with startled eyes, watched the needle move. Trant took his watch from his pocket, and, as in the morning, before Caylis's face he set it an hour ahead.

"What are all these tricks?" said Caylis contemptuously.

But Walker and Crowley, with flushed faces bent above the moving needle, paid no heed. Trant posted himself between Caylis and the door.

"You see now," Trant cried, triumphantly, "the difference between showing the false account of the escape of Johanson to an innocent man, and showing it to the man whom it sent out to do murder. You see the difference between losing the stench of banana oil before a man who associates nothing with it, and before the criminal who waited in the vestibule of the electro-plater's shop and can never in his life smell banana oil again without its bringing upon him the fear of the murderer. You see the difference, too, Capt. Crowley, between setting a watch forward in front of a man to whom it can suggest nothing criminal, and setting it an hour ahead in front of a man who, after he had murdered Bronson—not at 1, but a little after 1—stooped to the body and set the watch at least an hour fast, then rushed in to talk coolly with you, in order to establish an incontestable alibi for the time he had so fixed for the murder!"

Police Captain Crowley, lived with the first flash of fear that the murderer had made of him a tool, swung threateningly toward Caylis. For a moment, as though stiffened by the strain of following the accusation, Caylis had sat apparently paralyzed. Now in the sudden change from his absolute security to complete despair, he faced Crowley, white as paper; then, as his heart began to pound again, his skin turned to purple. His handsome, vain face changed to the face of a demon; his childlike eyes flared; he sprang toward Trant. But when he had drawn the two police officers together to stop his rush, he turned and leaped for a window. Before he could dash it open, Walker's powerful hand clutched him back.

"This, I think," Trant gasped as he surveyed the now weak and nerveless prisoner, "should convince even Capt. Crowley. But it was not needed, Caylis. From the time Mrs. Mitchell showed you the report of Johanson's escape in the World and you thought you could kill Bronson safely, and you got her to send him out to you, until you had struck him down, set his watch forward and rushed to Crowley for your alibi, my case was complete."

"She—she"— Caylis's hands clenched—"peached on me—but you—get her!" he shouted vengefully.

Walker and Crowley turned to Trant in amazement.

"Mrs. Mitchell?" they demanded.

"Yes—your wife, Caylis?" Trant paused.

"Yes, my wife, and mine," the man cried defiantly, "eight years ago back in St. Louis till, till this cursed Bronson broke up the gang and sent me over the road for three years, and she got to thinking he must be stuck on her and might marry her, because he helped her, until—until she found—"

"Ah; I thought she had been your wife when I saw you, after the boy; but of course—" Trant checked himself as he heard a knock on the door.

"Miss Allison is in her carriage outside, sir," the officer who had knocked informed Inspector Walker. "She has come to see you, sir. She says you sent no word." Walker looked from Trant to the cringing Caylis to Trant.

"We do not need Caylis any longer, inspector," said Trant. "I can tell Miss Allison all the facts now, if you wish to have her hear them."

The door, which shut behind Crowley and his prisoner, reopened almost immediately to admit the inspector and Miss Allison.

"The inspector tells me, Mr. Trant," she stretched out both her hands to him, "that you have good news for me—that Kanlan was not guilty—and that Randolph was not going out as—as they said he was when they killed him."

"No; he was not." Trant returned. "He was going instead on an errand of mercy, Miss Allison, to summon a doctor for a little child whom he had been told was suddenly and dangerously ill. The telephone in the house had been broken, so at the sudden message he dashed out, without remembering his danger. I am glad to be able to tell you of that fine, brave act, when I must tell you, also, the terrible truth that the woman whom he had helped and protected was the one who, in a fit of jealousy, when he found he had merely meant to be kind to her, sent him out to his—"

"Mrs. Mitchell?" the girl cried in horror. "Oh, not Mrs. Mitchell!"

"Yes, Mrs. Mitchell, for whom he had done so much and whose past he had protected, in the noblest way, even as you. But as she was the wife of the criminal we have just caught, I am glad to believe this man played on her old passions, so that for a time she held his old away over her head, and she did his bidding without knowing the consequences. I told you this morning, Inspector

THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF LUTHER TRANT.

"Save me!" he suddenly commanded the inspector.

"What?" Walker bent his brows.

"Save me, and watch the needle." Walker, half comprehending, fumbled in the drawer of a desk, straightened suddenly, a cocked revolver in his hand, and snapped it at Trant's head. At once the needle of the galvanometer leaped across the scale, and Crowley and Walker both stared.

"Thank you, inspector," said Trant as he rose from the chair. "It works very well; you see, my palms couldn't help sweating when you snapped the gun at me before I appreciated that it wasn't loaded. Now, test Caylis as we did Kanlan."

The inspector went to the door, took Caylis from Sweeny, and led him to the chair.

"Sit down," he said. "Mr. Trant wants to talk to you."

The childlike, brown eyes, covertly alert and watchful, followed Trant, and Caylis nervously grasped the two leather knobs on the arms of his chair. Walker and Crowley, standing where they could watch both Trant and the galvanometer dial, saw that the needle stood where it had stood for Trant before Walker put the revolver to his head.

Trant quietly took from his pocket the newspaper containing the false account of Johanson's escape, and, looking about as though for a place to put it—laid it, with the Johanson paragraph uppermost, in Caylis's lap. Walker smothered an exclamation; Crowley looked up startled. The needle—which had remained so still when the paper was laid upon Kanlan's knee—had jumped across the dials.

Caylis gave no sign; his hands gripped the brass knobs nervously; his face was quiet and calm. Trant took from his pocket the little phial filled with banana oil and emptied its contents on the floor as he had done that morning. Again Walker and Crowley, with startled eyes, watched the needle move. Trant took his watch from his pocket, and, as in the morning before Caylis's face he set it an hour ahead.

"What are all these tricks?" said Caylis contemptuously.

But Walker and Crowley, with pallid faces bent above the moving needle, paid no heed. Trant posted himself between Caylis and the door.

"You see now," Trant cried, triumphantly, "the difference between proving the false account of the escape of Johanson to an innocent man, and showing it to the man whom it set out to do murder. You see the difference between losing the stench of banana oil before a man who associates nothing with it, and before the criminal who waited in the vestibule of the electro-plater's shop and can ever in his life smell banana oil again without its bringing upon him the fear of the murderer. You see the difference, too, Capt. Crowley, between setting a watch forward in front of a man to whom it can suggest nothing criminal, and setting it an hour ahead in front of a man who, as he had murdered Bronson—not at 6, but a little after 1—stooped to oil his body and set the watch at least an hour fast, then rushed in to talk not only with you, in order to establish a demonstrable alibi for the time he had to stand for the murder!"

Before Captain Crowley, lived with the last flash of fear that the murderer had made of him a tool, swung menacingly toward Caylis. For a moment, as though stiffened by the shock of following the accusation, Caylis sat apparently paralyzed. Then in the sudden change from his definite security to complete despair, he stood Crowley, white as paper; and to his heart began to pound until his skin turned to purple. His handsome, vain face changed to the face of a demon; his childlike eyes blazed; he sprang toward Trant. But even as he had drawn the two police officers together to stop his rush, he turned and leaped for a window. Before he could dash it open, Walker's powerful hand clutched him back.

"Yes, I think," Trant gasped as he regained the now weak and nerveless grip, "should convince even Capt. Crowley. But it was not needed, Caylis. From the time Mrs. Mitchell found you the report of Johanson's escape in the World and you thought you could kill Bronson safely, and you managed to send him out to you, until you had struck him down, set his watch forward and rushed to Crowley with your alibi, my case was complete."

"You—liar!"— Caylis's hands clutched on me—but you shall not live!" he shouted vengefully.

Walker and Crowley turned to him in amazement.

"Mrs. Mitchell?" they demanded. "Not your wife, Caylis?" Trant cried.

"Not my wife, and mine," the man said defiantly, "eight years ago back in St. Louis till, till this cursed Bronson broke up the gang and sent me to the road for three years, and she kept on thinking he must be stuck on me and might marry her, because he loved her, until—until she found out.

"I thought she had been your wife when I saw you, after the boy; but, of course—" Trant checked himself as he heard a knock on the door. "Miss Allison is in her carriage outside," the officer who had knocked told Inspector Walker. "She has come to see you, sir. She says you sent word." Walker looked from Trant to Caylis to Trant.

"You do not need Caylis any longer, sir," said Trant. "I can tell Miss Allison all the facts now, if you wish to have her hear them."

The door, which shut behind Crowley and his prisoner, reopened almost instantly to admit the inspector and Miss Allison.

"The inspector tells me, Mr. Trant," she cried out both her hands to him, "that you have good news for me—that Kanlan was not guilty—and though he was not going out as—I am glad he was when they killed Bronson."

"But he was not," Trant returned. "He was going instead on an errand for you, Miss Allison, to summon a doctor for a little child whom he had found was suddenly and dangerously ill. The telephone in the house had been broken, so at the sudden call he dashed out, without regarding his danger. I am glad to be able to tell you of that fine, brave act; but I must tell you, also, the truth that the woman whom he loved and protected was the victim of a fit of jealousy, when she had merely meant to be kind to her, sent him out to his death."

"Mrs. Mitchell?" the girl cried in amazement. "Oh, not Mrs. Mitchell!"

"Yes, Mrs. Mitchell, for whom he risked so much and whose past was, in the noblest way, even as you, but as she was the wife of a criminal we have just caught, I am glad to believe this man played on her old passions, so that for love he held his old sway over her and made her do his bidding without knowing the consequences.

"Now, this morning, Inspector Walker, you may arrest Caylis Sweeny for the murder of Bronson. Later I will tell you my conclusions in the test of Kanlan. But I owe you now a full explanation. You will recall that I commented upon the fact that the crime which was puzzling you was committed within so short a time after the knowledge of Mr. Bronson's engagement became known, that I divined a possible connection. But that, at best, was only indirect. The first direct thing which struck me was the circumstance that the man waited in the vestibule of the electro-plater's shop. I was certain that the very pungent fruit-ether door of banana oil—the thinning material used by electro-platers in preparing their lacquers—must be forever intimately connected with the crime in the mind of the man who waited in that vestibule. To no one else could that odor connect itself with crime. So I knew that if I could test all sixteen men it would be child's play to pick the murderer. But such a test was cumbersome and the next circumstance you gave me made it unnecessary. I mean the fact of the 'fast watch' which, Miss Allison was able to tell me, could not have been fast at all. I saw that the watch must therefore have been set forward at least ten minutes, probably much longer. Who, between half-past ten and two, could have done this, and for what reason? The one convincing possibility was that the assassin had set it forward, trusting it would not be found until morning, and his only object could have been to establish for himself an alibi—for 2 o'clock.

"I surprised you, therefore, by assuring you, even before I saw Kanlan, that he was innocent, because Kanlan had no alibi whatever. I proved his innocence to my own satisfaction by exhibiting before him without exciting any emotional reaction at all, the report in the World which, I felt fairly sure, must have had something to do with the crime; by loosing the smell of banana oil, and setting forward a watch in his presence. The objects which Crowley used had been so thoroughly connected with the crime in Kanlan's mind that—though he is innocent—they caused reactions to which I paid no attention, except the one reaction which, at Crowley's threat, told me of Kanlan's negro blood. As for the rest, they merely scared Kanlan as your pistol scared me, and as they would have scared any innocent man under the same conditions. My own tests could cause reactions only in the guilty man.

"That man, I think you understand now," Trent continued rapidly, "I was practically sure of when Crowley told me of Caylis's alibi. You have just seen the effect upon him of the same tests I tried on Kanlan, and the conclusive evidence the galvanometer gave. The fact that Caylis himself never read the World only contributed to my certainty that another person was concerned, a person who could have either decoyed or sent Mr. Bronson out. So I went to the place, found the doctor treated, not Bronson, but the little Mitchell boy, that the telephone had been broken inside the house that evening to furnish an excuse for sending Bronson out and that Mrs. Mitchell reads the World."

"The Mitchell woman sent him out, of course," Walker checked him almost irritably. "Six blocks away—Crowley ought to have her by now."

Miss Allison gathered herself together and arose. "Inspector Walker, I must you—" she faltered.

"None of us is called upon to say Walker, that I could not explain to you how she shall be punished, Miss Allison," Trant said, compassionately. "We must trust all to the twelve men who shall try these two." But to her eyes, searching his, Trant seemed to be awaiting something. Suddenly the telephone rang. Walker took up the receiver. "It's Crowley," he cried. "He says Mrs. Mitchell slipped—cleared. You could have taken her," he accused Trant, "but you let her go."

Trant stood watching the face of Miss Allison, unmoved. The desk sergeant burst in upon them.

"Mrs. Mitchell's outside, inspector. She said she's come to give herself up."

"You counted upon that, I suppose" Walker turned again upon Trant. "But don't do it again," he warned, "for the sake of what's before you."

Title of next Sunday's achievement of Luther Trant: "The Red Dress."

Invisible Airship Patented.

[Baltimore American:] Baron Adam Roenne, a well-known airship and naval engineer, has taken out a patent in England for an invisible airship. Invisibility is to be achieved by making the outer case or envelope of chromium, a metal possessing a highly polished surface, which will be permanently maintained by means of a covering of transparent varnish.

The outer cover will thus to all intents be converted into a mirror, and invisibility will be achieved by reflection. The baron claims that there will be no recurring shade shown at bottom of the keel, as it is proposed that the latter shall taper to a point. The airship will then always take the color of the surrounding elements, and though larger than the biggest liner will be invisible at any height above about 2500 feet. Special silencing devices will also be used for the engines.

Tour of Great English Choir.

[London Chronicle:] We have at least one "big thing" to our credit that America has not so far accomplished. The Sheffield Choir, now singing in Australia, represents the biggest touring musical enterprise on record.

It numbers 230 all told, and when they return to Yorkshire in a few weeks hence, they will have covered 32,000 miles in seven months. The cost of the tour will be £60,000, the transport and hotel expenses absorbing £45,000. The choir has sung to crowded audiences in Canada, New Zealand and Australia, and if the receipts are equal to the expenses the promoters will be satisfied. The youngest member of the choir is a boy of 19, the oldest a man of 72. Three of the choristers are circumnavigating the globe hatless.

A Modest Man.

[Washington Star:] Lord Tankerville, who is sending his son to an American school in order that the boy man escape from the toadyism of English schoolboys, said the other day in New York:

"This tinker had a rather crusty disposition, and his pastor said to him one day:

"'My man, you should love your neighbor as yourself.'

"'Yes, sir,' said the tinker.

"But the pastor had in mind a nasty black eye that the tinker had given the bricklayer next door, and so he went on:

"'Do you, though; do you, honestly love your neighbor as yourself?'

"'Yes, sir; oh, yes sir,' said the tinker, and be added, 'but I'm a modest man, ye see, and, to tell the truth, I ain't a bit stuck on myself, sir.'"

Only $60 Cash and $10 a Month Buys a $600 Lot on Angeles Mesa

(SUBDIVISION NO. 4)

The success of Angeles Mesa has been so great (over three-quarters of a million dollars worth of property having been sold during the past year) that we have decided to open ANGELES MESA "SUBDIVISION NO. 4" to meet the demand of those who would like to obtain many of the surpassing home and speculative advantages that exist here at a lower price per lot.

Of course, Angeles Mesa Subdivision No. 4 does not enjoy quite the commanding view of the property on the higher ground, but it has the same speculative advantages, the same climatic features, value-giving improvements, excellent car service, ideal surroundings, proximity to millions of dollars' worth of public and private improvements, educational institutions, municipal and corporation projects. And the prices are absolutely down to bed rock. And the terms—10% cash and 1% a month—are within the reach of all.

The erection of twenty handsome bungalows (costing $2000 to $2500 each) on this new subdivision will begin immediately. The completion of these homes will give additional value to every lot in this tract. In fact, we are compelled to advance the present prices on May 1st, partially because of this big immediate improvement feature. These bungalows will be sold practically at cost and on very easy terms.

It seems almost unnecessary to say any more about Angeles Mesa Subdivision No. 4. Surely you have read enough about the phenomenal success of Angeles Mesa (proper) during the past year. What other residence subdivision can boast a selling record of three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of property in twelve months? The very fact that this new subdivision adjoins Angeles Mesa (proper) is in itself the biggest advertisement we could desire for it. Angeles Mesa "Subdivision No. 4" comprises both sides of Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Avenues, between 52d street and Slauson Avenue. Improvements will consist of five-foot walks, cement curbs, oiled and graveled streets, ornamental shade trees, water, electricity, telephones, gas, etc.

The yellow carline on 54th street runs directly through the middle of the tract, with a 5-cent carfare to all parts of the city. Another valuable improvement will be a handsome mercantile building to be erected by the company immediately on the southwest corner of 54th street and Sixth Avenue, covering four lots. It will be of the Old English style of architecture—blue brick first story, and half timber and plaster above. There will be five or six stores on the first floor, and the second and third floor divided into two-room apartments and single rooms, with eight bathrooms.

Lots $600 to $750 for inside lots—with ten per cent. discount on first two lots sold in each block—and 5% on next two sold in each block—5% discount for all cash—10% discount for first two houses built in each block. Take Hawthorne car on Spring street or 48th street car marked "Mesa Drive" on Broadway. Angeles Mesa Land Company, 1102-4-6 Title Insurance Bldg., 5th and Spring streets. Home F2387—Main 988.

ACREAGE

We have several of the choicest pieces of Acreage to be had in the District south of Los Angeles, at prices lower than the value, as demonstrated by actual sales of adjoining pieces, and decidedly below intrinsic values. These pieces are held under contract at figures and terms obtained before the announcement of certain developments and improvements that have added materially to their value.

There is no section adjoining Los Angeles in which the next couple of years will see such a decided advance in value due to the proximity of the harbor, the city and assured undertakings as this district. The terms on some of these properties are extremely easy and in one or two instances we might be able to use some trade.

CABLE MESSAGES IN BUSINESS.

LONDONERS REACH PARIS BY WAY OF NEW YORK.

Pay Extra Price for More Satisfactory Service—During Excitement on Stock Exchange the Cable Is Overwhelmed With Inquiries and Answers.

[London Answers:] "Who suspects that the quickest telegraphic route between Paris and London is via New York?" a cable expert asked recently. "Yet hustling financiers, conducting 'big deals' involving vast sums, eagerly pay the cable company 2s. per word for this roundabout but instantaneous transmission, rather than the 2d. per word charged by the British government for the direct service cable. In cabling, 'time is cash,' as the witty Frenchman remarked. Not very long ago a cable director opened a special bureau within a few yards of his existing office to save ten seconds on his New York cablegrams. He has since opened still another, within ten yards of the first, to save further seconds.

"To keep the London and New York stock exchanges in instant intercommunication he provides a £600,000 cable, long and expensive land lines, half a dozen sets of complicated costly instruments, and about a hundred highly-paid experts all along the 3000-mile 'string.' His company flashed the first signal across the Atlantic, and is still 'going strong,' especially in this 'rush' work, which foreign competitors can scarcely rival—certainly not beat.

"Shorter's Court, adjoining the stock exchange, is charged with electricity between 2 and 4:30 o'clock most days, especially after the stock exchange closes, when all dealing is done in this court. Jobbers, brokers, speculators, clerks, apple and poultry merchants, cigar-and exploiters, and impish messengers form a motley crowd, waiting for the first prices of stocks cabled from New York, where it is 10 o'clock. The perky boys cease 'skylarking' and gambling furiously for cigarette pictures; speculators stand around discussing market prospects; the little cabins in which the dealers' clerks sit or stand and deal with the cablegrams become quite animated and noisy; the passages leading to the cable office are thronged; messenger boys hop about like galvanized grasshoppers.

"CRIMES" OF THE CABLE.

"Vigilant managers in London, Ireland, Canada, and New York, jealously watch operators to prevent two cable crimes—delays and errors. In London the lightning grinders working their trusty little Morse instrument by sound, listen and write, reeling off the dispatches with bewildering rapidity—seven, eight, and even nine a minute. Often they will handle over 600 an hour, five men being needed to feed this voracious little machine.

"These special cablegrams average about six words, and certain big firms are each responsible for 100 to 150 a day, when business is booming. A 'stock' looks like this:

"'A. Z. 310. Pike sausage bilker demon.'

"As those mysterious little words may embody a £50,000 'deal,' accuracy is obviously a vital consideration. Big sums have been lost by cable errors.

"What is the entire process? A dealer or his clerk scribbles his code cablegram; instantly it is grabbed by a boy and thrust into the operator's hand, and signaled to Ireland, where another operator flashes it across the herring-pound.' On the other side a third expert fires it straight into the New York Stock Exchange, where it is instantly delivered, and the reply reaches London within three or four minutes.

"From London to New York the entire line vibrates with palpitating energy; the men, catching the fever of 'rush,' work like Trojans; there is a continuous double stream of cablegrams, for by a beautiful system known as the 'duplex' messages are sent both ways at the same time. Watch the London men working. Keen, nervy, developing wonderful mental concentration, they 'hear' nothing but the tick, tick of their instrument—think of nothing but the cabalistic signals which they interpret with such unerring accuracy.

"Probably the best time to see the inside of an Atlantic cable office is when a panic is raging in New York, creating a tremendous fever of speculation. Then the cable is literally overwhelmed with an avalanche of messages—frantic orders, to buy, to sell—to cancel previous orders, to quote prices for stocks which vary with every wild gust of the market. Instant news is necessary, for that reason. When the New Yorkers are 'out for blood' their antics are indescribable; very often there is a difference of 2 shillings per share at different points of the howling crowd of dealers, so chaotic are the conditions.

NO ROOM FOR STRANGERS.

"When there is a panic in New York, Shorter's Court is a veritable pandemonium after the Stock Exchange closes. The shouting, struggling, gesticulating brokers, jobbers, speculators, etc., are all jumbled together in a manner suggesting a football scrimmage. Weird names and prices are howled by strident-voiced dealers; sudden responses are jerked out by those who want to trade; men hop about, push through the crowd, and squeak with excitement in their efforts to 'get on' to some stock they want. A free fight appears imminent. Woe betide the unwary stranger who strays into the court to watch the fun, for he usually provides that fun.

"Promptly 'spotted' by some wag, who howls, 'A Louisville!' the intruder suddenly finds himself surrounded, chaffed,' and finally hustled through the archway passage and fired into Throgmorton street with brutal emphasis, and minus his hat. Stock Exchange men do not like strangers to mingle with them in business hours.

"Standing in the cable office during the crisis, you can almost imagine you hear the roar on the New York Stock Exchange, where men sometimes collapse from pure exhaustion resulting from the scurry and excitement.

"Occasionally a member falls down dead. Hurriedly the attendants remove the body; there is a sudden, awful silence. The horrified speculators cast a glance toward the corpse as it disappears, and—again plunge into the maelstrom, where the excitement grows more intense than ever. They have got to fight for their own financial lives.

USED FOR SINGULAR PURPOSES.

"I have seen the cable used for many singular purposes. Criminals have been captured by a timely warning through the 'string;' eminent physicians have saved precious lives by giving cablographic consultations; many a dangerous diplomatic crisis has been averted at the last moment by a conciliatory cablegram. A famous French actress, while in New York, once conducted a violent quarrel with her lover, who was at the other end of the cable in France.

"Several millionaire New York newspaper proprietors, including James Gordon Bennett, edit their newspapers by cable while in Europe, and I have handled their cablegrams containing orders, advice, and suggestions about current affairs, and even leading articles on burning subjects. The Paris Daily Mail once got most of its London news via New York during a temporary interruption of the ordinary facilities. Thanks to the cable, London and New York financiers can make big money by taking advantage of the slight difference in prices on the two exchanges, buying in one, and immediately selling in the other, at a higher price.

"Obviously, those who work year by year in this atmosphere of 'rush' are often unable to resist the strain and I have known men who have lost their reason. There is a legend of one poor fellow who so 'worried' about his work, and suffered so intensely from the daily excitement, that he went stark mad, and spent his time in engineering fantastic 'deals' involving millions, emulating the exploits of the frenzied financiers of America."

Sneezing as an Omen.

[Answers:] The only attention we pay to a sneeze at the present day is to endeavor to get rid of the chill which causes it; but a sneeze in the days of old Greece was a matter of great concern and import.

There was then a god of sneezing, and great undertakings would even be abandoned if a man sneezed at an inappropriate moment, the act being looked upon as the oracle of the god.

A sneeze between midnight and noon was looked upon as a fortunate sign, but between noon and midnight it betokened great misfortune. To sneeze to your right was lucky; to the left unlucky. Two or four sneezes were lucky, one or three very unlucky, and any undertakings in hand, should, if possible, be abandoned; more than four sneezes did not count.

There is a saying in many parts of England today: "Once a wish, twice a kiss, three times a letter, four times something better." If people sneezed together it was a good sign, particularly if they happened to be discussing business.

When New York's Winds Blow.

[New York Press:] "The Flatiron building has lost its vogue," said a connoisseur recently. "The scene has changed. I recall when the Flatiron was a magnet because of what the wind did there.

"But now comes a new place. It is between One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets, on Broadway. To be exact, it is close to the One Hundred and Sixteenth-street subway station. Broadway is a populous street there at 9 o'clock in the morning, at midday and up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Hundreds of women going to and from the Teachers' College, the Horace Mann School and Columbia pass there. Most of them are young and beautiful. The winds from the near-by river or the gales that sweep across the college campus play elfish pranks with them. Not only the girls themselves, but the people in the neighborhood have kept this a jealous secret. They have fostered the idea that the Flatiron was the only place to see the latest in hosiery. But this spring the secret is a secret no longer. Every windy day there is a big audience along the fence at Columbia—bigger than ever the more-famous corner ever knew. Whenever the wind rises above fifteen miles an hour during the day run up there yourself and see."

Small Wastes Pay Dividends.

[Providence Journal:] People who have ideas on the subject of reducing the cost of living usually seldom call attention to the great possibilities of saving by the exercise of judicious economy in the use of supplies. In this country the material wasted annually must represent several comfortable fortunes. How many persons, for example, take the trouble to see that the sugar in their coffee is thoroughly dissolved? An inspection of cups doubtless will bear out the statement that half the sugar is left on the bottom, to be emptied into the waste pipe. By using one-half the quantity and stirring it well the sugar bills of coffee drinkers would be reduced 50 per cent. without a loss of sweetening. Mustard is another commodity that is wasted. The assertion of one of the manufacturers, that the dividends came from the mustard left on the plate and not from the quantity actually consumed, undoubtedly is true. The undissolved sugar in coffee cups, likewise, helps the sugar company to make its millions in profits.

A Sociable Professor.

[American Magazine:] If you climb the south stairway of Hollis hall, one of the ancient and honorable dormitories of Harvard, some Saturday night after 10 o'clock, you will find Charles Townsend Copeland in his room up under the roof by the side of a "sea-coal fire;" and, overflowing from chair and settle to the floor at his feet, a crowd of undergraduates. There are athletes, editors, of college papers, socialists, atheists, gentlemen, social stars and the lesser orbs whose light is hid under the college bushel. Everybody talks of the thing nearest his heart, and everybody finds himself alert, quick, almost brilliant.

Doubted Hannibal Hamlin's Word.

[Boston Advertiser:] Congressman Asher Hinds of Maine and former Speaker Cannon were eating in the House restaurant, sampling the food, which they found high enough, and, of course, there was some demurring on their part and an appraisement made of the high cost of living, which pinch even Congressmen feel.

"There is much to be said on both sides of the question," broached Uncle Joe.

"And that is quite true. The cost of living is quite relative," said Hinds.

"What! $1.50 a week!" exclaimed Uncle Joe.

"Yes, a week," continued Hinds

"And Hamlin goes on to say that not only did they get a man to do it, but even a Harvard graduate, who was glad to get the lucrative job. And they even thought they were paying him well, and with that $1.50 a week. Hamlin says, the editor was able to obtain the best board in town, as good as we pay many times more for today, and have enough money left for the incidentals of life."

"Well, it is hard to believe Hamlin was not lying," commented Uncle Joe.

MONTH'S OUTPUT OF THE FIELDS

Santa Maria Produces Ov Half Million Barrels.

Considerable Wildcat Wor Still Going On.

Resume of Activity in Var ous Districts.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SANTA MARIA, March 23.—Ju now the situation in the Santa Mar and Lompoc fields stands about a follows, statistically:

For the month of January tot production was in the neighborhoo of 600,000 barrels. For Februar production dropped off a bit, 530,00 barrels being the yield for the month This difference was occasioned by th bringing in of some new wells, which starting off at big figures, have sinc settled down to a more staid and per manent basis. Of oil now in storag in the Santa Maria and Lompoc dis trict, not taking into account the tan farm at San Luis Obispo, there are 700,000 barrels. There are 245 pro ducing wells, twenty-nine idle, thirty four suspended, twenty-two drilling fifty abandoned, besides eleven new rigs which have been erected but not yet spudded in.

It is understood that most of the suspended wells will soon resume operations. A number of these were shut down because of the rainy sea son, which renders access to some of the rigs extremely difficult. While in reality the rains of this year have not hindered the hauling of material, and access to the wells, to any great extent, the floods of last year are still within the memory of the operators and prevention has been considered more worthy than cure.

Wild-catting ventures for the year 1911 in this territory were not eminently successful; nor were they altogether tinged with discouragement. In most of these ventures operations are still going on, and success or failure is still to be recorded on the log-book. Great expectations were based upon the Tepusquet territory. As yet these have not been defeated. The Princess well has again resumed operations and is getting along finely. The 6¼-inch casing which was removed from the No. 1 well on the Muscio tract has been installed and the drill is again pounding into the grit. Superintendent Winger of the Santa Maria Midway well says he is after oil on the Ontiveros tract in the Tepusquet, and that he is going to get it. He is handling the drill himself nowadays and advanced the depth of the hole eighty feet last week. The well is about 2950 feet deep at present, and is in a rich brown shale. "If we don't get oil," said he, "then all indications within the range of my experience will be given the lie."

DRILLING TEST WELL.

The Oilfields Syndicate well, on the John Bell tract, to the southeast of Cat Canyon proper, is making a test. A second stratum of the oil sands was penetrated last week and drilling suspended at 2475 feet in order to test out. About two months ago considerable excitement was occasioned when this company struck oil sands at 2060 feet. Unconfirmed reports went abroad to the effect that a gusher of light oil had been tapped. When the official truth had asserted itself it was found that a small quantity of oil had been produced, of a gravity in the neighborhood of 15 deg. Baume. Great interest attaches to the final say upon this well, as it is situated over two miles to the south of the proven area.

Palmer No. 6, or, more properly speaking, Palmer Union-Blochman No. 6, is in the oil sands and a test is to be made. The log-book shows similar formation to No. 4, particularly with reference to the sands. While the drill has penetrated through considerably over 150 feet of the pay stratum it is probable the work will be carried a few feet deeper. Heavy gas pressure indicates the proabability of another gusher. Word has gone forth that No. 2 is to be deepened in an effort to reach the oil sands encountered by the Union-Bell gusher, No. 5. No. 3 is situated about seventy-five yards from the last spouter and the chances for another big well on the Blochman ranch look good.

The recent rumor regarding sale of the Palmer Union properties stands unconfirmed. Negotiations are pending, but the deal is hardly yet consummated, as so big a project, of a necessity, takes time.

Brooks No. 2, on the lease of the Brooks Oil Company in Cat Canyon, is gradually assuming for itself the status of sterling worth which proximated for it when first brought in. It has been found no longer necessary to bring the compressor into action. By a process of swabbing the well is steadily improving and is now yielding over 400 barrels a day of good oil. The product is steadily lightening in gravity and the owners are jubilant over the outlook. This well gives promise of developing into one of the big wells of the district.

Final No. 2, on the Fleisher tract in Cat Canyon, which spudded in a couple of weeks ago, is going ahead merrily and is now over 800 feet deep with the 12½-inch casing. The location of this well is but a short distance from No. 1, which was so unfortunately and unexpectedly ruined by an inrush of water. This accident occurred at a time when the well gave every indication of becoming a first-class producer.

OIL-FIELD ACTIVITY.

The Oil Field seems to be taking on new life. Western Union No. 48 is on the beam for a thorough test under the superintendent Jay Stair ter that the well at this stage looks to be of the same caliber as No. 47, which is now daily producing 600 barrels of light-gravity oil. The new rival was brought in at the same depth as Union-Newlove No. 38. Union-Newlove No. 39 is now being tested for, but so far has not come up to expectations. It was found necessary to drill 300 feet deeper than upon No. 38.

The Bessemer Gas Engine Company, under the title of the Western Gasoline Company, has installed a plant upon the Hall & Hall property, to the southeast of the town of Orcutt. The site is in the heart of the Old Field. The machinery installed consists of two fifty-horse-power engines and boilers. The product of the Hall tract, as well as that of the new Pennsylvania, has been leased. The company expects to extract 750

Resume of Activity in Various Districts.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SANTA MARIA, March 23.—Just how the situation in the Santa Maria and Lompoc fields stands about as follows, statistically:

For the month of January total production was in the neighborhood of 600,000 barrels. For February returns being the yield for the month. It is understood that most of the suspended wells will soon resume operations. The second stratum of the oil sands was penetrated last week and drilling suspended at 2475 feet in order to test out. About two months ago considerable excitement was occasioned when this company struck oil and sand at 1940 feet. Unconfirmed reports went abroad to the effect that a gusher of light oil had been tapped. When the official truth had asserted itself it was found that a small quantity of oil had been produced, of a quality in the neighborhood of 15 degrees Baume. Great interest attaches to the final say upon this well, as it is situated over two miles to the south of the proven area.

Heavy gas pressure indicates the probability of another gusher. It has gone forth that No. 3 is to be deepened in an effort to reach the sands encountered by the Union-Blochman, No. 8. No. 3 is situated one hundred-five yards from the gusher and the chances for another big well on the Blochman ranch are good.

The recent rumor regarding sale of the Palmer Union properties stands unconfirmed. Negotiations are pending, but the deal is hardly yet consummated, as so big a project, of a kind, takes time.

The location of this well is but a short distance from No. 1, which was so unexpectedly and unexpectedly ruined by an inrush of water. This accident occurred at a time when the well gave every indication of becoming a first-class producer.

OIL-FIELD ACTIVITY.

The Orcutt Field seems to be taking on new life. Western Union No. 48 is on the beam for a thorough test and Superintendent Jay Stair says that the well at this stage looks to be of the same caliber as No. 47, which is now daily producing 600 barrels of light-gravity oil. The new rig that was brought in at the same time for Union-Newlove No. 38, Union-Newlove No. 39 is now being tested and so far has not come up to expectations. It was found necessary to drill 300 feet deeper than upon the start.

The Rumsey Gas Engine Company, under the title of the Western Gas Engine Company, has installed a plant on the Hall & Hall property, just west of the town of Orcutt. The property is in the heart of the Old Orcutt field. The machinery installed consists of two fifty-horse-power engines and a pump. The product of the Hall tract, as well as that of the Bell Pennsylvania, has been leased. The company expects to extract 750 gallons of gasoline daily from the product of these two tracts. The oil of this district has been found to be the richest in the State in gasoline, with the possible exception of the Fullerton field. The output has been found to vary from well to well, but the average is found to be better than six gallons of gasoline from each 1000 cubic feet of gas. It is possible to derive profit from an output of one gallon of gasoline from each 1000 cubic feet of gas. After the gasoline is removed the residuum of gas is pumped back for fuel purposes, and it has been found that no loss of heat units is occasioned therefrom. The result is merely a slight lessening of the volume of gas.

News Notes and Personals.

George T. Wilson of Medford, Or., has been in the Coalinga oil fields for several days looking over various properties with a view to investment.

Thomas Whaley of the Pluto Oil Company, operating in the Devil's Den district, has been visiting the Coalinga field for the past few days.

Marvin Corey, who is operating in the Lost Hills country, has been on a business visit to the Coalinga field for several days and has returned to the scene of his operations.

George D. Roberts of the United Development Company, operating on Southern Pacific land in the Coalinga field, accompanied by C. E. Whitney, has been making an automobile tour.

E. H. Averell of Spokane, Wash., has been paying a visit to the Coalinga oil fields. He is financially interested in the Section 2 property.

Dr. Gresham and Bud Gailbreath of Coalinga, who went to Fresno the other day in the interest of the Lost Hills Capital Oil Company, have returned home.

W. H. McDonald of the M. and M. and Delilah mining companies, has been paying a business visit to Coalinga for the past few days.

H. P. Truitt, chief engineer of the Kern Trading and Oil Company, arrived in Coalinga the other day from San Francisco and will remain several days on business for the company.

M. E. Lombardi, superintendent of construction for the Kern Trading and Oil Company, recently made a trip of inspection over the company's properties in the Coalinga field.

Louis Chittenden of Hanford, an official of the Bohemian Oil Company, has been in the Coalinga field making an inspection of the property.

The Coalinga Oil Men's Association held an interesting meeting the other day. Several papers were read on drilling methods, and other topics were discussed.

It is reported that the Spellacy interests have brought a big gusher within 2000 feet of the big producer of the East Coast Oil Company in the Tampico region. The well is on the Rameras ranch.

Elect Captains.

South Park Baptist Church boys will meet Tuesday evening for election of squad captains. Pastor Johnson called the meeting and will be on hand to encourage the boys.

Coalinga.

STANDARD WILL START DRILLING.

Activity Is to Be Resumed in Coalinga Field.

Lucile Oil Company to Pay Good Dividend.

Dominion Oil Company Will Go Much Deeper.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

COALINGA, March 23.—The Standard Oil Company, on Section 28, 19-15, is building a rig for well No. 93, near the north line of the section, and No. 81, which was built almost two years ago, will also be started drilling. Both rigs are in the neighborhood of well No. 80 which is producing a paraffine base oil from the Eocene sand, which underlies the upper oil sands of the East Side field.

Since well No. 80 proved the existence of the lower sand of paraffin base, several of the companies in that neighborhood have been preparing to drill into this sand, and it is evident from the starting of two strings of tools for this sand, that the Standard is desirous of a large production of the oil. The Limited is surveying and spotting locations, and building roads on Section 21, north of the Standard, and it is believed that at least two strings will be run by the big company on his section in the near future.

The Sontag No. 2 well of the Standard, on section 36, 19-15, was cemented off at 3440 feet last week, in the 81-inch casing. It is expected that the oil will be reached at 3900 feet.

O. W. Little and family left on the 5:30 train last evening for Salt Lake City and will be gone from Coalinga for several months. Little has interests in the Virgin River and San Jaun oil fields in Utah and is making the trip to the Mormon State for the purpose of looking after them. Before returning to Coalinga, which will be in November or December, the Littles will visit their old home in the State of Maine. Little represented the Wilson-Willard Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles in the Coalinga field and the firm's interests will be looked after here by the Bole Pump Company.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Lucile Oil Company was held Tuesday afternoon. A large percentage of the stock was represented and general satisfaction was expressed with the reading of the secretary's annual report. A ten-cent divident was declared on the stock, payable immediately, after which the election of the board of directors for the ensuing year was held. The old board was re-elected unanimously and officers chosen as follows: J. M. Robertson, president; Geo. W. Davis, vice-president; Jas. R. Davis, secretary and treasurer, with Z. L. Phelps and John Webb the other directors.

Superintendent George Warner, of the Dominion Oil Company, on Section 7, 23-17, received word this week from Toronto, Canada, the home office of the company, instructing him to resume work on the well and carry the hole to a depth of 3500 feet if necessary to reach the pay sand. The well is now 3440 feet deep and in good shape. The Dominion is the only well drilling along the west side of Kings county and is being watched with great interest by the operators of this field. Drilling was resumed Tuesday.

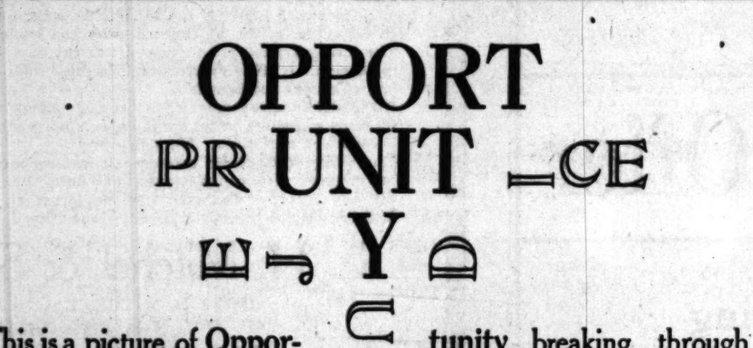
Well No. 1, of the United Development Company on Section 17, 20-15, in the Coalinga field, has landed its 15¼-inch casing at 900 feet and the 12¼-inch casing at 1800 feet. The 10-inch string is being put in the hole now. Superintendent Roberts states that he expects to shut the water off in the 10-inch.

Mr. Strong of Los Angeles, was a visitor in Coalinga yesterday afternoon in the interest of the St. Elmo property of which he is the owner. The property has been shut down for several months and Strong's visit here was with a view to starting work on the lease again. There are about half a dozen pumping wells on the St. Elmo lease, but it is not believed that new rigs will be started in the near future.

WEST VIEW HEIGHTS.

Charles O. Middleton, selling agent for West View Heights, the new Washington boulevard subdivision placed on the market a week ago, reports sales to date aggregating $45,650. These follow: Miss J. E. Hatch, Santa Monica, $1350; Miss L. M. Roush, Santa Monica, $1350; Albert E. Mills, $1500; G. H. Blaylock, $1350; William C. Morris, two lots, $2700; J. D. Fellows, Santa Monica, $1400; H. T. Sneath, $1550; Mrs. Lillian J. Noland, $1350; Frank G. Carlisle, $1350; E. J. Lawton, Bakersfield, two lots, $2700; Lura M. Davison, $1500; J. E. Adams, two lots, $5850; Charles O. Middleton, two lots, $4500; Jonathan S. Dodge, Pasadena, two lots, $3000; James A. Anderson, $1500; J. H. Miller, three lots, $7650; Frank Sloan, $1550 and Charles J. Griffin, $1500. J. E. Adams will at once erect a $10,000 home on a Washington boulevard corner in the tract and G. F. Sloan will soon start a fine dwelling on Rimpau avenue.

OPPORTUNITY



This is a picture of Opportunity breaking through Prejudice. Opportunity always BREAKS THROUGH. It may be held back for a time, but in due time EVERYBODY KNOWS what only a few people have known and Prejudice is destroyed FOREVER.

Marinette has broken through. Ten Years from now, MARINETTE will be as famous, as productive, as popular and as valuable as the best Orange Growing Regions of Whittier or Claremont, Riverside or Redlands. Land in these regions now sells as high as $1000 an acre for land alone, with an enormous annual charge for water. MARINETTE LANDS, within a mile of the railway station, sell for only $200, with an abundant supply of very cheap water.

Ten Years from Now men now limited in means, but unlimited in outlook, will be Independently Wealthy at MARINETTE. They will have bought land cheap and at easy terms, taken advantage of the exceptional facilities at MARINETTE for making a living while the trees are growing, and will have Palatial Homes in a Beautiful Setting, and a Delightful Climate, with incomes of $3000 to $10,000 a year.

Don't Let Prejudice Stand Between YOU and Opportunity BREAK THROUGH

Marinette is a Magnificent Plateau of Level land. You could not tell the difference between any two ten-acre tracts with a microscope, and a teaspoon, but the Early Buyers are Getting Land Closer in, for Less Money than Tardy Comers will pay for Land Further Out. It pays to be prompt.

Investigate A man said to us the other day. "I find that all I thought about the Salt River Valley is wrong. The reason is that I got my information from people who wanted to sell me land somewhere else, and naturally did NOT want me to know the real truth about the Salt River Valley, its Opportunities, soil, climate, and irrigation facilities." How about YOU?

Excursions We have arranged for a series of excursions to Marinette, Glendale and Phoenix, in the Salt River Valley. These excursions will be cheap, pleasant and convenient. One this week, Wednesday. Better come in and talk with us about them.

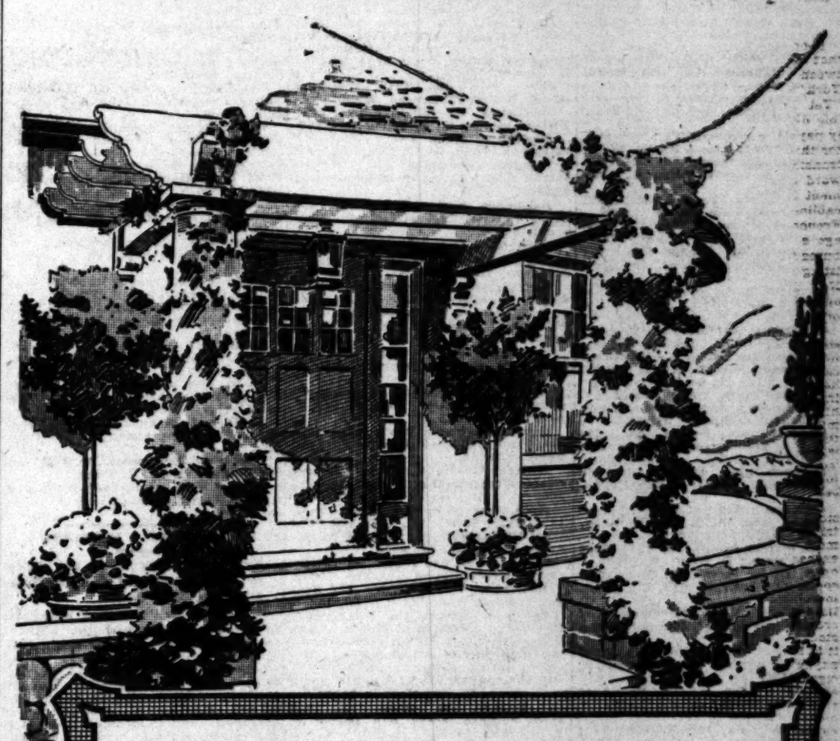
Athens-on-the-Hill



The latest Athens-on-theHill feature is Arcadia Park, on which we will spend over $30,000.00 during the next few months. This park will be one of the most beautiful spots in the southwestern part of the city. Every man, woman and child living in Athens-on-the-Hill will be privileged to enjoy the beauties of Arcadia Park, to their heart's content. It will be an ideal playground, and add considerable to the already many attractive features, which once seen and appreciated, will make you a strong enthusiast over this peer of the southwest—Athens-on-the-Hill.

Still they come—the shrewd investors, who demand value for their money. The numbers are increasing. It's only the natural result of the fame of this beautiful home park, spreading far and wide. Little printed praise is necessary to popularize Athens-on-the-Hill. The majority of sales have been to persons who have been advised to buy in Athens-on-the-Hill. This advice came from friends who have already bought.

All we ask is a visit. Come down to this tract and enjoy a pleasant time. Visit the tract in which the owners live. If it's good enough for them, it's good enough for you. You can readily realize that improvements put in under the personal supervision of the owners are certainly of the best quality. This is one reason why this is absolutely the best home-site buy in the Southwest today. Think of getting big, beautifully located lots (not key lots) at such a low price!

Lots 50x182 Only $500

on Satisfactory Terms

Athens-on-the-Hill is in the Southwest part of the city on the Athens Cut-off line of the Pacific Electric. Leaving Sixth street station in big, luxurious cars you can make the trip in just 20 minutes. Compare that time with the 30 and 40 minutes wearisome ride in order to reach tracts in other parts of the city where the lots are selling for double Athens-on-the-Hill prices. Two yellow car lines also reach the tract.

Athens-on-the-Hill is on the celebrated Harbor Boulevard, Vermont avenue and exclusive Figueroa street. All modern improvements. Wise restrictions rigidly enforced.

Come to our office today. Open Sundays 9:30 to 1:30. Get details. Cars leave every little while. You will enjoy the trip.

FINANCIAL FORESIGHT

Founded as it is on a broad plan, that fully protects the small investor as well as the large stockholder.

PACIFIC HOME BUILDERS

are offering a limited amount of stock at $1.25 per share, and do so with full confidence that that price will be interesting to those who appreciate the value of a safe investment that offers more than ordinary dividends.

Right here comes the inevitable question, WHY? and the WHY is simply because a live directorate sees to it that the collective capital of PACIFIC HOME BUILDERS' earns the maximum interest, and furthermore, by the fortunate purchase of real estate of exceptional value, together with the profits on building operations, has been enabled to declare dividends approximating 8% since the first quarter after organization.

The subdivision of land has made thousands of Los Angeles men wealthy, and as PACIFIC HOME BUILDERS' have tracts that are now under subdivision, the shareholders as a matter of course will share in the money earned in the way of profits. Remember our Guarantee Fund has repurchased every share of stock offered it by investors who found it necessary to secure the return of their money, and again REMEMBER that we grant the privilege of subscribing for stock at the current price, paying thereon, 10% down and 10% per month until paid for.

PENS MADE OF TANTALUM.

Exhaustive Tests Show the Metal to Be Superior to Gold or Other Materials Now Used.

[Vulkan:] The excellent properties of tantalum suggested the idea of using this metal for writing pens Most of the pens now used are of steel, whose elasticity gives the desired pliability to the pens. But the steel pen rusts easily and is attacked by ink. Gold is rust-proof and not so attacked. But gold alone is too soft for use in pen nibs, and the extreme points must have some hard metal like iridium soldered to them to make them durable, which is a complicated and expensive task.

Tantalum was found to be a perfect substitute, combining the pliable and elastic tenacity of the steel with the chemical stability of the gold. Some very interesting tests have been made by a Berlin firm. The tantalum metal was cut, formed and split like an ordinary steel pen. Then the points were bent, ground, shaped and hardened by a special hardening process which was found to greatly prolong the lief of the pens.

Comparative tests were made between steel, gold and tantalum pen points on six miles of paper, and the results showed the hardened tantalum pen to be far superior to the others. The chemical tests showed these pens to be proof against the attack of every ink used, although the pens were exposed to the action of the same for several weeks.

ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE.

Find Out the Best Way of Doing Things With the Greatest Conservation of Personal Energy.

The veteran farmer-author, E. P. Powell, pointing the way to "A Few Acres and Independence" in Outing says: "In this search for independence I have not failed to take counsel with the women. An ambitious little lady lives near me, who grows about everything that she likes to see grow, and wastes many a dime in doing it. It is the esthetic in her that does the mischief, for women have been too long confined to the flower garden part of tillage. However, this little woman has secured independence.

"Not far from her lives another, Cornell trained, who has as much zeal for vegetables as for caladiums and violets. Asking this fine woman the key to her success in gardening she answered: 'Oh, nothing, only getting up at daybreak, and doing most of my garden work in the cool freshness of morning.'

"I am not sure but this answer contains a great deal more than the masculine mind will quickly measure. We know enough to do our intellectual work when the body is in its best condition; why not also our physical work? The problem of rest counts in very sharply with the problem of achievement. It pays not to overwork. Our best ways of work should first be found out; each for himself; no shirking, no suicide."

A Garage, Not a Stable.

[Philadelphia Press:] In Massachusetts the Supreme Court has held that a garage is not a stable in the meaning of this term in realty restrictions. This is a just decision which recognizes changes in life, custom and habits and acts on them.

An improvement company had sold land subject to the familiar restriction that "no stable, private or otherwise, shall ever be erected or maintained on any portions" of the land sold. The court decided that a "stable" in such a restriction involved "the presence of domestic nimals, like horses or cattle." If these were absent the building, the court held, was not a "stable," even if the dictionary defines a garage as a "stable for motor cars."

The occupants of the next lot disliked a garage as much as a stable. Hence the action. In its bearings on realty restrictions in other States, this is an important decision and it comes from a court whose findings are heard with respect by the bench in all states.

GREAT DREDGE NEARLY READY.

Quarter Million Dollars Is Cost of Machine.

Trinity Dredging Company Doing Big Things.

Small Boats for Work Near American River.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

REDDING (Cal.) March 23.—The Trinity Dredging Company is rapidly completing its monster dredge near Lewiston, and expects to inaugurate operations early in June. The hull has been completed and has a length of 199 feet, with a forty-six-foot beam. It was constructed almost entirely of timber secured in Trinity forests. The work of installing the heavy steel machinery is progressing rapidly and the total cost of the completed dredge will approximate $250,000. The bucket line carries sixty-five two-cubic-feet manganese steel buckets, arranged in three sections. The hood is of high-carbon steel, and the bottom of high-carbon steel manganese steels. The lip is high-carbon steel and the various sections are securely riveted together by steel plates. The buckets are arranged in a close-connected line, the entire weight of the line running over ninety tons. The dredge will excavate to a depth of forty-five feet below the water line, and has a rated capacity of 100,000 to 110,000 cubic yards of material per month. With the exception of the monster gold boats of the Natomas Consolidated of California, and the Yuba Consolidated gold fields, operating in the Folsom, Yuba River and Oroville fields, the new dredge will be one of the largest in California.

The company controls 800 acres of land about five miles from Lewiston, and has prospected the greater portion sufficiently to justify expectations of good profits when the dredge goes into action. The machine is expected to handle twenty-five to thirty acres per year, thus giving an approximate life of fifteen to twenty years for the enterprise, provided the deposits prove as valuable as indicated. Considerable Southern California capital is interested. E. L. Smith, president of the company, was formerly connected with the Butte Creek Dredging Company.

DREDGING IN PLACER.

Two close corporations, numbering several Southern Californians among their members, are building small dredges for operation along the American River, a short distance below Auburn, Placer county. The first of these dredges is about to go into action on Whiskey Bar, below Rattlesnake bridge, where the deposit is said to be fifty feet deep with gold deposits excellent. The dredge will operate down the American River, the company having acquired a considerable acreage of rich placer land. The second dredge will go into action near Oregon Bar, on the middle fork of the American, and work down the river to Whiskey Bar. Numerous pockets of rich gravel have been proven on the estate of the company and excellent profits are expected. Owing to the difficulties attending transportation of supplies and machinery over the steep mountain trails, the building of this dredge is proceedingly slowly, and it will probably be near the middle of summer before work commences. It is understood interests connected with the Cache Rock Dredging Company are associated with the new companies. The Cache Rock company is composed of Angelenos and, according to reports, has reaped splendid profits following the building of a good boat on the American River.

Trinity Mine Showing Well.

The first clean-up of bullion from the Angelo Bellis mine, near Trinity Center, netted the owners $17,000. Two months ago San Francisco and Los Angeles parties purchased the property for $25,000, after the owners had taken out a similar amount. The first returns have come within $500 of refunding the entire purchase price to the company. Bellis sold because of unwillingness to operate the property, being content with the fortune he had gathered. The new owners are elated over the outlook and are confident the property will return magnificent profits over the original investment. It is stated improvements will be vigorously prosecuted during the summer and the equipment probably augmented.

Deals in High Grade.

It is stated the Klondike and Gold Queen claims, adjoining the Ft. Bidwell Consolidated holdings, have been bonded by a syndicate of Denver capitalists. A company, known as the High Grade Gold Mines Company has been organized to exploit the claims. The holdings are in the same belt as the Mountain View claim of the Ft. Bidwell Consolidated, where bonanza ore is being mined from a narrow vein of quartz. At the Sunshine considerable work is under way, but further developments are handicapped because of the severe winter weather. A shipment of 800 sacks of ore is about to be made, and it is claimed that much of this will average $1000 per ton. The rich stuff is coming from a seam of quartz and talc running about twelve inches wide. Work is under way and the latest report is declared to give backs of ore. It is understood this property is now in the hands of Los Angeles people. It is stated the deal for the Big Four has not been consummated, owing to the inability of experts to satisfactorily examine the property. The deep snow prevents the inspection of surface workings and it is likely the sale will be transacted early spring sets in. Denver people have the acquisition of several claims and intentions of inceptting extensive work early in June. The Ft. Bidwell Consolidated Mines Company, in which several Los Angeles people are interested, is quietly preparing for vigorous activities. This company has been pushing development about three years and has developed a good body of milling quartz. There is a narrow streak of ore and talc, ranging arpund eight inches wide and assayed at $1000 per ton has been encountered. A lease has been taken on the Old Glory claim, adjoining the Mountain View, by N. E. Guyot, the owner of Cripple Creek." Guyot says active work starts as soon as the other permits. The Ft. Bidwell

Ores Rich in High Grade.

The Klondike and Gold Bug, adjoining the Ft. Bidwell holdings, have been acquired by a syndicate of Denver capitalists. A company, known as the Klondike Gold Mines Company has been organized to exploit the claims. The claims are in the same belt as the Mountain View claim of the Ft. Bidwell Consolidated, where bonanza ore is being taken from a narrow streak of quartz. At the Sunshine claim work is under way, but no developments are handicapped by reason of the severe winter weather. A shipment of 800 sacks of ore is about to be made, and it is stated the result of this will average $40 per ton. The rich stuff is taken from a seam of quartz and slate about twelve inches wide. It is said in a similar way and the latest shipment is declared to give backs of $100 per ton. It is understood this property is in the hands of Los Angeles people. It is stated the deal for the Ft. Bidwell has not been consummated owing to the inability of experts sufficiently examine the property, the deep snow prevents the prosecution of surface workings and it is said the sale will be transacted before next fall. Denver people have the acquisition of several claims in contemplation of incepting active work early in June.

The Ft. Bidwell Consolidated Mines Co., in which several Los Angeles people are interested, is quietly pushing vigorous activities. This company has been pushing development work during these years and has opened a good body of milling quartz. The average breadth of ore and talc, it is reported, is eight inches wide. Assays at $1000 per ton has been obtained. A lease has been taken on the Cherry claim, adjoining the Sunshine, by W. E. Guyot, the well-known Cripple Creek." Guyot will start as soon as active work starts as soon as possible. The Ft. Bidwell company has a good five-stamp plant and is in a position to operate along broad lines. The Modoc Mines Company, composed principally of Colorado and Chicago people, is sending down the shaft with hand-power. Late reports are to the effect that over ten feet of snow is on the ground and it will be practically impossible to commence activities before June.

Unionites Active.

The walking delegates of the Western Federation of Miners are again attempting to organize miners' unions on the Mother Lode. Their latest attempt is at Sutter Creek, but late advices are not particularly cheering to the closed-shop bosses. The Western Federation has repeatedly attempted to organize Mother Lode miners, but generally the unions have disintegrated as rapidly as formed. The Mother Lode miners are satisfied with existing conditions and the walking delegates experience considerable trouble in convincing the men they should be taxed for the support of the sleek Federation agitators.

May Change Hands.

The stockholders of the Lincoln Consolidated Mining Company are seriously considering the acquisition of the Wildman-Mahoney group of gold mines, near Amador City. The property has been held for some time by the California Consolidated Mines Company, now in the hands of a receiver. The holdings embrace a large acreage of valuable mineral land, with three shafts and two 40-stamp mills. The deepest development was performed at 1400 feet. In former years the Wildman-Mahoney ranked as one of the foremost gold producers of California, and with further depth promises to again achieve greatness. The property adjoins the Lincoln Consolidated, which is being rehabilitated from a generally considered worked out mine into a highly-promising producer. If the deal is made it is likely connections will be established and operations conducted by way of a central shaft. It is understood, however, that the California Consolidated people are anxious to recover control of the Wildman-Mahoney, with scant promise of so succeeding.

YUMA CONSOLIDATED. DRY PLACER MINING.

The Yuma Consolidated, a mining company organized under the laws of Arizona and financed by Boston capital, has perfected a combination dry dredging machine, which consists of a Barnett digger or dredger, a Quenner disintegrating machine which will pulverize the cement, and a Stebbins dry concentrator which separates the gold or other valuable heavy material from the gravel. This is a continuous process, and the combination machine is designed to handle 2000 yards per day of twenty-four hours, at a cost of about 10c per yard and saving 95 per cent. of the values contained in the gravel.

There are extensive dry placer fields contiguous and adjacent to Los Angeles and, if the Yuma Consolidated venture is a success, it will mean a big increase in the production of gold for this section, as most of the dry diggings on this coast are situated in New Mexico, Arizona, Southern California and Old Mexico. This territory is all contiguous to Los Angeles.

The Yuma Consolidated has acquired by location and purchase 3000 acres of dry placer in the Mesquite mining district in Imperial county, a historical digging discovered by the search for the famous lost Peg-leg mine; and has produced hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Nevada.

BLUE BULL AND BOOTH ACTIVE.

These Two Are Properties of George Wingfield.

Gypsy Queen to Hold Aloof from Mine Brokers.

Significant Statement from Nevada Hills.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) March 22.—The chief scene of operations this week has been on the estates of Blue Bull and Booth, both Wingfield corporations, which have been reorganized on the assessment plan for the purpose of providing a working fund. Hoists have been installed and sinking begun and there is every assurance that no suspension will ensue until both companies reach the lower contact where they expect to be rewarded with a good body of ore. George Wingfield is the principal stockholder in both companies, and this fact of itself is a guarantee that the work will be faithfully and well done.

On the Sandstorm lease reports of last week gave currency to a story alleging the discovery of very rich high grade, averaging $1000 to the sack, but the reports were not confirmed although the company workings are looking finer than at any time since the resumption. The work of leasers at present consists of extending old drifts and exploring in the immediate neighborhood of old stopes, where the lessees believe they will pick up the extension of some of the rich ore shoots that have been productive of high grade in the past. The Sandstorm ground, which includes some of the first locations made in this district, has produced a good tonnage of ore, some of the product having been shipped out by express before the coming of the first railroad.

The Gypsy Queen, a Tonopah gold proposition, has concluded to mine without the assistance of San Francisco brokers who are provocative of more trouble than any other cause in the present advanced condition of Southern Nevada mines. A resolution was adopted empowering the directors to contract with the North Star company for the consummation of a side line agreement, and for the continued use of the 1250 shaft of the North Star. In the event that the directors of both companies cannot get together a merger of the two companies is sanctioned.

The litigation affecting the title of the Red Hills Mining Company, which was jumped last New Year's night, has been compromised out of court and all suits withdrawn. This involved ownership of the September, October and St. Paul claims in the Goldfield district. The settlement will likely lead to the prosecution of work on the Red Hills, which is reputed to be one of the best locations in the district, with ample money behind it to carry on any plan of development that may be determined.

LITIGATION SETTLED.

One of the big events of the week has been the settlement of the sale of what is known as the Lime Point group at Hornsilver. This was consummated by transferring the property to a Milwaukee syndicate, which proposes to operate the ground to a depth which will determine the mooted question of values in that quarter. Hornsilver was rushed four years ago, and quite a camp was established on the strength of showings made by the Great Western mine owned by the Russell brothers. About $50,000 worth of ore was taken out and then the property was allowed to sink into obscurity owing to financial difficulties. Since then the owners have taken out several carloads and a French syndicate was so pleased with the property that it took a bond and option with the intention of erecting a mill later in the summer.

The French company has acquired water rights on that section of the desert, and tests are now in progress looking to the adoption of some system of treatment for the ore which carries values in both gold and silver, the latter predominating. The new company from Milwaukee is known as the Hornsilver Mining Company and the first work will be to extend a shallow shaft from 110 feet to 400 feet before doing any more prospecting by laterals. They expect to catch the Great Western vein on its shoot at 800 feet, and if this is gained there is not likely to be any doubt of the result.

On the 120-foot level of the Silver Pick consolidated a strong vein is being developed and the enlarged and well-timbered shaft now down 212 feet, is beginning to penetrate the water level. The present showing is of such good promise and the work is at a point so near the ground that has been highly productive that the manager is confident of securing tangible returns before long. The east drift on the 120 level is being sent towards the old Ish Sheets lease territory which produced a fortune in gold. In this ground the ore was first found at a depth of only sixty-eight feet, but was later opened up on the 240 level, and was stoped from this depth nearly to the surface. In this vein the ore was mined close up to the side lines of the Silver Pick and the management has the utmost confidence in picking up the extension of this bonanza ore shoot.

The Keane Wonder mine has resumed after a lapse of three weeks while the company was waiting for the arrival of two miles of steel cable from St. Louis, which will enable the mill to return to the treatment of ore, which was suspended by the fracture of the huge aerial cable which spans the distance between the mine and mill. The cable will cost the company actually $10,000 for replacement, and as much more consequent on stoppage of the mine and mill.

JUMBO EXTENSION.

Jumbo extension has doubled in value in the last ten days owing to persistent reports that the mine has finally reached conditions which warrants the manager in stating officially that it will be added to the regular shippers of the district before another month. The manager says the physical condition of the property has been steadily improving but the facts have been held in the background until such time as they could speak authoritatively. Development work has been in progress on the Poleverde claim of the Jumbo Extension for many months, and has involved some of the most difficult engineering problems in connection with which old miners of Cripple Creek and the Coeur d'Alenes have ex-

EL SEGUNDO

Little Acre Farms

Acres at EL SEGUNDO have many advantages: First, the location; second, the ideal car service; and third, the close proximity to an industrial district.

On an acre farm you can have health and independence and reduce the cost of living down to the minimum. You can have your garden, chickens and fruit trees, all of which are revenue producers. The general run of acreage is more or less plentiful, but acreage close to industrial centers is very scarce, and you know that the increase in realty values is caused by the surrounding development and industrial activity.

You can have your acre at EL SEGUNDO and pay for it $10 monthly. The EL SEGUNDO HOME BUILDERS will construct your home at a very low cost. The new railroad enables builders to get material cheap.

EL SEGUNDO citizens are an optimistic lot. They have faith in the future of "The City That Must Be Built." They know that profits are being made and will be made. They know that EL SEGUNDO during the past seven months has made a wonderful showing; in fact, such a showing as has never been equaled in the history of Pacific Coast refinery town construction.

We want you to visit EL SEGUNDO. One look will convince you of its merits. Why not go down today and see the acreage and town lot offers? Big lots for only $350 up, $10 down, and $10 per month.

See us first for details, then take Del Rey-Redondo car.

Artesian Well On Our Property Flowing 40 Miner's Inches. Sketched from Photo.

Date Palm Bearing 150 Pounds of Fruit—Sketched from Photo.

Why Not Join Us and Grow DATES?

They Yield a Yearly Profit of $1000 to $3000 Per Acre

We own 480 acres of the choicest date land in all California, on which 250 miner's inches of water has been developed. A part of this land is now devoted to alfalfa, grain and hog raising. These industries will show a profit of 8 per cent. annually while the date trees, which we are now planting on the balance of the tract, are maturing.

The trees will be planted 50 to the acre, and will yield 200 pounds to the tree. At the lowest market price, 10 cents a pound, the annual money yield from each acre will be $1000. The annual profit of the entire ranch will total $500,000.

Our proposition is not a speculation. There is no element of the speculative in it. IT IS SURE, CERTAIN, PROVEN. IT IS AN OPPORTUNITY.

Only a few more shares of stock will be sold and the price is $1 a share. More than 100,000 shares have already been sold. There is no necessity for selling but very little more, as the money is to be used only to finish developing the property.

Investigate today. This is an offer which is seldom equaled in the investment field, either for safety or for profit.

United States Government Experts Have Proved the Tremendous Possibilities of Date Culture.

And in every step in our date culture we shall follow closely the steps which the agricultural specialists have found most practical and profitable. Thousands of trees are already growing on our land, thriving under the expert care they have received.

INSURGENTS MAY DROP ROOSEVELT

His Movement Has Proved a Disappointment.

Justice Hughes Suggested as Good Successor.

Will Wait Until Colonel Has Taken the Stump.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—[Special to New York Tribune.] The advisability of dropping Theodore Roosevelt as a Presidential candidate is being seriously urged by certain of the "anything to beat Taft" insurgents, it was learned today. There is, they contend, no disloyalty to Col. Roosevelt in this proposition, because they are "fighting for a principle and the issue is in no way a personal one."

They unhesitatingly cast Senator La Follette into the discard as soon as they became convinced that the Wisconsin Senator could not serve their purpose and defeat the President in the national convention. They espoused the case of Col. Roosevelt because they believed him to be the one man who could most effectively oppose the President. In this they are disappointed.

To begin with, they submit, Col. Roosevelt made the irretreviable error of outheroding Herod in his Columbus speech and thus alienated the support of such friends as Senator Lodge, Senator Borah, Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, and others whose assistance would have proved of the utmost value. By his advocacy of the recall of judicial decisions Col. Roosevelt gained no out-and-out insurgents, for they were all with him anyway. But he did estrange thousands of moderate insurgents, driving them into the Taft camp and thus strengthening the President instead of making gains for himself.

ROOSEVELT WOULD NOT OBJECT.

It is urged that Col. Roosevelt could not object to such a course by the insurgents, because he takes the high ground that there is a principle at stake and that the personal rights and feelings of no man are deserving of consideration as compared with the principles at issue; that Col. Roosevelt approved of the dropping of Senator La Follette as soon as it became obvious that he was not the man fitted to accomplish the task which the insurgents had at heart and that, therefore, if he can be persuaded that he is not the man to achieve that end he must logically step aside in favor of any man who can.

It is pointed out that the Roosevelt movement has proved a disappointment to all who promoted it; that instead of Col. Roosevelt's announcement that he would accept the nomination being followed by a wave of enthusiasm, sweeping the country like a prairie fire, it has had the wholly unexpected result of uniting hundreds of thousands of Republicans behind President Taft. Also that, even in a country which was regarded as unquestionably insurgent, as, for instance, Iowa and Colorado, Mr. Taft, is securing the delegates to the national convention.

NOW TURN TO JUSTICE HUGHES.

Those who contend that the time has come to drop Col. Roosevelt are urging their associates to consider seriously the advisability of uniting their strength behind Justice Hughes as the man who could most effectively disrupt the Taft forces and command the support of both regulars and insurgents. So far as can be learned, the justice has not been consulted regarding this proposition, and it is not desired that he should be by those who urge this course. The argue that no man could refuse any overwhelming demand that he act as the standard bearer of his party, and that the personal preferences of the man who is drafted to lead his party to victory should not be consulted.

They submit that Col. Roosevelt did not wish to become a candidate, and that he consented to do so only from a high sense of duty, after seven Governors had begged him to lead the progressive movement. They contend that if, instead of consulting the New York justice on the subjects they set themselves to work to arouse the sentiment of Republicans in his behalf, a demand of sufficient proportions can be created to make it impossible for him to urge his preference for the bench as a proper ground for refusal.

MAY AWAIT STUMPING TOUR.

There is, of course, opposition to the proposition to drop Col. Roosevelt until he has had a further trial. Many of the insurgents believe that when he takes the stump in his own behalf he will develop a strength with the rank and file of the party which he has thus far failed to acquire, and these contend that even-admitting that Col. Roosevelt has thus far failed to meet the expectations of the "anything to beat Taft" faction, it is too early to judge of his effectiveness on the stump.

They contend that while it might have been wise to drop the ex-President immediately after his Columbus speech, the campaign in his behalf has now gone too far to make such a step opportune at this time, especially as Col. Roosevelt has yielded to the representations of Gov. Stubbs that he must tour the country and plead with the people for a nomination. Had the ex-President stood on his dignity and refused to adopt this course it is suggested that this might have afforded sufficient excuse for turning to some other candidate.

But with the arrangements for a stumping tour well under way, it is believed, he should have an opportunity to demonstrate his ability to promote his own candidacy from the political rostrum.

Those who have come to believe that Justice Hughes would prove the strongest candidate with whom to defeat the President at Chicago, are persuaded that nothing that Col. Roosevelt can now say will offset the injury he has done himself by his advocacy of the recall of judicial decisions and other radical measures, while the unexpected opposition to the third term would be wholly obviated by the candidacy of Justice Hughes. All these schemes, of course, put aside all questions about the great admiration often expressed by Justice Hughes for President Taft and the impossibility of in any way placing him in an attitude of opposition or rivalry to Mr. Taft.

The schemers simply bank on the pressure which would be upon him to accept a nomination if it comes to him unsought. They do not explain how they could make an anti-Taft campaign for him without giving him the chance to stop them, which he might not have in case of a deadlock when a convention turned to him en masse.

BLUE BULL ACTIVE.

hausted their ingenuity in coping with swelled ground, indeterminate faults and other geological conditions that have rendered costly all work near the surface and in sinking. Statements show that the Jumbo Extension has to be reckoned with as one of the potential factors of the camp. Its situation with regard to some of the most productive territory has been a strong factor in sustaining its value as an active mining security. The bottom level of the Poleverde is 1028 feet below the collar of the shaft. On this level a body of ore is being developed, which, if reports are true, will make the property an early producer.

One of the most significant statements is issued from headquarters of the Nevada Hills of Fairview which augurs a brilliant campaign after the company resumes dropping stamps following the shutdown of a month due to the lack of water in the reservoirs of the Hydro Electric Company generating station at Bodie in Mono county. Connections have been made between the bottom of the old shaft and the bottom level of the new shaft, and the cross-cut that is being run on the 450 level to tap the Eagle ore bodies, should be completed not later than March 25. All ore that has been run through the mill up to date has been mined from the upper levels in the old portion of the Nevada Hills, and was of a heavy manganese character and of a lower grade than the general average of the ore which has been developed. This supply has been difficult to treat, being of a most refractory nature but after making the new connections the ore will be mixed to a higher grade, materially reducing the cost and yielding a higher extraction. The mill has also suffered from a deficient water supply, but this has been remedied by buying water from the Aztec mine adjoining, which will enable the mill to treat a larger tonnage. The management is also going to install a Chilean mill which will further increase the milling capacity to the probable extent of about 30 per cent.

NOW SACKING ORE.

THE SAPPHIRE COMPANY.

Development work along with the sacking of high-grade ore is going on without interruption on the Sapphire gold and copper mine, which is located about forty-five miles north of Bouse, Ariz. High-grade ore for shipping is being extracted in several places on the vein and the principal sacking of high grade is being done several hundred feet below the apex.

As soon as teams can be secured the first shipment will be sent to the smelter. It is the company's intention to install automobile trucks in the very near future and rush shipments as fast as possible. The Sapphire gold mine has been examined by some of the most prominent mining men in the Southwest and all proclaim it one of the coming big mines of Mohave county, Arizona. This district is very fast coming to the front and its mineral showings are considered among the best in the Southwest. There is some talk of a railroad connecting with the Swansea and Arizona Railroad at Swansea, and running north via the McCracken mine to the Needles, and would tap practically all of the mines of importance.

Horses' Colors and Prices.

[Manchester Guardian:] Has the color of a horse any effect on its selling price? It has a considerable effect on the price of carriage horses in America, at least in the Eastern States. Horse dealers say that since the introduction of motors this color prejudice has become more marked; as the demand lessens the choice is greater. Brown is said to be the favorite color, though it is run hard by bay, and chestnut is not far behind. Black horses are very unpopular. They are too much associated with funerals. Of course, the prejudice against black does not affect horses bred for business purposes. Last of all in the public estimation, come the horses which graduate in color from dapple gray to milk white; the whiter the horse the more difficult it is to sell. The reason given is that the hairs of white horses when they are shed show up on clothes and on the cloth upholstery of carriages. It is more likely to be explained by tradition or superstition. By the way, there is a curious saying current in many parts of England that if you meet a white horse the next thing you will meet will be a red-haired girl. Why? The rarity of white horses is the explanation of the saying that there is always a white horse on London Bridge. They say that even in these days of taxis and motor wagons it is still true.

Whims of Rulers.

[Anwers, London:] The craze for peculiar homes has never been apparent in the character of a King or Queen of England, but in other countries reigning monarchs have fallen to the fancy.

For instance, a native prince of Java has cooled his palace by making a stream fall in a cascade over the gateway.

The Czar Paul constructed a room formed entirely of enormous mirrors, where he spent hours walking to and fro in full uniform—a peculiar taste, seeing that he was one of the ugliest of rulers.

One Russian Empress built a palace of ice and, when a courtier offended her he was condemned to spend a night in the chilly silence of the chamber of state, where he was almost frozen to death.

Wealth in Russia's Churches.

[Christian Herald:] St. Petersburg, as well as Moscow, has some cathedrals which are marvels of ecclesiastical architecture. St. Isaac's Cathedral, for instance, in the center of the city, cost 24,000,000 rubles, or $12,000,000.

Scores and scores of immense marble pillars adorn its four sides, while several of the beautiful green malachite columns within are worth a king's ransom. It is said that in the golden domes of St. Isaac are the jewels wherein Russia has a "war chest" that would defend her from her enemies for many a month if she should need the gold.

London's Smoke Nuisance.

A Parliamentary return, just issued, gives the total number of smoke-consuming furnaces in the various police districts of London at 7875, including 265 furnaces fitted in steamboats on the Thames. The number of convictions sought for and obtained before the magistrates in respect of smoke nuisances since the operation of the act in 1854, amounts to 672. There are 54 different constructions of apparatus at the various manufactories, works, etc., in the metropolis, all of which work well and prevent nuisance from smoke. The number of furnaces in the City of London is 297. Five persons are employed as examiners of furnaces.

The locality from which I got them is from two claims, one of them is ten miles from Pala, and the other one about twelve miles, southeast. H. C. P.

A.: The gray-white sample is mag- nesite of fair quality only. The cry- stallized sample is carbonate of lime (calcite.)

Bismuth Ore.

ENGLE (N. M.) March 7.—Q.: I send you by mail some ores which please take to The Times for assay (vanadium, etc.) G. W. B.

A.: The samples are chiefly iron oxides with bismuth and lead present. Tested for vanadium: Vanadium pres- ent in low percentage.

Concentrates.

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—Q.: I herewith hand you a sample of some sand I found near Newhall, and I do not know what it contains besides iron. Please test for platinum and gold. Is there any value in the iron? C. G.

A.: Platinum is absent in the magnetite sample. Ilmenite (titanic iron-ore) is present and titanium is a deleterious admixture in magnetite as ordinary iron ore. For gold values (if any) you are politely referred to assayers. There is no free gold in the concentrated mass, however.

Graphite.

SEARCHLIGHT (Nev.) March 8.— Q.: There being many lodes of gra- phite in Nevada and California, and being desirous of looking into the practical development of some of the mineral, I respectfully ask that you will give me some light on the sub- ject. (1) Do the uses of graphite call for absolutely pure mineral? (2) What are its uses? (3) I am told there is an artificial product, is that so? E. B. L.

A.: Graphite is pure carbon, "with a fraction of 1 per cent. of ash and volatile matter." There is no such mineral as "absolutely pure" gra- phite. "Graphites showing 90 to 95 per cent. graphitic carbon are pure enough for the requirements of the general trade, and for many purposes, such as paint making, graphites with as low as 20 to 35 per cent. of gra- phitic carbon are employed. In the trade two varieties of graphite are generally recognized. The gra- phite that possesses a lamellar, scaly, flaky, or fibrous structure and that is composed of almost pure carbon is classed as crystalline. The other forms of graphite, of whatever oc- currence or appearance, are classed as amorphous. The two varieties are not sharply differentiated, and the dis- tinction appears to be largely in the size of the graphite particles."

Graphite is used in the manufacture of crucibles; in the addition of oil to graphite as a lubricant; in the paint industry; in the manufacture of pen- cils; in the coating of foundry facings; in the manufacture of electrodes; as a polisher for gunpowder, and "another use of crystalline graphite is for the packing of the delicate electric lamp filaments. An impure and cheap graphite mined in Georgia is used as an adulterant in fertilizers, but a still more useful application has been its use to color and glaze both tea leaves and coffee beans, the pure graphite being a harmless material which pro- tects these articles against moisture and adds to their attractive appear- ance." Artificial graphite is a by-prod- uct in the manufacture of gas, and it is made artificially at Niagara Falls. "In spite of the development of the manufactured or artificial graphite by the electric furnace, the demand for the natural product has increased very largely in recent years because of the growth of the iron and steel industry, the largely increased use of copper and its alloys, the increased need of lubricants, and the development of electric machinery which calls for graphitized products."

Organic Matter Present.

PIXLEY, March 8.—Q.: I am sending you under separate cover two lumps of soil found by me in the San Joaquin Valley, just about a week ago. For about twelve feet square the ground was moist and smelt very much of oil. These two pieces smelt very rank of the oil. The land here, is extremely level for miles and miles around it. The soil was found in an out of the way place to which no one is admitted. I understand that the oil fields of McKittrick were first found in this manner.

What I would appreciate knowing is whether this oil is from the bowels of the earth; that the hands of man has not come in contact with the ori- ginal oil as yet, or has the oil been spilled there by somebody? If it is seepage from under the ground do you think I have found something of value? As stated these samples are quite old and have been exposed to the rain and the sun for a week. If you desire new samples will be pleased to get and forward the same to you. It might be well for me to state that I am an old yearly subscriber to The Times. R. W. M.

A.: Much organic matter is pres- ent in the samples. The greater per cent. of the mass never came from the bowels of the earth, but it is an odd coincident that petroleum of asphalt- ic base is present in the soil, and on which soil mountain-rats apparently, must have had a nesting place in the past. As for oil indications otherwise, it may be stated, that in the absence of rock, shale, sand, etc., from the locality, it is impossible to go further into the subject.

Chiefly Arsenic.

SANTA MONICA, March 8.—Q.: Will you kindly tell me what these samples contain? I mail them under separate cover, and each one is marked "C. E. H." Are they of any commercial value? Found in South- ern California. L. E. H.

A.: The large sample is chiefly arsenical—iron, known also as mis- pickel. The second larger sample is arsenopyrite with pyrite, and the smaller piece of mineral is also mixed sulphides. The samples represent low commercial values for the volatiliza- tion of arsenicum and arsenic, but ow- ing to the as if limited uses of arsenic together with the vast source of sup- ply it is a doubtful investment to en- gage in the exploitation of the mineral deposit.

Traces of Soda.

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—Q.: Sample was taken from a deposit near Amboy, Cal., and I will be pleased to know its general makeup? R. A.

A.: Impure, iron-stained (reddish) lime carbonate covers over 95 per cent. of sample contents.

Antimony Sulphide.

BAKERSFIELD, March 9.—Q.: This sample comes from the south hill near the placers of this section, where scheelite pebbles are saved. I take the shining sulphide in the ore to be steel-galena. If I have not named the ore right, will you please tell me what it is? A. J. C.

THE IGNORANT MANCHUS.

Are Far Behind the Chinese in Intellectual Attainments or Even Edu- cational Ambition.

[The Independent:] "Reform" is in the air in China, writes Prof. E. A. Ross, but there are two brands of reform—that of the Manchu rulers and that of the leaders of the peo- ple.

By "reform" the government means the suppression of weakening vices like opium smoking and gambling, the building of railroads, the estab- lishing of a trained police, the strengthening of the army and navy and the opening of new sources of government revenue.

But among the patriots "reform" means universal education, industrial training, an improved agriculture, san- tation ,a free press, a humane penal system, the expenditure of taxes for the benefit of the people, accounting for public money and the responsibili- ty of government to the chosen rep- resentatives of the people.

What Peking wants is policies that will help them to hold the powers at bay, swell their revenues and leave them in serene enjoyment of the matchless graft to be tapped from 300 millions of industrious Celestials. In their naive Asiatic view, the gov- ernment exists in order to magnify the luxury and glory of the imperial clan. Among the Manchu masters there is no tradition of service, nor can they acquire it in our time. Millions burn with patriotic ardor, and thousands acquainted with western knowledge realize clearly just what might be done for the people. But the Manchus are careful to exclude them from high places and, after the manner of hereditary parasites, they go on in their old, self-indulgent way.

The head of a provincial college, a ripe scholar, a Han-lin man, in fact, told me he could hardly endure his position. "How can I keep my self- respect," he broke out, "when con- stantly the board of education at Peking forces me to do foolish things? Here is an applicant 30 years old, who passes a brilliant entrance ex- amination; but Peking won't let me admit him to my college because, for- sooth, he is not a graduate of a middle school.'"

The Manchus are not a cultured people, mark you, and when they climbed into the saddle of the empire about the time of Cromwell, they were on a level with the Afghans of to- day. They are to the Chinese what the Goths were to the Romans; and a Manchu directing the new education of China is as out of place as a Goth presiding over the schools of Athens in the fourth century. It is the brilliant Chinese, not the Manchus, who travel and study abroad. Yet when they return they are balked by the huge pervasive Manchu machine.

Sometimes high Manchu officials are totally illiterate, and I heard of one Manchu "literary chancellor" who could not even read the examina- tion essays submitted for provincial honors. So he piled them on top of his bed canopy, poked them with his cane as he lay smoking, and the thirteen that slid off first were declared win- ners!

One of the directors of the Shang- hai-Hangchow Railway—a purely Chinese line—told me their chief trou- ble in building the road was the harassing "inspections" which obliged them to bribe the officials in order to go on with the work. Moreover, Pe- king forced upon the company a large, unneeded foreign loan which would have been expended by gov- ernment men without the stockholders knowing how much stuck to the fin- gers of the officials. So, instead of using the money for building the road the company loaned it out in small amounts at a high interest, and will repay it as soon as the terms of the loan permit.

It is certain that the Chinese who have traveled or studied abroad or lived in California or the Philippines or the Straits Settlements, despair of their country under its present leader- ship, and many of the best elements of the nation are leagued to expel the Manchu parasites.

RAINS HELP REAL ESTATE.

Section of Deer Creek Lands to Be Developed.

Clark Ranch to Be Converted Into Dairy Farm.

"Chicken King" Buys Tract on White River.

PORTERVILLE, March 23.—The weather conditions of the past two weeks have been responsible for the greatest activity in the realty market in the history of this district and, while the number of transfers actually closed is not the largest on record, those who are in a position to know state that more properties are in escrow than at any time since this district has been a factor in realty dealing.

Rains and alternating sunshine have made the country a vivid green; in fact, in the memory of the pioneers there never has been a time when the entire district was as beautiful as at this time. Grain crops promise to be excellent and cattle are already prepared for the block. This has had more than a small effect on the land seeker.

Significant of the increased activity is the fact that improved orchard property has risen in price and bearing orange orchards are now being held at $1400 and $1500 per acre, according to location.

Quite the largest deal of the week was that of the purchase by a Los Angeles-owned corporation of 648 acres of land in the Deer Creek district. The holding is known as the Q. J. Saladay property and is one of the oldest grain ranches in this district. The transfer was made to the Foothill Orchard Company, of which the principal owners are A. J. Wilson, A. C. Buffington and H. S. Hazeltine, all of Los Angeles.

Surveyors are already laying out pipe lines for the irrigation plant, which will cover every acre of the property. As soon as the wells are delivering water, 320 acres of the property will be put out to the larger varieties of olives. The remainder of the tract will be put in to alfalfa if water can be developed at an economical depth.

J. A. Rigby has disposed of his city property, consisting of three lots and a residence on Orange street, and has purchased four acres of land immediately to the east of Clover Leaf, just outside the city limits to the west. Mr. Rigby has let the contract for pumping and irrigation plants and will devote the tract to small fruits.

Richard Iskender of Visalia has purchased twenty acres of property in the Lovell district from Joseph Zindell and George D. Smith, paying a trifle more than $400 per acre for the property, the purchase price being $8000. Of the twenty acres twelve are set out to peaches, which will be in full bearing this fall. As an evidence of the increase in value of property in this district it may be stated that the entire holding represented, about four years ago, an investment of less than $2500 to the then owners.

CLARK RANCH SOLD.

W. E. Green of Tulare has purchased the R. C. Clark ranch in the Tipton alfalfa district, the property consisting of 160 acres, partially improved. Green paid $16,500 for the property. On the place are forty acres of alfalfa, and an irrigation plant which is sufficient for the entire quarter section is included. The new owner will put all of the land to alfalfa and expects to establish thereon a fine stock ranch, devoting about twenty acres to dairy purposes.

Lawrence J. White, the "chicken king" of this district, has closed a deal with L. J. Guthrie of the White River district for 3000 acres of the White River district lands. Of the 3000 acres, 2000 is foothill pasture, and of the remaining 1000 about 400 acres is plow land. White is said to have paid $32,000 for the property, pasture land in this district having risen in price until it now readily commands from $6 to $8 per acre, where a few years ago it went begging at $2 to $3. White expects to stock the property with beef cattle, having already secured several hundred head of feeders.

H. R. McNoble, a Los Angeles attorney, has sold his property in the Tipton-Woodville district, consisting of 1400 acres of bare land, to Hugh McPhail of Visalia, the purchase price of the property being given at about $5000. McPhail is said to be representing a syndicate of Visalians who expect to develop water for the entire tract and put it out to alfalfa.

GREAT ACTIVITY REPORTED.

TREES ARRIVE FOR PLANTING.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)

VAN NUYS, March 23.—Scenes around Van Nuys, the center of the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands, and the first town to be opened in the tract, show the greatest activity along all lines. Thousands of bushels of seed potatoes were handled at the Southern Pacific station during the week, and carloads of peach, apricot, walnut and other trees arrived which are being set out as rapidly as possible. The farmers are all busy. Men with teams are in great demand for plowing and tree planters have all they can handle.

Maj. J. A. Drimll, general manager of the American Beet Sugar plant at Oxnard, was in Van Nuys early in the week, and gave orders to proceed with a full force of men in finishing the plowing of the beet fields and the planting. Over 4000 acres are now planted and the thinners will be in the fields about April 1. Maj. P. S. Carr, the agriculturist for the company in the Van Nuys field, stated recently that the stand of beets was exceptionally fine and that indications were for a banner crop.

The First National Bank of Van Nuys has completed its organization and expects to open its doors within a few days. The officers are: H. J. Whitley, president; J. H. Heinen, vice-president; O. J. Wigdal, vice-president, and Lewis E. Bliss, cashier. The directors are: M. H. Sherman, Harry Chandler, H. J. Whitley, O. J. Wigdal, J. H. Houghton, William T. Hopper, Ross E. Whitley, A. J. Pickerell, W. P. Whitsett and Lewis E. Bliss. The furniture and equipment are now being placed in the handsome home of this new institution.

Preparations are being made to celebrate Poppy Day at Van Nuys, which will be established as an annual spring celebration.

The Pacific Electric cars are well filled each day with visitors to this new town and the automobile service maintained by W. P. Whitsett from No. 319 South Hill street is taxed to its capacity every trip. The increasing demand for lots and the small subdivisions in the town has kept the selling force extremely busy since the rains.

BONDS INSURE SCHOOLS.

FINE APARTMENTS PROJECTED.

VENICE, March 22.—Another new apartment-house to cost $25,000 will be ready to assist in the entertainment of the summer crowds. It is to be built for Mrs. Anna M. Waite on Oceanfront, at the corner of Paloma, and will be of brick. It will be of three stories.

The success of the bond election held Tuesday will mean the building of three new schoolhouses and the enlargement of the present one. The issue was for $60,000 and the plans contemplate new buildings at Playa del Rey, Fredericks and Center street. A city bond issue is proposed and if the vote is favorable the city will this spring spend $43,000 in the construction of another garbage incinerator and the extension of the ocean outfall sewer.

Lew Fox of No. 31 Breeze avenue has secured a permit to improve his home, which is one of the handsomest in that vicinity. He will spend $2500 in altering the lower floor. Mr. Jacoby of Los Angeles has taken out a permit for a nine-room house to be built on Evangeline avenue and to cost $2500.

Mrs. L. M. Carey of Reedley will build a $3000 residence on the Aldebaran canal. It will contain nine rooms and will be beautifully finished.

N. Krystal has taken out a permit for an eight-room residence to be built on the ocean front near Thornton avenue and to cost $3500.

Wealthy Los Angeles Woman Will Make Future Home in Picturesque Foothills Section—Buyer of Mountain Acreage to Beautify Canyon by Landscaping.

GLENDORA, March 23.—The real estate market continues active with an upward tendency, according to the report of some of the more prominent dealers. Among the sales reported recently that have attracted more than usual interest may be mentioned the following:

A. T. Foster has sold to Mrs. W. S. Hook of Los Angeles a forty-seven-acre foothill tract, sixteen acres set to bearing Washington navel orange trees, and improved with a seven-room house and barn, the consideration reported being $37,000. To square up the tract Mrs. Hook also purchased three acres of the E. Woolman tract adjoining, for which she is reported to have paid $1500. Mrs. Hook is the widow of W. S. Hook, a former traction magnate of Los Angeles. Having sold her fine residence in Los Angeles, it is understood that she will improve the premises just purchased for a home. The tract adjoins that of Judge Silent on the west, and, in the hands of the wealthy owner, bids fair to be, in a few years, one of the best improved and most picturesque foothill homes in Southern California.

F. C. Schiffman has sold to W. H. Wiley of Los Angeles a fifteen-acre foothill tract, ten acres mostly set to orange and lemon trees partly in bearing, the rest being mountain land. The price is given at $19,000. Mr. Wiley buys for a home, and will make extensive improvements upon the premises. A handsome residence will be erected in the near future, and the mountain acreage, which includes an expansive canyon covered with tangled wild wood, will be transformed into a park of great beauty as rapidly as the ground can be cleared of the underbrush and prepared for the semi-tropical shrubbery and profusion of flowers to be planted. From the terraced mountainside the visitor may gain a commanding view of the rich citrus fruit groves that cover the floor of the valley as far as the vision will carry in every direction.

Earl Midkiff has sold a close-in, three and one-half-acre tract, set to one-year-old orange trees, to George Bebee, the consideration being reported at $1750.

Mrs. E. L. Burdick has sold to H. Clements and A. B. Post a seven and one-half-acre tract, fronting the Foothill boulevard, and adjoining the platted part of town. The consideration is given at $8250. The land is unimproved.

MARCH BUSY MONTH.

TO ADD THIRD STORY.

SANTA ANA, March 23.—March is keeping up a splendid pace in building, bettering the average of one new residence per day for the last three months. During the last week seventeen permits were issued by Building Inspector Roper, these calling for an expenditure totaling $20,250. Most of the permits are for new homes. Although builders have been busier the last four months than ever before, they cannot keep pace with the growth of the city.

The syndicate building, the new $15,000 brick building at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, announced today that it would make the structure three stories high instead of two as originally planned. The third floor will be used for apartments.

WEST END ACTIVITIES.

The Victor G. Kleinberger Company reports that about forty lots in its new West Adams and Washington boulevard tract were sold during the past two weeks. Among last week's sales were three lots to Clark Ellison, a prominent attorney of Chicago, who also purchased two for his son, J. B. Ellison. Walter Nagle, of the Los Angeles baseball club, purchased a corner on West Adams street for $1450.

The complete list of late sales is as follows: Charles T. Kenwood, $725; Mary E. Horne, $555; Ethel L. Abbott, $950; John B. Cooper, two, at $875 and $925; Arberry Shotwell, $1450; Catherine May, $800; J. L. Contin, two, $1125 each; J. F. Howell, $750; Edgar Staples, $675; Sena Staples, $675; J. V. Lane, $625; James Stewart, $850; F. B. Ellison, two, $875 each; Clark Ellison, three, two at $875 each, and one at $1200; Walter Nagle, $1125; A. G. French, two, at $950 and $975; T. T. Allen, $590; Mary B. Allen, $675; George Trent, two, $725 each; Seth E. Weldon, $675; Jennie I. Hirsch, $675; Nettie Hess, $675; Mary A. Gump, $675; W. F. Wardle, $950; Elbert Bingham, two, at $590 and $1050; S. E. Wardle, $625; Florence E. Whittaker, $625; F. J. Hampton, $555; George Ford, two, at $875 and $1125; Helen Ford, $875, and T. B. Rennell, $775.

WILL INSTALL LIGHTS.

Ornamental Lamps to Illumine Principal Streets of Glendale—Precautious to Avoid Flood Damages.

GLENDALE, March 23.—At a cost of more than $15,000, an ornamental electric lighting system will be installed in this city, the work to start just as soon as the necessary legal steps can be taken. A resolution to this effect was passed by the Glendale Trustees this week. Of this amount, $11,000 will be borne by the property owners facing on the sections of the streets along which the lights will be placed, the remainder of the expense to be taken care of by the city.

The system will consist of clusters of five lights erected on iron standards, placed every one hundred feet on either side of the streets. Lights will be placed on Fourth street from Central avenue to Everett street; on Brand boulevard, from Third to Sixth, and on Glendale avenue, from Third to Fifth. The cost to the property owners will be about one dollar per front foot. After the installation of the system the maintenance of the lights will cost the city about $1000 per year.

Word has been received by the Glendale Trustees to the effect that the county, in conjunction with the Salt Lake Railway Company, and the Glendale-Eagle Rock Railway Company, will start work at once on the repairing of the damage done by the storm water of the recent rains, and also of the repairing and the strengthening of the wash in such a manner as to make this city comparatively free from danger in the event of more heavy rains this season or in years to come. The culverts erected by the Salt Lake company some time ago have proven altogether inadequate. In regard to the storm waters from the Sycamore Canyon, which cause considerable damage in the eastern section of Glendale during the late rains, the city officials have signified their intention to make extensive improvements at the danger points in this wash district. This work will be started at once.

Work, preliminary to subdivision, was started this week on the twenty-acre Stracy estate, situated at the western end of Park avenue, and adjacent to Griffith Park, on the west. The surveys are being made and the land is being cleared. This property lies on the first bench east of the Los Angeles River, and is really a part of the river bottom. The decent from this first bench to Park avenue is over a high and precipitous bank. This bank will be sloped away to the river from the end of Park avenue, and the river crossed over by a large rustic bridge. The opening of this tract and the establishing of this road will open Park avenue directly into Griffith Park, and will prove a desirable route for autoists.

Five carloads of lumber and one carload of brick were sidetracked at the local Southern Pacific Depot this week, this being the first installment of a large quantity of building material for modern homes to be erected immediately in the Richardson Tract. Ten homes have already been started, seven being on Gardena street, one on Cerritos avenue and two on Mira Loma street.

Several new homes are being erected on the Alspaugh Tract on Glendale avenue. H. R. Alspaugh is just starting a seven-room bungalow to cost about $3000, while R. W. Hall has just finished and taken possession of his six-room home, erected at a cost of about $2500. On the Cushing Tract, directly opposite the Alspaugh Tract, C. H. Cushing is putting up a dwelling to cost about $1500, and T. R. Daniels is erecting a grocery store.

PUBLIC DENIED ACCESS.

Popular Drive at Monks Hill to Be Closed With High Fence—Training School Buys Site.

PASADENA, March 23.—The William R. Staats Company has received orders from the firm of J. H. Hamilton & Son, of Portland, Me., owners of Monks Hill, one of the most beautiful spots about Pasadena, to fence off the property with a six-foot fence, as soon as the proper boundaries can be determined.

This will shut the public out of what has long been considered one of the most attractive drives in or about Pasadena. A stone pergola crowning the summit was erected there by popular subscriptions of North Pasadena residents.

The most important sale made in Pasadena last week was that of the palatial home of A. K. Macomber, at the northwest corner of South Orange Grove avenue and Madeline drive, together with an adjoining lot. The property was sold through the Williams R. Staats Company to F. G. Cruickshank, a well-known local attorney. The total consideration is reported to have been $85,000.

The same company last week reported the sale to Mrs. Josephine Rowland of the former home of Mrs. Mary S. Hawkins, at the northeast corner of Marengo avenue and Pleasant street.

Another sale was that of a three-story brick building at the corner of Raymond avenue and Green street. The property was purchased by the Staats company. The consideration was not made public.

The Pasadena Training School for children last week purchased property with a frontage of 150 feet on Wilson street near the intersection of Delmar street, north of the present school grounds. The lot is improved with a house which will be remodeled for use by the school.

Of building permits issued last week those for improvements to cost $1000 or more, were:

Mrs. Mary C. Delapp, twelve-room, frame residence and garage, at No. 1261 Stevenson avenue, $4100.

J. G. Schumacker four-room frame, dwelling, at No. 337 South Euclid avenue, $1000.

Mrs. C. E. Dodworth, alterations to store front at No. 8 West Colorado street, $3000.

W. J. Austin, plaster exterior residence, at No. 790 South Pasadena avenue, $7000.

Levi A. Bradbury, five-room, frame bungalow, at No. 1105 North Marengo avenue, $2350.

ON HISTORIC GROUND.

Angeleno Realty Men Subdividing Tract in Heart of Old El Sobrante Rancho.

RIVERSIDE, March 23.—Alexander Taylor, who, a couple of months ago, purchased 9000 acres of the El Sobrante rancho lands, lying between Arlington and Corona, has sold a large part of his holdings, including 1000 acres which it is intended to plant to lemons, the selling price being $25,000. Since his purchase Mr. Taylor chose the name Sunny Slope for these lemon lands, which lie about one mile south of the Santa Fe track.

The property will be reached by a thirty-foot boulevard, now being constructed southward from Magnolia avenue to the heart of the tract.

The purchasers of a part of the tract are Swank & Letton of Los Angeles, whose purpose it is to place the tract on the market as lemon land. Before purchasing the El Sobrante tract, Mr. Taylor sold 1200 acres of lemon land at San Dimas for $150,000, and he looked to Riverside at once as a possible field for investment. The tract, which he has just disposed of to Swank & Letton, carries with it 200 inches of water from the Cajalco system, and an additional forty inches may be developed. This tract is a part of the great 41,000 acres purchased more than a year ago by the El Sobrante Land Company from a syndicate of English capitalists headed by Sir John McDonald. The famous Temescal tin mine and mill are located on the property. Machinery installed at great expense has lain idle for a quarter of a century.

W. E. Conning has recently sold his eight and a half-acre orange grove on Arlington Heights, for $14,000. This grove is planted to eighteen-year-old Washington navels, and with it goes full water rights. Mr. Conning recently purchased a forty-acre alfalfa ranch, near El Centro, in Imperial Valley. The ranch is all in alfalfa and is improved with a house and outbuildings. Mr. Conning leased the ranch at once for a term of years.

Actual construction on Riverside's new postoffice building will probably begin before July 1. A letter of instructions from Washington announces that a set of plans and specifications will soon be received by the local authorities and accompanying the plans were advertisements for bids, these to be received up to 3 o'clock April 23. The building is to contain two stories and a basement, with a ground area of 6200 feet. It is to be stucco-faced, with a tile roof and will be fireproof throughout.

A Los Angeles architect is preparing plans for six frame bungalows, to be erected in Garvey Terrace, in the Corona section. They will contain five of six rooms each. These bungalows will be located on acre tracts with corrals, outhouses, trees and other improvements.

Ward, Amstuts & Glenn began work this week on the erection of a two-story business block on West Seventh street, the block to cost $8000. I. N. Freeman began this week to build an attractive bungalow on Locust street, at a cost of $2300. Work was also begun on a two-story addition to the Arlington Presbyterian Church.

GOOD DEMAND REPORTED.

ANGELENOS BUY ACREAGE.

SOUTH PASADENA, March 23.—The real estate market in South Pasadena continues active. There is a good demand for property for residence purposes, and inquiries for sites suitable for business blocks are frequently heard.

Hibbard & Co. report the recent sale for A. C. Ong to William R. Durbin of Pasadena of 52x135 feet on Mission street, between Fremont and Fairview avenues, improved with an eight-room, modern house, the reported consideration being $8000. This property was purchased as an investment, and the house will probably be removed, and a fine business block built.

Ralph Rogers has sold all of his interest in the Kerr property to W. P. Percival, J. P. Percival and Eugene P. Fallis of Los Angeles. This property consists of twenty-three acres adjoining and fronting on the new Occidental campus, and is already subdivided. Contracts have been let for street grading and work is in progress. The reported consideration was about $55,000, which establishes a new price for acreage in that vicinity.

J. R. Matthews has sold W. E. Tussing a lot on the west side of Avon place for a consideration of $1250. Mr. Tussing contemplates improving with a modern bungalow.

The contract has been let for the St. James Episcopal restory. It will be a two-story frame building, on Fremont avenue, near Monterey road, and will contain eight rooms, with plastered exterior over metal lath, blue brick columns and steps and cement tile roof. The contract price is $4250.

S. H. Morrill is building three bungalows on Meridian avenue, on lots purchased two years ago. Each will cost $2000.

"The Thoroughbred of the Aristocratic West Adams District"

Absolutely the Last of the Cream of This Noted Vicinity Now to Go.

Which means after this property is sold you will never again have an opportunity of owning your home in the BEST of Los Angeles' Highest Class home district, unless you live in a home someone else has constructed, or rebuild at COUNTLESS EXPENDITURE, paying double or more for the lot in addition, what we ask you now.

The same atmosphere of exclusiveness and elegance surrounds Gramercy Place, as you find about the homes of Fifth avenue, New York, with all the additional charm, substituted for their austerity, of the typical California home inundated by a wealth of bloom.

It is needless to say that EVERY improvement enjoyed by the aristocratic sections of the biggest cities in the United States is HERE — and what's more IS ESTABLISHED PERMANENTLY. Its water meters are not only in, but they're paid for, which means no marring or assessment of property to come.

Gramercy Place is situated in the highest, most healthful locality in Los Angeles.

The boulevards in and surrounding Gramercy Place are the same, handsomely paved ones that you'll find in the heart of the business center.

Highest class building restrictions preclude ALL but the RIGHT sort of residents of Gramercy Place.

The West Adams Car—One Block From Gramercy Place—makes your home 20 minutes from down town. The Washington Street Car is two blocks.

One of Los Angeles' finest public Grammar Schools is two blocks from Gramercy Place.

NOW LISTEN!

We mean to sell Gramercy Place out at ONCE—and to accomplish this we've cut the prices to less than half what others are asking for the inferior tracts of the same district.

Gramercy Place only consists of a handful of lots. They're like so many gems, but the quantity's limited.

NOW DRAW YOUR OWN CONCLUSION.

Eastward, Ho! Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Edition.

Divisions of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association Already Formed and the Men Who Figure as Leaders.

John S. Mitchell, president, who is forming divisions of highway boosters, and Robert Jordan, president of the Alhambra division, who has joined almost every other division on the map which shows the thriving valley towns where President Mitchell delivered his good roads messages to thousands. The Times pilot car covered this route last week and is headed eastward for its ocean-to-ocean journey over the Santa Fe trail.

On the Bit.

VERNON BEATS PICKED TEAM.

Trounce Henry-Cornett Club by Lopsided Score.

Jack Killilay Rapped Hard in First Inning.

Kane Hits and Fields Like a Big League Star.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Vernon, 10; H. & C., 3.

Hap Hogan's Tigers had a little practice out at Washington Park yesterday in a game with the H. & C. team, which is a good enough name for the bunch of real good ones that masquerade under that title.

The Tigers won easily, because they clouted Jack Killilay all around the lot, and when Mister Hatch took his place, in the fifth, they rapped him hard and often. It was a lot of pigmies against some giants. Too much class, experience and team work.

The Vernons got all they needed in the first inning, when they rolled in five runs as easy as shooting fish. Killilay was not himself or else he was against a new kind, for Hogan's men made nine runs off him in the first four innings. No use trying to beat that kind of business. Hogan tried out three pitchers in Whalen, Castleton and Riseberg, and the enemy showed proper contempt for them by slapping them for eleven hits, of which five were doubles.

Four of the eleven hits came in the eighth inning, and helped by an error and a pass, resulted in the three runs that the H. & C. team made. They got these off Riseberg.

He began to pitch in the seventh inning, and got away with it. Smith opened up the eighth with a hard double to the left fence, and ran to third on Kaufman's infield single. Kaufman stole second and Riseberg filled the bases with a pass to McClelland. McAleer forced Mac at second and Smith scored, but Brashear made a wild throw to first, trying to make a double play. Kaufman scored on this and McAleer ran to second. He got to third on Hasty's first base out and scored on Hatch's dinky Texas leaguer over first base. That was all.

Two errors by Shortstop Dale, a pass, a double, a hit-by-pitcher, made the Vernons five runs in the first inning, and after that runs were as easy as duck soup. A single, two passes, a steal and an error, made two more in the second and two doubles and a sacrifice got another one in the third. A pass, a double and a sacrifice added one more in the fourth and the final came in the sixth on two singles and a steal.

It was all very easy and there was no feature plays to enliven the performance. Litschi played a brilliant game at short, while Kane shone as a star in center. He rapped the ball for three singles and a double in five times at bat. Kaufman hit out two doubles and a single.

MOTOR FIRE ENGINE BEST.

Gasoline Propelled Vehicle Fast Taking the Place of the Horse for City Use.

"The automobile fire engine is fast displacing the horse," said an old fire-fighter yesterday, "and the motor apparatus saves money and saves lives by the seconds it cuts off the getaway, and the minutes it saves on the run—providing a prompt start is made."

A motor fire engine, however, has to be started like any other automobile before you can drive it through the streets, and that's where the Disco Self-Starter is the fireman's friend. At the first tap of the gong the driver jumps into his seat, turns the little handle on the dash, and presses the spark button. Before the box can be counted the engine is running ready to turn out of it's a "go."

In cities where both motor apparatus and the old horse-drawn engines are still in commission, the motors are invariably first on the scene, and now that the Disco Starter is being used by fire departments generally, the turnout is cut down to still less time.

Real Champion.

FRANK KLAUS BEATS DILLON.

Wins Middleweight Match in Final Round.

Battle Was Very Foul One from the Start.

Babe Picato of Los Angeles Given a Verdict.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Frank Klaus, the Pittsburgh "bear cat," out-roughed, out-wrestled, out-fouled and barely out-fought Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis middleweight, in their fight at Coffroth's Daly City open-air arena this afternoon, as a result of which he was proclaimed the winner by Referee Jack Welch, after twenty rounds of the foulest milling witnessed in a local arena in recent years. An eleventh-hour rally on the part of Klaus enabled him to leave the ring with Dillon's scalp figuratively hanging from his belt, his determined stand in the final round, during which he landed fearful stomach punches without return, contributing all that was needed to determine a winner.

The battle from start to finish was contested with the men going it hammer and tongs and with heads and shoulders resting against the other.

They wrestled, elbower, "butted" and back-heeled, the referee warning them time and again that they were inviting disqualification. Finally he turned to the spectators and shouted, "Both of these men are fighting a foul battle; therefore, I propose to let them settle their differences in their own way and will not interfere. They are both equally culpable."

FAST MILLING.

As the contest was fought, there never was a dull moment each man fighting ceaselessly to score in his own peculiar way. Dillon clearly showed his superiority at boxing. He frequently staggered Klaus with sharp right hooks to the jaw, but the latter showed himself capable of absorbing the blows and never at any stage appeared to be in distress. Klaus all the while drove his right and left to the body, and it was this systematic peppering of the Hoosier fighter's stomach that gradually wore the latter down and paved the way to ultimate success.

Dillon scored first blood, a right hook in the second round opening a gash on Klaus's face. In the fifth round, however, the Pittsburgher sent in a tremendous smash to the mouth and Dillon bled until the end of the fight from the effects of this punch.

In the thirteenth round, Dillon almost dropped Klaus on three different occasions with powerful rights to the chin, and the crowd yelled itself hoarse. Klaus, however, weathered the gale and immediately resumed his merciless fusillade of body punches which proved a potent factor in weakening Dillon and compelling him to keep his distance.

On the whole, Klaus's showing was a disappointment to the spectators, who agreed that as a boxer under the legitimate rules of Queensberry, he has much to learn.

Klaus and Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., are matched to fight at Coffroth's Arena some time next month in what is announced as the world's championship of the middleweight division.

The men weighed in at 10 a.m. at the 158-pound limit.

In the preliminaries, Barney Richter of Racine, Wis., and Joe Acheson of San Francisco, fought six fast rounds to a draw, while Babe Picato of Los Angeles, was awarded an unpopular decision over Walter Scott after ten rapid and fierce rounds.

CHRONOLOGY OF HIGHWAY PROJECT.

The Times prints first article proposing a national highway along the old Santa Fe trail.

August 20, 1911. The Times publishes first ocean to ocean highway edition, suggesting a route for a national highway. The attention of Congress is called to this great question.

December 20: Good roads convention at Phoenix—The Times is thanked by delegates for its work on the project.

December 21: Phoenix convention chooses Banning route, the map of which was first published in The Times.

January 2: The Times pilot car covers the California end of the proposed national highway from Los Angeles to Yuma.

January 24: The Times pilot car conducts first tour over Banning route of proposed national highway from Yuma to Los Angeles.

January 25-26: Good roads convention in Los Angeles. Banning route selected.

March 12: Redlands division formed. Gen. Harrison Gray Otis promises to send The Times pilot car over Santa Fe route to organize divisions of Ocean to Ocean Highway Association from Los Angeles to New York.

March 15: The Times pilot car leaves on its great mission and first division is formed at Alhambra.

March 20: Divisions formed by The Times car at noon-day meeting in El Monte. Divisions also organized at Pomona and Ontario.

March 21: The Los Angeles Examiner joins the movement.

CARTERCAR HAS LARGER PLANS.

PARTS TO BE RUSHED TO DEALERS IN RECORD TIME.

New Structure, Three Stories in Height, Planned for Chicago, and Salesroom Is to Occupy Entire First Floor—Agents Promised Rapid Service.

With the immense growth of the business of the Cartercar Company in Chicago and the Middle West, it has become necessary for them to secure larger quarters for their Chicago branch.

The General Motors Company have found from experience that the Cartercar is one of their best propositions. Those who drive the machines stand back of them to the limit and not only recommend the machine to their friends but place repeat orders for themselves from year to year.

A new building, three stories high, is to be erected at No. 1840 Michigan avenue, right in the heart of the automobile district, and will be occupied exclusively by the Cartercar Chicago branch. The first floor will serve as a salesroom, and the second and third as a service station. An entire stock of repair parts will be kept on hand continuously and the western trade will be supplied with cars and parts from this branch.

It will mean that hundreds of smaller dealers and subagents throughout the Illinois section of the country will receive new cars and parts on a few hours' notice at any time. The construction of the new building will be pushed as rapidly as possible and as soon as completed, it will be occupied by the Cartercar.

WAVERLEY IN PHILADELPHIA.

Takes the City by Storm in a Big Campaign, Which Results in Number of Important Sales.

Philadelphia has never been regarded as an electric city, the conservative Quakers being rather slow to adopt the fashionable customs of other and more worldly social centers. The local dealers in electric automobiles, and the manufacturers of electrics represented there recently combined, however, in a newspaper campaign of club advertisements in each of which all the leading makes were mentioned—the idea being to attract attention to the superior advantages of the electric car for urban and suburban travel.

The campaign had been in progress but a few weeks when an order for four high-priced Waverleys was placed by the Philadelphia representative of the Waverley company.

On Our Way.

TIMES PILOT CAR FORMING DIVISIONS IN VALLEY TOWNS

Bedouins of the Boulevard Join Great Project to Organize Chapters of Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association in Every City Along the Old Santa Fe Trail Route from Los Angeles to New York.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

SEVEN divisions of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association have been formed and The Times pilot car is stripped and ready to form hundreds of others. Steadily the car is chugging eastward on its great mission. No record run is to be attempted, no fast time is scheduled for the trip over the Santa Fe trail. John S. Mitchell, president of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association, is to direct operations. His will is to be law.

Bedouins of the boulevard cheered to the echo as the red car skimmed along. It could have been driven at ninety miles an hour but that was not the purpose of this organizing plan. The little towns are not to be overlooked. It may take a month or more to organize Southern California thoroughly, but President Mitchell is not the man to look backward when he once has placed his hand to the plow.

The reception tendered the officers of the Highway Association shows the trend of public opinion in the towns along the Banning route. Everywhere the desire to contribute liberally to the good roads fund is manifest. The record of $2650 set on Wednesday established the high mark as far as money is concerned.

NOON RALLY.

Enthusiasm was on top from the second President Mitchell addressed the noonday meeting at El Monte until the thong at the mass-meeting in Pomona raised $1500 for the good roads fund. A national highway is to be built. The turnpike will be completed years before the most sanguine believer in the project expects. At least 1000 automobiles are to make the trip across the continent this coming year.

Sentiments which have the right kind of thrill were expressed by the men who are back of this great undertaking. The slogan "A national highway from the Pacific to the Atlantic" is catching. It grips the hearts of the farmers and merchants, the motorists and business men.

When Robert Jordan, president of the Alhambra division, purchased five memberships in the Ontario division and an additional one in the Pomona division, the keynote of the entire movement was struck. Alhambra has many miles of good roads. It was not necessary for Alhambra to contribute cash to the national highway fund, yet the little city put up $500 to help build the highway through the desert.

When an enthusiastic member from Los Angeles contributed $1 for little 2-year-old Frances Smith, Jordan came through with a membership for Bonnie Mary Jordan, his daughter, who is two and one-half months old and is the youngest member of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association. Jordan is only one of many boosters in Alhambra who have shown the right spirit.

When the Alhambra division was organized The Times pilot car was given its first send-off on the great project. The undertaking was an experiment until Alhambra was reached and when the cheers burst from the multitude there the question was answered. Divisions are to be formed, not only in Alhambra, El Monte, Pomona, Ontario, Walnut, Bloomington, Riverside and Redlands, but in every city along the old Santa Fe trail.

The Times car has been started. It will never be driven back until the goal is reached. Its hood is to be kept ever eastward. The command "go" is to be heralded across the continent and until an organization which has for its object the building of a great national highway is perfected The Times car will remain on the firing line.

NO FAST RUNS.

No matter who intends to make fast runs across the continent, no matter whether records are broken from here to Alhambra, The Times car will proceed slowly. The crew will always have the comforting thought, however, that if necessary the driver could step on the throttle and send the car out for a record that would astound the motor world.

President Mitchell plans to organize divisions in Colton, Beaumont and Banning this week, with a big mass-meeting in Colton. This plan meets with the approval of the men of the little towns and when The Times car rolls into the cities thousands of boosters will be prepared for the right kind of a rally.

Tingling with the inspiration of the mighty undertaking the officers of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association believe that a sum of money sufficient to make the highway from Yuma to Los Angeles passable will have been raised before The Times pilot car crosses the Colorado River.

Already the Whitewater road is being built. When President Mitchell crosses this road to organize at Palm Springs, The Times car will be the first motor to chug over the new highway that removes one of the most dangerous spots of the Banning route.

BROOKS'S SECRET.

"See me wearing these shin guards?" asked Brooks yesterday morning. "Well, the reason I do that is so that I can make the hook slide into second base."

Just about that time the news began to arrive from the East that there had been a big blizzard back there. Heavy shin guards for hook slides are what kept it from snowing here yesterday.

MORE SORE ARMS.

"We've got the biggest bunch of sore arms in the league," growled out Dillon yesterday, when he was playing first base in the morning practice for the Angels. "I'll bet we will have ninety men on the Los Angeles payroll before the season ends. Daley, Heitmuller and Brooks are sore now, and there will be more."

Just stop and think for a minute what this means to the Angels in their chase for the pennant.

Better Roads.

RINCON ROAD NOW BUILDING.

One Hundred Thousand for the Causeway.

Ocean Road Project All the Way to Bay City.

Treacherous Casitas Pass Soon Thing of Past.

SANTA BARBARA, March 23.—With the early completion of the Rincon causeways, motorists of California will be able to follow an almost uninterrupted sea level route from San Francisco to San Diego. This pleasure is being made possible by the generosity of automobile owners of the entire State who have voluntarily contributed to a fund of $100,000 for the improvement of the road between this city and Ventura.

All but $10,000 of the required amount has been subscribed and paid and the most important part of the work is well under way with a promise from the contractor, John Williamson, that the three great bridges will be completed the latter part of May. When the bridges or causeways are open to traffic the liberal California motorists will be able to point to the accomplishment with pride, realizing that they have done more for the pleasure of the automobilist than any other set of philanthropic citizens in the United States.

Since motoring gained its popularity in California it has been no unusual feat for any one to drive from one end of the State to the other, but the pleasure of the journey over the sea route has been marred by the treacherous Casitas Pass, a road over steep and dangerous mountain paths between Santa Barbara and Ventura. As a result, the greater portion of the traffic has followed the interior route, which, though pleasant, is not considered nearly as scenic as the road near the placid Pacific.

To complete the sea level route from San Francisco south and also to popularize motoring in close proximity to the beach, it was conceded by everyone that it would be necessary to eliminate the Casitas Pass and build a new road along the ocean shore from this city to Ventura. The solution of the traffic problem was not difficult to ascertain, but how to raise the money to carry it through was not so easy. Santa Barbara county could not vote bonds for the work because most of the expense would be confined to territory within Ventura county. The latter county was up against a similar proposition.

MONEY IN SIGHT.

So urgent became the execution of the plan that a committee of local citizens met to devise ways and means for the procuring of sufficient funds. This committee was comprised of Samuel P. Calef, a Montecito millionaire oil operator, M. J. Doulton, wealthy and a member of the county Board of Supervisors, and Milo M. Potter, president of the Potter Hotel Company. Finally they decided to stand sponsors for the fund and would make an earnest appeal to the motoring public of the State for financial aid. A responsive chord was struck in every principal city of the State. Los Angeles motorists liberally contributed and no small amount was given by automobilists of San Francisco, while smaller cities came through handsomely and Santa Barbara and Montecito motor owners gave in the neighborhood of $20,000.

When it was found that there would be little difficulty in raising the money for the building of bridges along the sea, the Supervisors of Ventura county declared they would lend further aid by voting bonds for the erection of a $50,000 span across the Ventura River and they were true to their word. As a result, the project was enthusiastically undertaken and when a large percentage of the money was collected a contract was let for the construction of the causeways.

These causeways are being built along the base of the Rincon Mountains, following the route of the old camino real, used in frontier days as the stage coach line, available, however, only at low tide and for that reason having been abandoned many years ago for the perilous trip over the Casitas. To complete the sea level route it is necessary to build three causeways which are nothing but bridges, the total length being 6818 feet—more than one and one-third miles—an undertaking of no small proportions when not backed by State, county or city funds.

FIRST CAUSEWAY.

The first causeway, which is 1908 feet long, has been completed, as has also the second, which is 510 feet long. The third is to be 4400 feet in length and more than 800 feet of it has been finished. The causeways are twenty-four feet wide and are expected to stand for a quarter of a century. They are constructed of huge blue gum piling, driven to a depth of six feet in the ground. On top of the piles are placed caps 12x12 inches, stringers 4x12 inches, and planks 3 inches thick and 12 inches wide. The contractor has guaranteed the causeways for a year, but he says there is no reason for them wearing out for many years. More than 1,250,000 feet of lumber and 1500 piles are necessary for the work.

With a resisting power of twenty tons, and being in a locality where there is little teaming, it is considered certain that the causeways will provide an excellent road for automobiles for a long time and that the up-keep of the spans will be small.

When the causeways are completed, about $10,000 will be spent in grading and oiling the approaches from the Ventura and Santa Barbara ends. As it will take more than a year to build the Ventura bridge, a temporary structure will be erected over the river and the sea level route from San Francisco to San Diego should be open to the public early the coming summer.

How popular the new route will be can be estimated by the extent of traffic over the Casitas. Notwithstanding the terrors of that trip, there is not a day that scores do not brave it and when the speedway of bridges are completed it is predicted that traffic will increase several hundred per cent.

The plan of improving this section of the State route recently was explained to Gov. Johnson, who often tours the coast in his automobile, and he gave it his instant approval. He admitted that the spirit of the public in financing such a big project undoubtedly would have a desirable effect on the State Highway Commissioners, and it is believed assured that the State highway route will follow this new Rincon road.

NOVEL TIRE RECORD.

Marks Between Los Angeles and San Francisco Held by United States Firm.

To the United States tire belongs the unusual distinction of holding all road records between Los Angeles and San Francisco over the valley route.

The continuous chain was completed recently when Ed. Eichner of Fresno drove a Warren-Detroit from San Francisco to Fresno in five hours and four minutes. This is fast traveling, and E. W. Hobson, the owner of the car, does not hesitate in giving the United States tires their full credit for the wonderful record.

The record from Los Angeles to Bakersfield and from Los Angeles to Fresno, is held by the Cadillac, which also used the United States tires. The Cadillac's time to Bakersfield was 4 hrs. 26m. This is one of the most remarkable road records in California, and will probably stand for many months. The same car also holds the record from Los Angeles to Fresno.

Eau Claire, Wis., is considering the purchase of three motor fire trucks.

FAST CARD AT STADIUM.

Daredevil Motorcycle Men Ready for Thrills.

Great Crowd Is Expected at Piepan Today.

Hasha, Balke and Wolters in Match Events.

Another record crowd is expected this afternoon at the Los Angeles motorcycle stadium by Pete Young. The fast card scheduled promises a series of races which should be thrilling and exciting. Something should be doing every second.

Such men as Joe Wolters, Eddie Hasha and fearless Charles Balke are never hooked up in a match race without turning miles close to a ninety or a 100-mile-an-hour clip. These boys are to be out this afternoon for world records and the prospect is that the fastest time ever made on a saucer track will be registered today.

Preparation has been made for a monster throng and the management is taking especial pains to accommodate autoists and others who expect to witness the races, which called out so many a week ago today. The card for this afternoon is one of the best ever arranged for the stadium.

MANY STARS.

The motorcycle races of this afternoon should bring out a galaxy of speed demons, who should satisfy the most critical members of the fan society, who enjoy the stadium speed fest.

The motor racing game is becoming more and more popular all over the country, and Los Angeles, with her perfect climatic conditions, bids fair to lead the world in this form of thrill-producing sport.

They will all be there this afternoon. The Samuelson brothers, Al Ward, Joe Wolters, Ray Seymour, "Speed" Hasha and the rest of the jockey club of bike buzzers.

The local piepan is a dangerous track, and when the fans gather to see the records torn down and hung up there is always a feeling, way down deep, that some slip or move of fickle fortune may cost some motor rider his life.

Jake de Rosier, who was injured some time ago, has not recovered as yet. With the classy corps of motor men entered in the programme of this afternoon, keyed up to the safety valve pitch, there is a good chance for some world record-shattering performances.

The automobile promises to figure prominently in the Presidential campaign this summer. Virtually every one of the leading candidates on both sides are habitual users of cars and a number of automobile speaking tours are already being mapped out.

NEW NATIONAL LINE HANDSOME.

Two-passenger Roadster Has Rakish Lines.

Five and Seven-passenger Touring Car Models.

Left-hand Drive Innovation Is Promised.

The new National series, to be placed on the market within the next fifteen days, will be known as series "V." A two-passenger roadster, four-passenger toy tonneau, five and seven-passenger touring cars, together with the enclosed models, will complete the series.

These cars have a low rakish appearance. The lines of the bodies have been radically changed, with the gas tank now carried behind. All models have three quarters elliptical springs on the rear and are equipped with self-starter and electric lights.

The body is roomy, beautifully proportioned and luxuriously upholstered. Nothing has been overlooked in developing a car of merit.

All new moles will have the left hand drive, center control and be equipped with demountable rims. The cylinders are cast in pairs and have extra large valves, with nickel steel heads.

Spiral cut timing gears operate the cam shafts. Tapered nipples used on intake; exhaust and water pipes in place of packing.

The crank shaft is of vanadium steel, ground to one-thousandth of an inch, with extra long Parsons white bronze bearings. The National has an aluminum crank case, interchangeable parts, and the valve stem and springs are completely inclosed, eliminating noise and affording protection.

The clutch is self-contained and has an aluminum cone, leather face, spring cushioned, giving gradual engagement. The transmission is sliding gear selective type. Three speeds forward and one reverse. The gears are made of special alloy steel, oil-tempered. Annular ball bearings are on the main and counter shafts. The gears run in oil; their perfect fit makes them noiseless.

The wheel base of the roadster is 120 inches. The touring car and toy tonneau 128 inches.

The oiling system is a constant level force feed oiler, with gear-driven pump, oiling all working parts of motor. Capacity, four gallons. The roadster has an auxiliary oil tank on rear deck containing ten gallons, with pressure feed to crank case.

The ignition on all types, except roadster, double dual Bosch magneto with storage battery. Two sets of spark plugs are located in valve caps in cylinder heads. The National has water and dust protection, detachable metal dust pans of an improved type protecting all working parts and give perfect and water-tight protection.

Two systems of brakes are used. Two internal expanding hub brakes lined with fabric operated by foot pedal. Two brakes on outside of rear wheel drums are operated by hand lever. Rear wheel drums are sixteen inches in diameter.

The frame is of pressed steel, wide flanged; the front axle is I-beam steel, one-piece forging, the rear axle is full floating type. Timken bearings are used.

MOTOR TRUCKS IN DOMINION.

ALCO MAN GIVES US LATEST REPORT FROM CANADA.

Horse is Rapidly Being Replaced in the Land North of the United States Where the Commercial Cars Are Coming Into Their Own—High-priced Motors Are in Demand.

After a trip through the Dominion of Canada, Fred J. Titus, traveling representative for the Alco factory, has returned and is in a position to give a clear insight into the motor truck conditions in that part of the country. It is his opinion that the horse is rapidly being replaced by the motor vehicle, in Canada.

People who have for years used horses, as a means of hauling, have adopted the motor truck. Titus also tells of the introduction of oak blocks to replace the block rubber tires on trucks and declares that much interest is being shown in Canada in the test given the wooden tires.

Within two weeks' time during his trip Titus closed sales totaling $71,000. The demand for American motor trucks and high-priced motor cars in Canada, is growing rapidly, and according to the Alco man, it is due to the general prosperity of that country.

MARK MOTOR CARS.

The scheme of making plainly every automobile used by a city official the words, "City of New York," adopted by the metropolis to prevent illicit use of municipal cars is likely to be followed by other American cities in the near future. To make the plan effective any official who uses a city-owned car without the designation is liable to a fine of $10.

The Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association has tentatively decided to hold its 1913 show in the Milwaukee Auditorium, from January 11 to 27, thus making a two weeks' exposition in place of the usual one week show. The first part is to be devoted to pleasure cars and accessories, and the last week to commercial vehicles.

Can Any Distributor Any Time or Any Place in the World Show an Equal Volume of Business in a Like Period on One Make of Car?

The question of BUICK superiority has been answered to the entire satisfaction of the people of California.
The 1912 BUICK is one example where a low price does not mean a sacrifice of quality, style and power.
The well-known BUICK qualities of POWER, SPEED and STAMINA are backed by a degree of Care in Little Things

which shows no slighting of detail under cover of a fancy body. For instance: 30 grease cups guard against wear on the car at points usually left to shift for themselves, "doing sentry duty against the enemy, friction." Few cars can boast half so many; and so on. A wonderful hierarchy of features, each subservient to the other, and each contributing to the other's excellence.
Backed by an unequaled reputation for service and stability, the 1912 BUICK awaits your most critical inspection.

—History repeats itself—Mitchell Skill again sets a standard for Moderate Priced cars

(J)

IN 1905 when the Mitchell brought out the first four-cylinder car at $1500, the less progressive makers let out a fierce yip-yip—they said it couldn't be done. Since then, Mitchells have so standardized their product that $1500 is the extreme limit for any man to pay for a four-cylinder car.

These same stand-pat makers are talking the same sort of "Conversation" about the six-cylinder. Yet in the face of it, the Mitchell "Six" at $1900 is a contradiction of this "can't be done."

Mitchell policy is a far-seeing one. It knows no season, type, model, standard, except that which is, and that, only as a basis upon which to work refinement, and improvement. In this way they have realized the ideal for the average owner.

They have put three years of this kind of brain and brawn into the making of this perfectly luxurious six-cylinder at $1900. Your proof of it is a free test of the car.

(K)

NOT an ounce of this effort has been wasted, as you will agree when you look over these six-cylinder models at $1900.

Go into the smallest detail if you please, or, the engineering accomplishments, the quality of materials, the fineness of its finish, the richness of upholstery and trimming, the completeness of equipment, the beauty of its lines, the speed, power, velvet smoothness. In fact, we scarce care how high your ideal is, we promise a fairer realization of it at $1900 in either two or five-passenger, six-cylinder model, than you ever dreamed possible at that price.

ECRUITS ENLIST IN "THE TIMES" HIGHWAY PROJECT.

The co-operation of the Los Angeles Examiner, like that of all newspapers that are now joining The Times in this great movement that has for its object the building of a national highway, is welcomed.

Everybody is jumping into the band wagon. There is practically unanimity to the great project of a national highway from the Pacific to the Atlantic. Divisions are to be formed in every city and town along the route of the old Santa Fe trail by The Times pilot car.

In a message to John S. Mitchell, the Examiner offers to help the Ocean to Ocean Highway Association. The promise from M. F. Ihmsen, general manager of the Examiner, follows:

"Mr. John S. Mitchell,

President Ocean to Ocean Highway Association.

Dear Sir:—I congratulate you and your association upon the energetic way you are proceeding to organize local branches of the association, all of which have for their purpose the construction of a national highway connecting New York with California. The Los Angeles Examiner will be happy to contribute in any way in its power to the success of this project and will call the attention of the entire chain of Hearst papers published as they are in San Francisco, Chicago, Atlanta, Boston and New York to the value of the proposed undertaking to the country in general.

WORST ROADS.

United States has the worst of any of the great civilized The wagon distribution in this costs an average of 22 cents per mile. In Great Britain it is only 10 cents per mile, and the streets of London, where motors are generally used, the cost is 4 cents per mile. If the roads of this country were improved so that they would systems equal to those of Europe, saving to the American people in the cost of distribution of the products would be over $2,000,000,000 a year.

There is a great deal nowadays about the cost of living; the cost of labor, taxes, and the dissolution of trusts. It seems to me that if the American people paid one-half as much attention to the improvement of roads and the distribution facilities of the country, we would have very little worrying to do about the high cost of living, the tariff or the navy.

FEDERAL HIGHWAYS.

"At the National Good Roads Congress in Richmond last year I advocated the development of some great Federal transcontinental highways. If we could have two great national roadways extending from coast to coast they would be a great inspiration to the various States to develop cross highways equally as good. The result would be, in at most a generation, a vast network of improved highways which would greatly facilitate the distribution of the country's crops and which would mean an incalculable saving to the nation.

"It may be thought that I advocate good roads from selfish motives. I acknowledge that the automobile industry would be greatly benefited by the development of good roads. But it must be remembered that the automobile has succeeded in spite of bad roads. Automobile manufacturers have learned to build cars which will stand the jolts of our bad American roads. The automobile industry will go on succeeding, whether or not the roads of the country are being improved, and I think I have made it clear that the whole country, as well as the automobile industry, would benefit materially from a general national highway improvement. I am glad that California has shown some initiative in this matter and I am sure that as the success of those States which have improved their roads becomes more generally known, the movement for good roads will become definite and nation-wide, instead of vague and confined."

BONUS FOR AUBURN TOURER.

Offer of Two Hundred Dollars Made to Purchaser Who Refuses to Sell His Bargain.

W. J. Burt of the W. J. Burt Motor Car Company was placed in a peculiar position last week. He received the first six-cylinder Auburn car and placed it on exhibition in his salesroom, where it caused considerable comment among the visitors at his place. It happened that Burt had taken orders from F. V. Marshall of Ramona Park and F. B. McClintock of No. 516½ South Hill street.

It was a question who should have the car as it was impossible to get another for some time. It was finally decided that Marshall had the right as he had placed his order six months ago. McClintock offered him as high as $200 if he would wait for the second six, but Marshall said it looked good to him and $500 wouldn't get him to wait.

Announcement that Gen. T. Coleman DuPont of Delaware will devote upward of $10,000,000 to the building of good roads, not only in his own State, but in others, has resulted in receipt by him of hundreds of letters from all parts of the country, suggesting routes which would be of benefit and applying for monetary aid.

Novel Tour.

FLOTILLA OF REOS ON WAY TO THE IMPERIAL VALLEY.

TUESDAY MORNING at 11 o'clock a flotilla of five passenger cars, draped in the Reo colors, was started for the Imperial Valley and San Diego, where they will be used by the owners who piloted them out of the city.

There were eight cars in all. Five went to El Centro, where Fred Fuller, the Reo agent, had been waiting for some time to fill his orders and the other three were sold by W. P. Criswell, the San Diego Reo agent.

The procession went through the principal streets of the downtown section and then was headed for San Diego, where the first stop was made. The five cars for the valley country, continued on their journey the next morning and arrived in El Centro Wednesday afternoon.

The interesting feature of the shipment was the fact that the owners came to Los Angeles and drove the cars to their homes, under the guidance and direction of the San Diego and El Centro dealers.

NEW MITCHELL TRUCKS ARRIVE.

STURDY COMMERCIAL CARS ARE READY FOR BUSINESS.

Local Agents Succeed in Bringing Their Model Cars Here for a Critical Inspection and the Prospect is They will Make Good on Severe Test.

Two of the new Mitchell trucks have just been received by the Greer-Robbins Company, distributors for Mitchell cars in Southern California and Arizona. These trucks exemplify the well-known characteristic of Mitchell cars in the way of ample proportions and sturdiness of design. The one and one-half-ton truck has a wheel base of 115 inches, tread sixty inches, which was adopted to secure the minimum space for turning; four-cylinder motor, 3⅝x5½, developing full twenty-five horse power; 34x4 solid tires, equipped with the new Kelly-Racine rims, making it possible to remove the tires on the road instead of going to the tire depot. This truck has a capacity of from three to four thousand pounds.

The two and one-half-ton truck has a wheel base of 130 inches, a tread of sixty inches, four-cylinder motor, 4¼x5, developing full thirty horse power; 36x3-inch dual solid tires on the rear, 36x4 single solid tires in front. Capacity five to six thousand pounds.

The motors on both size trucks are mounted under the driver's seat, so that there is no waste of wheel base and the trucks are easily handled in crowded and narrow streets. The motors are accessible as in addition to the large removable sides under the driver's seat, the latter can be lifted entirely off the chassis in a minute's time by simply loosening four set screws. A special device, controlled by attachment on the high-speed gear shift acting in the carburetor, automatically limits the speed of the truck on high gear to that desired by the owner, so that it is impossible for a careless driver to race his truck.

The transmissions are of the selective type in both models and so hung that no amount of twisting of the frame can possibly throw any strain on them. The gears are of Chrome Nickel steel, of wide face and mounted on the square shaft instead of being keyed.

From the interest shown in these new Mitchell trucks, a large business is assured. Several orders have been booked since the trucks have been received.

LICENSES FOR DRIVERS.

Highway Commissioner Bigelow, of Pennsylvania, has issued orders that the provisions of the automobile license act requiring persons operating motor vehicles be licensed to be enforced. This will mean that all persons who operate trucks or cars, even though they perform such duty part of a day, or as a part of their regular work, must be licensed.

The Louisville Automobile Club and Louisville Automobile Dealers' Association have joined forces to combat Senator Newcomb's bill.

CARE FOR RUBBER TREES.

President de Fonseca, of Brazil, has signed an act by which the exploitation of the rubber tree forests of the Amazon River region, and in fact in all of Brazil, becomes subject to strict regulation by special officers of the State. Certain rules for tapping and for replanting are incorporated in the measure, the passage of which was due to the necessity of protecting the rubber trade against the ever-increasing competition from plantations in the far Orient, especially near the Straits Settlement of Malacca and the Indian archipelago.

FLANDERS PARADE OF PHOENIX INDIANS

A unique stunt was pulled off in Phoenix recently, which attracted a great deal of attention and was talked of for days. The Arizona Motor Car Company started a parade which passed down the main traveled highway, which made all Phoenix marvel. At the beginning of the parade was a Flanders "20;" hitched to this was a truck on which stood two big horses, with five men to keep them quiet. To the rear of the truck was attached a wagon carrying thirty members of the United States Indian School band. The entire weight pulled by the Flanders was eight and a half tons.

Exciting.

TETZLAFF WILL RACE AVIATOR.

Famous Auto Driver to Try to Win from Airman.

Thrilling Events Planned for Owensmouth Opening.

Motor Contests and Barbecue at Celebration Saturday.

Teddy Tetzlaff, winner of the first Santa Monica road race, and a champion motor car driver, has been matched to race a powerful Fiat against a Curtis biplane piloted by Beryl Williams, a well-known local aviator, and head of an aviation school, at the opening of the new town of Owensmouth in the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands next Saturday.

This air-versus-earth race is to be one of several thrilling spectacles that have been arranged for an all-day celebration when the new town is opened.

Tetzlaff, Caleb Bragg, Eugene Hewlett and other motor car riders will compete in motor car races on the magnificent $500,000 boulevard that runs eighteen miles through the Van Nuys-Lankershim tract. Telegrams have been sent to Bruce Brown, and it is probable that he will also take part in the races.

The events of the day will furnish as many thrillers as have ever been arranged outside of the long road races, but the contest between Tetzlaff in his ninety-horse-power car against the flying machine man is to be made the most exciting affair of the entire programme. The contract between the two men has been signed with the distance not determined. Both men, however, have agreed to race three "heats," the prize to go to the winner of the best two out of three.

Bragg and Tetzlaff are matched for several races. Both will drive Fiats and the winner will be determined more upon the skill of the drivers than on the cars.

When the complete programme for the celebration is made up it will include the best-known drivers of the Southwest.

Tetzlaff made his first visit to the Van Nuys-Lankershim speedway yesterday in his big Fiat racing machine. Accompanied by Hewlett he studied every part of the eighteen-mile boulevard, and then, for half an hour, tested the car over the smooth roadway. He will be in daily practice near Owensmouth for the rest of the week.

Bragg has not as yet been over the course, but one of his representatives drove over it yesterday and declared that Caleb could do the sprinting of his career on the smooth asphalt. It is thought by his backers that he can do even a more spectacular stunt than he accomplished when he defeated Barney Oldfield at the Los Angeles Motordrome.

Aviator Williams was taken through the upper end of the San Fernando Valley by auto yesterday afternoon, and during a stop at Owensmouth arranged for a hangar and selected a spot for ascending and alighting both during his exhibition flights and his race against Teddy.

After his return to the city he arranged with Ralph Chandler to have his air machine transferred from Domingues Field to Owensmouth in a monster Alco truck. The biplane will be loaded on the truck tomorrow and Chandler will attempt to break a truck speed record in driving from the aviation field to the far end of the San Fernando Valley.

Tetzlaff and Williams have not as yet been introduced, the racing agreement between them having been drawn up by their respective representatives and taken to each man to sign. They will meet on the site of their race during the week, when both will be in active practice. Williams declares that, barring unexpected and adverse air currents in the valley, he can defeat any automobile that was ever built.

The auto and air events of the day, which will be a feature of the big all-day celebration with its barbecue and bands and sporting events, include speed competitions in both short and long distances with the motor cars and exhibitions of fancy and dare-devil driving around sharp curves. Williams in his flights will show the very latest stunts in volplaning, and will also essay the "dip of death," one of the most reckless feats of the airman. He will also fly over the entire upper end of the valley and make an altitude ascent, spiraling to earth and alighting in a roped arena near the big barbecue pits.

OLDS FIRE TRUCKS.

Famous Concern, Elated by Past Success, Plans New Line of Models. Output Limited.

An announcement to the effect that the Olds Motor Works of Lansing, Mich., will add to their line, fire fighting and other equipment for municipal service, has just been made by W. J. Mead, general manager of the company. The Oldsmobile chassis for several seasons past has been used for this work, and for three years the Olds factory has been carrying on extensive experiments with the fire fighting apparatus.

There is no longer any question as to the practicability of motor-driven fire apparatus, for only a short time ago the Oldsmobile fire fighters now in use in the city of Lansing, had a most severe test.

Two pumping engines are in use in Lansing, one a sixty-horse-power and the other a ninety; and at the burning of the city's largest hotel, The Downey House, which occurred a short time ago, the smaller of these engines, which had seen three years of service, pumped steadily for a period of ten hours and forty-five minutes.

The ninety-horse-power engine worked without stop, thirteen hours and thirty minutes. The two engines consumed a total of ninety-six gallons of gasoline, throwing an average of 1350 gallons of water to the minute.

As the hydrant pressure only averages from fifteen to twenty pounds, it can readily be seen that the engines were working to their fullest capacity throughout the whole time.

According to the manager of the Oldsmobile factory, the output for the present will be limited to combination chemical and hose wagons, police patrols and ambulances. Other orders will be filled from time to time, but the bulk of the business will be confined to the above-mentioned models.

RUBBER COSTS MONEY.

A bill has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies in France providing for an import duty of 1 franc to 1.50 francs on every kilogram of raw rubber imported into that country, unless it comes from one of the French colonies. It is the ostensible object of the bill to encourage rubber culture in the French Congo and Indo-China, which supply at present only 5 per cent. of the French rubber imports. It is admitted that the tax would bring the State from 8,000,000 to 12,000,000 francs revenue, as the import of raw rubber amounts to about 8,000,000 kilograms, but it is not seen why this total should be saddled upon the owners of automobiles, who are taxed in many different ways beforehand.

Up to the present time only 10,000 automobile licenses have been issued in Missouri for the current year. According to estimates in the Secretary of State's office, there should be many more.

Makers of wire wheels in England are having considerable friction over infringement of one another's designs because of similarities in the grouping of the spokes, the coning and the location of the spoke ends.

DON LEE LEAVES FOR EAST.

Cadillac Conference Calls Local Agent to the Factory in Detroit for Awhile.

Don Lee, the Cadillac agent for California, left Thursday for Detroit to attend the annual sales conference at the Cadillac factory. Mr. Lee will be one of the principal speakers at the conference, his subject being, "Stunts and Service." In these subjects he will have a broad field, as no agent of any make has pulled off stunts to compare with those of the Cadillac.

Don Lee has also made a wonderful record, taking care of his customers. He has instituted a system which results in every Cadillac owner being visited once a month by a member of the service department. By this method the agency keeps in close touch with every owner and good service is assured. Don Lee has also insisted that every Cadillac garage be a home for any Cadillac owner.

TOURING PRIVILEGES.

With a look ahead, in view of the possibility that the New Jersey lawmakers may not have enacted favorable legislation by that time, the hotel and business men of Asbury Park have requested Motor Vehicle Commissioner Smith to restore for the month of April, the Easter season, the eight-day dollar touring privilege, which was revoked last July.

For the purpose of giving road supervisors and other persons interested in good roads practical instruction, Prof. R. C. Terrell, head of the civil engineering department of State University, at Lexington, Ky., has been giving practical demonstrations of the construction of earth and sand roads, and the reconstruction of macadam roads.

Saturday and Sunday.

MOTOR MEET AT LAKESIDE.

Case Giants to Fight for the World Records.

Walter Hempel Once More in the Spotlight.

Two-mile Speedway May Be Fastest on Earth.

World's records are expected to go by the boards at the big two-day automobile race meet on the Lakeside Inn track at San Diego Saturday and Sunday, when the speed season for 1912 will be opened in California.

Louis Disbrow and the new 290-horsepower Jay-Eye-See racing freak, which is expected to develop the sensations for the coming year in the auto racing line, will be introduced formally to the racing world.

Disbrow will go after all the world's records up to fifty miles Saturday afternoon. Many of the gasoline engine experts and members of the automobile fraternity who saw Disbrow and his great car in their private workouts on the motor parkway on Long Island in New York, believe that the big Flat with the freak name and the freak design will travel three miles a minute on a straightaway course. And on the circular dirt tracks of the country it will prove the biggest sensation ever developed in the racing line.

Disbrow will also drive the Simplex cyclone and the Case "White Streak" in the races at San Diego and both of these machines are expected to lower world's records. The Case "White Streak" is regarded as the fastest 300-cubic-inch car in the world.

The Lakeside Inn track, where the races are to be held, is being overhauled and put in better shape than ever before since its construction. Manager Walter Hempel is anxious to have the Lakeside track credited with several records and if they are not hung up Saturday and Sunday it will not be his fault or the fault of the two-mile speedway.

The front wheels should not be adjusted so loosely that they are allowed to wobble. Neither should nuts be screwed up so tightly that there is an excess amount of friction caused by the pressure created. When the wheels begin to give signs of play it is time that the required adjustment be made.

The Garford 6

IS Not an Afterthought The Garford Co. did not, as most manufacturers have done, take their four-cylinder motor and by adding 2 additional cylinders build their Six—but they did build their Six from the bottom up, a 6-cylinder car and they took over three years to develop it at their own expense and not at that of the public, before offering their car to the public. The result has been that they have ferreted out and cured troublesome details which are today causing many manufacturers and owners of other Sixes considerable annoyance.

The Garford Six has its cylinders cast in 2 sets of three each, making possible a 4-bearing crank shaft and doing away with that awful mess of wiring, water connections and piping so common in most Sixes.

The Garford Co. were the first in this country to use the Bosch 2-point ignition which produces at exactly the same instant hot sparks on opposite sides of the cylinder, thereby increasing the ordinary ignition system's efficiency by at least 20 per cent.

Carburetor That Has Water-Jacketed mixing chamber and inlet manifold—The Garford Six—with 7 passengers will consistently make from 12 to 13 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

Attention to Finish and Detail is shown throughout the Garford product. Luxurious upholstering only adds to the wonderful riding qualities of this car.

This makes it impossible for the features that will be copied from the New Self-Starting HUDSON "33" to appear generally earlier than next year or the year after.

But you get now all the advantages that come with simplicity, quietness, durability throughout, Self-Starter, Demountable Rims, Big Tires and the handsomest car built, if you choose the

New Self-Starting HUDSON "33"

It is the latest and greatest of the six famous cars designed and built by Howard E. Coffin, acknowledged America's leading automobile engineer.

All of his famous automobiles have been several years in advance of their time. Every one a success. Several still sell as leaders in their class. In his latest car is embodied a new degree of engineering progress. Mr. Coffin has always led as a designer of progressive ideas.

The HUDSON starts from the seat—at the mere pressure of a button. The self-starter, appropriately, is as simple as the car itself. It weighs but 4¼ pounds, has only 12 parts.

The motor and all moving parts are [illegible]. There are no exposed rods, wires, etc. [illegible] 1000 fewer parts are used than on other cars. The finish and furnishings are of the highest type. Let us show you other reasons why you should prefer the New Self-Starting HUDSON "33."

Over half this year's output of this car is already sold. They will be hard to get, no doubt, much later on. We can obtain no more than we had for last fall. Come see the New Self-Starting HUDSON "33" today.

AUTO TRUCK PACE MAKER

Is Put to New Uses Every Day of Year.

No Load Too Big for Cars to Handle.

Use of Trailers Adds to Their Utility.

The motor truck is becoming more popular every day. The auto is being used by the corner grocer to deliver his goods, the street railway companies are cranking the emergency wagons which race to the four corners of the city to repair damaged wires on short notice, the faithful fire department horses are a thing of the past, and the big Norman truck animal is almost a curiosity.

The large produce companies use the truck on the city streets and freight much of their fruit direct from the orchards to their local depots. The transfer companies have discarded the horse altogether and it is hard to find a horse team doing duty for any of the local music concerns. For hauling pianos and heavy furniture, there is nothing like a three-ton motor truck.

ARE INDISPENSIBLE.

Large manufacturing corporations find the heavy five-ton cars indispensable. They are good for twenty-four hours out of twenty-four, with a change of drivers, and the increased average speed, brings the cost of maintenance to a very low figure when compared to the number of draft animals required to do the same amount of work.

Ganahl Bros. are sending their five-ton Alco truck to Redondo on an average of five times a week for lumber. With one loading the cargoes of the coasting schooners are delivered at the companies yards.

There is one contracting and construction company in Portland, Or., which is running sixty-four motor trucks, ranging from the one-ton delivery wagon to the five-ton dray.

W. F. Wood, who handles the truck department of the California Motor Car Company claims that the only reason why the big contracting companies of Los Angeles and other Southern California cities do not use the auto truck exclusively, is the fact that they have no bunkers. With the bunker and the automatic loader at work, the truck can be loaded in a short time. The long waits required for the primitive loading, effects the usefulness of the truck. To make the investment pay well, the motor truck must be kept on the move.

KEEP MOVING.

According to Watt Moreland, Southern California is destined to become the greatest user of the commercial and agricultural motor truck of any section in the world. "It will only be a few years till our faithful old workers, the horse and mule, will be no more," said Moreland yesterday. "This section leads the United States in the good roads department and the development of the gas engine to such a state of perfection, means that the city street, the ranch and the country lane will be rolled by the wheels of countless trucks of the lighter and heavier classes.

The Federal truck is playing versatile roles in the city and country. Searns delivered four power wagons of the Federal brand last week and now hiding behind the sold-out sign. Six orders are now in for trucks which will be delivered as soon as the railroads do their share in the contracts.

There is one contracting and construction company in Portland, Or., that is running sixty-four motor trucks, ranging from the one-ton delivery wagons to the five-ton dray.

F. F. Wood, who handles the truck department of the California Motor Car Company claims that the only reason the big contracting companies of Los Angeles and other Southern cities did not use the auto exclusively, is the fact that they are bankers. With the bucket and the automatic loader at work, the truck can be loaded in a short time, and the time required for the primary bidding effects the usefulness of the truck. To make the investment pay well, the motor truck must be kept on the move.

KEEP MOVING.

According to Watt Moreland, Southern California is destined to become the greatest user of the commercial and agricultural motor truck in any section in the world. "It will be but a few years till our faithful old workers, the horse and mule, will be no more," said Moreland yesterday. "This section leads the United States in the good roads movement and the development of the engine to such a state of perfection, means that the city street, the ranch, and the country lane will be relieved by the wheels of countless trucks of the lighter and heavier types.

The Federal truck is playing very well in the city and country. Orders delivered four power wagons to the Federal brand last week and are now hiding behind the sold-out sign. Orders are now in for trucks which will be delivered as soon as the railroads do their share in the matter.

K. Amanoto, a Japanese farmer of Whittier, was one of the Federal purchasers of last week, who will use the truck among his vegetable gardens and fruit trees. The problem of freighting has been worked out and the truck will run direct from the cultivated acres to the wholesale dealers' doors in this city.

Chanslor and Lyon also bought a Federal to be used in and out of the city for general freighting purposes.

The transfer work of the Woods Hotel of Glendale is also being done by a motor truck. All hours of day and night, calls come for service in the draying department of the hotel and the Federal has taken the place of twelve horses.

FOR ALL PURPOSES.

The fourth truck was delivered to the Sunny Slope Dairy of Pasadena where it is used to deliver milk, haul supplies and do the general draft work of the dairy farm.

The heavy Peerless motor is very popular in New York City, where the Standard Oil Company is operating a four and a five-ton truck, the American Express Company, a five, Babbett Soap Company, a four, the Harriman estate a three, Howell Coal Company, a five, Larkin Soap Company, a three, Wood-Selleck Company a three and C. H. Phillips Lumber Company, a three and two four-ton wagons.

W. H. Moe is using a three-ton Moreland distillate truck for general transfer purposes in and around Hains, Cal.

The San Joaquin Light and Power Company of Fresno and Bakersfield, has five Jackson delivery wagons in service. Practically all the teaming of the company is being done by the light trucks. The Model Grocery of South Pasadena and F. L. Payas of Boyle Heights were two grocers who invested in Jackson wagons last week. The horse is not in the running with these little gasoline delivery cars which take the hills and cover the city streets in fast time.

The Farmers' Implement Company of Santa Ana is among the recent Jackson patrons, and Cosnen Company of Monrovia finds the Jackson delivery a great saver of time and a practical wagon for use on the roads of the suburban districts.

Last Friday, B. Nason drove his one-ton Grabowsky, loaded with two pianos, to San Pedro, and returned with a load of lumber in five hours and forty minutes.

The Puente Oil Company has passed up the horse and is now running four big motor trucks.

TRUCK AS SAVIOR.

The recent fire which damaged the Mountain View Inn to the amount of $15,000 brought the motor truck into play as a charity wagon. M. G. Foster, who is connected with the Reo company, was stopping at the Mountain View at the time of the fire, and when he heard that the building was in flames, a Reo truck was rushed to the scene of action and the rescued belongings of the guests were hauled to places of safety in various parts of the city.

J. D. Funk of Beaumont has been running his Reo truck all over the Hemit Valley, through to Redlands, San Bernardino and Riverside, and also doing considerable passenger traffic. One of the favorite stunts of the owner is to rig the truck as a tally-ho and haul fishing and hunting parties out into the mountains. Quite often the Reo is used as a stage, taking parties over the mountain road to Eden Hot Springs, a distance of eleven miles.

The Ford delivery wagon is proving a popular vehicle in the towns of the Citrus Belt. In San Bernardino alone, there are four of the gas cars on the job, and they are attracting much attention in the railroad center.

E. J. Brent is a great booster for the motor truck and will soon have all the delivery wagons of the great furniture house equipped with mechanical horses.

The Gramm truck of the Allen Transfer Company is doing a land office business in the orange groves of Uplands. The truck has been declared practical on the ranch and the fact that no rest is required when there is a heavy shipment of oranges to be rushed out has made a great impression on the growers.

Curtis Colyer is contemplating an endurance run to San Francisco and return, for one of his two-ton Gramm trucks. The Moreland and Gramm managers don't seem to be able to get together on the great endurance test, which was to consist of a run to the northern city with a full load and several passengers. The exhibition run will attract much attention, but the same interest which would attend a non-stop race between the distillate and gasoline motor wagons, will be missing.

The three-ton Packard truck which has been running in and around the oil fields of Fullerton, is claimed to be doing the work of three six-mule teams. The motor is run two eight hour shifts daily and during the remaining hours of the night is put in condition for the next day's programme.

The efficiency of a motor truck can be so greatly increased by the use of trailers, that this matter is one of the most important studies of the thinking truck operator and is attracting much attention among the users of the power wagons.

In order to test the feasibility of trailers, Will R. Forker, sales manager of the Grabowsky truck for Hawley King & Co., made a trip to Anaheim last week, which amply proves that the use of trailer is practical for this section.

Leaving the city at 7:30, the run of thirty miles was made in two hours and a half with the empty truck. The truck used was one of the three-ton Grabowsky tank wagons of the Puente Oil Company's stable.

At Anaheim the truck was loaded at the company's yards and three tank wagons of from 500 to 800 gallons capacity were attached to the Grabowsky, making a load in the aggregate of twenty tons.

The return trip to Los Angeles was made through the Fullerton hills, in many places over soft and newly oiled roads, in the running time of three and one half hours; and even on the "S" hill at Fullerton, the great load was handled on the second gear.

F. W. Okey, general manager, and W. A. Chipps, superintendent of the Puente, accompanied the Grabowsky sales manager on the trip and were well pleased with the ability of the truck to handle trailer. They are now contemplating installing special large capacity tank trailers which will virtually double the value of the Grabowsky gass horses.

James Kane, who drives the three-ton Packard, owned by Howard & Smith, has covered 2081 miles in the big auto wagon since the first of the year. During the recent rains the truck has been worked steadily, and one day with a full load, went through the gravel bed of the river and up to the engine in water.

This car is rigged with the largest Packard body in Los Angeles. Fifteen feet long and eight feet wide is the way the figures read, and there are four floors to the bed. For freighting large nursery stock, the single or double floor attachments are used; but when it comes to the small stock, the four floors are adjusted, and the capacity of the car is doubled.

Before this truck was added to the rolling stock of the company seven horses were kept on the move and pense attached to the business. Now, with this Packard specially constructed, the horses are not used and there was a large expressing exthe truck does practically all the transfer work of the concern.

Novel Abbott-Detroit.

ARTILLERY ROADSTER HAS UNIQUE PLACE OF HONOR.

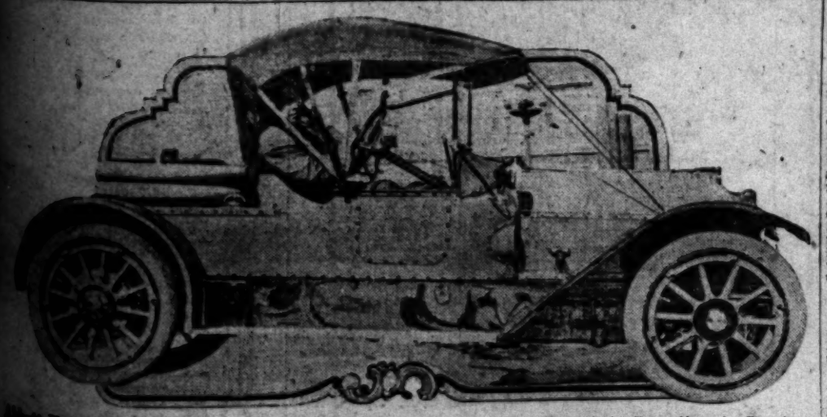
IT IS not often in these days that a new model automobile under normal circumstances will create such a sensation as to entirely block traffic on the streets of a great metropolis, but this happened in Los Angeles the other day when L. R. Carpenter took out the new Abbott-Detroit "41" artillery roadster for the first time. The design is so radical that a large crowd soon formed, and it was some moments before the police could force their way through the throng to order the car to move on.

The roadster was first exhibited at the Grand Central Palace Automobile Show in New York in January, and was the center of attraction. It was one of the most unusual designs seen at any of the big automobile shows this year. The model is original and is the first of its kind ever built in this country.

War terms have nearly been exhausted in efforts to describe its construction and appearance, the most familiar being gunboat, submarine, armored cruiser, and torpedo boat, but it has been officially dubbed "Artillery Roadster," by the Abbott Motor Company.

The radiator is V-shaped and comes to a point the same as a bow of a torpedo boat. The substantial metal body carries throughout the idea of an ironclad and heavy rows of rivets are used as beading. The after part of the car is the same shape as the stern of a vessel, the manholes being openings to the tool box and storage batteries, and the opening of the ventilators are made to represent cowles pipes.

On the deck is a tire trunk, around which are set two extra tires and demountable rims, the whole being clamped in place by a crabb extending the width of the tires, the arrangement having the striking appearance of a turret of a man-of-war. As a climax the car is painted the same gray as the United States navy uses for its battleships. For speed, it can beat the swiftest torpedo boat destroyer, being guaranteed to cover sixty-five miles per hour.



Abbott-Detroit Artillery Roadster, one of the Latest Arrivals Which is Startling in Design.

The new model is finished with a V-shaped hood and looks the part of an armored craft ready for a fierce battle with rocks or any other obstacle. It is one of the most radical designs on the market this year.

ROADS IN TENNESSEE.

At the present time, Tennessee is building more permanent roads than any other State in the Union. The one great project, the Memphis-Bristol road, which is now under course of construction, when completed will be the longest continuous macadamized road in the country, covering 602 miles. Already $510,000 has been spent on it, and it will take at least another year for its completion. The highway will pass through twenty-three counties and eighty-two towns. Knoxville and Nashville are among the towns through which the road passes.

BOWLES HAS RECORD.

"I'll bet I held one record for a time, at least," said Bowles, the Looloo catcher, after coming in from third base yesterday morning.

"In Texas five or six years ago I started out as a pitcher like they all do, and in a nine-inning game one day I fanned fifteen men and no hits and no runs were made off me."

Can you beat that? Of course, no one can, but when he told it one fellow up in the grand stand smiled.

PACKARD MAN CROSSES OLD SANTA FE TRAIL TO YUMA.

HENRY B. JOY recently returned to his home in Detroit, after a six weeks' trip through New Mexico and Arizona. Joy is president of the Packard Motor Car Company, and uses a Packard standard "six" chassis with a special camp body and equipment. The car carried three passengers; besides the president of the company there were M. J. Budlong, president of the Packard branches and H. H. Hilles, sales manager at the factory.

The party left Denver late in January and drove over the Raton pass to El Paso and then on to Roosevelt dam and the grand Canyon, ending the tour at Yuma. It was a terrific battle, during the most of the journey, as it is mostly a wild country covered with snow, and mud and sand.

"For twenty-three miles beyond Raton it was first and second-speed work all the way through mire and snow, mostly deep mud," said Joy. "Then we came to a washed-out bridge and it was necessary to make a long detour. Three miles out of Wagon Mound, we plunged into mud and snow so deeply that it took two hours to extricate the car. After working hard with shovels we managed to pull out on our own power.

"After passing this bad stretch we saw that valuable work was being done in reconstructing the old Santa Fe trail. Progress is rapidly being made in building a modern motor car road between Santa Fe and Albuquerque. North of Stanton, in Arizona, there was a five-mile ascent known as Yarnell Hill, and was a terrific climb. Our 'six' made it on low gear only by 'jumping it,' that is, speeding up the motor and then dropping to the clutch and making a distance of from three to twenty feet, the grades ranging from 20 to 30 per cent.

"From Prescott to Ash Fork the going was good and then came the most critical stage of the journey. There was not a drop of water between Ash Fork and the Grand Canyon. There are many trails and it is an easy matter to go wrong. Never before have I put a car through such strains. I believe these tests prove the stamina of the vehicle."

One-sided Victory.

M'LAUGHLIN IS FIRST IN INVITATION TOURNEY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

MICHAEL McLAUGHLIN, runner-up in the Southern California Championship, and champion of Denver, defeated Elmer Williams in the finals for the Annandale Invitation tournament on Friday by 7 up and 6 to play in a 35-hole contest.

McLaughlin was at the top of his game in the morning round, doing the first nine in 37 and the home nine in 39. It was felt on all sides that Mr. Williams had a very up-hill climb, for while he is a golfer of known and consistent ability, he had need be in his most brilliant form to cope with McLaughlin whose golf star is so pronouncedly ascendant these days.

But Mr. Williams rose to the occasion and accomplished the first nine in 40, although the fact that McLaughlin won the first four holes in par figures was a bit discouraging. They halved the fifth and sixth in par figures, after which Williams won his first hole with a neat 2 at the seventh. He also won the eighth, Devil's Gate, with 4 to McLaughlin's 5, but although he did the ninth in par, McLaughlin beat par and won the hole for 3, leaving him 3 up at the ninth.

In the homeward half McLaughlin took No. 10 for 3, and No. 11 for 5, again bettering par. At 12 and 13 he won with two 3's, and Nos. 14 and 15 were halved in par figures. No. 16 went to Williams for 5 against McLaughlin's 6, and Nos. 17 and 18 were halved for 5, leaving McLaughlin 6 up at the end of the first 18 holes.

In no case, however, was Williams defeated by more than one stroke at any hole, his failures invariably being due to short approaches which left him too long a putt on the green.

THE AFTERNOON ROUND.

In the afternoon the players started out early with a most commendable gallery, which, of coures, included Maj. Mihor, without whom any Annandale gallery would be incomplete.

Williams started out well, winning the first hole in par, by holding a very long putt. The twenty and twenty-first they halved for 5, after which Williams again reduced his partner's lead by taking Hill Crest in a par 4, thus making him but 4 down.

The twenty-third and twenty-fourth holes were halved for 6 and 5 respectively, both players missing easy putts at the twenty-third. At the twenty-fourth they were both on the green in 3, Williams making a good recovery from a bunker, but they subsequently halved the hole for 5.

The twenty-fifth, which is the short uphill hole, went to McLaughlin for 4. Williams overdrove the green and had to recover from a ditch, which he achieved cleverly, but not enough to win him the hole, notwithstanding the fact that McLaughlin missed a sort putt to the delight of the dubs who reap great consolation from the slips of the mighty.

With McLaughlin again 5 up, his next drive, to the very edge of the twenty-sixth green, made things look ominous and he won the hole for 3. They halved the twenty-seventh in par figures, thus leaving McLaughlin 6 up, both having accomplished the first nine in the second round in 43.

The match was finished at the twelfth. They halved the tenth for 3, the gallery recalling joyously, how, the day before, the two stars, McLaughlin and Hunter, both took 5 for that hole. More consolation for the dubs.

The eleventh was also halved for 5, and Punch Bowl went to McLaughlin for a masterly 2, thus completing the game.

Mr. McLaughlin, the winner, becomes the possessor of two handsome cups in this tournament, one for the qualifying round and one for the tournament.

SECOND FLIGHT.

In the second flight, N. W. Williams defeated A. A. French in the finals by 4 up and 3. Mr. French was the victim of a curious coincidence at the very outset, when he drove from the first tee into the fork of a tree. Two digs with a putter failed to dislodge it, so it had to be picked up and dropped, which of course, cost him the hole.

THIRD FLIGHT.

F. Wilson of Spokane, was the winner of the third flight, defeating Conde Jones by 1 up. And this, after he had the misfortune to lose his ball at the eleventh hole, besides having to play with a strange driver—and we all know what a mean thing that is. He is one of the good, steady players and was putting well most of the time, holing several long ones.

It was a well-contested match, in which they were all even at the ninth, after winning holes turn and turn about, or halving them with the utmost courtesy. Wilson made several pars in the home round, doing No. 10 in 3, Punch Bowl in a fine 2, Buena Vista in 4. They halved the seventeenth for 5 and Williams won the eighteenth by a stroke.

FOURTH FLIGHT.

Potter of Santa Barbara, won the fourth flight, defeating Winegar by 6 up and 5.

E. S. Armstrong and Armine Brand met in the defeated eight contest, the former winning by 2 up and 1 to play.

TOURNAMENT PERSONALITIES.

The winner of this year's Annandale invitation tournament and the runner-up for the championship tournament, Michael McLaughlin, is Irish, soft-hearted, popular, and deeply wise. The wisdom is chiefly embodied in the fact that he knew when to retire from the deadly hustle of business life and to enjoy the fruits of fortune and leisure while still young enough to properly appreciate them.

Golf, the seductive siren, acquired him against his will. For years he was a scoffer who regarded the game as a legitimate target for his caustic ridicule. At that time he was a great baseball player, a great footballer, a tennis exponent of merit, and an array of gold and silver medals at home attest to his prowess at rowing and handball and various other athletic sports.

That was seven years ago. Then one day at Del Monte someone challenged him to test his skill at golf, and the scoffer accepted. Now he has discarded all other games and his whole life is bounded on the north, south, east and west by golf.

At Denver, he is the president of the Colorado Country Club and likewise Denver's golf champion. He has been in the semi-finals and finals of several of the big national events—the Trans-Mississippi, the Western, the Pacific Coast and the California, to mention but a few. This year he is at the top of his game, never varying beyond the seventies.

He is calm, good-tempered, and extraordinarily steady. He prefers tea to anything stronger, although he would blush to confess it. And he always wears snow white boots on the links, by which he can be distinguished far into the distance.

This week he is playing in the club championship at Annandale, after which he and his family go for a week to Redlands, where he will play on the Annandale team and take part in the Redlands tournament. After that, they will go on to Del Monte. In July he will enter for the Western championship at Denver, and in September for the Trans-Mississippi at Minneapolis. If the latter event does not conflict with the Pacific Coast meeting at Del Monte in September, he will also be seen there.

Last year's winner of this Annandale event, it will be recalled, was E. P. Gates, who is one of the oldest members of the club but nevertheless bubbles over with the enthusiasm of youth when it comes to golf. On that occasion he defeated several of this year's good men, in his conquering career, Wrenn, Jewett, E. S. Armstrong and E. N. Wright. The latter only by 1 up in the 36-hole finals. The last three are all first-class players. Armstrong, of course, being the two-fold champion.

Therefore if Mr. Gates does walk with an air, don't you know, and inclined to patronize us at times—can you wonder?

Robert Hunter, whom McLaughlin met in the semi-finals and defeated by 2 up and 1, is really quite young. "I should say about 30," guessed one lady, interestedly. "Oh, not a day over 22," said another. So suppose we call it about 25.

Therefore his prowess as a golfer who is already, and promises to be much more soon, is noteworthy. He has visited most of the large events all over the country and is always spoken of "as a very fine golfer."

On the day of the semi-finals the entire Hunter family must have been on hand to witness his feats of superlative golf. There were fathers and mothers and uncles and other kith and kin all intensely and critically interesting. Robert could not make a stroke without several pairs of family eyes glistening triumphantly or clouding reproachfully, the while Father (or was it Uncle?) stored up criticism to be flooded forth upon the family hops later. It is easy to see that Robert's golf is the most important thing in the world to Robert's family.

So many golfers are merely regarded as a selfish bore to their families, that this delightful and refreshing exception will be watched with interest. And the psychological point arises, will family affection make or mar Robert's greatness?

NEW LEAGUE BUMPED.

United States Bunch Fails to Land a Park in New York City and Has to Skip that Center.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—Completion of the United States Baseball League was announced here today by W. C. Niezen, who said that Chicago had been given the franchise in the league intended for New York where, however, the league was unable to secure a park. The league now includes Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Washington, Brooklyn, Richmond, Va., Reading, Pa., and Chicago.

The first Chicago game is scheduled to be played the latter part of April at a northside park.

AMERICANS DO WELL.

LONDON, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] R. L. Lange of Oklahoma, W. A. Zeigler of Iowa and E. H. Hubbell of Chicago, Rhodes scholars, were among the representatives of Oxford in the annual athletic competitions between that university and Cambridge University at Queens Club, Kensington. Lange was able to obtain only third place in the 100-yard race, which was won by the Cambridge crack, Duncan MacMillan, in 10s. flat, but the weight-throwing was won by Zeigler with a throw of 40ft. 10in., while Hubbell was third with 39ft. 9in. W. A. Zeigler also won the hammer-throwing event with a throw of 139ft. 4 in.

Good Advice.

IMPORTANT DON'TS THAT FRED CLARKE INSISTS ON.

(1.) Don't smoke cigarettes. If you must use tobacco, select a good Pittsburgh stogie or a pipe.

(2.) Don't drink. Alcoholic stimulants used in moderation may do little harm; they can do no good, and they are dangerous. Better be a teetotaler.

(3.) Don't keep late hours. "Early to bed and early to rise," is still a good maxim.

(4.) Don't gamble. Worrying about an ace full that was beaten last night, or wondering how the horses are running while play is in progress, are alike distracting.

(5.) Don't be a grouch. Cheerfulness is a very desirable quality in anybody—a ball player in particular. Sharp answers and displays of temper on the field interfere with successful team work, and often causes enmities.

(6.) Don't procrastinate. If anything interferes with reporting on time, cut it out. Tardiness sets a bad example.

(7.) Don't be a backbiter. If you have an idea that the club is not being conducted properly, tell the manager about it. If your suggestions are good, he'll appreciate them.

(8.) Don't be a quitter. If you are getting a bad break in the luck, brace yourself and fight all the harder.

(9.) Don't sulk. If you've been called down, the chances are that you deserved it, and you'll gain nothing by showing your teeth.

(10.) Don't bait the umpire. Baseball law gives him the advantage over you, at all times, so that it doesn't pay to oppose him. The captain will attend to all the necessary kicking.

Overland $1200 Overland

Model 60

The Lowest Priced 35-Horsepower 5-Passenger Touring Car on the Market

At last we can guarantee immediate delivery on our Model 60—the $1200 touring car that is the equal of any $1500 car, of any other make, on the market.

Ever since last July, we have been working tooth and nail endeavoring to supply the heavy demand. It was utterly impossible to fill the great volume of "rush" orders that kept pouring in, yet for months we shipped on the average of one hundred cars a day. The steady influx of orders was perpetual.

The dealers and public alike, from one end of the country to the other, tried every conceivable means to force extra orders through our great Toledo factories. They burned the telegraph and telephone wires in a frantic effort to urge and press rush orders.

Now the situation is changed.

The thousands of our anxious friends who have had a "60" on order for two months or more and waited patiently, can have their car at once.

And this is due to our greatly increased plants.

We can now turn out 150 cars a day. In January our mammoth new factories were completed and after two solid months of night and day work we are pleased and relieved to announce the arrival of a complete line of "Sixty's" in this city.

And no wonder the public is scrambling for this car. Nothing in the history of this business has ever equaled it. Of all the exceptional Overland values, that you have been accustomed to, this one has proven the most conspicuous.

Think of it!

A thirty-five horsepower five-passenger touring car for $1200. This is the lowest priced thirty-five horsepower touring car in the world. Part for part—point for point—it is the equal of any $1500 car made. It has the power—the speed—the comfort—the appearance—and the construction. Take the powerful motor—the strong and rugged rear system—the Vanadium steel gears—the fine bearings—the pressed steel frame—the drop forged axles—the big tires—the superb body work—the high grade upholstery; in fact, take every item that goes into the makeup of this automobile and you will find the duplicate of this car cannot be had below the fifteen hundred dollar mark.

Here is a car with a powerful, silent, smooth-running thirty-five horsepower motor. Here is a car that seats five large passengers comfortably. The upholstery is of good leather, hand stuffed with fine hair. The body is finished in our famous dark Overland blue and the wheels in battleship gray. The transmission is of the selective type, three speeds and reverse—fitted with the fine F. & S. annular bearings which are used on the most expensive cars in the world. The frame is of pressed steel and has a single drop. The crank and gear casings are of aluminum. The front axle is a one piece, drop forged I section fitted with the famous Timken bearings. The tires are 34 x 4—quick detachable. The handsome massive lamps are finished in solid black with brilliant heavy brass trimmings. Self starter $20 extra.

The Overland center control is the one proven and practical location for both operating levers. The method enables you to operate the levers with the left hand and gives you free use of your right hand for driving. It gives you the use of the right hand fore door, as well as the left hand fore door, which is impossible if a lever is placed one side or the other. You can get in or out on either side. It is easy to handle—no stretching out or reaching. Any one can manipulate the levers without a particle of effort.

Take the specifications of this $1200 car—compare them with any $1500 car you know of and the only difference you will be able to find is the difference in price.

Why pay an additional $300 for a purely imaginary value?

Our dealer (name and address below) will give you a thorough demonstration any time or place you say.

The Strongest Argument We Have in Favor of Auburn Cars is Comparing Them With Others

You want the car that can be depended on every day.

You want plenty of power, light weight, easy riding, classy lines, a car with a minimum upkeep and sold by a firm who has factory facilities for caring for same.

The only car that has all these advantages is the AUBURN.

A Word About Greases

Pay attention to the ball and roller bearings of your auto, especially when laying it up for a time.

If the old grease is dirty, clean it out and repack with fresh.

Polarine

Polarine Fibre Grease and Polarine Cup Grease are the best greases on the market. Good oils and greases do more to appreciate the value of a car than actual service.

And if you want to get the best service from your engine, use Polarine Oil.

It is free from carbon, high compression, and reduces friction and wear to the lowest possible point.

Track Meet.

The biggest grammar school track and field meet ever held was staged on the Pasadena field on the Big Times Day, to be held on the new Pasadena field Saturday afternoon, which will be the grand climax of a series of school track meets that have been held in the various districts since February 26 and which will end May 25. The meet will be open to every boy in every grammar school in Southern California. The winners of first place in every and all events in both the junior and senior divisions and all four members of the winning team will be awarded a handsome gold emblem trip to The Times Outing Camp. The first and second place winners in each event will be entitled to further competition in the other events except the refor the purpose of giving a number of boys an opportunity to win a vacation. If some boys win two or three races, they may be cutting some others out of a trip.

Track Meet.

The biggest event in the longest term that can be won by any boy in the Track Meet. Those who win will be given an eight-day vacation at Camp will have the chance of trying to increase it to two weeks being "honorably discharged."

There will also be a large number of valuable prizes. However, longer vacations can be won by securing new subscribers to the daily and Sunday Times for six months and thereafter renewals accepted.

Ninth Street Wins.

The boys won the first annual grammar school track meet held yesterday afternoon on the Bovard field, which was one of the most successful meets that has ever been held in Southern California. The score was close and forth in favor of one school and then another until the last event was run, when the final scores were 16, 22, 32, respectively, for Berendo and Avenue 26, in that order. The meet was under the personal direction of the physical directors of each of the participating schools. Director Hamilton deserves all honors in sight for the way he had the two teams under his charge working. First and second place was a huge success and was run off with great precision. The three events in which each school was represented made the meet a close one, but it never for a moment failed to keep the bleachers interested.

Here are the results:

JUNIOR DIVISION.

50-yard dash—Jack Schuls (21,) second, Comstock (21,) second; time, 6 4-5s.

Running broad jump — Blewett (Berendo, (21,) second; distance 14ft. 4in.

Relay—Berendo, first; Twenty-first, third; time 61s. Winning team: Combs, Kinney, Grants, Hurritz.

INTERMEDIATE DIVISION.

100-yard dash—Doyle (Berendo, (20,) second, Haney (20,) second; time, 9 4-5s.

Running broad jump—Carr (21,) first, Akrum (B.,) second, Akrum (B.,) third; 15ft.

Pole vault—Ackstrom (21,) first, Morrison, (20,) second, Morrison, 8ft. 8in.

Relay—Thirtieth, first; Avenue 26, second; Berendo, third; time, 1 min. 11 3-5s. Winning team: Dodge, Haney, Smoot, Kelley, Lerner, Lether, Shaeffer.

SENIOR DIVISION.

100-yard dash—Shafer (B.,) first, Gray (21,) second for first, Gray (21,) third; time, 11 3-5s.

Running broad jump—Dodge (20,) first Cross (20,) second, Cross (20,) third; 15ft. 7in.

Pole vault—Dunneley (B.,) first, Bundy (21,) second, Bundy (21,) third; 10ft. 1in.

Relay—Weiman (21) and Reper (21,) first, Berendo, first; Berendo, second, Berendo, third. Distance, 25 4-5s. Winning team: Jameson, Watson, Stabler, Smith, Van Cleve.

Good Rest.

Next Saturday afternoon, April 13, has been set apart to honor the Sunday-schools by holding the first annual grammar school track and field meet. A reception given by the ministers and Sunday-school workers will be the stress laid on the church a magnificent athletic field of the Y.M.C.A.; the help of the A.A.U. and co-operation of the athletic fraternity; the publicity given by The Times and other newspapers assures its success.

A popular and well-balanced programme with contestants divided into 85, 100, 115 and unlimited classes, with four events in each class and prizes for first, second and third places as well as school trophies to winning teams and the enthusiastic response of the boys, heralds the coming of a great event to Los Angeles.

Raising Money.

The Fremont Baptist Church of Pasadena has adopted the plan of holding entertainments to send an athletic team to the big Sunday-school meet in Los Angeles, April 13. This is a good plan.

Spread the News.

Through the courtesy of officers of the Boys' Brigade word has been passed down the line. The brigade is doing fine work for Sunday-school boys and Sunday-school athletes are glad to shake hands wit hthe boy soldier and invite him to compete on the athletic field.

Signed Up.

Church of The Messiah will be represented in the unlimited class by Edwin Malone, Prescott Wright, C. Bush, Duane Bush, Harold Alvarez, Earl Kalt. They will have lightweight teams as well.

Enter Now.

The Games Committee have decided to number the contestants as the entries come in. "First come, first served," is the principle, and in case the limit is reached before entry closing date, April 9, late comers will lose out in such events; the 5-cent entry fee per man per event will be returned. The committee reserves the right to reject any entry. All sporting goods houses have established headquarters for receiving entries.

Boosting the Cause.

The cause of Sunday-school athletics was presented to a large gathering of Congregational ministers and laymen Thursday evening at the First Church by Mr. Rothwell. The programme was presented in its entirety and approved. One speaker gave the verdict in these words, "Here is the first real practical programme embodying the ideas of the man and Forward Religious Movement."

They'll Have to Hurry.

Those who think that Highland Park Presbyterian has a cinch on the trophy giving the winning school, will have to guess again. Even if it were a mere foregone conclusion, that they had the unlimited class trophy (which is not so,) the other trophy, the more honorable one, will go to the school having well balanced teams in the 85, 100 and 115-pound classes. The management of the meet have wisely balanced the programme so that honors will be equally dispersed—any school, small or large, has equal show.

Athletic Club.

South Pasadena Baptist Church has a pastor named Greathouse. His church is becoming a great house for boys because he values athletics. His efficient lieutenant is O. C. Williams, the South Pasadena architect and builder. These two boy friends have inaugurated a thriving athletic club in the basement of the church. They will be at the running on Y.M.C.A. field, April 13, with Arthur Brews, Arthur Wadsworth.

Will Smash Records.

Billy Joyce will captain the 85-pound squad of All Saints Episcopal Church of Pasadena. When this miniature athlete goes down the cinder path April 13, old timers will ask questions. Billy has form and stride that raises joyous enthusiasm and if he repeats his performance at Polytechnic Elemehtary of March 20, the big New York world boys' record will go smash.

The Man Behind.

H. H. Eling, chairman of the South Pacific branch of the Amateur Athletic Union, ordered sixty-two medals for the Sunday-school boys. They are gold, silver and bronze, with the figure of a runner in the center and Southern California on one side and S.S.A.L. on the other. Any boy will be proud to wear one of these medals.

Good Records.

Thirty-four boys of Polytechnic Elementary of Pasadena, qualified for the bronze badge of the Public Athletic League.

Best senior, 100-yards—Ernest Lowe and Paul Andrews, 11 1-5s.

Best senior broad jump—G. Coulston, 18ft.

Best senior 50 yards—E. Lowe, 5 4-5s.

Best senior basketball throw—H. Butterworth and K. Worstman, 89ft.

Intermediates, 75 yards—B. Doolittle, J. Lyon, 9 2-5s.

Intermediate broad jump — W. Blinn, 7ft. 6½in.

Junior, 50 yards—W. Joyce, 6 2-5s.

Junior, broad jump—R. Slandeman, 6ft. 6in.

Immanuel in the Game.

The boys in the Immanuel Sunday-school will have a good representation of athletes in nearly all of the different divisions in the big Sunday-school track and field meet, that is being promoted by the A.A.U. under the able management of H. H. Eling and R. Y. Rothwell. The unlimited class will not be so well represented as the lower classes.

Boys Brigade.

We have received word that all Boys Brigade companies will have contesting squads in the various weight classes. These boys are very enthusiastic over The Times offer of free Catalina camping trips for boys scoring highest in each class.

Church Boxing.

Bethany Congregational boys have an athletic club fathered by Pastor Greenlee and G. A. Howard. Howard is an ex-baseballer and will be baseball coach when the season opens, April 2. They have been strong on boxing and are now taking up track. Henry Bewley, winner of several ribbons, will captain the 115-pound squad.

Highland Park Baptist.

The Athletic Committee of Highland Park Baptist Church, composed of J. F. Elwell, R. W. and O. P. Stewart, have arranged for practice grounds and organization of training squads for the big Sunday-school meet.

Babes of Sport.

Perhaps one of the most interesting games of baseball that has been played in many a day was witnessed on the Downey-avenue playgrounds when the Recreation Center and Downey infants clashed on the latter's field for a good, fast game of baseball.

These coming players have not reached the age of 10 years in either team, and to watch the speed and efficiency with which they handle the sphere, would make you sit up and take notice. The score was 7 to 6 and after many hard-hit balls and much base-stealing the Downey babes succeeded in scoring the winning run.

Basketball.

Custer and Logan again clashed in a hard-fought game, but Custer took the berry with a score of 5 to 4. A great deal of class by both teams was shown to the spectators and all that were in view of the rubber ball tossers.

ECHO WINS.

The Echo Park Basketball Team trimmed the Violet squad with a score of 11 to 2. Echo Park has a fine team and manages to keep in the lead if possible throughout the entire contest. If not, they get discouraged and are apt to fall down on their merit.

Baseball.

The Echo Park Baseball League will open with the first series of games the first of next month. This league includes all the grammar school boys under 15 years of age. The league will hold together for one month and at the end of that time a beautiful pennant will be given to the winning team; that is, the team that has the highest percentage at the end of the month. The colors of the pennant will be blue and white.

Track Meet.

There are a few local teams of Recreation Center which joined and made up a track meet of a slight form this week, and some exciting events were pulled off during the contest. The summaries are as follows: In the 8-pound shot put Pedro Gonzoles heaved the pill 42ft. In the running broad jump Joe Piedra leaped 16ft. In the standing broad jump E. Leonard hopped 9ft. 6in. In the 25-yard dash E. Leonard came first. In the game of quoits between William Mejilla and A. Peanuts, William Mejela won the two out of three games.

Boys!

Don't forget the big May festival at Hazard grounds for all school boys. Further notice in a few days!

Athletic Instruction.

A unique series of lectures has been planned by the Los Angeles Playground Department under the direction of Supt. Raitt. The first one was given last Monday evening at the Echo Park playground auditorium by Y.M.C.A.-U.S.C. Coach Dean B. Cromwell, on the subject of "The All Around Champion." His talk was very instructive and entertaining. The following schedule of lectures will be carried out during the next two months: Monday, March 25, H. A. Wycoff, "Wrestling." Poly High; Monday, April 8, "Track Events," Ralph Noble, L. A. High School; Tuesday, April 23, "Boxing," De Witt Van Court, L.A.A. Club; Monday, May 6, "Cross-country Run," Monday, May 6, "Cross-country Run," Mr. Pipal, Occidental College; Monday, May 20, "Baseball," "Hap" Hogan, Manager Vernon Ball Team. All are held at the Echo Park playground auditorium at 8 p.m. No charge.

Baseball Notice.

Echo Park plays Pinney & Boyle Saturday at 2:30 on Echo Park grounds.

Indoor Ball.

Custer-avenue intermediates were lucky when they won over the Logan-street school with a score of 29 to 4 in a game of handball. Much fun was given to the onlookers, while at other times it was more serious. Carpenter and Riggs acted as battery for the Custer boys, and Parks and Alex were the guns for Logan.

The features of the game were a home-run hit by Carpenter and three-baggers by Riggs and Dorian. Cheers were heard many blocks when these hits were made.

Baseball.

The Fourteenth-street boys were successful in taking a game away from the Thirtieth-street school boys by a score of 14 to 1. During the whole nine innings Thirtieth-street only crossed the rubber once.

In another game of ball with this same school they whipped them with a like score of 16 to 11. This was played on Fourteenth-street's own grounds and perhaps that had something to do with it.

Handball.

After a hotly contested and hard-fought game, Fourteenth-street defeated the Twentieth-street boys in a handball game with a score of 5 to 1.

Basketball.

Logan and Custer met in their togs for a championship game of basketball a few days ago, which resulted in Logan's defeat, Custer scoring 26 to Logan's 6. Much class was shown by the winning team, and Custer is a hard team to go against when they are feeling right.

The Ville Wins.

The Ville de Paris Juniors came into their own last Sunday afternoon, when they defeated the Tenth-street Juniors, 16 to 13, in a hotly-contested game on Praeger Park grounds. The line-up follows:

Ville de Paris Juniors — Mathews, left field; Murphy, first base; Hanes, center field; Kirby, right field; Himmelman, third base; Lawrence, shortstop; Meier, second base; Anderson, catcher; Cook and Benjamin, pitchers.

Tenth-street Juniors—Fiske, catcher and pitcher; Nelson, first base and pitcher; Kip, second base; Joseph, shortstop; Delhi, third base and pitcher; Caquel, right field; John, left field; Carmelo, pitcher and third base. Allmann, umpire.

The features of the contest was the great batting of the Ville team, the boys knocking four pitchers out of the box, and the pitching of Cook, of the same team, who twirled a fine game for five innings, when he retired in order that Benjamin might get some needed practice. This youngster threw his team-mates into qualms of fear, for he came near losing the game by his wildness. Meier of the Villes played a fine, errorless game on second. Murphy knocked out two of the four doubles made by the winners. Lawrence of the latter team also gleaned a triple, while Tenth-street made a two-bagger. Many errors contributed to the size of the score. Although the Tenth-street boys lost, they did not give up until after having made a determined effort to win. This is the true spirit to show in a game, and the chances are that the next time they play better luck will be theirs. The Ville boys appeared in their new uniforms.

Bowling Tournament.

The bowling tournament that was rolled off between the Recreation Center and Slauson-avenue teams resulted in the latter winning two out of the three games rolled. Slauson has a bunch of sharks and will roll other teams in their class at any time.

Basketball.

The Hazards were the lucky winners of the game that was played between them and Recreation Center, by a score of 2 to 0. It was a hard game and Hazard had to do some fast work to keep the losers from scoring. These teams show much rivalry and will make a good match with any team that will challenge them.

Of the basketball league from the different department stores, Hamburger's store took the beautiful pennant that was the trophy for the league. The boys are well pleased with the flag and, if they can, will cop the next one that is put up before them, if possible.

Polytechnic Try-Out.

A try-out meet was held at the Polytechnic High School Friday afternoon for the purpose of giving the fellows a last opportunity to condition themselves for the big meet between Poly and the Los Angeles High School on next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at Bovard Field. The idea of holding the different number of events on different afternoons is for the purpose of giving the fellows who work on Saturday an opportunity to compete, and it will be impossible to run through the full programme of events after 3 o'clock.

Summaries.

This is the summary of the basketball league of the different playgrounds as they stand at present:

	Won.	Lost.	Pts.
Echo Park	1	0	2
Slauson	1	0	2
Hazard	1	0	2
Violet	0	0	0
Recreation	0	1	0
Downey	0	1	0

LAJOIE NOT CHEAP.

Nap Lajoie does not think it is good policy for a magnate to keep his purse strings tight. "If I were a club owner and had a pitcher offered me that I absolutely knew would be a star in the big league, I don't think I would hesitate at paying $50,000. It would be money well spent, but I doubt if many club owners will agree with me."

Warm Reception.

STANFORD IS AWAITING SOUTHERN INVASION.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 23.—The next week will be the busiest of the season for Stanford athletes, due to the unprecedented congestion of contests with Occidental, Pomona and U.S.C. The Tigers were the first of the southerners to arrive here and next week the Pomona and U.S.C. track teams and the U.S.C. tennis players are to hook up with the Cardinal.

The racquet tourney with U.S.C., for men, will be held Monday. Tuesday afternoon the Pomona track meet will be held. Thursday, the U.S.C. women racqueters will meet the Stanford "co-eds," and Friday the U.S.C. track squad will appear in the main event of the Junior Day programme, which will include a large variety of athletic and other events.

The Cardinal track squad has been lying low for a couple of weeks as the weather has not been very favorable and the men have been coming along just a little too fast. The meet with Pomona will be the first in nearly three weeks. Although there has been little doing in the way of competition, the trackstars have been training daily and both Pomona and U.S.C. may expect to run up against a stronger team than that which defeated U.S.C. at Los Angeles.

McKee, '14, the sprinter, is the only Cardinal athlete of the first rank who is not in good shape. He has a bad leg that may keep him out of both meets with the southerners.

As Stanford will enter about fifty men in the meets, it expects to grab a much larger number of points than it did in the South.

The tennis matches with U.S.C. promise to develop good brilliant playing. The courts here are among the best in the West. Among the men players who will be pitted against the visitors are V. A. Sheldon, '15, of Los Angeles; R. L. Murray, '13, tennis captain; Pratt, '13, of Ontario, and H. S. Morgan, '12, of San Diego. Among the women players, Miss Parker, '13, formerly of Pomona; Miss Agnes Yoch, '12 of Ontario, and Miss Hutchinson, '14, are to play.

Jack Fred Tom
Harry Jr. Frank Harry Gilmore Sr

Prof. Harry Gilmore,
Retired ex-lightweight champion of the world, and family of boys.

DE WITT VAN COURT'S COLUMN.

Harry, Jr., and Fred Gilmore, the two clever and popular managers of professional fighters, come from old fighting stock. Father Harry Gilmore is one of the best known of the few old-timers that are left in this country. He was born in Toronto, Can., more than fifty-five years ago and at one time held the lightweight championship of America. He was conceded the championship after defeating George Fulljames, the English champion in 1887.

His title was disputed later by Jack McAuliffe, who also claimed the title. They were matched for a finish fight with skin gloves in 1889. The fight took place at Lawrence, Mass., and was won by McAuliffe by a knockout after twenty rounds of fierce fighting. The fight was conceded to be the fiercest that ever took place up to that time and it is a question if there ever was one as hard since.

Gilmore had several fights after that and won, but later was again defeated by Stanton Abbott, a much younger man. He then retired from the ring as a principal and opened a boxing and physical culture school in Chicago and has been engaged in that work ever since. Aside from being a remarkably clever fighter, he was just as clever as an instructor. This is a rare thing with pugilists. Many clever fighters have been absolute failures as instructors.

He has turned them out of his school by the dozens and many have made world-wide reputations. Such clever fellows as Jimmie Barry, the ex-bantam champion; Frank Girard, Packey McFarland and the two Forbes are a few of the many of the Gilmore school. When boxing was allowed years ago in Chicago it was an easy thing to pick out one of Gilmores' boys by his clever style and they were always in demand. Harry and Fred are also clever boxers as is one of their sisters, who used to practice with her brothers just for the love of it and the exercise it gave her.

Both Harry, Jr., and Fred have done quite a lot of fighting. Harry said a few days ago that "while dad made few mistakes as a manger of others, he did with Fred and myself. He had so much confidence in us, that he over-matched us at the start and got us licked. We became disgusted and gave it up."

Gilmore's younger days, like most of the old-timers, were anything but a path of roses. Those old-timers had many rough experiences and hard times and got little when they won, but these experiences proved valuable to him in many ways later in life. This is proven by the success that he has made and the fine family he has raised. The fine old English mother and all the children are still together, except the oldest daughter who is married.

Father Gilmore has raised a family of eight children, five boys and three girls, and took the greatest pride in giving each a fine education. Harry, Jr., is a graduate of the West Division High School of Chicago. Jack, after leaving school, took up electrical work. Bessie, the oldest sister, is the mother of three fine children. Violet and Ruth, the two youngest of the family, are attending high school. Fred is manager of Jack White and is also a high school graduate. Tom, one of the younger brothers, is attending the Austin High School in Chicago and is studying mechanical engineering, and Frank, the other, is studying law.

This speaks pretty well for a man that has followed pugilism all his life. Gilmore has had a wonderful influence with all his pupils. I have met many of them and have yet to meet one that is not a gentleman in every way. Furthermore he is idolized by them all and each speaks in the highest regard of old "Pop," as he is often called. Such men as Harry Gilmore do more for the boxing and the fighting game than all the reformers in the country. Clean, kind and honest, he is a remarkably clever boxer to this day, and can at any time go three or four fast rounds with his best boys. Like most of the instructors of the old school, he is a great believer in teaching his pupils the art of hitting a straight left-hand punch first. This is one of the secrets of a successful teacher. When this is mastered, the rest easily follows. We hope he will enjoy another fifty-five years.

Improvements.

POCKET GAME TO BE MORE SPEEDY.

DE ORO, KEOGH AND HUESTON MAKE CHANGES IN POOL.

One Ball Taken Out of Fifteen Makes Much Safety Play Impossible—Play Should Be More Speedy and Continuity of Runs Will Be Assured, Owing to Better Breaks.

Radical changes are to be made in the rules governing pocket billiards, the dignified title under which the old game of pool is now being conducted. The most important which has been worked out after long discussion, will actually make pocket billiards a continuous game and in what amounts to practically so many individual games strung together.

Alfred de Oro, the champion; Jerome Keough and Thomas A. Hueston are really the sponsors for the new method for which the rules will be changed at a meeting of the players to be held this week.

The effect of the change and its operation were illustrated by De Oro and Charlie Miller. The original pyramid is set up on the table, fourteen of the fifteen balls are duly sent to the pockets by the competitors, the last ball on the table then remains in its position the pyramid being again set up with a blank ball at the center of the base. This blank ball is removed and the player shooting continues from where the one ball may happen to lie.

As was most effectively demonstrated, such an arrangement does away with all the tedious safety which prevailed at the beginning of each frame in a match at the breaking of the pyramid. It allows of greater rapidity and De Oro believes that it will cause matches to be played from 25 to 40 per cent faster. It also insures the continuity of a run, as there will not be the old argument as to safety and breaking of the pyramid interrupting runs as is now the case.

CHECKER SHARP SHINES WITH LOCAL EXPERTS.

Newell W. Banks, champion checker player of the United States, has finished his exhibitions of simultaneous and blindfold play at the rooms of the Chess and Checker Club, No. 716 Higgins building.

He played 113 games of checkers and twenty-six of chess. The champion lost six games of checkers and four of chess, winning or drawing the others. He lost one game of checkers each to Brown, Lynn, Cardon, Hunter, and Southern in simultaneous play and one game to Wheeler in blindfold play. McCallum and Roderick won one game each and Peterson two games from him in chess. He won games from all the local players in simultaneous play except from Joseph Brown. His score with the latter player was: Banks, 0; Brown, 1; draw, 1.

WHY THE BIG FLY BOTHERED HOWARD.

"Funniest experience I ever had in my life," said Howard yesterday morning as he cracked out a two-bagger in his mental practice, "was when I was hunting up North this winter. I had a rifle and was just sighting along the barrel at a deer when I noticed a big blow fly on the barrel. I couldn't see the deer for him, and while I stopped looking to knock the fly off the gun the deer escaped. You see he was goin' to fly to the deer when I shot him."

"Yes," drawled Check, who was standing near, "but I know why he was stickin' around. He was waitin' a chance to light on your arm."

"Yes, I guess that's about right," said Howard, "for I know it was pretty rotten last year."

And then they both laughed.

My 24th Model

By R. E. Olds, Designer

Reo the Fifth is the 24th model I have created in 25 years. It embodies the best I know. It marks the limit, I think, in motor car engineering. It is My Farewell Car.

Not for $1055

This car was not built to sell for $1055. The price was undecided until the car was done.

And I consider this price, in the long run, impossible.

Our factory is immensely efficient—a model plant. It has everything known in labor-saving machinery.

Its output is enormous.

And we save nearly 20 per cent. in our cost by confining our output to only one chassis.

We can give more for the money than others. We want to and will. But we can't long continue this initial price on Reo the Fifth, I fear.

Price Not Fixed

So this price is not fixed. It is based on exceptionally low cost for materials, and on ideal conditions.

Our contracts with dealers all provide for advance.

So Reo the Fifth must not be judged by this altruistic price. I ask for comparison with the highest-priced cars of equal power and size.

My Ideal Car

Reo the Fifth marks my ideal of a car.

It is not my creation—it is my compilation of the best that all men have wrought out.

It has big margins of safety. It has exceptional strength where cars often show weakness.

For the best I have learned in these 25 years is the folly of taking chances.

Nickel and Vanadium steel of unusual size are used where the strains are greatest.

More Roller Bearings are used than in any other car of its class. In fact, there are only three ball bearings in the whole car, and two are in the fan.

Unusual Tests

Inspection in this car is carried to extremes. The steel we use is analyzed.

The magneto is given a radical test. Only two makes that I know will stand it.

The gears are tested in a crushing machine of 50 tons' capacity.

The carburetor is doubly heated, to deal with low-grade gasoline.

All to know that this car, under any condition, will justify the faith that men have in me.

A Luxurious Car

I have also learned that one's pride in a car depends on appearance largely. So I give you that in overflowing measure.

The wheels are large, the tonneau is roomy, the car is overtired.

The body finish consists of 17 coats. The upholstering is deep. It is made of genuine leather, filled with genuine hair.

The lamps are enameled. The engine is nickel trimmed.

No car can be given more class, style or finish than you find in this Reo the Fifth.

New Center Control No Side Levers

In this car we bring out our new center control—our cane-handle control.

All the gear shifting is done by a slight move of this handle in each of four directions.

There are no side levers, so the doors in front are as clear as the tonneau doors.

Both brakes are operated by foot pedals. One pedal operates the clutch. All is easy, so convenient, that wife and daughters will operate the car.

This arrangement permits left side drive, heretofore possible in electric cars only, the driver sits as he should sit to the cars which he passes on the up side of the road.

You will find these features in no other car.

The Wanted Size

Reo the Fifth, in size and type, typifies the standard car—not too large or too small.

The power is sufficient but economical. The moderate weight saves tires.

Nearly all motorists of experience now favor this size, weight and power.

So in every respect I believe that Reo the Fifth marks the most that I can accomplish.

Ask for the Book

Our books show the various bodies. It pictures and describes every detail.

Ask us now to mail it, or we will tell you where to see it.

Where Accuracy Is More Than a Habit

Few people appreciate the fact that modern motor construction is based on the measurement of fractions of parts is less than one-half the thickness of a hair. Such perfection of structure is the requirement of the workmen in the shops of the Great Western Automobile Company, Pueblo, Colo., builders of the Great Western gasoline which is responsible for the wonderful service in the Great Western cars made to this particular company. BRUCE BROWN COMING HERE.

Famous Winner of Grand Prize on His Way.

Millionaire Drivers in Santa Monica Road Race.

Manager Young Plans to Entertain Vast Throng.

David Bruce Brown is to drive in the Santa Monica road race. This [illegible] was settled yesterday in a telegram received by A. M. Young, manager of the Santa Monica classic. The winner of the Grand Prize event at Savannah may be at the helm of a Mercer racer, one of the fastest cars on the [illegible], and a machine that will vie with the Flats in a great speed clash. This entry settles all question about the race from start to finish. With the Flats, two Benz cars, a Mercedes, a Isotta, five Stutz cars, two Loziers and two Nationals, the big event is to be the real hummer that Manager Young promised the racing fans. This event is to be a race from start to finish. Second Starter Fred Wagner sends the cars away until the winner crosses the line with a world record.

Every automobile dealer in this city, every motor car driver, the merchants and business men, as well as thousands of the fans, are anxious to learn the latest news concerning the great race. The course is being [illegible] for a speed event that will [illegible] all others. Thousands of dollars are being spent on the road to put it into condition for the $10,000 grand prize race.

For the smaller events a full card is promised. Fred Wagner wired to Manager Young on Friday that an entry list that will break all previous records is certain for the big event. The prospect is that two Buicks, a Pullman, a Halladay, a Marathon, an [illegible], two Case cars, a Rea, a Cutting and a Regal, with the possibility of an Ohio and a Velie and a Michigan "six," will be started.

BEST EVER.

Never before in the history of automobile racing was the prospect for a meet so bright. Every owner of a racing car is anxious to race. The man who has a machine that will do more than sixty miles an hour is planning to take part in the day's festival of speed.

LAMBERT MAKES HIT AS TRACTOR.

[illegible] NOW HAS CHANCE TO JUDGE FOR HIMSELF.

[illegible] Driven Apparatus Looks Good to the Men of the Soil, Who Are Anxious to Test the Motor Which Appears to Be a Great Labor Saver.

Many expressions of "What is it?" were heard as a three-wheel cross between a racing car and a traction engine glided noiselessly up Broadway yesterday, with John W. Lambert, veteran automobile manufacturer, at the wheel. Crossing policemen showed astonishment, but, seeing an [illegible] license, No. 67,101 of California on the fender of the single front wheel, allowed it to proceed.

The machine is an orchard tractor built for plowing, harrowing and hauling orchard products, and is so designed that its four-cylinder, thirty-horsepower motor can also be used for any purpose where power is needed on the farm, the only operation necessary to convert it into a stationary power plant being the throwing of a small lever at the side of the machine.

Lambert is one of the oldest automobile manufacturers in the country and has an extensive manufacturing plant at Anderson, Ind., for turning out automobiles and trucks. He is so pleased with California, and Southern California in particular, and is arranging to locate a manufacturing plant in this city for turning out his tractor. The machine is now at the Lambert ranch near Whittier.

An interesting demonstration to fruit growers at Ventruella ranch [illegible] on this week by Lambert. One of the advantages claimed for the machine is its ability to work close to the tree and under low-hanging limbs, its height being only fifty inches. The motor is mounted between the traction wheels under a canopy, making it possible to turn in a small space. The wheels are a combination of cleats and an inside solid automobile truck tire extending about three inches above the rim, so that when the grower is ready to haul his products to market there is no injury to the roads.

HUNDRED THOUSAND.

One hundred thousand spectators is the estimate of Manager Young. He has arranged for extra grand stands to be placed around the track. The public is to be cared for this year in a way never before attempted. This is to be a record-breaker as far as attendance goes, declares Young, and he intends to be ready.

That the race may be viewed from all angles the crowd will have an opportunity to watch the cars from a grand stand on the Palisades and from a stand on Nevada avenue. This plan has been attempted before, but this year it is to be carried out. The demand for better facilities to watch this daredevil speed contest comes from thousands.

Practice spins are to be the order ten days before Saturday, May 4, when the roads are to be closed. The work on the course will be concluded long before this date. Then the grand stands will be erected and the speedfest will be carded for the visiting Shriners and hosts of others who expect to enjoy motor car racing day.

All points of Arizona will be covered by the "Horned Toad" while on the tour, and, after visiting every city in the section, the return will be made over the old Phoenix course by way of Ehrenburg.

In addition to a complete camping outfit the car is equipped with fishing tackle, a full line of guns and two good cameras. Some interesting photographs and some good stories are expected when the car returns to the city.

TEN OAKLANDS NEW RECORD.

LOCAL FIRM PURCHASES MANY NEW MODEL CARS.

First Is Bought as an Experiment and Then Demonstrations Are Made Which Please the Owners, Who Secure Others in Succession Until High Mark Is Reached.

The Globe Mills purchased their tenth Oakland car from Hawley King & Company, on Wednesday. The cars are used by agents and buyers throughout the State in contracting for grain deals, and the majority of travel is over roads seldom used, putting the Oakland to a severe test.

In April, 1910, the first car was purchased as an experiment. So well did the automobile do the work of the horses then in use, another car was added to the firm's auto stable.

Additional cars were bought from time to time, until the company had secured seven at the end of eighteen months, and the garage capacity had been increased several times.

Since the first of the year, the Globe people have added the three Oaklands to the list, which bring the number up to ten. The first car owned by the milling firm has traveled over 50,000 miles, through the roughest territory and is still in use, in excellent condition. Automobilists, who have met this car on its journeys, are amazed when told the distance it has traveled, and the hard usage to which it has been put. The car delivered last week will go into the Imperial Valley.

Efforts to hold the Vanderbilt cup race on the Long Island circuit this year bid fair to be successful, provided sufficient safeguards for spectators can be provided.

Mayor Goodman of Racine, Wis., sent a message to the Common Council, urging the immediate purchase of three motor fire engines, to replace all horse-drawn steamers.

Four Car Owners in Every Five Use the Reliable Stewart Speedometer

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY ON EVERY CAR

They tell you the exact speed of your car, and it's necessary to know, to avoid accidents, arrest and fines.

They tell you what your car can do on a nice stretch of country road. It's good to know if your car is really doing its best.

They keep an accurate count of the miles covered, which helps you on your tire adjustments—a big item on which to save money—to say nothing of auditing your gasoline and oil supplies.

They are indispensable when touring; the trip register keeps you on the right road, checking your guide-book to the tenth of a mile.

NEW 1912 MODELS

Open dial—big figures, easily read; magnetic principle—remarkably accurate—slow moving parts—no wear; beautiful workmanship—best procurable materials; ball and jewel bearings—positive odometer—no springs; 100,000-mile season register, 100-mile trip, can be reset to any tenth of a mile; unbreakable flexible shaft; drop forged swivel joint which will outwear the car; noiseless road wheel gears.

GRAVES IN FORD HORNED TOAD NOW IS IN ARIZONA.

B. L. GRAVES, manager for the Ford Motor Company, answered the "Call of the Desert" last week, and is now in Arizona, where he will remain for the next three weeks, visiting the Ford dealers, and at the same time making a grand tour of the "New State," where there is abundant hunting, and in certain parts real good fishing.

The Ford manager was accompanied by Will Pratt, the well-known desert driver.

At half past eleven last Tuesday morning the sturdy little Ford left the city and made a flying trip to San Diego. Arriving at 4 o'clock a visit was paid to the San Diego Ford dealer, and the next night the "Horned Toad" was reported in El Centro after a run over the hard road and through Devil's Pass.

Thursday the run to Yuma was made over the California road. From Yuma the Ford ran over the Phoenix race course to the capital city, arriving in the Salt River Valley center early Friday night.

More time will be spent in and Mostly Luck.

MANY DECISIONS ARE MATTER OF GUESSING.

"THERE are any number of decisions that are based upon plays where the correct answer is a toss-up, says an old baseball man. And in a close, hard-fought battle the team drawing the bulk of these close ones will nose out in front. This accounts in big measure for the fight some managers make in keeping after the judges of play for the 'close ones.' They figure that by constantly reminding the umpire that he has given the rival club all the best of it upon these neck-and-neck decisions he will be more inclined to turn and even up. McGraw is the leader along these lines. The Giant leader, in making his roar, isn't figuring on the play already called, but is looking to the one ahead.

"'What's the use of kicking now?' queries the fan. 'The decision is already given and kicking can't change it.' Which is true enough. But the kicker is often working for effect, to get the break at the next opening; to make the ump feel that he has given him the worst of it and that the next tight one is due the other way round.

MACK'S IDEA DIFFERENT.

"Connie Mack works along different lines. As a starter, Connie isn't a kicker anyhow and has but little to say. His aggression is cast within a different mold from that of McGraw, Bresnahan or even Chance and Jennings. And Connie also figures that an umpire will be more inclined to give that club an even break or even a shade the best of it, which lets him alone. Most of the people, in place of prodding the ump, are always boosting him—always there with the polite and friendly chit-chat—kidding him along throughout the game.

"Connie probably has the correct system—but there are undoubtedly types that are more influenced by the other method. For while McGraw is the most aggressive of the bunch, Clance, Jennings, Clarke and others are far from being mild-mannared in a hectic battle where the decisions are apparently going against them.

JONES MADE MANY KICKS.

"Fielder Jones, one of the most successful managers that ever lived, would come in from center field about every other inning to launch a heated debate with some official—not so much in the way of a kick over what had been called, but for a general effect upon others to come.

"As to whichever system is best from a working viewpoint, in so far as I am personally and even impersonally concerned, there will be no active competition in bidding for the umpire's post. With most players and spectators it isn't a question of the right decision, but rather as to which club is favored. Decisions look different from different parts of the field, but as the umpire is generally on top of the job in about ninety cases out of 100, he is exactly right. They may reach 95 per cent., but even an average of .900 is fair enough under the handicap imposed."

Chinese Have Awakened.

[Science:] It is perfectly clear, says Prof. Lester F. Ward, that the Japanese awakening has been due to change in their ideas, and when the Chinese similarly change theirs, they, too, will awake and start in a new direction. That the Chinese are not an "inferior" race, that their intellectual capacity is fully equal to that of the Caucasian, nay, of the Aryan race, is clearly brought out in Dr. Ross's book, and no one can foresee the results of a development there, should it ever take place, analogous to the intellectual development of Europe since the Middle Ages.

An agreement has been made by the Providence club for the use of the Rocky Point park, where Sunday games are played, and the fear that Providence might not have Sunday ball has been stilled.

TWO KINDS OF SIGN STEALING.

WHEN the Philadelphia Athletics unexpectedly defeated the Chicago Cubs in the world's series of 1910, the National League players cried that their signals had been stolen by the American League team and that, because "Connie" Mack's batters knew what to expect, they had won the championship.

But were the owners or any member of the Philadelphia team arrested charged with grand larceny in stealing the baseball championship of the world? No. Was there any murmur against the methods of "Connie" Mack's men? No, again. By a strange kink in the ethics of baseball, John Kling, the Chicago catcher, was blamed by the other members of the defeated team for the signs being stolen. They charged that he had been careless in covering his signals and that the enemy's coachers, particularly "Topsy" Hartsel, a clever man at it, had seen them from the lines. This was really the cause of Kling leaving the Cubs and going to Boston last year.

After the last game was over and the series was lost, many of the players, and especially the pitchers, would hardly speak to Kling, the man who had as much as any one else to do with the Cubs winning four championships and the man who by his great throwing had made the repetition of a lot of their pitchers. But the players were sore because they had lost the series and lost the extra money which many of them had counted as their own before the games started, and they looked around for some one to blame and found Kling. One of the pitchers complained after he had lost a game:

"Can't expect a guy to win with your catcher giving the signs so the coachers can read 'em and tip the batters."

"And you can't expect a catcher to win a game for you if you haven't got anything on the ball," replied Kling, for he is quick-tempered and can't stand reflections on his ability. But the pitcher's chance remark had given the other players an excuse for fixing the blame, and it was pasted on John Kling. The scandal was started and they gossiped worse than a lot of members of a sewing circle.

I honestly do not believe that Kling was in any way responsible for the rout of the proud Cubs. The Chicago pitchers were away off form in the series and couldn't control the ball, thus getting themselves "into the hole" all the time. Shrewd "Connie" Mack soon realized this and ordered his batters to wait everything out, to make the twirlers throw every ball possible. The result was that, with the pitcher chronically in the hole, the batters were frequently guessing, and guessing right, what was coming, as any smart hitter could under the circumstances. This made it look as if the Athletics were getting the Cubs's signals.

"Why, I changed signs every three innings, Matty," Kling told me one day last season, in discussing the charge. "Some of the boys said that I gave the old bended-knee sign for a curve ball. Well, did you ever find anything to improve on the old ones? That's why they are old."

But the Cubs still point the finger of scorn at Kling, for it hurts to lose. I know it, I've lost myself. Even though the Athletics are charged with stealing the signs, whether they did or not, it is no smirch on the character of the club, for they stole honestly—which sounds like a paradox.

"You have such jolly funny morals in this bally country," declared an Englishman I once met. "You steal and rob in baseball, and yet you call it fair. Now, in cricket, we give our opponents every advantage don'tcherknow, and after the game we are all jolly good fellows at tea together."

HONEST AND DISHONEST SIGN STEALING.

Which brings us down to the ethics of signal stealing. Each game has its own recognized standards of fairness. For instance, no tricks are tolerated in tennis, yet the baseball manager who can devise some scheme by which he discoucerts his opponents is considered a great leader. I was about to say that all is fair in love, war and baseball, but will modify that too comprehensive statement by saying all is fair in love, war and baseball except stealing signals dishonestly—which listens like another paradox. Therefore, I shall divide the subject of signal stealing into half portions—the honest and the dishonest halves—and, since we are dealing in paradoxes, take up the latter first.

Dishonest signal stealing might be defined as obtaining information by artificial aids. The honest methods are those requiring cleverness of eye, mind and hand without outside assistance. One of the most flagrant and, for a time, successful pieces of signal stealing occurred in Philadelphia several years ago.

Opposing players can usually tell when the batsman is getting the signs because he steps up and sets himself for a curve with so much confidence. During the season of 1899 the report went around the circuit that the Philadelphia club was stealing signals because the batters were popping them all on the nose, but no one was able to discover the transmitter. The coachers were closely watched and it was evident that these sentinels were not getting the signs.

It was while the Washington club, then in the National League, was playing Philadelphia that there came a rainy morning which made the field very wet and for a long time it was doubtful whether a game could be played in the afternoon, but the Washington club insisted on it and overruled the protests of the Phillies. "Arlie" Latham, now the coacher on the Giants, was playing third base for the Senators at the time. He has told me often since how he discovered the device by which the signs were being stolen. He repeated it to me only the other day when I asked him for the facts to use in this story.

"There was a big puddle in the third-base coaching box that day," said Latham. He always begins at the beginning as a good raconteur should. "And it was in the third inning that I noticed 'Cupid' Childs, the Philadelphia second baseman, coaching. He stood with one foot in the puddle and never budged it, although the water came up to his shoe laces. He usually jumped around when on the lines, and this stillness surprised me.

"'Better go get your rubbers if you are goin' to keep that trilby there,' I said to him. 'Charley horse and the rheumatism have no terrors for you.'

"But he kept his foot planted in the puddle just the same, and first thing the batter cracked out a base hit.

"'So that's where you're gettin' the signs?' I said to him, not guessing that it really was. Then he started to jump around and we got the next two batters out right quick, there being a big slump in the Philadelphia hitting as soon as he took his foot out of that puddle.

"When the Washington club went to bat I hiked out to the third-base line and started to coach, putting my foot into the puddle and as near the place where Childs had had his as I could.

"'Here's where we get a few signs,' I yelled, 'and I ain't afraid of Charley horse, either.'

"I looked over at the Philadelphia bench, and there were all the players sitting with their caps pulled down over their eyes, so that I couldn't see their faces. The fielders all looked the other way. Then I knew I was on a warm scent.

"When the Washington players started back for the field, I told Tommy Corcoran that I thought they must be getting the signs from the third base coaching box, although I hadn't been able to feel anything there. He went over and started pawing around in the dirt and water with his spikes and with his fingers. Pretty soon he dug up a square chunk of wood with a buzzer on the under side of it.

"'That ought to help their hitting a little,' he remarked as he kept on pulling. Up came a wire, and, when he started to pull on it, he found that it was buried about an inch under the soil and ran across the outfield. He kept right on coiling it up and following it, like a hound on a scent, the Philadelphia players being very busy all this time and nervous like a busher at his debut into big league society. One of the substitutes started to run for the clubhouse, but I stopped him.

"GUESS YOU'VE GOT THE GOODS."

"Tommy was galloping by this time across the outfield, and all the time pulling up this wire. It led straight to the clubhouse, and there sitting where he could get a good view of the catcher's signs with a pair of field glasses was Morgan Murphy. The wire led right to him.

"'What cher doin'?' asked Tommy.

"'Watchin' the game,' replied Murphy.

"'Couldn't you see it easier from the bench than lookin' through those peepers from here? And why are you connected up with this machine?' inquired Tommy, showin' him the chunk of wood with the buzzer attached.

"'I guess you've got the goods,' Murphy answered with a laugh, and all the newspapers laughed at it then, too. But the batting average of the Philadelphia players took an awful slump after that.

"'Why didn't they tip me?' asked Murphy as he put aside his field glasses and went to the bench and watched the rest of the game from there. And we later won that contest, our first victory of the series which was no discredit to us, since it was like gamblin' against loaded dice," concluded "Arlie."

The newspapers may have laughed at the incident in those days, but since that time the National Commission has intimated that if there was ever a recurrence of such tactics, the club caught using them would be subjected to a heavy fine and possibly expulsion from the league. So much has baseball improved in twelve years.

The system employed was simplicity itself. The Philadelphia club had planted a buzzer under the third base coaching box, and Murphy in the clubhouse, which was located in centerfield, got the catcher's signs with his glasses. Then he pressed a button which buzzed the machine, and this tapped on the coacher's foot. I don't know what the code was, but that required no genius to produce. Two buzzes might have meant a curve and one a fast ball. The only cleverness the scheme required was on the part of the coacher, who must pass the sign to the batter so that the fielders would not see him do it. Men with sensitive soles to their feet were sent out there to coach.

They tell me that the system worked splendidly until Latham discovered it and broke up a long winning streak of the Philadelphia team on its own grounds. The only other game the club had lost during its stay at home was due to an unfortunate callous spot that "Cupid" Childs developed on the sole of his salary foot. It was found that his foot was more susceptible to the touch of the buzzer than that of any other man on the team and he was usually stationed at the receiver. But this day he kept tipping the batters wrong and it was discovered that a callous place had affected his sense of signals, and he had to take a corn cure for a few days while a substitute worked for him. Then his sensitiveness of foot returned, and he went back to his old job.

The incident is a great illustration of the unfair method of obtaining signs. Since then there have come from time to time reports of teams taking signals by mechanical devices. The Athletics once declared that the American League team in New York had a man stationed behind the fence in centerfield with a pair of glasses and that he shifted a line in the scoreboard slightly so as to tip off the batters, but this rumor was never confirmed. It was said two seasons back that the Athletics themselves had a spy located in a house outside the park and that he tipped the batters by raising and lowering an awning a trifle. When the Giants last season went to Philadelphia for the first game of the world's series in the enemy's camp, I kept watching the windows of the houses just outside of the park for suspicious movements, but could discover none. Once, in Pittsburgh, I thought that the Pirates were getting the Giants' signals, and I kept my eyes glued to the scoreboard in centerfield throughout one whole series to see if any of the figures moved or changed positions, as that seemed to be the only place from which a batter could be tipped. But I never discovered anything.

MANY FAIR WAYS TO STEAL THE SIGNS.

There are many fair ways to steal the signs of the enemy—so many that the smart ball player is always kept on the alert by them. Baseball geniuses, some almost magicians, are constantly looking for new schemes to find out what the catcher is telling the pitcher, what the batter is tipping the base runner to, or what the coacher's instructions are. The Athletics have a great reputation as being a club able to get the other team's signs if they are obtainable. This is their record all around the American League circuit.

Personally, I don't believe that "Connie" Mack's players steal as much information as they are given credit for, but the reputation in itself, if they never got a sign, is valuable. If a prize fighter is supposed to have a haymaking punch in his left hand, the other fellow is going to be constantly looking out for that left. If the players on a club have great reputations as signal stealers, their opponents are going to be on their guard all the time, which gives the team with the reputation just that much advantage. If a pitcher has a reputation, he has the percentage on the batter. Therefore, this gossip about the signal stealing ability of the Athletics has added to their natural strength.

"Bill," I said to Dahlan, the Brooklyn manager, one day toward the end of last season when the Giants were playing their schedule out, after the penannt was sure, "see if you can get the 'chief's' signs."

Dahlan coached on first base and then went to third, always looking for Meyers's signals. Pretty soon he came to me.

"I can see them a little bit Matty," he reported.

"Chief," I said to Meyers that night as I buttonholed him in the clubhouse, "you've got to be careful to cover up your signs in the big series. They've a reputation as being pretty slick at getting them. And to make sure, we will arrange a set of signs that I can give if we think they are hep to yours."

So right there Meyers and I fixed up a set of signals that I could give to him, the "Chief" always to use some, himself, which would be phoney of course and might have the desirable effect of "crossing them."

In the first championship game at the Polo Ground, "Topsy" Hartsell was out there on the coaching lines looking for signals, and the "Chief" started giving the real ones until Davis stepped into a curve ball and cracked it to left field for a single, scoring the only run made by the Athletics. Right here Meyers stopped, and I began transmitting the private information, although the "Chief" continued to pass out signals that meant nothing. The Athletics were getting the Indian's and couldn't understand why the answers seemed invariably to be wrong, for a couple of them struck out swinging at bad balls and one batter narrowly avoided being hit by a fast one when apparently he had been tipped off to a curve and was set ready to swing at it. They didn't discover that I was behind the signals, although to make this method successful, the catcher must be a clever man. If he makes it too obvious that his signals are phoney and are meant to be seen, then the other club will look around for the source of the real ones. Meyers carefully concealed his misleading wig-wags beneath his chest protector, under his glove, and behind his knee, as any good catcher will his real signs, so they wouldn't look at my head.

AFTER THE SIGNS HAVE BEEN STOLEN.

Many persons argue if a man sees the signs, what good does it do him if he doesn't know what they mean? It is easy for a smart ball player to deduce the meaning, because there are only three real signs passed between a pitcher and catcher, the sign for the fast one, for the curve ball and for the pitchout. If a coacher sees a catcher open his hand behind his glove and then watches the pitcher throw a fast one, he is likely to guess that the open palm says, "fast one."

After a coacher has stolen the desired information, he must be clever to pass it along to the batter without the other club being aware that he is doing it. He may straighten up to tell the batter a curve ball is coming and bend over to forecast a fast one and turn his back as a neutral signal, meaning that he doesn't know what is coming. If a coacher is clever enough to pass the meanings to the batter without the other team getting on, he may go through the entire season as a transmitter of information. To steal signs fairly requires quickness of mind, eye and action. Few players can do it successfully. Perhaps that is why it is considered fair.

If a team is going to make a success of signal stealing, it must get every one that is given, for an occasional crumb of information picked up at random is worse than none at all. First, it is dangerous. A batter tipped off that a curved ball is coming, steps up to the plate and is surprised to meet a fast one which often he hasn't time to dodge. Many a good ball player has been injured in this way, and an accident to a star has cost more than one pennant.

"Joe" Kelley, formerly manager of the Reds, was coaching in Cincinnati one day several years ago, and "Eagle-Eye Jake" Beckley, the old first baseman and a chronic three hundred hitter, was at the bat. I had been feeding him low drops, and Kelley, on the third base line, thought he was getting the signals that "Jack" Warner, the old Giant catcher in a former cast of characters, was giving. I saw Kelley apparently pass some information to Beckley, and the latter stepped almost across the plate ready for a curve. He encountered a high, fast one, close in, and he encountered it with that part of him between his neck and hat bands. "Eagle Eye" was unconscious for two days after that and in the hospital several weeks. When he got back into the game, he said to me one day:

"Why didn't you throw me that curve, Matty, that Joe tipped me to?"

"Were you tipped off?" I asked. "Then it was Joe's error, not mine."

"Say," he answered, "if I ever take another sign from a coacher, I hope the ball kills me."

"It probably will," I replied. "That one nearly did."

That is one of the risks of signal stealing. Beckley had received the wrong information and I felt no qualms at hitting him, for it was not a wild pitch, but a misinterpreted signal which had put him out of the game. His manager, not I, was to blame. For this reason many nervous players refuse to accept any information from a coacher even if he thinks he knows what is going to be pitched, because they don't dare take the risk of getting hit by a fast one against which they have little protection if set for a curve. On this account few National League clubs attempt to steal signs, as a part of the regular team work, but many individuals make a practice of it for their own benefit and for the benefit of the batter if he is not of the timid type.

ONE OF HANS WAGNER'S LITTLE TRICKS.

As soon as a runner gets on second base, he is in an excellent position to see the hands of the catcher, and it is then that the man behind the bat is doing all that he can cover up. "Jack" Warner, the old Giant, used to sometimes give his signals with his mouth in this emergency because they were visible from the pitcher's box, but not from second base. The thieves were looking at his hands for them. In the National League, Leach, Clarke, Wagner, Breshnahan, Evers, Tinker, and a few more of the sort, are dangerous to have on second. Wagner will get on the middle sack and watch the catcher until he thinks that he has discovered the pitchout sign, which means a ball is to be wasted in the hope that a base runner can be caught. Wagner takes a big lead, and the catcher, tempted, gives the "office" to waste one, thinking to nail "Hans" off second. The Dutchman sees it, and, instead of running back to second, dashes for third. He starts as the catcher lets go of the ball to throw to second and can usually make the extra base.

Many coachers who do not attempt to get the signs for fast and curved balls, study the catcher to get his pitchout sign because, once this is recognized, it gives the team at the bat a great advantage. If a coacher sees the catcher give the pitchout signal, he can stop the runner from trying to steal, and the pitcher has wasted a ball and is "in the hole." Then, if his control is uncertain, the result is likely to be disastrous.

Several players in the National League are always trying to get the batter's signs. Bresnahan, the manager and catcher of the St. Louis club, devotes half his time and energy to looking for the wireless code employed by batter and base runner. If he can discover the hit and run sign, then he is able to order a pitchout and catch the man who has started to run in response to it, several feet at second base. He is a genius at getting this information.

Once late last season when the New York Club was in St. Louis on the last trip West, I came up to the bat with Fletcher on first base. I rubbed the end of my stick with my hand and Roger exclaimed:

"Why, that's your old hit and run, Matty! What are you trying to do, kid me?"

"I forgot you knew it, Rog," I answered, "but it goes."

He thought I was attempting to cross him and didn't order a pitchout. The sign had been given intentionally. I hit the ball and had the laugh on him. If a catcher can get a pitchout on a hit and run sign, he upsets the other team greatly. Take a fast man on first base, and the batter signs him that he is going to hit the next ball. The runner gets his start, and the ball comes up so wide that the batter could not half reach it with a ten-foot bat. The runner is caught easily at second base, and it makes him look foolish. That is why so many catchers devote time to looking for this signal. It is a great fruit-bearer.

STEALING SIGNS FROM BENCH.

Many of the extra players on the bench are always on the alert for the hit and run sign. This is a typical situation:

The Giants were playing the Pittsburgh club one day last season. Byrne was on first base. Fred Clarke was at bat, and Byrne started for second, while Clarke hit the ball to right field, Byrne reaching third base on the play.

"What did he do?" asked Amos Wiltse.

"Did you get it, Matty?" inquired Wiltse.

"No," I answered. "Did you?"

"I think he tapped his bat on the plate," replied Wiltse. The next time Clarke came up we were all looking to see if he tapped his bat on the plate. Byrne was again on first base. The Pirates's manager fixed his cap, he stepped back out of the box and knocked the dirt out of his cleats and he did two or three other natural

No-Rim-Cut Tires
10% Oversize

At No Extra Price

These patented tires used to cost one-fifth more than other standard tires.

They were immensely economical then.

But the demand has grown until these tires outsell all other tires. Our multiplied output has cut the cost of production.

Now they cost no more than tires that rim-cut, tires not oversize.

Save 48 Per Cent

With old-type tires, statistics show that 23 per cent of all ruined tires are rim-cut.

No-Rim-Cut tires save that 23 per cent, plus a large amount of worry. For these tires never rim-cut.

These tires are also 10 per cent over the rated size. That means 10 per cent more air—10 per cent added carrying capacity. And that, with the average car, adds 25 per cent to the tire mileage.

Thus these two savings, under average conditions, cut tire bills right in two. Tens of thousands of users have proved that.

1,000,000 Used

Over one million Goodyear tires have been used, on some 200,000 cars.

Some 200,000 separate users have proved their immense economy.

The result is this:

In two years the demand for No-Rim-Cut tires has multiplied six times over.

And these tires outsell any other tire.

Tires which won so many will win you also when you try them out.

We Control Them

With such a demand for tires that can't rim-cut other makers must attempt them, too.

But the feature which makes this type practical is controlled by the Goodyear patents.

Other devices won't do, for reasons explained in our Tire Book.

That is why this demand so largely centers on Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires. When you come to this new type don't get the wrong tire.

Ford

Many an automobile drives straight from the dealer into the "For Sale" columns of the newspaper. "High Upkeep" is the name of the chauffeur. But he never drives a Ford Model T.

On a gallon of fuel, the Ford can run from 20 to 25 miles; on a single set of tires, the Ford can run from 5000 to 10,000 miles; and on its strong chassis of Vanadium, the Ford can go anywhere, any time, everytime, all the time.

Henry Ford's marvelous genius in design; extreme simplicity with scientific accuracy; Vanadium steel construction; Ford Magneto built into the motor; the grand factory facilities; the enormous production; the low price, make Ford Model T the efficient as well as the economic car.

This matter of upkeep is one of the biggest factors to consider in buying your car. It will pay you to get the Ford figures and compare them—also to get in touch with some of your neighbors who drive Fords—some of the more than 100,000 satisfied owners.

Ford branches and dealers in all cities, towns and villages are at your elbow with Ford Service for Ford Owners.

MAGNETIC DECLINATION.

observations on land of magnetic needle does "true to the pole" made by George of compass sun- about the year 1570, the needle pointed north. About observations of the needle from and south line began found that at Lon- the date of the first declination observations at that place, and 1634, the needle had changed its direction of pointing from 11½ deg. east to 4 deg. east, or a change to the westward of 7 deg. Thus another important phenomenon was discovered, the cause of which remains without adequate solution up to the present time, though some of the best minds through the intervening years have studied it. This phenomenon is the so-called secular variation of the earth's magnetism, by the action of which changes of varying magnitudes are continuously occurring in the distribution of the earth's magnetism. The continual observation and study of these changes and the correction of magnetic charts, as, for example, the lines of equal magnetic declination supplied to navigators, follow as a consequence.

CHANGES AT LONDON.

To illustrate the magnitude of the above-mentioned change, and its practical effect upon human affairs: The magnetic needle at London continued to diminish its easterly bearing until about 1660 when it pointed due north, but continuing, however, its movement to the westward until, somewhere between the years 1810 and 1820, it pointed about 24 degrees to the west of true north, at which time its motion was reversed, and now it points about 15¾ degrees west. Thus from 1580 to about 1812, or in an interval of 232 years, the magnetic needle at London changed its direction from 11½ degrees east to about 24 years west, or a total of about 35 degrees to the westward.

At Boston, in 1759, the needle pointed about 7¾ degrees west, decreasing to a minimum of about 6¾ degrees in 1785. Since about 1785 the westerly bearing of the needle has been increasing until now it is about 13½ degrees west, or a change of 6¾ degrees in 127 years. Two streets, each a mile long, both starting from the same point, laid out to follow the compass, one established in 1785 and the other at the present time, would have their northern ends one-tenth of a mile apart. It is evident, therefore, that the change that takes place in the direction of the magnetic needle in this country, though not so large as in England, is sufficient to amount to a considerable quantity in the course of a century when applied to lines laid out on the ground.

All of the earlier American land surveys were made with the compass, and the magnetic bearings of the lines are still of record as defining the boundaries of the areas then surveyed, so that it is a matter of first necessity to know the amount of change in the compass direction since the date of the early survey, if there is need to re-establish the lines of that survey. And such information will always be a necessity, as those early compass surveys must be consulted in defining the original land boundaries.

HOW DATA WERE OBTAINED.

In view, then, of the important part the compass performs for land surveyors, for navigators all over the trackless oceans, and for explorers and travelers in the unfamiliar regions of the earth, the need of a knowledge of the declination of the magnetic needle and of its ceaseless changes is evident.

To supply this necessary information for its charts, the Coast Survey (since 1878, Coast and Geodetic Survey) at the outset of its activities secured the required data of the magnetic declination as obtained by the ordinary nautical instrumental means then in use. At that time observations of the magnetic declination were confined to the vicinity of the seacoast, but experience soon proved that the charts could not satisfactorily be supplied with the values of the magnetic declination unless observations were secured over broader areas so that magnetic maps could be constructed showing the location and direction of the lines of equal magnetic declination, also called isogonic lines, or lines connecting those places where the declination is the same amount for any specified epoch. So, from its earliest days, the Coast Survey of necessity included magnetic work in the regular scheme for which the bureau was founded. The first magnetic declination, or variation of the compass chart of the United States issued by the Coast Survey was in 1855, and included only a comparatively narrow belt along the seacoasts.

The charts not only required the amount of the magnetic declination to be stated upon them, but also the amount of its annual change, so that use may be made of the compass roses, which are small graduated circles printed on the charts showing the amount of the magnetic declination at a stated epoch, at other dates than the specified epoch. To supply this information for the charts, and also to meet the demands from land surveyors and others from all parts of the country, not only for the present value of the declination, but for what was far more difficult to answer, that is, the value at some earlier period, a systematic general collection of all magnetic observations taken within the limits of the United States and contiguous countries from the earliest times was undertaken and has been kept up ever since, but now only to supplement its own observational work.

About seventy years ago, in the plan for the reorganization of the survey of the coast, explicit provision was made for the making of "all such magnetic observations as circumstances and the state of the annual appropriations may allow," and Congress, in its annual appropriations, clearly recognizes the importance of such work. With the advancing years the requests for practical information from surveyors, mariners and others increased to such an extent that in 1899 it was found necessary to create a distinct division that of terrestrial magnetism, in the office of the survey, and to assign to it, under the supervision of the superintendent, the general charge of the systematic and thorough magnetic survey of the United States and outlying countries under its jurisdiction. The entire function of this branch of the survey's activities is to gather information regarding the magnetic needle, and to disseminate it in available form for practical and scientific use in advancing the knowledge of one of the most perplexing natural phenomena of the great globe upon which we live.

In its studies of this subject, developed by gradual public demand, the Coast and Geodetic Survey now classifies its magnetic work as follows: (1) Determination of the three magnetic elements—declination, inclination and horizontal intensity—at many places distributed over the entire country. During the last twelve years about 275 new magnetic stations, generally located at county seats, have been occupied each year. At a considerable number of these true meridian lines are determined and permanently marked on the ground by stone monuments so that the local surveyor may test his compass at any time. In fact, true bearings to prominent objects, such as church spires, standpipes, etc., are determined at each station from ascertained. (2) The reoccupation which the true meridian is readily from time to time of enough old stations all over the country to determine the change that has taken place with the lapse of time. (3) Determination of the three magnetic elements on board the vessels of the survey, wherever their regular work will permit, in harbors and along the sea coasts. (4) A continuous record of the many fluctuations in the direction and magnitude of the earth's magnetic force is being obtained by means of highly sensitive, automatically recording instruments, mounted in buildings especially built for them. These are known as magnetic observatories and the survey now has five in continuous operation—one each at Cheltenham, Md.; Tucson, Ariz.; Vieques, Porto Rico; Sitka, Alaska, and near Honolulu, Hawaii.

THE BUREAU'S PREPARED-NESS.

This outline of the Coast and Geodetic Survey's activities, continued from its very inception, in gathering and discussing the information regarding terrestrial magnetism, indicates the bureau's present preparedness to furnish the best information available concerning the values of magnetic declination in the United States; not only what these values are now, but what they were in years long past, when the surveyor's compass occupied a much more important place as an instrument for the fixing of land boundaries than it does now.

The results of the survey's determinations of the changes in magnetic courses of lines run out with the compass have a final standing in the courts of the United States. A compass bearing of a line taken, for instance, fifty years ago, to be re-run at the present time, would now be corrected for declination by the use of corrections furnished from the tables mentioned herein. These are based upon similar tables, which accompanied the isogonic chart for 1905, with such modifications as were required to extend them to 1910, and represent more closely the secular change since 1900 as developed by observations at almost 800 stations reoccupied during the last four years. The isogonic chart accompanying the publication is based upon almost 4000 of such values of the magnetic declination alone, obtained with well-tested instruments, the majority of the results having been secured during the last twelve years. Full explanation is given in the text of the construction of the tables and of the accompanying isogonic chart, and also directions to facilitate their use.

SHORT SPORT BITS.

Central League umpires will be schooled carefully before the opening of the season so that there can be no mistakes made in the interpretation of the playing rules of the game.

Memphis has purchased Pitcher Willis from Burlington of the Central Association. He is a right-hander and last year won nineteen and lost six, standing next to Boyd in the association pitching records.

Occupations of various umpires during the winter are: Bush, floor walker; Owens, tax collector; Emslie, trap shooter; Sheridan, undertaker; Evans, literature; Rigler, law student; Klem, fashion plate.

Heinie Maag, the Texas League veteran who was purchased by Mobile last year under the impression that he was a youngster, will manage the Tulsa team of the Mid-Continent League this season.

LAST TIGER SHOW.

The Tigers will make their last appearance before the beginning of the season when they play the Athletics, at the Vernon park, this morning, at 10:30 o'clock. The Los Angeles team is to play the Henry & Cornett Club at Washington Park this afternoon.

MATCH FOR FORBES.

CHICAGO, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Clarence Forbes and Danny Goodman were matched last night for a ten-round bout at Indiana Harbor, Ind., March 28. They will make 128 pounds at 3 o'clock.

RELIGIOUS SCRUPLES.

NEW YORK, March 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] George Bonhag, distance runner, and Frederick Thomson, all round champion, may not compete in two of the chief events of the Olympic games at Stockholm next summer, because they are scheduled for Sunday. Both athletes have religious scruples against Sunday games and it is said that Bonhag may decide not to contest in the 1000-meter run scheduled for Sunday, July 7, while Thomson may not take part in the Pentathlon on the same date and five events of the Decathlon on Sunday, June 14.

THE COMING GAME BIRD.

Pheasants Are Being Bred and Liberated All Over the Country. Feed on Flies, Worms and Grubs.

"The future game bird of America" is the way a writer in the Craftsman speaks of the pheasant. He declares that the introduction of these birds into this country has already passed the experimental stage. Several of the States have imported stock and successfully raised and liberated full-grown birds.

Oregon was the first to do this. Early efforts by other States failed, but better knowledge and methods brought better results, and in Washington and British Columbia the ringneck is now permanently on the game list. In 1893 the game warden of Oregon reported that 12,000 were killed in a single county in the season of three months.

Indiana made the experiment of establishing more than 100 preserves of from 4000 to 10,000 acres each by contracts with farmers who agreed to allow no hunting for four years after the stock was liberated. Imported pheasants were then set free, fed and cared for, but allowed to propagate naturally. This movement is popular with farmers and sportsmen, and has resulted in thousands of pheasants being acclimatized in the State.

Illinois established a State game farm in 1905, where pheasants were raised under the supervision of the Game Commissioner. The eggs were distributed to farmers who brooded them under common hens. New York recently ordered the establishment of a State farm for propagating and distributing pheasants, quail and partridge. At present there are many private preserves in the State. In Colorado thousands of pheasants have been liberated.

The Chinese ringneck undoubtedly leads in commercial importance, having proved itself hardier than the English ringneck, which was originally the Chinese. The demand from all over the country greatly exceeds the present possibility of supply. Farmers are realizing that it is a matter of economical wisdom to purchase these useful and beautiful birds and liberate them upon their land, for they more than compensate for their initial expense by efficier service in the grain field. They consume an incredible number of flies, worms and grubs, so destructive to crops. Their insatiable appetite for the boll weevil, chinch bug, crane fly and wire worms have convinced agriculturists that they are profitable investments.

The pheasant keeps his head near the ground and peers upward for the larvae and eggs on the under side of leaves, which are devoured without injury to the leaf. Countless pests are eaten at a single meal. It does not reach up and eat the grain, but late in the season when insect food is scarce it picks up the seed of the harvested grain fields. It is also fond of field mice, which it pursues with amazing swiftness.

Bright Young Star.

Cub First Baseman Has Been Good At All Times.

Jumped From High School Team To Chance's Club.

Would Have Been Passed Up But for Waiver Claims.

Victor Saier, the 20-year-old first baseman of the Chicago National Cubs, certainly has caused enough commotion in the National League to satisfy one of his years.

Saier came heralded as a sensation. And he has been causing one about every time he turned around.

Here is what that young man has done in his brief life:

Jumped direct from a high school team to the Chicago Cubs, and at a time when the team held the championship of the National League.

Stepped from the bench to first base when he was but 20 years of age, and at a time when the Cubs were in a hot fight for the pennant.

Made good in the eyes of Fred Clarke and Roger Bresnahan, but not in those of Frank Chance.

Was offered for trade in the biggest deal attempted at the annual meeting of the National League.

And finally was the cause of the row which resulted in Roger Bresnahan filing charges against Charles Webb Murphy.

Can you beat that for a 20-year-old chap? Many a man has played baseball a lifetime without having caused half the commotion. And Saier is one of the quietest, most likable young fellows you ever saw. Any time that you want his opinion and the answer requires more than two words, you don't get it.

This Saier certainly was a sensation from the word go. George Huff went out in the woods and discovered him. Huff, it will be remembered, was then scout for the Cubs. Twenty-five hundred dollars converted Saier into a Cub. Everything was lovely. Then came the report that Saier would not play with the Cubs. He was absolutely convinced that it would be a mistake for him to join a team like the Cubs, where he would have to spend so much time on the bench.

But he came. And he didn't sit on the bench, either. Chance was unable to continue in the game, and Saier was subjected to one of the most trying ordeals that any youngster ever faced.

He was sent to first when the Cubs were fighting for a pennant. Mind you, he had jumped from high school to this pennant-contending team. Saier didn't hit much. Chance wanted to let him go, but Clarke and Bresnahan couldn't see it that way, and the deal was blocked because these two clever leaders refused to waive.

BIG SUMS OFFERED FOR MICHIGAN RACES.

The Michigan State Fair, the scene of the Grand circuit trotting races from September 16 to 21, will give $50,000 in purses and stakes and plans to launch an innovation which promises to bar horses of the R. T. C. kind from its premier event.

The Michigan stake of $10,000 for 2:15 trotters will contain a condition which will make ineligible any horse that wins stakes and purses of a face value of $35,000 between April and September 5.

It is understood this action has been decided upon to insure contests worthy of the size of the purse.

The events to which entries close on April 9 are as follows:

Michigan stake of $10,000; 2:15 trot; 2:12 pace, purse, $5000; 2:10 trot, purse, $2000; 2:05 pace, purse, $2000; 2:20 class Michigan owned pacers, $2000. The Horseman Futurity of $15,000 will be raced at this meeting.

Before summer rolls around Philadelphia will have another motoring organization added to its list, plans now being under way to form the Old York Road Automobile Club.

The State Highway Commission of Minnesota has established a laboratory, equipped with 'machinery for testing cement and gravel used in construction of culverts and bridges.

TWO KINDS OF SIGN STEALING

things before the pitch, but nothing happened. Then he tapped his bat on the plate.

"Make him put them over, Chief," yelled Wilson, which, translated, meant, "Order a pitchout. He just gave Byrne the hit and run sign."

Meyers signed for a pitchout, and Byrne was caught ten feet from second. Wiltse on the bench had really nailed the base runner. As soon as a sign is discovered, then it is communicated to the other players, and they are always watching for it, but try to conceal the fact that they recognize it because, as soon as a batter discovers that his messages are being read, he changes his code.

From these few facts about signals and sign stealing, some idea of the battle of wits that is going on between two ball clubs in a game may be obtained. That is why so few men without brains last in the big leagues nowadays. A young fellow broke in with the Giants a few years ago and was very anxious to make good. He was playing shortstop.

"Watch for the catcher's signs and then shift," McGraw told him one day. It is well known in baseball that a right-handed hitter will naturally push a curve over the outside corner of the plate toward right field and over the inside he will pull it around toward third. But this youngster was overanxious and would shift before the pitcher started to deliver the ball. Some smart player on another club noticed this and tipped the batters off to watch the youngster for the signs. When he shifted toward second base, the batter set himself for a ball over the outside corner. For a long time McGraw couldn't understand from where the other teams were getting the Giants' signs, especially as it was on the home ground. At last he saw the new infielder shift one day, and the batter prepare for an inside ball.

"Say," he said to the player, rushing on the field after he had stopped the pitcher, "do you know you are telegraphing the signs to the batters by moving around before the pitcher throws the ball?"

"Bill" Dahlen, formerly a shortstop on the Giants, used to shift, but he was clever enough to wait until the pitcher had started his motion, when it was too late for the batter to look at him.

Ball players are always looking to steal some sign so that they may "cross" the enemy. In the language of the big leagues, it is "signs," never "signals." And in conclusion I reiterate my former sentiments that all is fair in love, war, and baseball, except stealing signs dishonestly.

CHESS NOTES.

Referee J. W. De Arman has awarded by default against J. E. Woodbury three games in the final round of the second Southern California correspondence tournament in favor of V. Asher of Redlands, and R. A. Hazen and A. G. Pearsall of San Diego. Failure to observe the time limit occasioned Woodbury's losses. Scores in the finals now stand as follows:

Pearsall won 2½, lost ½; Asher, 1½-½; Hazen, 1-1; Woodbury, 0-3.

Games decided in the third Southern California correspondence tournament have been recorded with the following results:

Pearsall won 3, lost 0; Leipsic, 2-0; Olson, 0-1; Schantz, 0-1; Wickersham, 0-1; Hart, 0-2.

Positions in the challenge tournament of the Cabrillo Club are now held by E. B. Adams, A. G. Pearsall, Dr. H. S. Smith, and E. Rohde, in order of mention. The four-round tournament ended with Adams, who played somewhat out of form, in fourth place; but he at once challenged those above him, in order, according to the tourney rules, and regained his championship, as above noted. His scores with each follow: With Rohde, 2-0, by default; with Smith, 3-2; with Pearsall, 3-0.

Adams and Pearsall tie for first place in the Cabrillo Club tournament for the Stough trophy, and will play a match of five games up to decide the winner.

Spielmann of Munich, who won first place in the recent gambit tourney at Abbazia, is repeating his success in the international master's tournament at San Sebastian, Spain, and incidentally demonstrating the advantage of gambit practice. He finds himself in such form that he lost none of his first ten games, winning six and drawing four in unrestricted play against players of the ultra modern school. After fifteen rounds he still led with 10½ points, having lost only to Niemzowitsch in the twelfth round.

Checker Champion N. W. Banks, who stated that the Los Angeles checker players had caused him more losses than those of any city, brilliantly exploited his skill on his first day at the Cabrillo Club by engaging a large number of chess and checker opponents simultaneously in the afternoon, and four checker experts blindfold in the evening. Of the afternoon games he lost one at chess and one of checkers, drawing one in chess. The blindfold seance gave him two wins, one loss and one draw. In chess Adams won, Pearsall lost and Smith drew.

SHORT SPORT BITS.

Outfielder Jude, the Indian, once a hear cat with the stick in the Western League, has been signed by Utica of the New York State League.

Two pretty good outfields they have in Boston—Lewis, Speaker and Hooper of the Red Sox, and Campbell, Jackson and Miller of the Wardmen.

No exhibition contests between clubs of the Central League will be allowed in the future, penalty for violation of the rule being a fine of $200.

Secretary Farrel has awarded Pitcher Vowinkle to Chattanooga. He signed with Syracuse after accepting terms with the Southern League club.

Toledo has sold Pitcher Frank Fanwell to New Haven. Fanwell was last season sent to Davenport in payment for Shortstop Chapman, but did not last.

The I.-I.-I. salary limit this year will be $1800 a month and the player limit $1500. A fine of $50 a day is to be imposed on any club violating the salary limit.

THE JUMP-UPS

VERSES BY PAUL WEST
DRAWINGS BY WM. H. LOOMIS

1—"The Spring Assembly Dances!" When ambitious Genevieve
Observed that they were coming soon, she said, "Now, I believe
That if I worked it properly through channels that I know
It might be fixed so Jim and I to these affairs could go!

2—"There's nothing in the Season that is more en regele" (Note
The foreign phrases she had learned from her French maid to quote!)
"None but the real haut ton attend. If tickets I could get
'Twould fix the JUMP-UPS' standing in the real exclusive set!"

3—By power of purse she managed it, and then she had poor Jim
Take dancing lessons for a month; but all was lost on him.
His teacher said: "I'm sorry, but the art does not appeal
To him—he cares for nothing but a low Virginia Reel!"

4—"Don't worry, dear," said gentle Jim, "for just the same we'll go.
I'll sit around and watch you, 'cause you like to dance, I know."
And so he did, and beamed as she went waltzing 'round the hall,
The fairest, fluffiest, finest fay at all that festive ball!

5—Beside him sat a dowager, a stout and ancient dame,
Who said "These modern dances fill my poor old heart with shame.
Give me an old Virginia Reel!" Cried Jim, "I know that dance!"
"You do?" said she. "We'll try it, then, in case we have the chance!"

6—Just then the orchestra began that olden dancing measure
"Come on," exclaimed the Dowager, and Jim replied, "With pleasure!"
Thought he: "At last my awkwardness perhaps I can retrieve,
And make a little social hit to please sweet Genevieve!"

7—But hardly had the reel begun before Jim found in dread
The little that he'd ever known had vanished from his head.
He bumped, he slipped, he trod on toes, expensive gowns he tore,
And then his feet flew skyward and he fell upon the floor.

8—The outraged dancers scattered. Jim was lifted to his feet,
And, following blushing, Genevieve went shamefaced to the street.
Next time you'll stay at home," she cried, and turned her back on him.
"If that's a promise, hip-hooray!" cried luckless, shameless Jim.

Mine Granny-ma has got a n'orful nice barn, an' one day me'n Puppo we goed up—'way up—to see the golding weather cock-a-doodle-doo what lives up on top o' the barn, an'—an' what-che-know-'bout-'at—me'n Puppo sitted on his back an'—an he flyed 'way, far away wif us.

An' we flyed—an' we flyed till we comed to—to a Fairy Queen's palace, an' ther' was stuffed flannen bunnies a-playin' on the grass an' ther' was lots o' flower ladys and gemplums dancin' roun' ther' an' the bufules' Fairy Queen you mos' ever saw.

An' she was a-cryin' 'cause she sed a n'orful bad Spider had takened her dee-ar 'ittle fairy girl 'way, far away in a cobweb airship an' nobody couldn't not save her, 'cause, see, the fairies'd all get ther' wingses all tangled up wif cobwebs, an' she'd asked the weather cock to bring me to help her.

An' a big wooden Hobby Horse comed up, an' he sed, "Ride me, Kaptin Kiddo" An' I sed, "I can't fly, can you?" An' he cried, an' cried, an' the tears turned to marbles, an' me'n Puppo we safed bags an' bags full o' 'em to play wif, an' the Hobby Horse runned back to his—back to his box 'cause he couldn't not fly.

These Straws Show the Way the Wind Blows

A Brown Tailored Model

Chic and Military

Red on Supple Straw

A double Quilling on Chip

WITH designers of hats exploiting the practical, the picturesque, the unusual, or reviving quaint styles, it is not uninteresting to note the straws that show the way the wind blows.

One gratifying truth is evident: a wide scope that includes all types and will suit all faces is yours.

On the dark-gray straw soft iridescent silk has been used that surrounds the crown in folds and is finished in two upstanding loops at the back. A facing of silk is used on the brim, while green wooden beads form a square plastron at the side.

Black and white in combination is always good. The small shape of supple straw has its high crown wrapped in white taffeta and wired loops placed at the back. For between seasons and for harmonizing with all colors the black-and-white alliance is indisputably practical.

Cerise taffeta trims a large drooping shape of leghorn. Folds of the silk are wound around the high crown and a full, puffed bow is placed directly in front. This shape can be duplicated in any shade, and will be extremely popular to complete the costume of changeable silk.

The tailored straw shape is very acceptable to those women who prefer plain styles. This model is of brown straw, blocked in a derby shape and trimmed with white grosgrain ribbon in a tailored fluting and flat bow in front. It defies rain and wear and carries with it a dash all its own.

Military shapes are always chic. The dark-blue straw is turned up in cavalier style, with a blue pompon holding the brim to the crown. An ornament of white beads is all that is used at the front.

The small round shape is made without any wire frame. The braid is sewed and the shape blocked, consequently a supple model results, with a comfortable fit, quite like the velour hats of another season. A huge knot of red-and-black ribbon, with wired loops, is placed in front to hold the upturned brim in place.

Last is one of the accepted French models of blue chip. The back of the brim is quite wide and pointed. This is turned up toward the front of the hat. The edge of the hat is finished with a double quilling of changeable taffeta put on with a cord. A knot of blue-and-green beads ornaments the front.

Really the wind blows to the profit of everybody, for beauty, utility and economy are the factors that make the becoming models shown here in delightful variety.

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

"THE BREAKFAST GROUCH"; HAS IT NO ANTIDOTE?

A LIVELY schoolgirl is our mentor today:

"I wish you would give us a strong 'talk,' with gloves off, upon what is known in our family as the 'Breakfast Grouch.' From what I have seen and heard of other households—and of individuals, too, for that matter—I incline to think the malady is generally abroad in the land.

"Listen: There are six of us—my father, my mother, two sisters, and two brothers. The oldest son is 25 and a bank clerk. The second is a student in the university in our home city. He is 23.

My sister was graduated last June at 19 from Bryn Mawr. I am 17, and hope to enter college next October. We are not rich, but comfortably off in this world's goods. My father is doing a safe business. We are exceptionally healthy, and have the dearest, best, most angelic mother who ever brought up a brood of children to man's and woman's estate. She is naturally cheerful and never cross. A better housekeeper doesn't read your 'corner' daily. So far as I can see, we ought to be a happy family. And we are, after the morning mood is done away with.

"My father hides a glum face behind the morning paper. Neither of my brothers says a word beyond 'Good morning,' and 'Mother, I hope you slept well.' My sister would talk, but the masculine portion of the group discourages her from telling of last night's party and today's engagements. Then she is often dull after the evening's dissipation, and disinclined to be lively. The three men have nothing to complain of in their food and physical plight.

As the Men View It.

"When I ask, later in the day, why breakfast is such a stupid affair, I am told that 'it is so the world over. Nobody is up to concert pitch before 10 o'clock a. m.' Dick, the elder brother declares that 'eating the first meal of the day en famille is one of the abominations of civilization.' Jack, the university fellow, goes further and calls it 'a nuisance that ought to be abated by law.' Each is firm in the determination to alter matters in his own household when he is married. Each member of the prospective families is to eat his or her breakfast alone and in his or her own apartment.

"Mother had a gentle little say yesterday, when Jack reiterated this:

"'Before your bed is made and the room aired, my dear? I don't think that would be very nice.'

"A young man who is attentive to my sister dined with us last night, when the matter was under discussion, and when mother entered her modest protest. He sided with the boys.

"'There are four of us fellows who keep a sort of bachelor's hall,' he said. 'We have a pleasant apartment, and a working housekeeper who makes us comfortable—far more than we could be in a hotel or boarding house. We breakfast together for convenience's sake, but we rarely exchange a word after nodding or grunting "Good morning" when we enter the room. Each has his paper, and nobody complains. You see'—turning to my mother—'it isn't like eating in an unaired room and all that. We have a sunny room, and the table appointments are all right. We could hardly be more comfortable.'

"Then the gentle little lady spoke out again:

"'I should think you would feel like saying as much now and then. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh," you know.' And, perhaps because she likes the nice boy, she mustered courage to add: 'Or it ought to speak, if only to brighten the lives of others.'

* *

Speech Sets Her to Thinking.

"It was that speech of hers—and she is never talkative, although never anything but gracious—that set me to thinking of this matter of the Breakfast Grouch. I recollect that one of your holiday talks was illustrated by a picture of a man standing by a newly made grave all heaped with evergreens. He was looking over his shoulder with a smile as he leaned upon his spade. Upon the tombstone was an inscription that accounted for his pleased expression:

"'ALL MY GRUDGES; ALL MY GROUCHES.'

"Honestly, is there any reason why this beautiful world of ours should be so forbidding for four hours after sunrise as to sour the milk of human kindness into a solid curd? I should think that a good night's rest, a bath, and the sight of the fresh day, with all its delightful possibilities ahead of one, ought to put new life into the whole system.

"Is there any rational explanation—based upon physical conditions, or moral, or spiritual—why a gentleman should forget his manners and a Christian his religion because he must eat breakfast in the bosom of his family? That sounds dreadful for a daughter and a sister to say, you will think, but it is forced out of me by the thoughts that have been mine since last night's conversation.

"Forgive this awfully long moan! I have nobody except my sister to whom to make it. And she won't say much. Maybe because she is wondering to herself, as I am to my secret self, if that charming young man who is now so desirous of pleasing her will be as big a boor at the breakfast table after he is married as he is now in the sunny apartment where he lives with his three best friends. 'All fine fellows,' he says; 'not a black sheep in the flock.'

"I am curious to know your views upon the subject. MARY JANE."

Evil Widespread One.

The woman who wrote that letter is capable of signing herself "Mary Jane." In reading the dashing signature I somehow got the notion that she is the mother's namesake. She wrote out her surname and address in full. My first impulse was to look up her telephone number and call her up for a face to face confabulation. That I resisted the inclination was due to the conviction that the evil she deplored is, as she suspects, widespread. It may be that other families stand in need of a little plain talk upon the matter of the Breakfast Grouch.

Years ago I had like occasion to remark that, while we all repeat duly and daily, "Give us this day our daily bread," and include in our thought a petition for spiritual sustenance, nobody that I ever heard says, before joining the family at the morning meal, "Give me this hour my breakfast grace."

Not for ability to utter a conventional form of thanksgiving and supplication, but for the "Daily strength,

To none who ask denied";

for divine grace that will overcome inertia and sullkiness and selfish preoccupation in affairs that leave no room for thought of others' comfort and happiness—in short, for enough common decency of action and speech to pull one out of the breakfast mood, which is none the more courteous and rational because it is indulged in by the rest of one's family and friends.

Unworthy of Civilization.

Mary Jane would like to have my opinion of this same early morning misconduct on the part of well bred and not bad hearted men and women. Personally, I consider it what I have called it—misconduct, and unworthy of Christian civilization. In the face of all that is asserted to the contrary, I hold that there is something radically wrong in the physical system that does not bring to the duties and joys of the new day freshness of spirit and renewed energies. If it be a Christian man or woman who yields to the Breakfast Grouch, it is a SIN! The dear old hymn that arises unbidden to the lips from the force of habit learned at the mother's knee should express the normal state of heart and mind:

New every morning is the love
Our waking and uprising prove,
Through sleep and darkness safely brought,
Restored to life and power and thought.

I think Isaac Watts wrote it. The blessed old rhymester blundered, as it were, into poetry once in a while. He has given us—whether consciously or not it would be hard to say—a graphic picture here of the awakening of a sane human creature who fell asleep with a prayer upon his lips and the sense in his soul of the Overshadowing Wings. The thought of that continued Love and benignant Presence first pierces the mists of slumber; then comes the recollection of the perils of the night safely overpast, then the gradual awakening of physical powers restored by healthful slumber; next the swift consciousness of continued mental vigor. The climax is skilful and artistic. It should be true to life.

* *

Sign of Unhealth.

The matutinal thanksgiving for sanity of mind, body, and estate should be a tonic. I maintain that when it is not, there is—if not disease—unhealth somewhere in the system.

Said a silver haired man who at 70 was reaping the reward of lifelong obedience to nature's laws:

"If, after going through my course of gentle gymnastic exercises in the morning, my bath and brisk rubdown with a crash towel, and ten long breaths of fresh out of door air, I do not feel as if I could put my shoulder against the world and turn it over—I know that I am not quite up to concert pitch."

I submit that this should be the daily experience of every tolerably healthy man, woman, or child.

"Every day is the world made new——" and we should awake with the morning to "life and power and thought," rejuvenated by the ever recurring miracle of sleep. The family reunion at the "breakfast" which is to help on the making over should be the most cheerful of the day. So say common sense and religion.

Granting all this, the fact remains that the tone and behavior of the household to which our bright correspondent belongs, as depicted graphically by her pen, are representative, rather than phenomenal. A healthy, even tempered man will tell you without a twinge of shame that "it takes at least three hours to adjust a fellow's bodily and mental machinery to the work of the new day."

Absurd in the Extreme.

I marvel in listening to the absurdity how long he would endure the caprices of a piece of insensate machinery that was so stiff in the joints for an hour or so after steam was turned on and every part adjusted for use that it could not be depended upon for a quarter of the working day.

An eminent judge is put upon record as declaring that he would never sentence a man to prison or to death if it were proved that the crime of which he was convicted was committed before breakfast.

If it be true that one is less responsible for one's speech and action after "broken rest in sleep" than when he laid himself down for needed repose after a day of labor, our health laws should be overhauled and revised. We might better begin the day at the other end and work backward.

Seriously, I have no patience with the cool assumption that the breakfast grouch is natural, therefore excusable. When a man tells me, as one did but recently, "I know I am a brute until after I've had my breakfast," I set him down as selfish and selfish. If his internal organism be so far deranged that the lubricating coffee and rolls, beefsteak and fried potatoes is absolutely necessary to make a human creature of him, he should be put in a sanitarium until he is normal and durable.

A young husband whom I had known from childhood and of whom I was genuinely fond confessed to me in a moment of penitence that he had spoken roughly to his wife that day for the first time though they had been married for years.

* *

It's Hard to Believe.

"My dear boy!" I exclaimed when he repeated what he had said. "I did not think that gentlemen could say such things to their wives, or to any other women, for that matter. I would not believe it if you had not told me yourself."

He looked properly and abjectly penitent. "Hit me again! I deserve it and more. I telephoned my remorseful regrets to her as soon as I got down town. And what do you suppose the angel of gentleness and mercy said? That it was her fault! She 'ought to have known better than to try to make me talk at breakfast!' I must show you the bracelet I am taking home to her."

If I did not say aloud, "And the offering made and graciously accepted," I will be at liberty to swear at her for the next time she interrupts your "breakfast sulks," you may be sure that I shall hit and with scornful emphasis.

I wish those of our readers who are interested in health problems would discuss the matter laid before us by our school girl. I think that house mothers would compare experiences as to the prevalence of the grouch in their respective families. Are husbands men more susceptible to its baneful influence than women and girls? We infer as much from Mary Jane's artless narrative.

If this be true—why?

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

IMPORTANT NOTICE

BECAUSE of the enormous number of letters sent to the department I must ask contributors to limit their communications to 100 words, except in cases of formulas or recipes which require greater space. I want all my correspondents to have a showing in the Corner, and if my request in this respect is complied with it will be possible to print many more letters.

Attention is called to the fact that Marion Harland cannot receive money for patterns, as she has no connection with any department that sells them.
Marion Harland.

"TO my fellow housewives I would say: 'Don't stop baking cake because the price of butter has gone out of the sight of people in moderate circumstances.'

"Buy really good leaf lard; cut it into small pieces and remove all the membranes and bloody specks from it. Put it into a frying pan and cook until the harder bits are crisp. Strain through cheesecloth and let it get cold and firm. Then rub together a cupful of lard and two of white sugar to a foamy cream. Beat into this two well whipped eggs and a cup of milk. When well mixed add three even cups of flour previously sifted twice with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one cupful of seeded raisins dredged with flour. Divide the mixture into two halves and put one into another mixing bowl. Work into it a teaspoonful each of ground ginger and cinnamon and half as much grated nutmeg.

"Butter a cake pan and put the two batters in in alternate spoonfuls, taking care that these do not disturb one another. Do not stir. Just bury in one great spoonful at a time until all is in. You may make two loaves if the pans are small. Bake covered with brown paper for half an hour, then brown lightly.

"You will have a fine marbled cake and no one could tell that it was made with lard and not butter. Try it, following directions implicitly.

"Reduce your grocer's bill by such ingenious expedients as this. It is an easy matter if you will give your mind to it. I have cut mine down from $75 a month to $25. I shall write again and tell you how I did it. MRS. A. H."

I have eaten in Yorkshire, England, what was called there "lard cake." It was sweet and toothsome and had a fair resemblance in taste to plain fruit cake. Much of the excellence of the cake for which we have here a recipe depends upon the mixing, beating, and baking. I confess I do not as yet appreciate the necessity of "trying out" lard that is already clarified. I wish our correspondent would tell us if the leaf lard must be crude or if the "lard of commerce" sold by our best grocers will do as well. It is not easy to get leaf lard in the raw state.

We shall await with interest further information as to the method of cutting down grocers' bills. They are at present maddening to the economical soul.

Quieting Noisy Boys.

"Have you never wished that you could think of something to keep those noisy boys quiet Sunday morning when nobody but boys thinks of rising as early as upon week days? At that time when we grown-ups were deep in delicious slumber it seemed as if Jack and Teddy tried to see how much noise they could make. Not that they meant to—but they did!

"The blessed maiden aunt whose residence under our roof is a continual benediction, solved the problem at last. One Sunday morning when obstreperous Jack and Teddy awoke with the first streak of dawn their eyes rested upon two queerly shaped packages tied with many strings. It was a foretaste (or aftermath) of Christmas. After much undoing of knots they found within the big brown paper bags animal crackers, bits of candy, fruit, and some pictures for their scrapbooks. It took many minutes to unearth the treasures and by then the grown-ups were astir, having enjoyed their last morning doze undisturbed.

"Now the boys look forward to Sunday morning with delight, whereas they dreaded it formerly, having to be hushed repeatedly lest they might disturb their elders.

"Sometimes a few pennies find their way into the bags—or perhaps a beautiful pencil with real rubber on the end, just like daddy's. Of course they are given to understand that they must be quiet in their happiness, as the treat is not for noisy children. The scheme works finely in our household. It may be that some other auntie, or mother, or big sister may have similar annoyance and profit by my humble little story.

S. V. W."

The best and gentlest disciplinarian of small children I ever knew used to say to younger mothers: "Avoid raising an issue with a child when you can do it without sacrificing principle and the child's real good. But when it is inevitable carry your point and come out conqueror. Better rule in minor matters by affectionate diplomacy than by harshness."

This is evidently the law of action in the household to which Jack and Teddy are so fortunate as to belong.

In another home I wot of, the little ones were allowed to take dolls, toy dogs, and picture books to bed with them Saturday night, and had beautiful "make believe" keeping a house of their own before the older and less imaginative members of the family were astir.

Anent Personal Affairs.

"I wrote to you some weeks ago telling you a story and asking your advice, the same to be published in the Helping Hand. I do not care to have even you know my name and home. Having seen no reply, I assume you consider it too personal to be treated in print. Had you known the circumstances of the case you need not have hesitated. A leading journal had asked for descriptions of hard places in human life and how they were met, and this was one answer. What I wrote was really the tragedy of my married life, and I see no way of overcoming it. If people would only be independent—self-reliant—instead of looking to their relatives for help!

"Since you will have none of my story, perhaps you will not object to printing in a small space in The Helping Hand why you have not thought fit to put my questions into the Corner and that you have destroyed my letter. I will thank you for your trouble. THE SON'S WIFE."

Years ago, when I was younger and more impulsive, I published a letter written by a daughter-in-law, the purport of which was like yours. It was a sad tale, and my sympathies were altogether with the son's wife. I said as much and yet counseled her to be patient and tactful and to endure to the end, if possible. I gave no clew to the residence of the unhappy woman, and the letter and reply were published in a paper a thousand miles from the city, the postmark of which was upon her envelope. Within a week the irate mother-in-law wrote to me—and such a letter! She had recognised the actors in the tale and demanded that I should inform her at once how I got hold of the scandal. If I refused she would sue the paper for libel! Since I pulled myself and my paper out of the affair with whole skins and undepleted purses, I have carefully avoided mixing myself and the Corner up in family quarrels or misunderstandings. The intermeddling of strangers does no earthly good and in ninety-nine times out of the hundred widens the breach.

Let this explanation be sufficient for "The Son's Wife." It is meant also for others who would confide to the public matters that should go no farther than their own doors.

So long as the divine decree, "Therefore shall a man leave father and mother and cleave unto his wife," finds literal obedience in every mother's son who takes unto himself a wife there will be variance and heart burnings between mothers who cannot resign the first place in the heart of their boys and the wives who will have all of their husband's love—or none! It is the inexorable law of nature—and the way of women!

One Recipe for Many Cakes.

Have you room in the Helping Hand for the following? If so I shall be proud and happy to have been the means of lending a helping hand to my sister housewives.

ONE CHEAP RECIPE FOR MANY GOOD CAKES:

"1. One egg, one cup of sugar, half a cup of butter, two cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a pinch of salt, flavoring to your taste. Bake thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

"2. Add to the preceding ingredients one level teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, and a cupful of raisins, you have a fine spice cake.

"3. Add to No. 1 a heaping tablespoonful of cocoa and one teaspoonful of vanilla. You will have an excellent cocoa cake.

"4. Or add to No. 1 a cupful of raisins and a little chopped citron to make a good white fruit cake.

"5. Mix with the batter of No. 1 chopped nuts, figs, or any other favorite dried fruit, and you have a nice light cake.

"You see the one foundation does for all the varieties. B. B. E."

An indefinite number of cakes may be constructed upon so staple an underpinning as our housewife gives here. With one egg, the beating and mixing must be of the best. To toss ingredients together as the manner of some is, is to invite failure. These are the cooks who will tell you patronizingly that they "never look at a recipe and never measure or weigh."

* *

Recipe for Buckwheat Cakes.

"Will you hold out the Helping Hand to a sadly bewildered housekeeper? I have trouble with my buckwheat cakes.

"My son is fond of them, but, somehow I cannot make them just right. They are sticky and don't get light, and are not as tender as they should be. The buckwheat flour is so pure that perhaps we ought to mix some wheat flour with it? We are in a veritable quandary.

"We enjoy the Helping Hand and get much benefit from it. Do, please, come to my help about the cakes. E. R. W."

Try putting a generous handful of Indian meal into the batter. "We" never omit it. The buckwheat alone is too glutenous to be spongy. This is the formula handed down from my great-grandmother. We have used no other in our kitchen for fifty years. And our cakes are always light—never "soggy" or sticky.

* *

OLD FASHIONED BUCKWHEAT CAKES (otherwise "Buckwheats")—One quart of buckwheat flour, four tablespoonful of yeast (or one yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water), one teaspoonful of salt, a big handful of Indian meal, two tablespoonfuls of molasses or sirup. Warm water enough to make a thin batter.

Beat hard in mixing—for three minutes at least—and set to rise in a warm place. If the batter be sour in the morning, stir in a little soda dissolved in hard water and beat again hard.

Mix in an earthen crock, and have a little in the bottom—a cupful or more—to serve as sponge for the next night, instead of getting new yeast. Of course you will use the usual quantity of flour and meal at night and beat up well. Some put one-thirds as much oatmeal as there is flour or buckwheat, and omit the Indian meal. I have a fancy that the cakes are more wholesome to the blood and more easily digested when the meal goes in.

* *

To Remove Spots from Plush.

"I have a gray plush dress upon which are two red spots. I got them from sitting in a red plush chair which was wet. How can I clean the dress with chloroform? The spots are lighter, but not effaced. Can you tell me how to remove them and restore the gown to its former color?

The difficulty is that whatever you do with the red is likely to take the gray out with it. I can tell you what will sometimes do the work successfully, but not again will not. Make a paste of powdered household ammonia and soap and cover the spots thickly with it. Lay the gown away for two days. Then brush out the paste. Should the red spots remain, repeat the process twice, with intervals of two days. Should the gray be changed after the spots are extracted, touch with ammonia to restore the original color.

I have tried this method most successfully upon stained carpets and colored embroideries; I do not guarantee success, but it can do no harm.

* *

A Napkin Holder.

"Will you find a corner for a new device that originated in my kitchen? When well made it is pretty and useful.

"A pretty and inexpensive pocket for napkins may be made by gilding common but perfectly new and whole clothes pins with bright gold paint, and writing upon it, in some contrasting black ink, the name of the person who is to use it. This should be neatly done. This is a simple matter. The holders are very useful when one is giving a house party, or when guests remain for some days. When they leave, the holders are given to them as souvenirs.

A quaint conceit as you see. It has turned out they must bring the napkins. They hold the folded napkin as a "ring" holds a bundle of papers.

EMBR
FOR HAND

EVERY family should be provided with a laundry bag; in fact, every individual would find one useful. If you are unprovided or are thinking of making a pretty gift to a friend, she will, I know, appreciate such a useful present.

For the traveler we have a pretty bag made of one square yard of figured cretonne in colors, blue and white. It is lined with plain blue chintz.

Two rows of stitching placed parallel, six inches from the open end and two inches apart, provide a casing, through which cotton cords are run. When in use these cords are drawn up tight to keep the soiled garments from touching the clean ones in your trunk or suitcase. A dainty bag is made of half a yard of heavy linen or pongee. This has no lining, but is made with a casing one inch from the opening, through which a tape is run.

Its use is designated by the marking on the outside, embroidered in mer-

FOR A LUNCHEON SET

IF YOU would have a dainty set of centerpiece and doilies in two sizes, here is the first installment. The doilies will come next week, and all that I ask is that you will remember me every time you use them. That will be often!

Just for a change I have had the simplest design possible made, so that the inexperienced can work the attractive pattern.

There is a tendency to use colors for these dainty sets, the blue, the green or yellow of the luncheon china being selected. However, the all-white treatment is always successful and launders so satisfactorily that you will find the majority of embroiderers use it.

If you wish a solid effect, pad the dots with soft darning cotton and work with mercerised thread in the opposite direction.

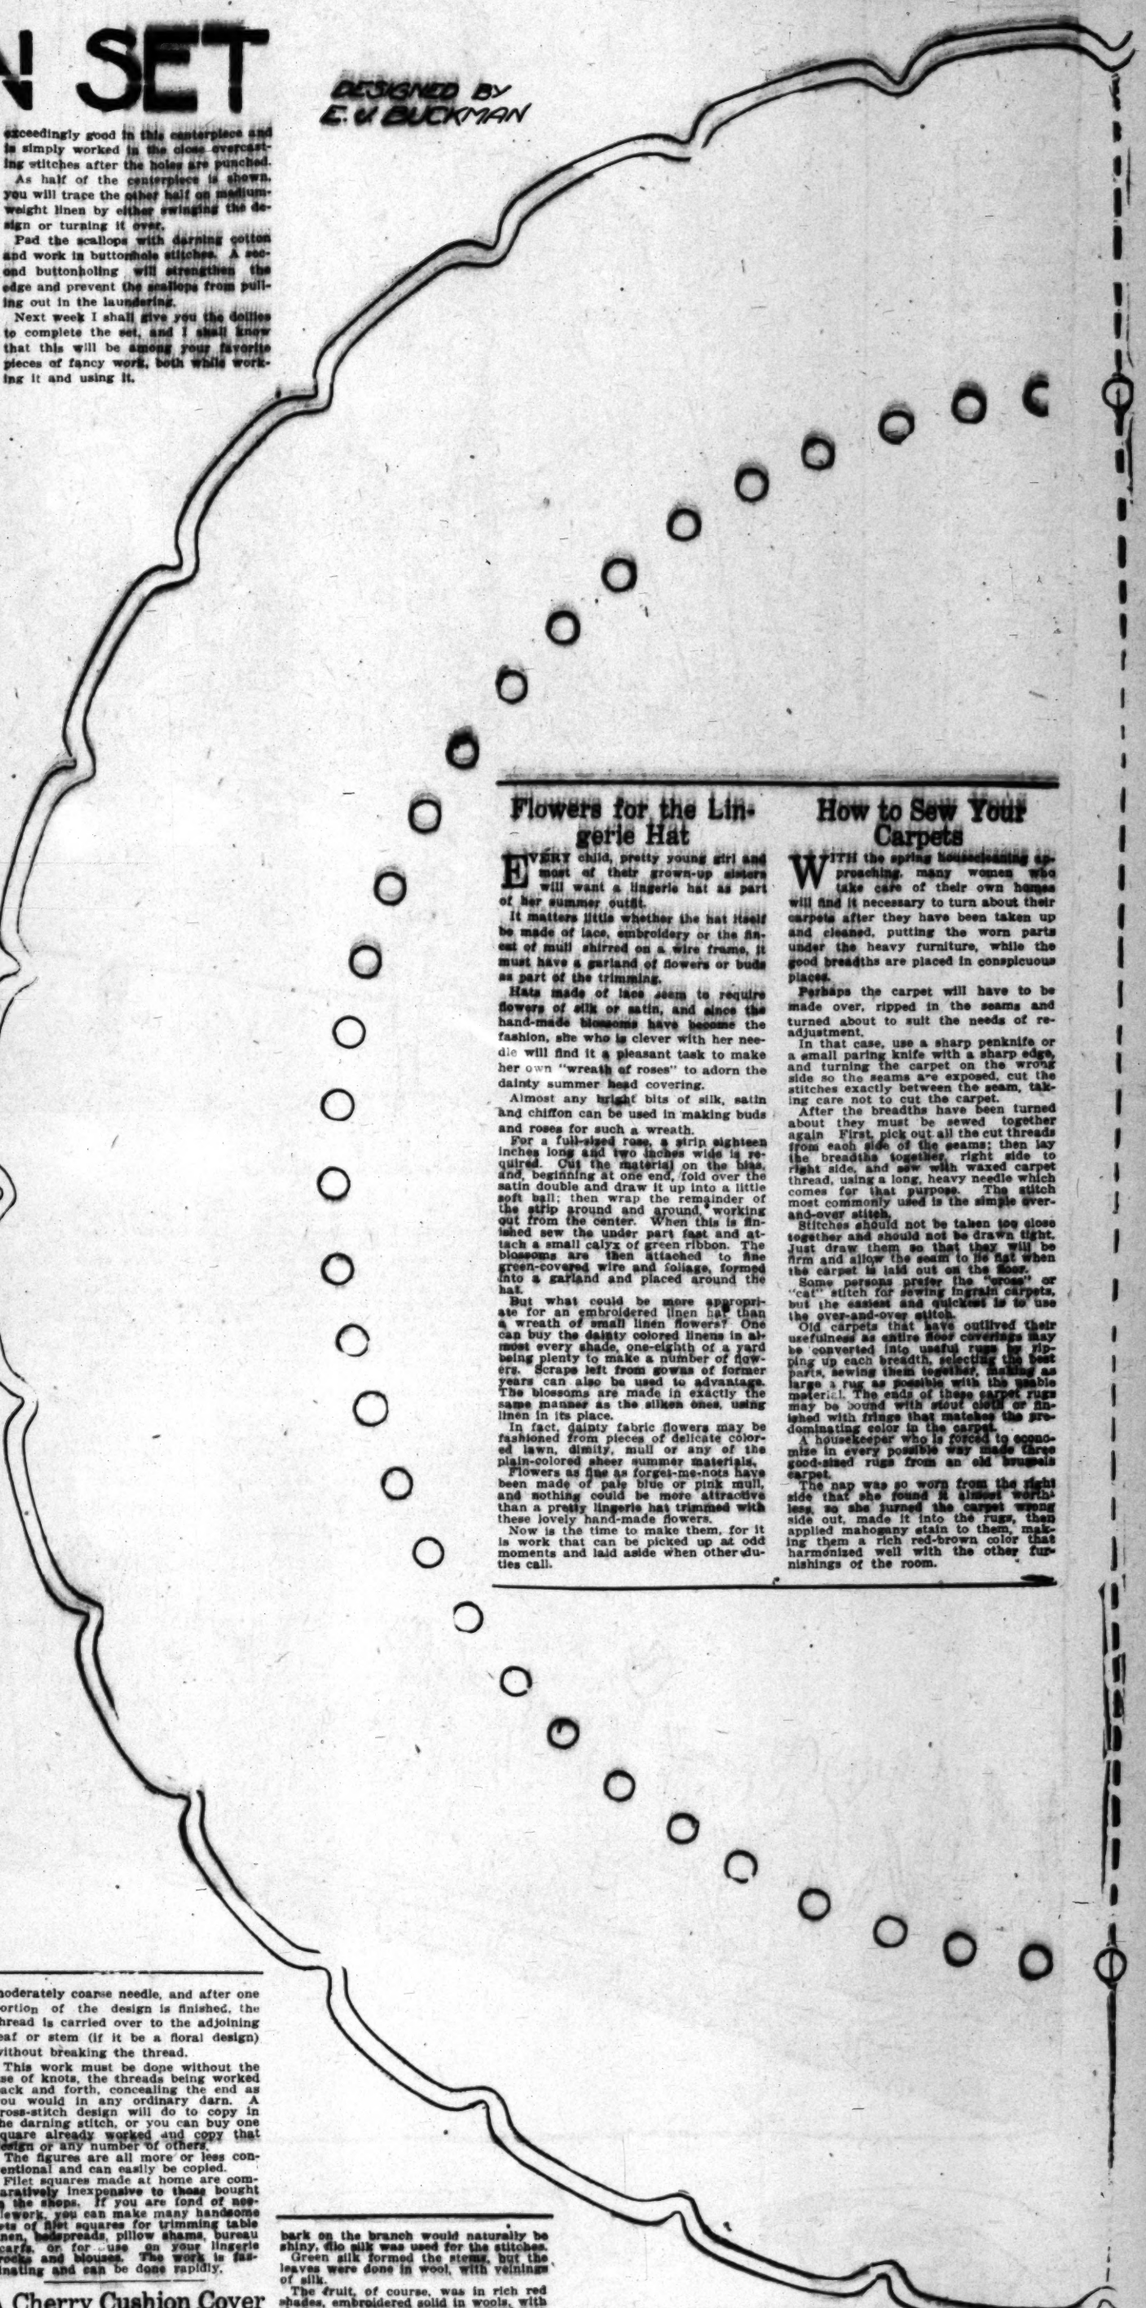
Eyelet work is always pleasing to the eye, suggesting madeira work. This is exceedingly good in this centerpiece and is simply worked in the close overcasting stitches after the holes are punched.

As half of the centerpiece is shown, you will trace the other half on medium-weight linen by either swinging the design or turning it over.

Pad the scallops with darning cotton and work in buttonhole stitches. A second buttonholing will strengthen the edge and prevent the scallops from pulling out in the laundering.

Next week I shall give you the doilies to complete the set, and I shall know that this will be among your favorite pieces of fancy work, both while working it and using it.

DESIGNED BY E. V. BUCKMAN



ONE HALF OF CENTERPIECE

TO APPLIQUE LACE

THE home dressmaker frequently finds great difficulty in making lace yokes and deep cuffs or gauntlets to join the lace at seams, so that they will not be bulky and show an irregular design.

Sometimes the whole appearance of the gown is stamped with a "home-made" look simply because of this, while the garment is otherwise perfect.

If, however, she who makes her own clothes will remember, when working on all-over lace, to applique the seams together there should be no difficulty of this sort and the yoke or cuffs will look as if they were of one piece of lace with no seams.

With a little knowledge of appliquesing correctly, economy may be practiced to great advantage and at the same time the garment itself will acquire that look which would stamp it as made by a good costumer.

Almost all the varieties of lace can be joined invisibly and with careful handling exceedingly good results may be obtained.

When making a yoke and collar of all-over lace, the joining of collar and yoke by an ordinary seam makes a harsh line about the throat, particularly if the yoke is to be transparent.

But by appliqueing these two together the work can be done without any visible sign of a hem.

In the first place, it is necessary to consider the pattern of the lace, and when cutting do so to the best advantage, making, if possible, the flowers or most prominent figures in the lace form a line at the top of the collar and another about its base. If the collar must be shaped, an edge can be appliqued on.

Should there be difficulty in making a row of flowers come about the neck, cut around the flowers, never through them, for when joining these figures will be useful to lap over and applique to the yoke.

Trace the neck line of yoke and collar with colored cotton before cutting out; cut and baste together, lapping one seam over the other so the line of tracing threads come directly on top of each other. Now, with very fine cotton and fine needle, using tiny stitches, the overlapping edges are sewed over and over, whipping together any two threads of lace that then lie over each other and working around the prominent figures or flowers which have not been cut.

Of course the sewing line of the lace will not be straight, but this makes it much less noticeable than if it were straight. Trim away all raw edges close to the work on both sides, and take care that the collar and yoke are fitted properly before the sewing is begun, as it is not possible to make alterations afterward.

Sometimes it is possible to set in left-over figures of the lace to fill out the design.

In making deep cuffs or separate gauntlets, the same method of joining allover lace is employed. The lace is cut according to the pattern and raw edges are lapped and sewed down with fine stitches. When a trailing-vine pattern is selected, the upper portion is finely overcast to the lower one, whipping together the finer threads when there are no heavy markings in the design.

It is best to line the gauntlets with a layer of fine chiffon or mousseline de soie. The lining is made separate, using narrow French seams and tacking lining and lace sleeve together at the wrist.

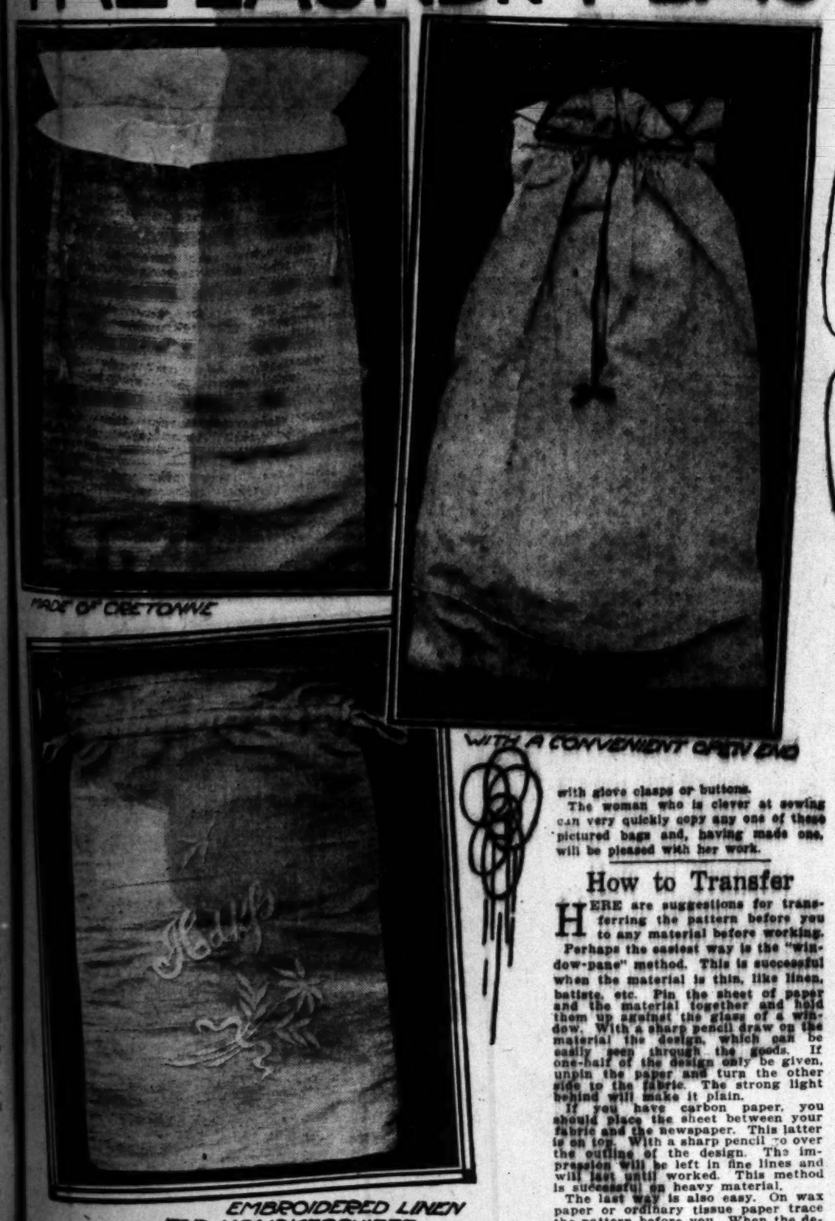
The general rule for joining flat seams in lace are the same in all laces, excepting Irish crochet or the handmade duchess, princess or brusses laces.

These are never cut on a straight line, but always in or around the individual figures or flowers. Make the flat joining by lapping the flower over the under portion and whipping it down.

Net lace is easy to join. The sewing is made around the outline of a figure or flower, and the net is fastened together by overseaming two corresponding bars in the mesh together.

In mitering corners, the lace is lapped and overcast along the joining point, then the under piece is cut away close to the seam.

THE LAUNDRY BAG



EMBROIDERED LINEN FOR HANDKERCHIEFS

EVERY family should be provided with a laundry bag; in fact, every individual would find one useful. If you are unprovided or are thinking of making a pretty gift to a friend, as well, I know, appreciate such a useful present.

For the traveler we have a pretty bag made for one square yard of figured cretonne in colors, blue and white. It is lined with plain blue chintz.

Two rows of stitching placed parallel, about 1½ inches from the open end and two inches apart, provide a casing, through which cotton cords are run. When in use these cords are drawn up tight to keep the soiled garments from touching the clean ones in your trunk or suitcase. A shoe bag is made of half a yard of heavy linen or ponge. This is not lined, but is made with a casing at each end, through which a tape is run.

The use is designated by the marking on the outside, embroidered in mercerized thread; and it is further decorated with a pretty flower.

All sorts of dainty designs can be applied to these handkerchief bags, and they can be as plain or as elaborate as your fancy dictates.

To hang on the inside of a closet door we have the large laundry bag, 1½ yards long and three-quarters of a yard wide. This can be made of any strong material, like cretonne or linen. As you see, one side of it is slit halfway from top to bottom and is bound with tape.

The top casing is fitted with a piece of smooth wood to keep it in place and to provide a means of hanging it up, so that the weight of soiled clothing will not tear out the material.

The clothes are put into the bag through the slit opening, and are dropped directly into the basket to be carried to the laundry from the bottom of the bag, which is made like an envelope flap to fold over and fasten up with glove clasps or buttons.

The woman who is clever at sewing can very quickly copy any one of these pictured bags and, having made one, will be pleased with her work.

How to Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

Surely the way is easy.

Filet Squares

WITH the popularity of filet lace for the trimming of handsome gowns, linen sets, etc., comes the request for directions how to make them.

In the art needlework department of large shops it is possible to purchase plain filet net squares, on which can be worked any pattern you desire. It is necessary to stretch the net square over a frame, having it taut. Frames also can be bought, but a small square slate or picture frame will do as well. The square can be held in place over one of these by means of heavy thread caught in each square mesh on the edge and around the frame. The design is then filled in with a simple darning stitch, worked over and under the mesh, with linen thread.

A long strand of thread is used with a moderately coarse needle, and after one portion of the design is finished, the thread is carried over to the adjoining leaf or stem (if it be a floral design) without breaking the thread.

This work must be done without the use of knots, the threads being worked back and forth, concealing the end as you would in any ordinary darn. A cross-stitch design will do to copy in the darning stitch, or you can buy one square already worked and copy that design or any number of others.

The figures are all more or less conventional and can easily be copied.

Filet squares made at home are comparatively inexpensive to those bought in the shops. If you are fond of needlework, you can make many handsome sets of filet squares for trimming table linen, bedspreads, pillow shams, bureau scarfs, or for use on your lingerie frocks and blouses. The work is fascinating and can be done rapidly.

A Cherry Cushion Cover

ONE of the most attractive sofa cushion covers I have seen was made of heavy natural-colored linen of a very close weave.

The upper side was embroidered in an artistic design, showing a branch broken from a cherry tree and laden with luscious fruit.

The branch itself was worked in shades of brown, fine washable wool thread, while at intervals, where the bark on the branch would naturally be shiny, dlo silk was used for the stitches.

Green silk formed the stems, but the leaves were done in wool, with veinings of silk.

The fruit, of course, was in rich red shades, embroidered solid in wools, with shadings of silk. Just above the lower right-hand corner of the pillow was embroidered a dainty spray of cherry blossoms and delicate green leaves, as they appear in early spring.

Some of the pure white petals of the flowers have fallen, and these are scattered in wind-tossed confusion over the back of the cushion.

These, too, are embroidered in white wool thread; but on the edge of each delicate petal is introduced a few small stitches of silk.

The effect of this combination of wool-and-silk embroidery is all that can be desired from an artistic point of view. It gives the flowers, fruit and leaves a more natural appearance than if they were all worked in silk.

The chief advantage of such work is that it washes like linen itself and will not fade, even if it is exposed to the sun.

The work can be employed on table covers, scarfs or even women's gowns, and will both wear better and look as well as silk, besides being a novelty in the way of embroidery.

Flowers for the Lingerie Hat

EVERY child, pretty young girl and most of their grown-up sisters will want a lingerie hat as part of her summer outfit.

It matters little whether the hat itself be made of lace, embroidery or the finest of mull shirred on a wire frame, it must have a garland of flowers or buds as part of the trimming.

Hats made of lace seem to require flowers of silk or satin, and since the hand-made blossoms have become the fashion, she who is clever with her needle will find it a pleasant task to make her own "wreath of roses" to adorn the dainty summer head covering.

Almost any bright bits of silk, satin and chiffon can be used in making buds and roses for such a wreath.

For a full-sized rose, a strip eighteen inches long and two inches wide is required. Cut the material on the bias, and, beginning at one end, fold over the satin double and draw it up into a little soft ball; then wrap the remainder of the strip around and around, working out from the center. When this is finished sew the under part fast and attach a small calyx of green ribbon. The blossoms are then attached to fine green-covered wire and foliage, formed into a garland and placed around the hat.

But what could be more appropriate for an embroidered linen hat than a wreath of small linen flowers? One can buy the dainty colored linens in almost every shade, one-eighth of a yard being plenty to make a number of flowers. Scraps left from gowns of former years can also be used to advantage. The blossoms are made in exactly the same manner as the silken ones, using linen in its place.

In fact, dainty fabric flowers may be fashioned from pieces of delicate colored lawn, dimity, mull or any of the plain-colored sheer summer materials.

Flowers as fine as forget-me-nots have been made of pale blue or pink mull, and nothing could be more attractive than a pretty lingerie hat trimmed with these lovely hand-made flowers.

Now is the time to make them, for it is work that can be picked up at odd moments and laid aside when other duties call.

How to Sew Your Carpets

WITH the spring housecleaning approaching, many women who take care of their own homes will find it necessary to turn about their carpets after they have been taken up and cleaned, putting the worn parts under the heavy furniture, while the good breadths are placed in conspicuous places.

Perhaps the carpet will have to be made over, ripped in the seams and turned about to suit the needs of readjustment.

In that case, use a sharp penknife or a small paring knife with a sharp edge, and turning the carpet on the wrong side so the seams are exposed, cut the stitches exactly between the seam, taking care not to cut the carpet.

After the breadths have been turned about they must be sewed together again. First, pick out all the cut threads from each side of the seams; then lay the breadths together, right side to right side, and sew with waxed carpet thread, using a long, heavy needle which comes for that purpose. The stitch most commonly used is the simple over-and-over stitch.

Stitches should not be taken too close together and should not be drawn tight. Just draw them so that they will be firm and allow the seam to lie flat when the carpet is laid out on the floor.

Some persons prefer the "cross" or "cat" stitch for sewing ingrain carpets, but the easiest and quickest is to use the over-and-over stitch.

Old carpets that have outlived their usefulness as entire floor coverings may be converted into useful rugs by ripping up each breadth, selecting the best parts, sewing them together, making as large a rug as possible with the usable material. The ends of these carpet rugs may be bound with stout cloth or finished with fringe that matches the predominating color in the carpet.

A housekeeper who is forced to economize in every possible way made three good-sized rugs from an old brussels carpet.

The nap was so worn from the right side that she found it almost worthless, so she turned the carpet wrong side out, made it into the rugs, then applied mahogany stain to them, making them a rich red-brown color that harmonized well with the other furnishings of the room.

SMARTEST FASHIONS OF WELL-DRESSED FOLK

HELEN THURLOW

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

MADGE MY DEAR:

You remember Mary, Mary, quite contrary, who never wore frocks like the rest of us? I must tell you of a little visit that Clarice and I made to her. She had just had her window boxes and garden dressed up for Easter, and I think that Mary subconsciously chose the gown that looked well with the freshly planted flowers. At any rate, she smiled down at us in a stunning frock of fawn-colored whipcord—one of the favorite spring fabrics, my dear. It was made with long coat sleeves. One side of the bodice was pointed and buttoned over a straight strip of twine lace edged with fringe. Three large buttons decorated the pointed flaps, while a flat round hemstitched collar of mousseline finished the top. Oh, it was stunning! and I think I shall work up the idea in a new linen dress.

Clarice was proudly wearing a set brought over to her from Paris by her Aunt Martha. It was of mottled silk. The hat was a soft cap with a frill of plain silk and a band of gold embroidery caught under rose-colored silk fruit. A stock and ruffle of the same ornamented the stunning gray tweed suit, and the set was completed by a fabric muff, useful as well as ornamental, for pockets for money, kerchiefs and the powder puff are in its silken folds.

Her suit showed the cutaway effect, with a fastening above the waist line. Black braid decorated inset pieces under the dress and tiny panels on the sleeves. There was a square effect in front filled in with braid. A double skirt was fuller, decidedly, than our last-season styles; and gray low shoes were foolish from the doctor's point of view, but from the modiste's—lovely!

My spring suit is quite stunning, I think. It is of brown rough cloth, made in a modified military effect. It buttons slightly to one side and is without any revers. The collar is flat and round, and a broad stitched belt is held under a black enameled buckle. The side panels have modified lines that lap over toward the front and are caught at the waist line under large buttons.

Long sleeves are trimmed with pointed flaps and the skirt has hidden pleats under the side seams—to allow me to jump for joy, I suppose. My black hat was of faille silk with two white ornaments at the side.

Such is the burden of my song, dear. And who should not sing, now that spring is really here!

Your devoted sister, ELEANOR.
